An Open Letter to Black Organizations in the U.S.A.

Presented as a Public Service to the American People

By Charles Savoie---May 2014

In late April 2014 a firestorm of controversy ignited over remarks made by Donald Sterling, owner of the Los Angeles Clippers basketball team. As a consequence of his remarks he was banned from basketball. Outrage was vented against him from coast to coast. Let me be clear as to my stance---everyone, with no exceptions, has the right to express any opinion, regardless of if it's refined or not. Being obnoxious isn't a crime, nor can people be sued merely because an insult was made. However, a far larger aspect is present in this story. There is something below the surface of this account that penetrates to depths you wouldn't believe. We need to take a look at this "something." I am not interested in changing anyone's attitude or personality. Only God can do such a thing. What I can do is point to a "sealed container" of sorts that seriously needs to be opened and examined in the light of day. Something those unfamiliar with me may wish to do is find out something about me---my philosophy, my interests. Knowing something about a writer may help you understand his orientation.

A ten minute digression this way may be useful——then read this presentation, which I will try to detail without being lengthy. Run a Google search of my name with two other terms——"Pilgrims Society," it will bring up many pages of results——this is what I want to mention for your concern. Better still, do this after reading this presentation——there's much more to know. The NBA official who issued sanctions against Donald Sterling, Adam Silver, was with the Wall Street law firm of Cravath, Swaine & Moore before taking the helm of the NBA. This law firm takes its name from several prominent men, starting with Paul Drennan Cravath (1861–1940)

The organization I wish to call your attention to is called "The Pilgrims Society," founded on January 13, 1903 in New York as a correspondent to the original branch founded in London on July 11, 1902. Paul D. Cravath was a member of this group. In its more than one hundred year history, this assemblage has voluntarily posted only one roster——those of the charter members in 1902—1903. As I start composing this item on April 30, 2014, I notice a whole ten (10) copies of "The Pilgrims of Great Britain" (2002) are presently available at Amazon. That volume shows what they represent to be the charter members. Working with a talented researcher from Europe, Joel Van Der Reijden, nine entire Pilgrims lists have been with great difficulty located in various archives; but no list since 1980 has been located. Here's an excerpt from the 1914 list, page 8---

Prederic R. Coudert George F. Crane Paul D. Cravath

Coudert was a prominent attorney who married the granddaughter of General Benjamin Tracy, who was Secretary of the Navy (1889–1893). Coudert (Page 529, 1914 Who's Who in America) was involved with insurance interests on both coasts and had real estate development activities in Mexico City. He was a trustee of Columbia University, a director of the French Alliance, and of Equitable Trust Company, one of two banks that helped the Soviet government remain in power after the 1917 revolution by selling Bolshevik Bonds during the 1920s. What was a Frenchman doing as a member of The Pilgrims, the most British Empire organization of all? He was there due to the concentration of wealth and power. George F. Crane (page 544 of 1914 volume) was involved with the Baring banking interests based in London and was president of Columbia Insurance and a director of four other insurance companies based in England, and of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company and The Trinity Corporation. Trinity http://www.trinitywallstreet.org/about dates to a Royal Crown charter from King William III of England in 1697. "Trinity Church owns a substantial chunk of New York real estate" dating to a centuries old Crown land grant. "Cravath was the authoritative head of the firm from 1906 until 1940." The Cravath law firm had such accounts as Bethlehem Steel; Baltimore & Ohio Railroad; Columbia Gas & Electric; Squibb Pharmaceuticals; Studebaker: Chemical Bank and others. The Baltimore & Ohio had a notorious record of offering next to nothing as wages, cutting pay three times in one year and causing troops to be summoned to oppose protestors. Norman B. Ream (Pilgrims 1914 leaked list) was a B & O director and director of five other major railroads, First National Bank of Chicago and U.S. Steel who owned "large real estate, street railway and railroad interests" (1914 Who's Who, page 1936). Wikipedia "credits" Cravath with loudly demanding American entry into World War I and was a promoter of "Anglophile internationalism," meaning, that the British Empire and the United States together should control the rest of the world---this necessitated repetitive wars. It also necessitated denunciation of "America first" elements as "rabid isolationists," even though socalled isolationists are hardly ever accused of being against world trade or world travel. Cravath was a founder in 1921 of the Council on Foreign Relations, which was chaired by a Rockefeller family member from 1970–1985. The CFR, with roughly 4,800 members, is a direct extension of The Pilgrims Society, and vastly expands its dangerous influence, because all CFR influence is Pilgrims influence.

One of the charter members of The Pilgrims Society——in fact, he was among the organizers——was former Confederate Army General Joseph Wheeler, who later fought in the Spanish–American War of 1898—— (Wheeler over 30 years apart) ——

Several military brass from the former Union Army were also charter members of The Pilgrims. War profiteers on Wall Street have recruited top generals and admirals into this group all along. This cluster of power mongers has as its sponsor the Crown of England. It has involved us in wars since World War I all the way up to the invasion of Iraq. Black enlisted personnel have been war casualties in a disproportionate sense because so many feel they can't get a regular job, so they enlist; possibly feeling its either enlistment or prison as a way to be fed and housed. Another charter Pilgrims

"Abolition and the Union cannot coexist. We of the South will not, cannot, surrender our institutions. To maintain the existing relations between the two races, inhabiting that section of the Union, is indispensable to the peace and happiness of both. It cannot be subverted without drenching the country in blood, and extirpating one or the other of the races. Slavery has grown up with our society and institutions, and is so interwoven with them that to destroy it would be to destroy us as a people. I hold that in the present state of civilization, where two races of different origin, and distinguished by color, and other physical differences, as well as intellectual, are brought together, the relation now existing in the slaveholding States between the two, is, instead of an evil, a good-a positive good."

John C. Calhoun, prominent slavery advocate.

Calhoun, a slave owner himself, introduced into the Senate on February 19, 1847, a series of resolutions concerning the vast territories about to be won from Mexico during the then current Mexican American War, to the effect that Congress would be banned from prohibiting slavery in those areas. The 1914 Who's Who in America, page 362 and finished on page 363, has this on the original Calhoun's grandson (who became a charter member of The Pilgrims Society in January 1903) —

CALHOUN, John Caldwell, financier; b. nr. Demopolis, Ala., July 9, 1843; 8. Andrew Pickens and Margaret Maria (Green) C.; g.s. John Caldwell Calhoun, v.-p. of U.S., 1825-9; brother of Patrick C. The Central Railroad & Banking Company of Georgia reached a maximum length of 1,944 miles by 1929. Notice in Calhoun's listing he became a relative of vice president Richard M. Johnson—Johnson's father was a slave—owner. Andrew Pickens Calhoun (1811–1865), the intermediary between the original John C. Calhoun and the one who became a charter Pilgrims Society member in 1903, is known as having been "one of the largest cotton planters in the South" before the Civil War——this means he owned hundreds or even thousands——of slaves, as he could not have competitively produced the commodity on a large scale absent free labor.

