Investment Bankers in The Pilgrims Society #2

Take 32 seconds to hear what should be The Pilgrims theme music!

1) John Charles Straton Jr. (1932---: Pilgrims Society as of undetermined) has info in the 2014 Who's Who in the East, pages 1367-1368---

The December 21, 1907 New York Times, front page headline read, “Ruined Speculator Kills J.H. Oliphant Then Shoots Himself in the Brokerage Office of his Victim Who Dies at 2:00 AM Today, Fortune of $75,000 Gone” we read---

“James H. Oliphant, senior member of the Stock Exchange firm of James H. Oliphant Co., and one of the best-known brokers in this city, was shot, and mortally wounded in his office at 20 Broad Street yesterday afternoon by Dr. Charles A. Geiger of Beaufort, S.C., a ruined speculator, who for two years or more had been a customer of the Oliphant firm. Dr. Geiger then turned the revolver on himself and sent the bullet into his brain, dying instantly.”

My “Pilgrims meter” tells me that Oliphant was a member, though he wasn’t a charter member as of January 1903---

The 2005 Who's Who in America, page 3502, shows David Olyphant (note spelling variation) as a member of The Pilgrims. He was a Citibank executive, an officer of the English Speaking Union (direct Pilgrims subsidiary) and involved with the American Trust for the British Library.

John Charles Straton Jr. was with Oliphant & Company for 19 years, then went to Spencer, Trask & Company (1975–1977) when then merged with the Hornblower & Weeks investment bank (described in detail in #7 Silver Squelchers, pages 22–34. Next there was a merger with Loeb, Rhoades & Company, connected to Pilgrims Society member John L. Loeb Jr., who became Ambassador to Denmark (1981–1983). Loeb Jr. was in The Pilgrims 1980 roster and had holdings in Holly Sugar Corporation, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Metro Goldwyn Mayer, Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad and others. Afterwards these firms underwent yet another merger into Shearson Loeb Rhoades then Shearson Lehman Brothers. In 1993 Straton bounced to Smith Barney & Company, which merged with Salomon Brothers; and finally today is part of Morgan Stanley Wealth Management.

Straton was an official for 17 years of the University of Virginia Alumni Association of New York State. As a graduate of the U of V, he might be a member of the Raven Society, a super-fraternity founded there in 1904 and named for a famous story by Edgar Allen Poe---

What would Straton's interest in The American Legion be, besides as an active voice for overseas military interventionist warmongering? While in the investment banking field, how many offerings did he underwrite for military contractors? For silver users? Straton is treasurer of the Military Order of Foreign Wars, a group described in the profile on Pilgrims Society member Clifford Vail Brokaw III in

#19. Straton resides in the very expensive small town of Tuxedo Park, New York, and is a member of the Tuxedo Club there. Notice that during 1963 to 1970 he was the property tax assessor there. I do suggest he intentionally lowballed residences of Pilgrims Society members and their fellow travelers. He's been out of that position for 45 years and it would be folly to think anything changed. In fact the "wrong" type of people may be effectively barred, in informal ways, from taking up residence in Tuxedo Park. Typical home price in Tuxedo Park---$3,995,000. This book is about Alfred Lee Loomis (1887–1975), "legendary financier, philanthropist, and society figure."

This one (book author) wasn't a Pilgrims member; but a relation, Edward Eugene Loomis (Pilgrims New York 1933) was. He was president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad in Pennsylvania (1871–1937) and a director of American Surety Company (Rockefellers); Temple Iron Company; Coal & Iron National Bank; Liberty National Bank; Chatham & Phenix National Bank; Harlem Transfer Company; Morris & Essex Railroad; and trustee of Moses Taylor Hospital, named after one of the ten wealthiest men in New York during the 1800s. E.E. Loomis was a member of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers. The Lehigh Valley Railroad, associated with the J.P. Morgan interests, was built for transporting coal and had 1,362 miles of track. Tuxedo Park New York has had its share of Pilgrims Society members as residents for the last century.