Apparently most of that fortune somehow survived the Civil War and was reinvested in railroads, coal mining, banking and agricultural interests. The second John C. Calhoun, son of Andrew, was an officer in the Confederate Army——

George Forrest Butterworth Col. John C. Calhoun Arthur B. Campbell Frederick B. Campbell Andrew Carnegie

Butterworth was an attorney who was involved with insurance, trust and hospital organizations. At the bottom we see the great "robber baron" of the iron and steel industry, Andrew Carnegie, who was a Crown loyalist. In "Notable Southern Families" (1918) by Zella Armstrong and Janie French, page 46, Calhoun traces to King Conock of Ireland, circa the early 1200s, to the Earl of Lexon of Dunbartonshire in Scotland, and to King William III of England (1650–1702). Genealogies in The Pilgrims Society are complex and encompass an eyebrow raising amount of royal and noble heritage tracing to the British Isles and all over Europe. These are the same elements that have long mistreated the common man of whatever color! The inspiration for the founding of The Pilgrims organization came from Cecil Rhodes, a British Empire activist who organized the South African diamond mines into a cartel towards the end of the nineteenth century. Rhodes had the Rothschilds as early investors; this family is believed by many as the wealthiest of all time---they too were slave trade profiteers. His vision was to recruit wealthy and powerful men in the British Empire and the United States to join the organization to work together for a common cause. It was the same old story——world domination. An account of Rhodes dream of a "secret society gradually absorbing the wealth of the world" and "the seizure of the wealth necessary" and a 200 year plan for global domination is to be found in the May 1902 issue of The Review of Reviews, page 557. The Review was founded by British press magnate William T. Stead, a Rhodes associate and member of The Pilgrims. At the site of Indigenous People of Africa and America we read of the racism of Cecil Rhodes and his exploitation of the African tribes in the diamond and gold regions of South Africa; in fact, an entire country, Rhodesia, was for several generations, named for Rhodes, until 1980——

In "Rhodes---The Race for Africa" by Antony Thomas (St. Martin's Press, New York, 1997), we find on page 6---

"Why should we not form a secret society with but one object, the furtherance of the British Empire and the bringing of the whole uncivilized world under British rule, for the recovery of the United States, for the making the Anglo-Saxon race but one Empire?"

In the May 1902 article, page 557, Rhodes admitted his plans were "a scheme to take the government of the whole world."

Rhodes (left) and the top British general in South Africa, General Lord Viscount Kitchener of Khartoum, big time war criminal who was a member of The Pilgrims Society London.

One of the "labor practices" instituted in the Rhodes syndicate of mines was famously illustrated in a 1990 movie.

In "South Africa———Its History, Heroes and Wars" (1899) by William Mackenzie and Alfred Stead, we read on page 268 (click on the blue 268) ——

"Mr. Rhodes is death on niggers." When he was Prime Minister down in the Colony he tried to pass a law that would give masters and mistresses the right to have their servants flogged whenever they did anything they did not like. Cecil Rhodes will keep their noses to the grindstone. I prefer land to niggers——an actual saying of Mr. Rhodes. They say he's going to parcel them out and make them work on our lands, whether they like it or not, just as good as having slaves; and you won't have the bother of looking after them when they're old. Now, there I'm with Mr. Rhodes; I think it's an awfully good move. We don't come out here to work; it's all very well in England; we've come here to make money, and how are you to make it unless you get niggers to work for you or start a syndicate. He's death on niggers, is Rhodes. You can do what you like with the niggers."

Those words were from Peter Halkett, a British soldier who was apparently related to an earlier Admiral in the British navy. C.M. Fyle in Introduction to the History of African Civilization: Colonial and Post-Colonial Africa Vol. II, University Press of America, 2001, branded Rhodes a brutal racist in his labor methods regarding treatment of workers in his syndicate of diamond mines. Rhodes labeled three tribal kings in Bechuanaland (now Botswana) "niggers," probably because of diamonds on their land he wanted to seize---"A New History of Southern Africa," second edition, Neil Parsons (Macmillan, London, 1993, pages 179–181). Rhodes wills provided for the start of the Rhodes Scholars, another neo British Empire effort. So called "bright" students go to Oxford University in England, are indoctrinated into the concept that the British Royal family should run the whole world, then these subversives are "seeded" into all manner of positions of influence from which American national sovereignty, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights are attacked. But the Rhodes Scholars are not the controlling secret society in the plans Rhodes hatched---they however would be under its direction. Rhodes Scholars have occupied such offices as President of the United States---Supreme Court justice---Senators——Congressmen——State Governor——university presidents——ambassadors——corporation directors——Federal Reserve officials and many more. This is a completely subversive, anti-American, pro-British Empire faction, having turned out to date over 7,500 treasonous and seditious "plants" as operatives for The Pilgrims Society. Instead of people thinking "Oh my, our local Johnny just got awarded a Rhodes Scholarship, he's so special," people should be wondering "what type of subversive activity will The Pilgrims Society place him into afterwards?" The May 1902 article on Rhodes in the Review of Reviews, page 558, shows Rhodes plan---and that of his deeply conspiratorial backers and associates --- was to use the Rhodes Scholars to gain political power to be used at the direction of the hidden controlling group, The Pilgrims Society---

"I am on the lookout for those who will do the governing of the nations in the years that are to come."

Worded differently——politicians holding high public offices are invariably working for a few horrible people behind the scenes, while gleefully selling out their large base of constituent voters.

The secret society formed as a consequence of Rhodes schemes was named The Pilgrims Society by a member of the Royal family. The current Royal couple, Elizabeth and Philip, are mentioned as obvious racists in a brief documentary I suggest you access. The Prince has jested about the "slitty eyes" of the Chinese. These are the heads of The Pilgrims Society, visiting with the President and YES telling him what to do——

Prince Philip is widely known for his statements on population reduction ("useless eaters") and how if he could return, he'd choose to come back as a "deadly virus." People with such views have no misgivings about fomenting wars for a variety of objectives, including population reduction.

The leaked list of The Pilgrims 1974 shows The Crown as the group's sponsor---

Patron HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN

Officers of The Pilgrims of Great Britain

This applies just as well to the United States branch in Manhattan! Continue reading. You'll shortly see an exhibit showing the President is an "honorary" member of this Crown sponsored group. Besides——these financiers over a century ago got a lock on the nominating processes of both parties at the national level. Later with the 17th Amendment they secured working control over the Senate. The Pilgrims is the main organization of Wall Street and City of London megabankers, industrialists, old line, multi–generational inheritors of large converged family fortunes, people with royal ancestry and war profiteers.

In "The Making of a Racist State: British Imperialism and the Union of South Africa, 1875–1910" by Bernard Magubane (Africa World Press, 1996) we find on page 261---

"Cecil Rhodes had become the Prime Minister of the Cape Colony. He made an immense fortune through the manipulation and amalgamation of the Kimberley diamond industry, and he already controlled a large part of the Rand gold industry through Consolidated Goldfields. Rhodes was the greatest apostle of British expansion and meant to use his tremendous wealth and financial resources for the greater glory of the British Empire and the Anglo-Saxon race. He organized the British South African Company, which was granted a charter in 1889. The charter gave the company unlimited rights and powers of government in the huge area north of the Limpopo River. Rhodes was consumed by visions of the African map from Cape to Cairo. As Prime Minister and Minister of Native Affairs, one of Rhodes major preoccupations was how to develop deep level mining which could be worked by a combination of servile black labor and powerful machinery manned by white skilled labor. In 1879, Thomas Kitto, a Cornish mining engineer, had been commissioned to write a series of reports on how to reduce mining costs. On the question of labor, he felt that steps had to be taken to ensure employers a regular and plentiful supply of cheap black labor. He had knowledge of the Brazilian diamond mining operations, where slave labor had been used. He recommended that Kimberley adopt similar methods. That is, black miners should be housed in fenced and guarded barracks and provided with essentials of daily life. He also advocated placing them under the constant supervision of white overseers."

Nothing is surprising about any of this. Greed, power, control and exploitation are very old habits in the history of the world. The January 1979 National Geographic, pages 90 and 93, show Black laborers in South African diamond operations exactly along the lines just described. By 1979 they were getting a mediocre wage rather than being traded bare necessities for hard labor. The May 1902 article in The Review of Reviews, page 551 has this---

"Having the whole of the mines under his control, Rhodes introduced what is known as the compound system, whereby the natives are kept within stockades. The compound system has been fiercely assailed in some quarters as being equivalent to slavery."

Before proceeding, consider John Hays Hammond, a top associate of Cecil Rhodes.

John Hays Hammond (1855–1936) was a top associate of Cecil Rhodes; according to Wikipedia "Hammond was given complete charge of Cecil Rhodes mines in South Africa and made each a financial success." Hammond surfaced in the leaked list of The Pilgrims New York, 1914——

In "United States Relations With South Africa——A Critical Overview from the Colonial Period to the Present" by Peter Lang (2008) we note on page 41 a quote from a book written by John Hays Hammond in 1935——

"It was frequently necessary to resort to flogging to maintain order among the boys in the compounds. Afterwards the natives would come to the managers and thank them, as a dog crawls to lick the hand of its master after a deserved whipping."