Morgan Stanley has a subsidiary known as Lenox Group, and Pilgrims Society member John Charles Straton Jr. is currently its senior vice president. Straton is also listed currently as a financial consultant to Smith Barney. Straton showed his office as at 450 Lexington Avenue NYC---

2) Peter Herbert Chapman (1953---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined) has info in the 2005 Who's Who in America, page 777---

CHAPMAN, PETER HERBERT, investment company executive; b. Stockton, Calif., Mar. 6, 1953; s. Duff Gordon and Emalee (Sala) C.; m. Diane Chapman Clark; children: Charlotte Moseley, Alexander Clark. BA, Columbia U., 1977. V.p. Salomon Bros., Inc., N.Y.C., 1977-86, The First Boston Corp., N.Y.C., 1986-90; sr. vp. Bessemer Group, Inc., N.Y.C., 1991-92; exec. dir. CIBC Oppenheimer Corp., N.Y.C., 1993-99; chmn. PH Chapman Advisors, LLC, N.Y.C., 1999-; mng. dir. Chapman, Downing, Keesee & Co. LLC, NYC, 2002-. Bd. dirs. C.D. Stimson Co., Seattle, 1988-92. Bd. dirs. Am. Internat. Sch., Florence, Italy, 1982-94. Mem. Soc. Calif. Pioneers, The Links Club, Racquet and Tennis Club, Piping Rock Club, Knickerbocker Club. Republican. Home: 923 Fifth Ave New York NY 10021-2649

Chapman's father rose to no higher prominence than being vice president of a county Chamber of Commerce in California. Notice Chapman's refusal to state his wife's maiden name; Chapman could have been her MN, but it's doubtful. After graduating from Columbia University in New York, a thoroughly Pilgrimized institution, Chapman entered Wall Street with Salomon Brothers for most of ten years. Next he migrated to First Boston Corporation, long associated with the enormous inner circle Mellon faction in The Pilgrims Society.

Next it was on to the Phipps family's Bessemer Trust; the Phippses, whose fortune originated in Carnegie Steel, are a Pilgrims represented family. Afterwards he went to Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and its Oppenheimer affiliate. CIBC traditionally has Pilgrims Society members from the London branch on its board. Bloomberg Business mentions P.H. Chapman Advisors but with very little info. This may mean he doesn't intend to cater to the public at large, but a select clientele---families with Pilgrims Society representation. The address appears to be 405 Park Avenue, Suite 1104, New York. "PH Chapman Advisors is Financial Planning Consultants and Services, Investment Advisory Services, Investment Services Company.” Chapman Advisors is listed as a “foreign limited liability company.”

Chapman, Downing, Keesee & Company is a group of hedge funds founded in 2002. “The firm manages accounts for qualified individual investors, families, offices, and endowments. It has two principal affiliates CDK Investment Management LLC and CDK Financial Services LLC.” CDK is located at 780 Third Avenue. However, it’s also listed at 405 Park Avenue, Suite 1104---same as the previous operation. 780 Third Avenue, the same skyscraper in which Miner Warner, president of the U.S. Pilgrims, who we profiled last time, has offices---

CDK

Chapman's info at CDK Group mentions he was also once with Bear, Stearns & Company, the infamous major silver short that was absorbed into the behemoth that is JP Morgan Chase. That page also shows the CDK Group has a London office at number 7 Old Park Lane. One of Chapman's associates came from the Morgan banking group and another spent six years with a "credit based hedge fund" called (get a load of this) "Gordian Knot," remember the old mythological story about the impossible problem whose solution was attributed to Alexander the Great?

Of CDK we read---

"The investors covered by CDK include primarily family offices, endowments, foundations, insurance companies, fund of funds, assets allocators and private banks. CDK's direct coverage effort is focused primarily on the US, Europe and Latin America, although through long standing relationships with selected institutions this coverage has been extended to the Middle East and certain parts of Asia, primarily Japan.”

CDK runs the following operations---CDK Emerging Markets Fund; Copernico Capital Partners (Argentina and they do spell it “Copernico”); Constellation Asset Management; Victoire Brazil Investments; Quorum Ipanema Fund; and BR Investimentos (Brazil). CDK has a joint venture called CDK Brown Advisory, another operation in the billions (\$19 billion plus), and also based at 405 Park Avenue, Suite 1104. It has offices elsewhere including Washington and London. Copernico Argentina is based in the Cayman Islands, banking haven. One of the Copernico managers came from Citibank. As of 2008 Copernico had $315 million under management. Constellation Asset Management says, “If you are a U.S. resident, please do not enter this website,” how charming. Their start page is in Portuguese indicating that Brazil is the can they’re opening for exploitation; however there is a click here for English version. This link confirms this is a Brazilian specialty investment concern. Do Brazilians know that Pilgrims Society members have their hooks into their country? Toss a sack of Brazil nuts at them---

Pilgrims Society members and their lesser elitist associates in high finance set up a plethora of entities so that if they don't snare folks one way, they'll get into their pockets otherwise---

VB Investments is based in Sao Paulo Brazil and has as subsidiaries Victoire Brazil Select Fund; Victoire Brazil Small Cap; Victoire Asia Small & Mid Cap; and Victoire Long Short Equity. In this document dated May 2013 with "CDK Financial" at the top, and entitled, "A Tale of Two Billionaires." Scrolling down to page 8 we notice that in addition to those already listed, the CDK Group also manages ChinaRock Capital Management and CPB Agro Partners, "a single purpose investment partnership focused on the Brazilian agricultural sector." China Rock is indeed about mainland China investments and the name is suggestive of Rockefeller involvement; this also may not be the case. China Rock is "an early stage venture capital fund based on the greater China region."