A hallmark of racist views towards Africans is the refusal to call them men---instead, they are "boys." Page 1060 of the 1935 Who's Who in America has Hammond saying about himself (excerpt only)

"Special expert U.S. Geological Survey 1880; later in Mexico and afterwards consulting engineer Union Iron Works, and to Central and Southern Pacific Railways; has examined properties in all parts of world; became consulting engineer for Cecil Rhodes, who he became a strong supporter of; consulting engineer Consolidated Gold Fields of South Africa, British South Africa Company and the Randfontein Estates Gold Mining Company. Was one of four leaders in reform movement in the Transvaal; went to London and became interested in many mining companies; returned to U.S., 1900, and became associated with some of the most important financial groups in this country, purchasing and promoting several of the largest and most valuable mining properties in the U.S. and Mexico; has also been very active in various interests outside of mining, including hydroelectric enterprises, irrigation projects, etc. Has lectured at Columbia, Harvard, Yale and Johns Hopkins Universities. Appointed by President Taft as special ambassador and representative of the President to the coronation of King George V, 1911. President, Panama Pacific Exposition Commission to Europe, 1912. Chairman, World Court Congress, 1914–1915. Chairman, U.S. Coal Commission, 1922-1923. President, American Institute of Mining Engineers, 1907–1908."

The British South Africa Company, organized under Crown charter in 1889, was another infamous British exploitation entity, not dissimilar to the earlier British East India Company, except that the BSAC apparently forgot to turn people into opium addicts at gunpoint. Page 552 of the May 1902 article calls it "a company of private adventurers." It was through BSAC that Rhodesia was acquired, copper mines gained, and a railroad built there——

Here are some names near Hammond's in the 1914 Pilgrims New York list---

Hugh Francis Fox
Alden Freeman
Thomas Staples Fuller
W. W. Fuller
Henry S. Fullerton
Albert Eugene Gallatin
S. W. Gambrill

James B. Haggin
Louis J. Halle
Charles D. Halsey
Conde Hamlin
John Hays Hammond
John A. Hance
Benjamin S. Harmon

Alden Freeman was the son of a Standard Oil Company treasurer, and was associated with Seaboard National Bank and newspaper publishing in New Jersey. There was newspaper experience from his father, inasmuch as during the 1870s, Standard Oil was supplying editorials to over 300 newspapers——110 were concentrated in Ohio

(page 33). The 1940 Who's Who, page 811, shows Freeman led the fight for the 17th Amendment, which provided for direct election of Senators. The 1914 volume has the same information. Senators used to be selected by State legislatures, guaranteeing state and local control over United States Senate matters, as the Senate is supposed to represent the States in the national government, while the House represents the general population. By removing selection of United States Senators from State control, The Pilgrims Society seized working control over the national Senate! Afterwards, the financiers need only focus on subverting dozens of Senatorial candidates, rather than on thousands of State legislators! Thomas Fuller, a member of the Southern Society, was a Democratic national fundraiser. The 1920 list of the Southern Society shows significant interlock with The Pilgrims. You didn't read me saying there's anything wrong per se with having come from the South, nor anything wrong with maintaining historical knowledge! The SS is just another elitist crowd, interlocked with the kingpins of elitists. W.W. Fuller was Thomas father and general counsel to American Tobacco Company. Gallatin was great, great grandson of wealthy Swiss immigrant Albert Gallatin, United States Treasury Secretary (1801–1814) and a supporter of the unconstitutional United States Bank, which was a gold and silver stealing organization. The 1914 Gallatin became a member of the New York Federal Grand Jury. Gambrill was a Congressman from Maryland. Haggin (1822-1914) was a wealthy mining magnate few have heard of today, but his operations included Homestake Gold Mine in South Dakota,

Anaconda mine in Montana, Utah silver mines, the Cerro De Pasco copper mine in Peru, over 100 other producing mines and he owned the world's largest thoroughbred horse breeding operation. Haggin was "born into a Kentucky slaveholding family." Page 14 of the leaked 1974 list of The Pilgrims has the name——James Ben Ali Haggin! Halsey was a Wall Streeter and New York Stock exchange member who married into the Van Rensselaer dynasty. In 1630 a Royal Dutch land grant was awarded to the original Van Rensselaer. After the English takeover of New York, the land grant was allowed to stand as they became Crown loyalists. The original Van Rensselaer is rated the 22nd wealthiest person in world history. Though located in New York, the Van Rensselaers were slave owners. Page 14 of the 1914 Pilgrims list shows Van Rensselaer presence along with Federal Reserve Act plotter Frank Vanderlip——

Cornelius Vanderbilt
Harman B. Vanderboef
F. A. Vanderlip
Charles A. Van Rensselaer
William S. Van Rensselaer

Vanderbilt, representing even larger wealth than the Van Rensselaers, had interests as far afield as steamships in the Far East and telegraph companies in Mexico. Vanderbilt was on both boards of the supposedly competing New York Life Insurance and Mutual Life Insurance. He was also a director of Harriman National Bank, of the allegedly competing Harriman interests (Union Pacific fortune, Pilgrims Society). Vanderhoef was on the committee for international trade of the New York Chamber of Commerce. Returning to the "H" excerpt from the 1914 Pilgrims list (previous illustration) --- Hamlin ran the New York Tribune and was a director of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. Hance (1840-1919) was the first non-native resident of the Grand Canyon area; he attempted mining and may have been a Pilgrims member because it was felt he might discover mineral wealth; however, a number of famous explorers have been members over the years, the inner circle Pilgrims apparently reasoning they might discover new mineral assets, so they sponsored their explorations. Harmon was "general counsel or officer of various railway and mining companies" (1914 Who's Who, page 1033). It's well known that before the Civil War, railroads all over used slave labor and that after the war, Blacks were paid lower wages for the same railroad work as whites. Members of The Pilgrims Society were literally all over dozens of railroads as executives and directors. I can produce a substantiated documentary on this matter. James Ben Ali Haggin, born into a slaveholding family in Kentucky, Pilgrims Society member---

It's well known, though not often hinted at, that the British fomented the American Civil War. The South's warships were largely built in England. August Belmont Senior was prominent in Union finance. His son (1853–1924) appeared in The Pilgrims charter member list for 1903. He developed rapid transit systems and subways in New York, owned steamships traveling to the Far East. He represented the Rothschilds in New York and was involved with "many other corporations," 1914 Who's Who, page 168. He married Elizabeth Hamilton Morgan, apparently an offshoot of the treasonous Treasury Secretary and the Morgan banking family. In the 1957 Pilgrims list we note Pierpont Morgan Hamilton. Seth Milliken (1831–1897) evaded military service in the Civil War for the Union by paying a $300 fee. He started Milliken & Company, a huge textile conglomerate that migrated to South Carolina. His grandson surfaced in the leaked list of The Pilgrims, 1940. President Grover Cleveland, charter Pilgrims member in 1903, also evaded military service for the North with the same legalized payoff. These bastards are big about sending others to die. Why are they shy about it themselves? Ask that of President Obama, surrounded by Pilgrims Society members like Henry Kissinger, George Shultz and James A. Baker III, before he makes any more noises about confronting Russia over the Ukraine, Syria or Iran.

The Pilgrims Society in the United States never admitted any Blacks, to the best information I have, until late 1977——a near 75 year stretch. Clifton R. Wharton Jr became the first person of African ancestry to be admitted into The Pilgrims New York, in October 1977. The very short run 2003 book, "The Pilgrims of the United States," pages 28–29, said that as of 1977, the organization had no female members, no Blacks and no Jews. That was demonstrably by their own (leaked) lists over the years, a false representation of things! As of 1952, Elizabeth II has been Queen of England, and The Crown is the Royal patron of The Pilgrims Society and head of the 53 member British Commonwealth of Nations and also holds the title, Supreme Governor of the Church of England. So The Pilgrims have had a woman member since at least the last 62 years!

However, as to other women being members, it may be correct that only as of late 1977 were any other women admitted. Don't think the Queen's husband, Crown Prince Philip, is all that much in the back seat, as he is Royal patron and/or president of over 800 organizations! As for The Pilgrims Society not having any Jewish members——not close to correct! From the leaked 1914 list of The Pilgrims, New York branch, note the Jewish James Speyer, on The Pilgrims executive committee (below). "History of the Great American Fortunes" (1909), pages 578–579, says a syndicate of bankers emptied the U.S. Treasury of gold, and James Speyer was a principal figure in that syndicate!

Choate, Depew and Vanderbilt represented the Vanderbilt interests. The original Cornelius Vanderbilt owned a 3,300 acre plantation in South Carolina and several hundred slaves. Satterlee was a son in law of J.P. Morgan. Barton Hepburn represented the Rockefellers and Astors as head of Chase National Bank. Burleigh of 44 Wall Street was in railroads, steel and electric power and represented the Delafield interests (Bank of America and old-line hereditary wealth). The Delafields were related to the slave owning Livingstons, wealthy land barons. In "How Slave Labor Made New York," we read that Philip Livingston was "probably the New York merchant most involved in the transatlantic slave trade." William Butler of 54 Wall Street was president of the Lawyers Club. Fairchild was in drugs (pharmacy). Gillespie of 44 Wall Street was connected to the Delafields and Livingstons and was an official of the anti-silver American Bankers Association. Griggs was a former Attorney General of the U.S. Hay was head of the Taft political organization that sent Taft into the White House in 1909. Parker was a New York State Supreme Court justice who was a Democrat presidential contender. Smith was New York Commissioner of Docks and a member of the Port of New York and Terminal Committee. He owned the gas and electric lighting system of Havana, Cuba, where he also built the city's waterworks and operated a railroad. Ward of Commercial Cable Company laid the first Atlantic and Pacific submarine communications cables. Whitridge had railroad interests and holdings in Niagara Falls Power Company and was Ambassador to Spain in 1906. Witherbee was on the Republican National Committee and married into the huge Rhinelander fortune, tracing to land grants obtained by bribery, and had shipping and sugar interests. Witherbee held railroad, iron ore, steamboats, coal, steel and banking interests and was a director of both Equitable Life Assurance Society and New York Life Insurance; NYLI was earlier involved with slavery. An out of the way document dated early 1920 has the laughable statement that the society (The Pilgrims) was in "a prosperous financial condition," a landmark understatement inasmuch as the group was and is the powerhouse of USA finance. The 1924 list showed Rhinelanders, plus Reid, owner of the New York Herald Tribune and Rice, president of General Electric——

Ogden Mills Reid Franklin Remington Philip Rhinelander T. J. Oakley Rhinelander E. Wilbur Rice

I absolutely can substantiate a fair number of other examples of men of Jewish extraction having been Pilgrims members over the years! They were however limited as to women (one known in 25 and a half years since Elizabeth II assumed the throne). As to Blacks, there may have been one Black at least as of 1969——this detail I am uncertain of. What is certain is their statement that until late 1977, no Blacks were members. A footnote on page 42 allegedly had Hugh Bullock, second generation member and president at that time of the New York branch, telephoning Cyrus Vance, the new Secretary of State, and telling Vance that there indeed were Jewish members. I can't believe Vance wasn't aware of that, as all members receive membership rosters for both branches! Some type of subterfuge or misdirection was going on, evidently, in the preparation of that 2003 book, and we should assume this was not the sole instance. Again on page 42 we read that Wharton formally became a member on December 28, 1977. In footnote #122 we read "no Blacks had ever applied although they are eligible." A basic question——how could anyone apply to join The Pilgrims, when they aren't aware it exists? A further question--how can anyone apply to join, when this is strictly an "invitation only" organization? The group has both a nominating committee and an admissions committee. Prospective members must pass a vote. This in no sense is a mass membership group that nearly anyone can just sign up and join! The most notable criteria for admission is the ability to influence events at a high level. That means being born into wealth; inheriting or marrying wealth; becoming wealthy; or being an agent for those who are wealthy, such as a few Eastern Governors, Senators, or Cabinet appointees. Another basic question, however---why would a Black want to be a member of this group? Why would any patriotic American want to be a member of a neo-British Empire organization? Especially since the British defined imperialism and exploitation of indigenous peoples. From page 25 of the 1940 list---

The election shall be by ballot; one black ball in five shall exclude. If twice rejected, a candidate cannot again be put up for election without the unanimous consent of the Committee.

The Executive Committee upon vote of eleven of its members may at any time cancel the membership of any member; and refuse to receive the subscription of any member, and such ex-member shall not have the right to make any appeal what-soever nor to demand the reasons for such cancellation.

According to the 1980 Who's Who in America, page 3493, Clifton Reginald Wharton Ir. became chancellor of the State University System of New York in 1978. It showed him as a director of Ford Motor and as of 1978, a member of the Presidential Commission on World Hunger. Additionally Wharton as of 1976 chaired the International Food and Agriculture section of the Agency for International Development (AID), which was itself a subsidiary of the State Department. He was a trustee of the Asia Society from 1969 to 1977; a trustee of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching since 1970; a director since 1973 of the Agricultural Development Council; and since 1970, a trustee of the Rockefeller Foundation. In his 1980 listing he mentioned being a member of the Council on Foreign Relations; but said nothing as to being a member of The Pilgrims Society. The Rockefellers have been funders of the eugenics movement, eugenics being defined as some people are naturally inferior to others, and the inferiors should be weeded out. Henry Fairfield Osborn, Pilgrims leaked 1969 list, was known as a eugenics enthusiast and had "Aryan" interests. Since this organization is very likely completely new to your awareness, have a look at some images associated with it---

"A Secret Society gradually absorbing the wealth of the world."---Last Will & Testament of Cecil Rhodes

Studying the document dated 1969, you realize there's been at least one other Pilgrims member of African ancestry since Wharton——Secretary of State Condoleeza Rice (January 2005 through January 2009). As far as we know, this is only the second such example. The Money Power has had Rice on such boards as Hewlett Packard——Transamerica——Chevron and others undoubtedly as a "seat filler."

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of The Pilgrims New York from 1928–1940, was also president of Columbia University (1901–1945). He married Susanna Schuyler, a descendant of Philip

Schuyler, owner of huge land interests in the Mohawk Valley tracing to Crown land grants——Philip Schuyler was a slave owner. He married Catherine Van Rensselaer, of an even wealthier landowning family, also slave owners (already cited). Butler said Hawaii should remain a territory rather than becoming a state, because the native Hawaiians were too different from mainland Americans (Time, December 22, 1947). Butler helped Andrew Carnegie set up three of his socially menacing foundations; he was a Presidential contender; a director of New York Life Insurance; he held over 20 decorations from foreign governments; and over 40 honorary degrees from universities. In "The Glory and the Dream" by William Manchester (1973) we read on pages 67–68——

"Nicholas Murray Butler told his students that totalitarian regimes brought forth "men of far greater intelligence, far stronger character, and far more courage than the system of elections."

Below, from the leaked roster dated 1940. Others read the same---

I

The name of the Society shall be THE PILGRIMS.

II

The object of the Society shall be the promotion of the sentiment of brotherhood among the nations, and especially the cultivation of good fellowship between citizens of the United States and its dependencies and subjects of the British Empire.

TIT

The officers shall be a President, Vice-Presidents, a Secretary and a Treasurer, elected annually by the Executive Committee, who together with twenty-one other members, shall constitute the Executive Committee of the Society.

IV

The members shall be citizens of the United States or its dependencies or subjects of the British Empire, and others prominent for their sympathy with the objects of the Society, who

How does the (false) claim of promoting brotherhood square with these other details? Yes. It's another misleading wrapper. If what they want to do is boost brotherhood, why do they see a need to do it in the dark? Why do they conceal their identities? This brotherhood they speak of means something else——more like, everyone living under their thumbs (those these warmongers allow to live).