The CRCM site is unrevealing. It has an office at One Maritime Plaza in San Francisco and at 60 Wyndham Street in Hong Kong. Street Insider says CRCM is a hedge fund. Bloomberg says it's a "private equity firm specializing in buyouts." This link says CRCM has investments in 37 companies. CRCM is connected to Farallon Capital Management, which as of 2006 was the world's biggest hedge fund; both are at One Maritime Plaza (398 feet; uses seismic braces) in San Francisco and Farallon almost certainly has a Pilgrims Society member on its board. Farallon naturally is linked to Morgan Stanley, J.P. Morgan and Goldman Sachs. At Seeking Alpha, Peter H. Chapman says of himself---

“Fund manager with 35 years of Wall Street experience. Analyst at Salomon Brothers, worked on the restructuring of Chrysler Corporation and covered Government sponsored and federal agencies as an investment banker at Salomon Brothers. Covered financial institutions as a senior banker at Salomon, Bear Stearns and First Boston Corporation. Involved with savings and mutual banks, housing conduits, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, securitization of mortgage & asset backed securities and supranational agencies (World Bank, IADB, African Development Bank, Export Import Bank, Sallie Mae, etc.). Worked on corporate restructurings and merger/acquisitions. Have invested in alternative investments since early 1990s at Oppenheimer & Co. and CDK Group in New York and London. Launched Rosemoor Capital LP in 2011.”

Founded in 1934 by Pilgrims puppet Franklin Roosevelt under executive order 6581, the first transaction of Eximbank was a $3.8 million silver transaction with Cuba involving around 7,600,000 ounces. Eximbank is similar to the Federal Reserve in that it resists Congressional oversight. Eximbank pays countries to buy exports from USA companies (Pilgrims Society interests) and taxpayers help fund this theft. The 1994 Who's Who, page 2180, shows the chairman and president of Eximbank in 1989 to 1992 was John D. Macomber. He was previously chairman of silver user Celanese Corporation; and a director of the silver price antagonistic Chase Manhattan Bank. He was a director of Norlin Corporation and R.R. Reynolds Industries of the Reynolds family (Pilgrims Society) Who's Who in America, 1978-1979, page 2047---

I used to give them the “neon light” treatment---

Macomber was related to both the J.P. Morgan line and also the Charles Ranlet Flint (1850–1934, Pilgrims Society) genealogy. Flint founded what became IBM Corporation and organized other industries for which he’s remembered as the “Father of Trusts;” nothing is said about his Pilgrims Society membership for two reasons; one, this detail is unknown and two, the few who might learn about it are banned from mentioning it under pain of not being published!

Peter H. Chapman is in this procession of Pilgrims Society members sucking Americans dry!

The IADB (Inter-American Development Bank) founded in 1959 is interested in the Caribbean and Latin America. It has 48 member countries and is based in D.C.

Inter-American Development Bank

The IADB grew out of the Pan American Conferences sponsored by the Pan American Society of the U.S., a Wall Street front with which Pilgrims members were involved. James G. Blaine (1830–1893) was involved with this movement; his great grandson was in The Pilgrims New York 1957 roster. At Seeking Alpha Chapman mentions he also founded Rosemoor Capital. Its site is unrevealing. It's at 900 Third Avenue in New York.

3) Robert Henry Stovall (1926---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined, “Pilgrims in North America” same thing seen at a New York University link) which mentions he started on Wall Street with Reynolds & Company (Pilgrims Society; Reynolds Metals and RJ Reynolds Industries fortunes) then bounced around to other Pilgrims investment banks---E.F. Hutton & Company and Dean Witter Reynolds. From 1985–2000 he was president of Stovall Twenty First Advisers and joined Prudential Securities in 2000. He made appearances of “Wall Street Week” with Louis Rukeyser starting in 1976 and has written columns in Forbes and Financial World Magazines. He was for some years a member of the admissions committee of the Institute of Chartered Financial Analysts and a director of the New York Society of Security Analysts. He’s been active with the Economic Education Foundation of the Securities

Industry Association. In 1998 Stovall was elected a director of the National Council on Economic Education. He has served as a trustee of New York University and as an overseer of its business school where he has held a finance professorship. During 1985 to 1987 he was chairman of the Securities Industries Institute at the Wharton School of Finance of which he's a lifetime trustee. He is or was a trustee of Wayne Health Care Foundation and of the University of Pennsylvania Libraries. He's a board member of the Sarasota Opera (Florida). His appearance suggests nothing sinister, does it?

WALL $TREET WEEK

Stovall runs Wood Asset Management in Sarasota, Florida, calls itself “a boutique firm with big capabilities” and says it’s “for high net worth individuals, and for tax-exempt organizations who value individualized service, Wood Asset Management offers a level of personal engagement that the big financial institutions cannot match. Along with our sister firm, National Investment Services, Inc., we oversee more than $4 billion of client assets. Our customized investment strategies emphasize value, stability and income, while still being nimble enough to adjust when tactical opportunities arise.” Other associates in this group represent connections to the Florida Bankers association, Sun Trust Capital, Wells Fargo, Merrill Lynch, TD Waterhouse, T. Rowe Price, Charles Schwab & Company, Associated Bank & Trust and others.

This link mentions that Stovall is a guest lecturer at Stetson University; member of board of trustees, Library System of New York University; trustee, Securities Industry Institute. He’s been featured at Seeking Alpha, without mention of his membership in The Pilgrims. He was profiled in “Growing Rich With Growth Stocks--- Wall Street’s Top Money Managers Reveal the 12 Rules for Investment Success” (2000) by Kirk Kazanjian. From the link (the pages aren’t numbered) we’ll give a condensed synopsis of details, sometimes using direct quotes, relating to Stovall) ---

His older sister was an art historian for the Corning Glass Museum (controlled by the Houghton family---Pilgrims Society--- of Corning Glass, Dow Corning Corporation, Owens-Illinois Inc. and Citigroup). Her husband had a high post in the Smithsonian Institution in D.C. and later chaired the visiting committee of the Getty Museum. Stovall’s father got a job at a brokerage in Louisville, Kentucky. “Three of his colleagues at the firm were members of the Reynolds Tobacco and Reynolds Metals dynasties. They were cousins of R.J. Reynolds, the tobacco baron. The metal company grew out of the tobacco operation. Reynolds Metals early products included foil to wrap around Camel cigarettes and tin cans to put Prince Albert tobacco in. The two companies had major operations in Louisville that produced both metal and tobacco products. One of the Reynolds boys, Richard S. Reynolds Jr., decided to set up his own brokerage house in New York following the 1929 crash. He called it Reynolds & Company. Later on, he asked Stovall’s father to join him as the firm’s operations manager. Stovall accepted the offer. In 1936 he moved his family to Short Hills, New Jersey, a well known suburb of New York. Stovall was ten at the time.”

“One of his most exciting jobs came at Christmas time, when he was sent to deliver whiskey to traders around town. Reynolds & Company quickly attracted an impressive clientele. “Some of those brokers, sitting at ordinary desks, had very big accounts,” Stovall says. “I knew how substantial they were because I’d see their statements come through.” In addition to celebrities of the theater and industrialists, the firm’s roster of major clients included General Dwight D. Eisenhower. Back then, a major account had $2 or $3 million. “Today, it seems that everybody who’s 28 is worth that amount,” Stovall quips. But you must keep this figure in the proper context to appreciate how significant it was. In the 1940s the minimum wage was 25 cents an hour. “That may sound like slavery, but you could have a good lunch in New York City for very little. A beef pie in a casserole dish cost 15 cents, while milk, coffee and a roll with butter could be had for a nickel each. There were two kinds of people who made the most money. First were the brokers with large family or individual trading accounts. Second were those brokers whose daddies could direct bank business their way. They were known as lounge lizards, and often didn't even come in to work.”

In Stovall's circles, it appears, everybody of age 28 or older is worth $2 to $3 million. I see!

“I bought some tobacco stocks which did better. I was attracted to that industry because of my Southern connection with Reynolds, plus the fact that the people around me were smoking all the time. I invested in Reynolds Tobacco and American Tobacco. After earning his undergraduate degree from Penn's Wharton School in 1948, Stovall used a scholarship from the Danish government to fund a year of graduate study at the University of Copenhagen. “I studied political economics and Keynesian economic theory. It was a lot of fun.”