Many United States Defense Secretaries have been members of The Pilgrims. All Presidents since 1903 have been effectively under the control of this nearly unknown organization. When a decision to send troops into battle is made——who is making these decisions? The Commander in Chief, or a few of his Pilgrims associates? Why should this organization be so involved with the President, and the public has no knowledge this organization exists? What does it potentially mean to Black Americans that members of a group, the inspiration for which came from Cecil Rhodes, an exploiter of African labor over a century ago, are intimately associated with every President? That applies to the current Administration and to previous Administrations! Obama with Paul Volcker, who as of 2006 was a Pilgrims official (image originally found at Guide Star) ——

Robin Duke is the widow of Ambassador Angier Biddle Duke, heir to the American Tobacco Fortune; to textile interests, and interests in electric power. Blacks are more likely to have illness and fatality from lung cancer, most often due to smoking, than other groups. Another Pilgrims official, John C. Whitehead, was with Goldman Sachs, the internationally known investment bank, for 38 years and retired in 1984 as co-chairman and co-senior partner. "Goldman Sachs Report Can End Up Being Lethal to South Africa" can be viewed here. Henry Kissinger supervised the "National Security Study Memorandum 200: Implications of Worldwide Population Growth for U.S. Security and Overseas Interests" (NSSM200) which was completed on December 10, 1974. It listed 13 overseas countries including several in Africa, noting that population growth trends there were/are a concern to national security interests of the United States. The Asia Times, June 30, 2011, acknowledged Kissinger's reputation as a "notorious warmonger." In addition to war, starvation is seen as a population reduction tool, and Pilgrims member Kissinger did include that "plank" in his plan. Vermont Senator Charles Tobey, in a speech on September 17, 1941, complained---

"Great Britain will not allow American vessels to carry food to the stricken peoples of Europe."

Notice also Paul Volcker, former head of the Federal Reserve System, as a Pilgrims official and Obama's top economic advisor. We now briefly mention the topic of silver as it relates to the title of this presentation, as the Federal Reserve is bitterly opposed to the use of silver as money, and to a rising price of silver as a commodity. The Federal Reserve has lowered living standards for all Americans---Blacks included, for over 101 years, as the engine of inflation, purchasing power consistently deteriorates. As long as gold and silver were the twin cylinders of the monetary system, inflation would be held in check, as the natural supply of these precious metals is finite---unlike printing press paper and digital currency. With only synthetic currency as money, inflation is guaranteed, and in tandem with inflation---ever lower living standards and more concentration of wealth at the top. Obama's calls for more taxation on the wealthy are only directed at new rich---those outside the charmed circle that allowed him to rise to power. By having a President of color, a large segment of the country is hoodwinked into thinking they're making progress, when in fact, though methods differ, the same old song is still being played. I won't even delve into members of The Pilgrims London whose ancestors were involved in the slave trade, and were large scale plantation owners in the Caribbean, West Indies and elsewhere---but they're there. British affiliated interests made in excess of 11,000 slave transportation voyages out of Africa.

Henry Clark Corbin, who was on The Pilgrims executive committee as of a leaked document dated 1907, was a commander of the United States Colored Troops in the Civil War. Wikipedia has nothing on Corbin's Pilgrims activities. Corbin was present at the death of the assassinated President Garfield. Garfield had appointed several men of African descent to high Federal positions, and was a bimetallic advocate (gold and silver both should be used as money). The Pilgrims Society is strictly a printing press money organization, they having created the Federal Reserve based on the Bank of England——so are bitterly opposed to silver as money, and started fighting gold after first attacking silver. Due to the long standing price suppression in gold, it also being a competitor to funny money, who knows how many millions of native African miners have gone unemployed and underemployed for over a half century. Do I sniff assassination activities? Of course.

The influential politician James G. Blaine (1830–1893), whose father was a large scale landowner, was a silver money opponent. Blaine was with Garfield when the assassin attacked Garfield. John G. Milburn of 54 Wall Street, charter member of The Pilgrims in 1903, states in his 1914 Who's Who listing, page 1618––"President McKinley was taken to his house after fatal assault and died there." Milburn was president of the New York State Bar Association and a director of New York Life Insurance. Page 9 of the leaked list of The Pilgrims 1957 shows James G. Blaine, the grandson of the 19th century Blaine—–

Black, Eugene R.
Black, William Moore
Blackwell, Harry A.
Blackwell, James Madison
Blagden, Edward S.
Blaine, James G.

Blaine was a member of the anti-silver Bankers Club and headed Marine Midland Bank and Trust and was on such boards as Pepsico, Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, Far East America Council of Commerce and Industry and Roosevelt Hospital. Blaine's ancestry is incredible——he was related to a colonial governor of Connecticut and also a later Connecticut governor, and more. In 1936 Blaine married a Russian Countess whose father had been governor of the Crimea for 12 years. Eugene R. Black became president of the World Bank and later appeared on boards like Chase Manhattan Bank---Royal Dutch Petroleum---New York Times---American Express---Equitable Life Assurance——Cummins Engine——ITT——Population Council and financial advisor to Sheikh of Kuwait. Blackwell's wife ran Mademoiselle Magazine. Blagden was with the Thompson-Brown Company, an "educational" publisher dating to 1844. The financiers realized they had to control the educational system, so outer circle members like Blagden were drawn into The Pilgrims.

We'll look at several other Pilgrims members and their families in regard to this report and wrap it up. The follow-up for any concerned parties is to pressure Congress to subpoena a current membership roster of The Pilgrims Society United States, so we can see who these "Worthy Gentlemen" are today, who have been handed the heritage, the wealth, and above all, the goals of members from earlier times.

In "100 Minds That Made the Market" by Kenneth L. Fisher (John Wiley & Sons, 2007) we see on page 125 about financier Thomas Fortune Ryan (1851–1928–Pilgrims leaked list 1914) that after doing a $250 million deal in the tobacco business---

"One of his more adventurous deals was investing in Belgian Congo mining——by invitation from King Leopold of Belgium. For his part in developing and financing an international firm to industrialize the rich African land, Ryan received a quarter of the firm's stock. When critics charged that the Congo firm was profiting off of human slavery, Ryan told a reporter in a rare interview, "I sleep like a baby!" A robber baron to the bone!" Ryan's wife Ida refused to allow any of their philanthropic contributions to be used for "colored work." He was a Democrat Party backer and a delegate to the 1904 Democrat Convention! But the reality is these financiers are just playing off two differing ideologies against each other, suckering the public in to make them think either party represents a real choice versus the other!

In his listing in the 1914 Who's Who in America, Ryan, at his peak one of the ten wealthiest men in America, made no mention of his Pilgrims membership. This is typical, as the great majority of these worthy gentlemen hide that fact in the dark. As for those who are visible this way, not one reader in a thousand would think anything about it besides "another exclusive Manhattan social club." It's far more——it's a phalanx of wealth bulldozing everyone outside its influence circles. In an entire century, it hasn't gone away, and after five generations, still does not release any roster to public view. People holler about Bilderberg, but it releases a roster annually, and it was founded by several Pilgrims members! Ryan was a member of the New York Southern Society, composed of influential men who were Southern born (scroll back up and see Calhoun was also a member of the Southern Society). Ryan held controlling interests in no less than 30 corporations, primarily coal mining, railroads, public utilities, banks, subways, and he held some 300 miles of streetcar operations in New York City. In 1905 Ryan acquired controlling interest in the Equitable Life Assurance Society and Wikipedia mentions "he had a reputation for cutthroat business dealings." He held majority interest in Royal Typewriter (which in World War 2 was converted to armament manufacture). Ryan also backed the startup of the Thompson Submachine Gun Company, originally called the Auto Ordnance Company in 1916. Ryan's great, great granddaughter Virginia married David Ogilvy, the 13th Earl of Airlie, member of The Pilgrims London, who owns a 69,000 acre estate in Scotland. The Earl was chairman of J. Henry Schroder banking group, founded in 1804, which in 2013 had operating income of 488 million pounds sterling. Schroder is more closely associated with warfare on the European continent than most Pilgrims Society interests. The Earl is very closely associated with the Royal family, sponsors of The Pilgrims Society. Schroders is closely linked to the Bank of England, and Pilgrims Society member Avery Rockefeller was associated with Schroders in New York. In "History of the Great American Fortunes" (1909, 1937) by Gustavus Myers, we read on page 613---

"Ryan's career, and the facts as to how he obtained his immense wealth, were so generally known, that his appearance in the role of a reformer was the signal for an instantaneous outburst of public sarcasm."