The Pilgrims Society does run the Keynesian money system of the USA, England and other nations. While in Denmark Stovall married Inger Bagger (actual name) perhaps to help Stovall “bag” the small fry investors. He got hired by National Distillers & Chemical Corporation in Kentucky through his father's connections. National Distillers has had its share of Pilgrims on its board for many years. Oliver C. Reynolds was in The Pilgrims 1957 roster and Richard S. Reynolds Jr. in the 1969 list. Stovall's father appears to not have entered The Society but was on its periphery as many are. Stovall Jr. was involved with the Commonwealth Investment Company in San Francisco and the Texas Fund, investing in Texas oil and gas ventures. Then in 1953 Stovall entered E.F. Hutton & Company whence his trajectory into eventual Pilgrims Society membership was assured. The Reynolds family connection was a major boost. "In no time, Stovall was promoted to industrial analyst."

The Kentucky Distillers Association is involved with the Henry Clay Center for Statesmanship. Henry Clay was one of the top adversaries of President Andrew Jackson and his battle to neutralize the second United States Bank. Pilgrims Society member Henry Clay Alexander, a chairman of J.P. Morgan & Company and a Vanderbilt family (Pilgrims Society) operative, was named after Henry Clay. Alexander on November 28, 1960 advocated banning Americans from owning gold overseas; see "Typical J.P. Morgan Racketeer," released in October 2008 at Silver Investor site.

“As a junior analyst for E.F. Hutton in 1955, Stovall scored a major coup after learning that the Food and Drug Administration was about to approve the first ever vaccine against the deadly polio virus. Word was that it had been discovered by a team led by Jonas Salk, a researcher at the University of Pittsburgh. The government was withholding this announcement until the anniversary of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt’s death in 1955. “I decided to write a report on the drug companies that likely would be licensed to market the Salk polio vaccine. My fellow Wall Street drug analysts either didn’t know about this discovery. I figured if the government was going to announce the approval, I would beat the herd by recommending Merck, Parke–Davis, American Home Products and a California outfit called Cutter Laboratories beforehand.” When the announcement was made, Stovall’s recommended stocks went up instantly. To the brokers who followed his advice, Stovall became a hero. “They thought I was a genius” he exclaims. “I followed this up by recommending Syntex, the first company to come out with a birth control drug.” These stellar recommendations helped to further his career. “E.F. Hutton gave me a promotion. I went to senior analyst in just three years.” He also became a member of the New York Society of Security Analysts. He went back to Reynolds & Company during 1969 to 1985. “By the time Stovall left what was by then called Dean Witter Reynolds in 1985, he was better off financially than he had ever been. His Reynolds stock, which had been split several times before being converted into shares of Sears, was worth a pretty penny and allowed him to enjoy a more than comfortable lifestyle. During his time at Dean Witter Reynolds he had been “working with some wealthy families,” very likely Pilgrims Society represented families. Later known as Shearson Lehman Hutton, it became part of the American Express (Pilgrims Society) financial conglomerate. William Edward Hutton was in The Pilgrims 1969 list and other years---

By 1959, the Salk polio vaccine was in use in 90 countries. Developed at the Mellon family (Pilgrims Society) influenced University of Pittsburgh, it was another triumph of wealth seizure and absorption by The Pilgrims Society. At http://www.naturalnews.com/032854\_sv40\_polio\_vaccines.html we read--- “Throughout its history of use, Salk's polio vaccine left a path of death its wake.” Pilgrims Society controlled drug companies patent drugs and vaccines that cause waves of fatalities and far more with disabling side effects, which are then “treated” with still more high cost, price gouging patent “medications.” They cause tens of millions of expensive hospitalizations, and while lawsuits net billions for victims, the legal system is set up so that the penalties are far smaller than the gains to these death and misery dealing Pharma interests. Thereby The Pilgrims Society makes gains towards its goals of one, massive wealth seizure and two, population reduction. The article mentions Charles Sabin, another deadly vaccine researcher. In this series we profiled London based Pilgrims Society member William David Morrison as a director of the hideous Sabin Vaccine Institute in D.C. Salk’s polio vaccines caused a massive wave of aggressive cancers! Despite this, Salk became a fellow of the prestigious American Academy of Arts and Sciences, well interconnected with the globalist movement.

Recall that in the previous profile we saw another Pilgrims Society member involved with the considerable Reynolds family fortune as a director of R.J. Reynolds Industries (Macomber).

4) Walter J.P. Curley II (1922---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined; probably by early 1980s) was a trustee of The Pilgrims Foundation as of 2001 and has info in the 2005 Who's Who in America, page 1018---

Office: 645 Fifth Ave 18th Fl New York NY 10022 E-mail: curleywjp@aol.com.

The 1952-1953 Who's Who, page 566, shows his father was a director of Pittsburgh Steel---a Mellon (Pilgrims Society) family interest. Curley seems to have had bad luck (?) with two of his sons pre-deceasing him---it tempts investigation into their obits. The fact that one of them was assigned the middle name "Mellon" is not a matter of chance; there was something transpiring there, either genealogically or by business affairs---it may be that Curley's father had Mellon money backing his activities. A look see determines that the mother of Mary Walton Curley was a member of the Mellon dynasty by her heritage. Curley therefore may be considered a Mellon family representative in The Pilgrims organization; and by no means by himself in that capacity. Only one other instance from the 1980 list was William Mellon Eaton who was president of Bankers Trust Capital Corporation. Curley was in the major league petroleum business from 1948 to 1960, and in 1961 joined Pilgrims Society official John Hay Whitney in his private investment company till 1975. Whitney's paternal grandfather was Secretary of the Navy and on his mother's side, John Hay was a Secretary of State. In "The Rich and the Super Rich" by Ferdinand Lundberg (1968), page 140 shows Whitney as the 22nd wealthiest inheritor in the United States as of then. Whitney (below), a mentor of Walter J.P. Curley, was Ambassador to England (1957-1961) and a relative by marriage of the gold and silver stealing Roosevelts. The Whitneys also became backers of the neo-Inquisitional witch hunting field known as psychiatry---

During 1975 to 1977 Curley, still as of then not yet a member of The Pilgrims (and not as of the 1980 roster) was nevertheless deemed trustworthy to represent these globalists as Ambassador to Ireland; and then Ambassador to France (1989 to 1993) and was decorated by the French government. As Ambassador to Ireland, he was connected at the top with the ancestral origin of the Mellons--- Ireland. On returning from Paris, Curley became honorary chairman of the French-American Foundation, influencing France for globalist tendencies. Curley was also decorated by China for reasons which are undetermined; it may relate to the oil business. He became the principal figure in W.J.P. Curley, raising venture capital; and president of Curley Land Company in Pittsburgh. How much land this entity controlled is nebulous. In 1999 mega global auction house Sotheby's made Ambassador Curley chairman of its international advisory board. Sotheby's, often implicated in frauds, has had its share of Pilgrims Society members involved in its affairs.

Curley was a trustee (1960–1975) of the Buckley School (founded 1913) in New York. A man who is almost certainly a Pilgrims member, David Rockefeller Jr., attended the Buckley School---

According to NNDB, Curley is or was a board member of the Bank of Ireland (founded 1783); Crane Company; New York Life Insurance; Fiduciary Trust Company International; Fairchild Camera & Instrument; New Yorker Magazine; and Paribas Bank. Paribas is an acronym for Bank of Paris and the Low Countries (Netherlands/Belgium). Curley was a trustee of the New York Public Library and the George Bush Presidential Library at Texas A & M

University. He was a backer of Bush–Cheney 2000 and is a CFR member and the Council of American Ambassadors. We mention the CAA in profiles of several other Pilgrims members in this closing series. According to the CAA, Curley was a director of France Growth Fund.

Gilpatrick (Pilgrims 1969, 1974 and 1980) was its chairman during 1975–1977. During 1973–1975 Gilpatrick was chairman of the infamous Federal Reserve Bank of New York (Who's Who in America, 1980–1981, page 1255) ---

“I’M IN THE PILL-GRAMS!”

Here he is---Gordon James Whiting--- the youngest member of The Pilgrims of whom I am currently aware. There's nothing remarkable as to his appearance. He looks like millions of other men who'd be indistinguishable if they were decapitated or masked, due to this silly habit of dressing like they were all the same box of cereal off an automated assembly line. Speaking of which--- summer is upon us---will you wear a winter garment (coat) in the heat---just to conform? Will you constrict your neck arteries, which may already have some blockage---to brand yourself as allegedly "respectable" in this unreasoning cult of "we do it this way because we do it this way?" Men standing for sentencing in court are often so attired---so what? Think for yourself for a change---summer is for skin pore ventilation. This is your health we're talking about! Why wear winter clothing in the heat? I haven't spoken sacrilegiously---God is not a suit and tie. Suits were invented by Beau Brummel, a drunk who fled London for France to cheat his lawful creditors and died of syphilis and gluttony in 1840 at the Good Savior Asylum near Caen. Suits and ties are medically dangerous in the heat, and ties are dangerous at all times. This is a digression, but it will cause a minority to start questioning why they senselessly conform. You could end up healthier and more comfortable.