General John T. Thompson invented the "Chicago Typewriter" and was backed by Thomas Fortune Ryan. The 1924 Pilgrims list has the name John Thompson, without the middle initial——probably the same inventor Ryan backed.

The Rockefellers have long since been nominated, or identified, as exploitative towards Africa. In "David—Report on a Rockefeller" by William Hoffman (1971) an entire chapter is set aside (pages 171–181) about David's views (at that time) on doing business in and with South Africa. A paperback version came out in 1972 which stated on the back cover—

"One President after another has done his bidding. His lifestyle would make Alexander the Great weep with envy. The power he wields crosses all borders, can make or destroy governments, start or stop wars, profoundly influence everyone's life."

I need to present a series of statements made across the years regarding the wealth and power of assorted members of The Pilgrims Society. This particular statement is one of the several most eyebrow-raising. These statements were made by reporters or researchers, very few of whom were aware of The Pilgrims organization——Hoffman wasn't, though he did mention Bilderberg and the Council on Foreign Relations——both Pilgrims offshoots.

Page 141 of the hardback book mentions how David had low income families displaced from the Morningside Heights area; in spite of that, he received an award from the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing. Page 22 had Hoffman quoting from The Times, a newspaper in the West African nation of Ghana——

"While the Governor of New York concentrates on changing the political climate in Washington to open up trade in nuclear arms, the president of Chase Manhattan (David) is mostly concerned with commodities like copper and bananas. His bank's business is coming into South Africa, the Congo, Angola and Southwest Africa in a big way."

During the time many were complaining about conditions in South Africa, Hoffman mentioned that signs like these were commonplace--- Alsatians (German Shepherds) were crossbred with large timber wolves and used for crowd control in South Africa. This hybrid was easily more dangerous than the American pit bull terrier due to having longer teeth and a much harder bite. See footnote #34 and accompanying text.

Rockefeller received decorations from many foreign governments including African——Guinea (gold, diamond, iron ore, uranium, cobalt and perhaps half the world's aluminum ore reserves)——Senegal (phosphates, iron ore, gold and oil) ——Liberia (gold, diamonds, iron ore) ——Ivory Coast (gold, diamonds, iron ore, cobalt, copper, nickel).

President Kennedy should be mentioned in connection with all these issues. We read ---

"For decades, African-American homes across the nation featured pictures of three people: Jesus Christ, Dr. Martin Luther King and John F. Kennedy."

JFK's father, as Ambassador to England, was a member of The Pilgrims. As President, JFK would have been an "honorary" member. Discernment shows this group has three circles within its ranks--the outer circle, which would have the most members; a middle circle; and the inner circle, which guides the entire organization and consists of or represents the greatest wealth. My view is that Kennedy Senior was a "split grade" member---straddling the outer and middle circle, while JFK was strictly outer circle. We encounter today and since his assassination, assorted Pilgrims members as trustees of various institutions created since his demise, like the Kennedy Library. Pilgrims Society member Roger L. Stevens was the founder of the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. He was a partner in over 200 Broadway plays including "Cat On a Hot Tin Roof" and "A Man for All Seasons" and owned the Empire State Building and had decorations from Sweden, Italy and West Germany. In 1965 President Johnson named Stevens chairman of the National Council on the Arts. It's widely believed that JFK was rubbed out because he wanted to expand the use of silver in the monetary system, beginning with his action in November 1962 freezing Treasury silver giveaways to Silver Users Association interests. Much has been said about Executive Order 11110 as motivation for extinguishing JFK. JFK had a series of public letters in 1962 in Life Magazine in which he promised David Rockefeller that the United States would not raise the price of gold above the $35 set a generation and a half earlier---meantime, gold miners were trapped in the closing vise of increasing expenses and the anti-free market

Federal price cap. This was the same scenario faced by silver miners. David was a Pilgrims member at least as of 1949, right next to a representative from the treasonous Roosevelts---

Robinson, Leland Rex Rockefeller, David Rockefeller, Jr., John D. Rogers, Charles Bolles Rogers, Hamilton Rogers, Jr., John Shillito Roosevelt, George E.

Let's look at a family who worked with the Rockefellers to make Standard Oil into the merciless monopoly it was——the Vanderbilts. Oil was shipped over Vanderbilt controlled railroads, as war oil produced by Standard's competitors. However, the Vanderbilts gave part of the shipping charges paid by competitors, to Standard Oil, enabling Standard to consistently sell for less, and running competitors into ruin. The Vanderbilts were also a founding family, through front men like Chauncey Depew and Rockefeller liaison Lindsay Russell, of The Pilgrims Society. If cartel monopolists were dangerous to society on their own, they were 100 times more perilous to society, once united in this most important Secret Society of all time.

http://atlantablackstar.com/2013/08/21/10-celebs-whose-family-owned-black-slaves/ The Atlanta Black Star, August 21, 2013, mentioned the Vanderbilts have slave ownership in their history; also British Prime Minister David Cameron; President Bush Senior and Junior; and Senator John McCain. The media source didn't mention these slave holding descendants are either Pilgrims Society members, or are connected to it (Anderson Cooper, Vanderbilt relative; Senator McCain's father was in the leaked 1969 Pilgrims roster). At this site which says it "does not advocate Black on White violence or hatred" we find——

The original Cornelius Vanderbilt was reckoned in 2007 as having a fortune equivalent to $143 billion in modern terms. Donald C. Platten, Pilgrims Society and chairman of Chemical Bank, acquired a Vanderbilt as a son in law in 1986. Chemical is another predecessor entity to silver price antagonist JP Morgan Chase.

Let's also mention the old-line firm known as Brown Brothers, Harriman & Company, the "oldest and largest private bank in the United States," founded in New York in 1818. This firm owned hundreds of slaves and lent many millions to Southern plantation operators. BBH formerly of 59 Wall Street, had as a partner Robert V. Roosa, who was with both the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the U.S. Treasury. The chubby faced Roosa was a Rhodes Scholar who was elevated into Pilgrims membership. He was a Rockefeller Foundation trustee and director of Prudential Insurance, Texaco, the Council on Foreign Relations, Owens Corning Fiberglass and other large entities. While he was with the New York Fed Bank and later the Treasury Department, Roosa acted against both silver and gold in the monetary system, injuring all Americans with inflation——including those of African descent.

BROWN == BROTHERS HARRIMAN

ON SATURDAY, 15TH OF SEPT'R NEXT, I will sell at the Court House door, in the town of Jackson, Cape Girardeau county, Mo., on a credit of twelve months, with interest from date, oil the Slaves belonging to the estate of John Randol, deceased. Said Slaves consist of A NEGRO MAN, ICCIO WOMAN, AND TWO FEMALE CHILDREN.

I noticed a post at Free Republic site about slavery reparations lawsuits having been filed against such Pilgrims Society controlled interests as JP Morgan Chase——Union Pacific——Norfolk

Southern——RJ Reynolds——Liggett Group——Brown & Williamson Tobacco——Lloyd's of London——American International Group——Brown Brothers Harriman——Loews Corporation and others. Of course, none of the plaintiffs knew anything about the existence of The Pilgrims Society, let alone what it represents. That information is now available, with this presentation as a start to more. That suit was dismissed by a Federal judge in 2005, which also included Lorillard (Pilgrims Society member Senator Claiborne Pell, silver price antagonist and tobacco inheritor) and Bank of America (Delafield family, Pilgrims Society). Other defendants named, which the plaintiffs had no knowledge of their Pilgrims Society connections, were Aetna Life---New York Life. Hardin Reynolds owned 88 slaves back before the Civil War. In the 1969 Pilgrims roster (leaked) we notice Richard S. Reynolds Jr., who shifted some of the fortune into aluminum, eventually building the world's third largest aluminum company which was called "a global profit making powerhouse."