Doris Chubb, his mother, may be connected to the large Chubb Corporation, which had $14 billion in 2013 revenues and 120 offices in 29 countries.

An item from the August 31, 2003 New York Times says of Whiting---“His father, who was the first executive director of the American Chamber of Commerce of Jamaica, from 1986 to 1987, is a strategic consultant to multinational companies in Kingston.”

I see no record of Whiting’s father having been a member; records are incomplete, but his connections were oriented the right way. Cornelia Conway Cabot’s father as of 2003 was “the chairman of the Adirondack Energy Consortium.” Powell M. Cabot was in The Pilgrims 1980 roster---a relation? You bet! A 1989 New York Times item reported that Powell was with Dillon, Read & Company, the investment bank run by Pilgrims Society member Douglas Dillon, who as Treasury Secretary (1961–1965) siphoned silver coins out of the banking system, besides what so-called “hoarders” could take, and scheduled them for smelting into bullion to gift to the Silver Users Association for price suppression objectives, which giveaways happened from 1967 into fall 1970, as chronicled in “The Silver Raiders,” released in September 2003---15,908 words. As of the 1989 news item, Powell Cabot’s daughter was assistant treasurer at J.P. Morgan & Company, 23 Wall Street.

There is a Cabot Corporation, also directly connected to these matters, and is apparently an industrial silver metal user. Founded at Boston in 1882, recent figures show $3.3 billion annual revenue and around 5,000 employees. “Cabot's "principal products are rubber and specialty grade carbon blacks, fumed silica, cesium formate drilling fluids, inkjet colorants, and aerogels. The company operates in over 20 countries with 36 manufacturing plants, eight research and development facilities and 28 sales offices. A certified Silver cradle-to-cradle design material, Cabot aerogels consist of approximately 95% air contained in nano-sized pores that inhibit heat transfer through the aerogel material.”

The Cabots, a dynasty of sorts, are said to be among “the first families of Boston,” and are definitely represented in The Pilgrims Society. We read---

“The Boston Brahmin Cabot family descended from John Cabot (b. 1680 in English Channel Isle of Jersey), who emigrated from his birthplace to Salem, Massachusetts in 1700. Though other individuals with the last name Cabot may descend from Giovanni Caboto (John Cabot, the Italian explorer who came from England to North America in the 1490s), the prominent Boston Brahmin Cabot family descend from the former. John Cabot (b. 1680 in British Channel Isle of Jersey) and his son, Joseph Cabot (b. 1720 in Salem), became highly successful merchants, operating a fleet of privateers carrying opium, rum, and slaves. Shipping during the eighteenth century was the lifeblood of most of Boston's first families. Joseph's sons, Joseph Cabot Jr. (b. 1746 in Salem), George Cabot (b. 1752 in Salem), and Samuel Cabot (b. 1758 in Salem), left Harvard to work their way through shipping, furthering the family fortune and becoming extraordinarily wealthy."

"Brahmin" refers to the highest Hindu social strata, similar to Patricians in Rome; in his context, it signified "a socially or culturally superior person, especially a member of the upper classes from New England."

Lodge, The Hon. Henry Cabot
Lodge, The Hon. John Davis

(They're both in the 1980 roster.)

A member of the Cabot family once chaired State Street Corporation in Boston, founded all the way back in 1792, which today states, "WE'RE RESPONSIBLE FOR 12% OF THE WORLD'S ASSETS." That equates to $28.19 trillion; Joseph Hooley, chairman of State Street, has been associated with Prince Charles (Pilgrims Society) and Hooley is on my list of likely Pilgrims members. State Street's holdings include the silver and gold price suppressing CME Group, owner of the COMEX, notorious even in hell! Hooley is also a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston!

Henry Cabot Lodge in the 1974 scan was actually H.C. Lodge Jr. (1902–1985), who was a Massachusetts Senator (1937–1944) and again (1947–1953) during which second Senate tenure he was pals with the Silver Users Association, helping them tap Treasury (taxpayer) silver and screwing the miners; then he was Ambassador to the United Nations (1953–1960) and to South Vietnam (1963–1967); to West Germany (1968–1969) and later to Vatican City and naturally he was an Episcopalian. You may have a neighbor who is Episcopalian; this is not any accusation against them. His lineage connected to the Frelinghuysen family, an old-line Dutch colonial fortune.