In "Paul Mellon, Portrait of an Oil Baron" by William Hoffman (also the unauthorized biographer of Pilgrims member David Rockefeller), published in 1974, pages 83–88 describe the southwest African nation of Angola in the 1960s and 1970s, and Gulf Oil Corporation being the biggest investor in Angola. Paul Mellon (Pilgrims leaked roster 1969) was the son of three time Treasury Secretary Andrew Mellon, who according to Texas Congressman Wright Patman——

"Mellon has violated more laws, caused more suffering, and illegally acquired more property to satisfy his personal greed than any other man on earth."

(Quoted in "Banketeering, Bonuseering, Melloneering," 1934). It was widely known that Mellon was a director of 51 large corporations when he left Pittsburgh to become Treasury Secretary. He was also a heavy holder of shares in over 300 corporations. In spite of the hoopla about more recent men such as Bill Gates, Warren Buffet and Carlos Slim Helu, Mellon was easily the transcendent financial genius of all modern history with a fortune "equal to the entire value of all the property in the State of Texas" and "equal to two-thirds of all the gold in the entire world" according to Congressman Patman. Mellon's methods were at least as frightening as those of Cecil Rhodes in South Africa. Guards at Mellon owned aluminum mines carried Thompson submachine guns, bought from his fellow Pilgrims Society member Thomas Fortune Ryan. Hoffman quoted national columnist Drew Pearson (page 47) on Andrew Mellon——

"For eight years he dominated the national capital. For eight years his word was law with every banker throughout the land. For eight years Presidents served under him. So powerful was his influence, so great his prestige that he told them what to do and his judgment was final."

THE PILGRIMS AND MR. MELLON

The hon. secretary of The Pilgrims makes the following announcement:—

Mr. Mellon, who is expected to relinquish his post as American Ambassador early next month, will be the guest of The Pilgrims at a dinner to be given in his honour on Tuesday, February 21, at the Hotel Victoria. Lord Derby will occupy the chair, in the absence of the Duke of Connaught, the President of The Pilgrims, who is abroad.

FEB 2 1933 P. 10 TT

Newspaper blurb was from The Times, London. In addition to Mellon's three terms as Treasury Secretary, they also had two others in that high post——John Connally and Paul O' Neill. Incomplete records currently preclude identification of all Pilgrims members. It's no wonder the group is disinterested in cooperation. Paul Mellon inherited working control over Gulf Oil Corporation from his father Andrew, who was the only man to stalemate the Rockefellers in oil and J.P. Morgan in steel. At the time being discussed (60s and 70s) Angola was still a Portuguese colonial holding. Gulf Oil was the largest foreign investor. Hoffman stated on page 84——

"In one recent seven year period, more than 100,000 blacks died at slave labor."

Of Paul Mellon, Pilgrims Society (1907–1999), biographer Hoffman reflected on pages 17, 134 and 189---

"What Paul Mellon inherited may have been the largest fortune ever passed from father to son. Billions, zillions, did not seem unusual to Paul Mellon. Paul controls thousands of companies."

Paul's brother in law David Bruce, a direct descendant of Robert the Bruce of Scotland, was a Pilgrims Society vice president as of their only response to me (December 18, 1973). Bruce was ambassador to England, France and West Germany. His older brother James, a high profile Maryland tycoon, was a director of large interests and a Pilgrims member. Some 600 years after the original Bruce won (temporary) Scottish independence, important descendants of his were "recovered" into The Crown's network via The Pilgrims organization.

The huge Bank of New York Mellon, definitely a Pilgrims represented entity, shows the ongoing Mellon influence in the economy with $27.9 trillion——not billion——under custody or administration. Certainly the Mellons are not the only influence in BNYM, but the others would be smaller, and all Pilgrims Society represented.

Angola for many years has produced vast wealth in rough diamonds. Naturally, interests in London profit far more than the residents! Pages 88–90 of Hoffman's book on Paul Mellon mentioned Gulf Oil's stake in Mozambique at the same time, to no surprise, Gulf was also the largest investor in Mozambique, giving tacit approval of the way the Portuguese ran Mozambique. Page 89 has Hoffman presenting this ——

"The Portuguese call their treatment of Africans paternalistic, but a better word would be barbaric. In a letter to Look Magazine, March 28, 1961, the attitude of the Portuguese was captured perfectly——"A certain amount of brutality exists. We admit it. But in order to be brutal to someone, you must care about him. An African is like a woman. The more you beat her, the more she loves you." One soldier, Valentin Bom, a graduate of the Portuguese Military Academy, told about recruiting officers who described "fun in the colonies, like using Africans for target practice."

I remember reading something about Valentin Bom from Newsweek or Time, maybe early 1970s and something about how leading his small band these mercenaries had killed more rebels than a Portuguese expeditionary force of 60,000.

Page 90 has Hoffman remarking---

"Despite strong citizen protest in this country, and the intense disapproval of African, Asian and Latin American countries, Gulf Oil has announced it intends to stay in Mozambique."

Tiffany & Company, the world's most arrogant snob overpriced boor jeweler, Silver Users Association member, derived its startup capital from slavery. Tiffany traces to 1837 when the original Tiffany started it with money borrowed from his father, who owned a cotton mill in Connecticut. The cotton came from Southern slave labor. Tiffany has had several Pilgrims Society members on its board and in management over the years, including Philip Dunham Reed, who chaired the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in the early 1960s and helped remove silver coins from circulation. Afterwards, they were shipped to the Treasury for refining into bullion to be ditched at theft rates to Silver Users Association companies. Lehman Brothers, long run by Pilgrims Society member Robert Lehman, also profited from the Southern slave trade. Eben W. Pyne, a banking, railroad, and electric utility heir, and member of The Pilgrims (1957 and later lists), descended from Moses Taylor, a banking tycoon in New York who achieved a $50 million plus fortune way back in the 19th century, and profited from the slave trade. As of 1992 info, Pyne was on The Pilgrims executive committee—— (scan from 1994 Who's Who, page 2789——

"Smiling faces show no traces of the evil that lurks within" 1971 hit song.

Notice he married a Howland, tracing to John Howland, who was prominent in the original Plymouth Colony in the early 1600s! There's also a fairly large fortune connected to this name.

I quarantee I could supply many other examples of interests controlled by Pilgrims Society members exploiting Africans. As a closing item of interest, I point out that the Spalding brand of basketballs take their name from an outer circle Pilgrims member from the leaked list 100 years ago---J. Walter Spalding (scroll down past the 1914 Pilgrims list excerpt below). Of note also is another member, railroad financier Jacob Schiff, having been a founder of the NAACP. Schiff was brother in law of Pilgrims member Paul Warburg, who was the main organizer of the Federal Reserve System, whose activities have done so much to lower American standards of living---Blacks especially. Corporations controlled by Pilgrims Society members, often under the front of the Trilateral Commission, have led the charge in exporting America's industrial base, again harming the majority of Americans---including Blacks. I expect critics to bring up religion as an alleged disqualifier of everything contained in this presentation. That is absolutely underhanded. I invent no facts, I merely present facts uncovered. The Pilgrims is primarily Anglican (Church of England) and Episcopalian, but above all, it's an organization of great wealth--from an assortment of religious backgrounds. It's hardly anything I had to do with that some lewish men were and are members. It's the organization I'm concerned about——not religious philosophies. Schwab was chairman of Bethlehem Steel and a director of Chase National Bank, Metropolitan Life, Chicago Pneumatic Tool, National Tube Works, Shoshone Consolidated Mining, Vanadium Corporation, Tonopah Extension Mining, United Zinc Smelting, U.S. Realty & Improvement, American Locomotive Company, American Surety Company and others——his brother in law was a Pilgrims member. Speyer we already mentioned was a director of the Bank of Manhattan, today part of silver price suppressor JP Morgan Chase, and he was a member of the committee on finance and currency of the anti-silver Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York and a president of the anti-silver Economic Club of New York. Spence was in the steamship industry. Louis Stern was involved with Lincoln Trust Company, Mutual Life Insurance and Library Square Realty.

Schmidlapp of 60 Wall Street made a fortune in Ohio in whiskey distilleries, cigar sales and construction and was president of Union Savings Bank & Trust of Cincinnati and a director of American Security Company; Electric Security Company; National Water Company; and Equitable Life Assurance Society and did business with Andrew Carnegie. Schiff's son Mortimer was a director of Union Pacific Railroad and became father of John Mortimer Schiff, who was treasurer of The Pilgrims in the early 70's and father of David T. Schiff, who is father in law to Karenna Gore, daughter of national political demagogue Al Gore. J.M. Schiff married the granddaughter of George F. Baker (1840-1931), an inner circle Pilgrims Society member who was way wealthier than the Schiffs. The 1914 Who's Who, page 98, shows Baker head of First National Bank of New York and listed 55 other corporations, mostly railroads, he was a director of, "and various other corporations." Time Magazine, March 26, 1934 called Baker "the richest, most powerful commercial banker in U.S. history," of course, his Pilgrims membership was dutifully kept in the dark. Myles Standish though hardly the wealthiest in this excerpt, is in some ways the most interesting. If you're wondering whether he traced directly to the original Myles Standish (1584–1656), the answer is affirmative. The 1929 Who's Who, page 1962 shows he was born in 1849 in Boston. He was a MD ophthalmologist, surgeon and was president of the American Ophthalmological Society. In 1894 he wrote "The Standishes of America" and listed himself as a member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants. To the contrary of typical accounts, Standish treated the Native Americans with abominable barbarism.

(Excerpt from the leaked list of The Pilgrims 1914)

This item dated 1919 claimed that The Pilgrims Society in New York is "composed of some of the very best citizens of New York and elsewhere."

That does depend on the individual's definition of "very best citizens," doesn't it? I have to wonder where the money goes, of so many pro athletes in different sports, who are "advised" to get into losing deals, by people who offer to "manage" their money for fees——is this another case of The Pilgrims Society recovering its payrolls? It appears to be a worthwhile matter for investigation.

Racism will always exist. I feel most people have such attitudes to some extent. We should not combat racism by forbidding freedom of expression, freedom of conscience, and the freedom to disagree. I am of the view that these interests I complain about have a hand in fomenting racial strife, in order to call for more "law and order" to further diminish our Bill of Rights. The saying is true that morality can't be legislated. In no way did I compose this production for any purpose of magnifying any animosities. However, this matter of our country being run by a secret society sponsored by a foreign monarch is dangerously wrong, it injures almost 100% of people of whatever color, ethnicity or religion, and it must be brought to an end. The urgent agenda is first to compel this group to release a roster, then we can see about investigating it, and finally closing its activities down. This should be of at least as much concern to African-Americans as any other group---and historically---more so. I wouldn't expect any cooperation from history's worst Secret Society. You must contact your representatives on Capitol Hill and pressure them to subpoena a roster of this band of megabankers and war racketeers. A current excuse for war is Russian maneuvering in the Ukraine. But ask yourself---how is this our business, really? Do you hear Russia raising hell for America to return California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to Mexico? Why can't we mind our own business? "Isolationism" has been turned into a buzzword enabling these neocons to attack, invade and occupy foreign lands. Vietnam, Afghanistan and Iraq have generated trillions of income for The Pilgrims Society.

Warmongering and interventionism must stop. Would Black Americans, whose families represent many service personnel, care to ask Defense Secretary Chuck Hagel, very likely a Pilgrims Society member, to lead the charge into the next mass zone of death?

The Pilgrims office may have moved recently. Newer info shows it at 20 West 44th Street, Second Floor, New York, New York 10036. They've moved several times in the years since I started acquiring information on them. At one time they were at 74 Trinity Place, next door to the American Stock Exchange which was at 86 Trinity Place, then they moved to 1 Wall Street, then to 58th Street. Jill

Spiller is still the office secretary. Here she is with Charles Neuhauser, a Pilgrims member I just noticed this week---

"THE BACKSTABBERS"

At this site note Neuhauser's hereditary and royal bloodlines! He has the same Schuyler family lineage that we earlier noted of Nicholas Butler, president of The Pilgrims New York (1928–1946). Near the bottom of this page you get an idea of Neuhauser's opinion of himself, reverting to quasi-royal regalia and insignia.

Addenda——the Electronic Frontier Foundation is allegedly on the side of free internet access and free speech. So? What are two faculty members of Carnegie–Mellon University doing on the 11 member board of the EFF? Carnegie and Mellon are two of the very most dangerous names in the awful hidden history of The Pilgrims Society. Carnegie and Mellon were ruthless monopolists and heartless bastards who mistreated the rank and file who enabled them to become blindingly wealthy. Additionally, they entered into this profound conspiracy with the British to eventually deny us our national sovereignty. "Birds of a feather flock together" is quite correct, and of itself, I see nothing wrong insofar as groups the public is free to join. However, as The Pilgrims Society does have a stranglehold on our finances and on our foreign policy, it's imperative we pry a roster loose from these Worthy Gentlemen. We are all in debt slavery. The Federal Reserve and the national debt have us by the throat. I believe I've demonstrated well enough The Pilgrims Society controls the Fed. It's truly bizarre and very alarming that we still don't know all the identities of these Crown allied conspirators! Much is said about the rising power of China and Russia. It can be demonstrated that The Pilgrims Society created both these systems from the Red Revolution of 1916-1917 and the Maoist takeover of China. Pilgrims members built up both economies with various fronts including the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce and the National Committee on U.S. China Trade. My view is it's the same old balance of power maneuvering the Rothschilds mastered long ago in Europe---on a larger scale. But the Rothschilds definitely don't rule alone——they are a large subset of The Pilgrims Society. Any engagement of U.S. or NATO forces with Russia would be only for the purpose of declaring martial law in the United States, necessary for the return to Crown feudalism——while the larger war is intended to be Russian-Chinese competition for Middle East mineral resources. Anyone who finds this report useful should pass it along to interested parties.

At this point it's impossible to expect any Presidential nominee of either party to give us a de facto choice in 2016. This organization has a stranglehold on the nominating process of both parties. Unemployment among Blacks has increased under Obama (controlled by rich white folks behind the scenes). Is Oprah a Pilgrims member? That's possible. What's more likely is her fortune is "under management." Pilgrims Society members George Shultz and Henry Kissinger with Obama. No state of denial, please. Obama is not "his own man" and no strutting walk across the White House lawn proves it ——

With Shultz as Treasury Secretary, Nixon's Cost of Living Council imposed a Fascist Federal price control (cap or ceiling) in 1972 of $1.61 per ounce on domestically produced silver. For six and a half years starting in mid–1982, Shultz was Secretary of State. All Ambassadors reported to Shultz. That includes Ambassadors to Mexico, Peru, Poland, Canada and so forth——silver producers, and the Philippines, whose central bank was "leasing" silver. Henry has his own sinister website and was Secretary of State, 1973–1977, when Pilgrims member William Simon was doing well attacking gold prices. Don't you want to know more about The Pilgrims Society? Especially if your ancestors were forced to work for free? Why is it so many complain about Bilderberg (1954), which has released lists for many years, while this one refuses to post rosters to the public domain? This is the last hiding place of the globalist movement.

While Pilgrims Society puppet dummy Brian Williams of NBC Nightly News vomits out his afternoon blather, and minds are massaged by the hypnotizing Pilgrims Society musical intro, Comcast, owner of NBC, has directors, very likely Pilgrims Society members, in whose bios appear names such as Mellon and Rockefeller. No wonder so many alternative news source sites are proliferated on the web. Brian Williams doing a broadcast on The Pilgrims Society is less likely than getting osmium to float like Ivory soap.

Zero operators raving about "conspiracy theories" may now view this 15 second clip.