John Davis Lodge (1903–1985) was Ambassador to Switzerland (1983–1985); to Argentina (1969–1973); to Spain (1955–1961) and was Governor of Connecticut (1951–1955) and was a Congressman from Connecticut (1947–1951) in which role he was a friend to the Silver Users association. J.D. Lodge was in the 1938 movie, “Bank Holiday.”

There’s a well known rhyme in Boston private club circles, “This is good old Boston, home of the bean and the cod; where the Lowells talk only to Cabots and the Cabots talk only to God.”

During 1989 to 1992 Whiting was in Hong Kong, apparently in the hotel and luxury tourism industry. Starting in 1993, Whiting acquired another important connection by joining William Polk Carey & Company in New York, which bills itself as “a leading global net-lease REIT that provides long-term sale-leaseback and build-to-suit financing solutions for companies worldwide.” REIT for the unfamiliar means “real estate investment trust.” Head honcho at this firm going years back is Pilgrims Society member William Polk Carey; herewith something on him from Who’s Who in America, 1994, page 544---notice his connection to the Du Ponts (Pilgrims Society and Silver Users Association) ---this was Whiting's boss at W.P. Carey & Company---

William Polk Carey (1930–2012), Pilgrims Society---

As of December 2014, W.P. Carey & Company owned assets valued at $11.1 billion. Whiting is no longer with W.P. Carey & Company; however, before moving on, note that another director of WPC is Benjamin H. Griswold IV, whose father, Benjamin H. Griswold III was in The Pilgrims 1969 leaked roster and I consider Griswold IV to be highly likely as a current member. In 1982 W.P. Carey & Company entered into a transaction with Wesray Capital, owned by Pilgrims Society member William E. Simon, who as Treasury Secretary knocked gold down from $200 to $105, and later on the COMEX board, sunk the Hunt-Arab silver play. For details, see #10 Silver Squelchers & Their Interesting Associates. Corporate Property Associates is a division of WPC.

At Angelo-Gordon & Company site we read---

“Gordon J. Whiting joined Angelo, Gordon in 2004 and is a Managing Director and the founder and Portfolio Manager of the firm’s net lease real estate strategy. Gordon has over 19 years’ experience in this industry and previously was an Executive Director of W. P. Carey. He was also the President and Portfolio Manager of Corporate Property Associates 14, Incorporated, one of W. P. Carey’s publicly-held, non-traded real estate investment trusts that invest in net leased commercial and industrial properties. From 2002 to 2010, Gordon was a member of the five-person Federal Retirement Thrift Investment Board (the “FRTIB”), a position to which he was nominated by President George W. Bush and confirmed by the U.S. Senate. The FRTIB oversees over $290 billion of 401(k) type retirement accounts (the Thrift Savings Plan) for most Federal employees and military personnel. Gordon received a B.S. degree from Cornell University and an M.B.A. degree from Columbia University.”

This link states that Angelo Gordon & Company specializes in “non-traditional assets.” Other execs at Angelo Gordon & Company have backgrounds with L.F. Rothschild & Company; Goldman Sachs Group; Dillon, Read & Company; Merrill Lynch; Morgan Stanley; Bankers Trust; Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and Bear, Stearns & Company in other words---the usual culprits. Angelo, Gordon & Company currently manages $27 billion.

The Cornell University Council of Agriculture and Life Sciences doesn't show Whiting; that info was probably good as of 2005 however. His info shows that he was/is a member of his regional Selective Service Systems board---how nice for a warmongering organization that they could press the unwilling into service, not for America, but for their own privately decided wars, using our country as their cannon fodder---

Whiting says he's a member of the Professional Association of Diving Instructors---we'll defer critique on that item to---who else? Mike Nelson of "Sea Hunt." Whiting is a member of Holland Masonic Lodge #8, same as Pilgrims Society member John French III, who is profiled in this closing series. Whiting is a member of the Leander Club, founded in 1818 in Berkshire, England as a sport rowing club and uses a "river horse" (hippopotamus) in its logo---

Like a fair number of Pilgrims members, Whiting states membership in The Order of Saint John of Jerusalem, an old crusaders order (thieves who used religion to justify looting and pillaging activities) headed by the English Sovereign, who is also Patron of The Pilgrims Society. The Order of Kentucky Colonels, founded in 1932, uses a title tracing to 1813, and is the highest honor awarded by the “Commonwealth” of Kentucky---Harlan Sanders of Kentucky Fried Chicken was a member---it also has to do with charitable activities and so, look out---with a Pilgrims member in its ranks, globalist notions may be being fostered---

Whiting is a member of the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club. Founded in 1890, we can only wonder what transactions in silver, opium, ocean cargo, gold, diamonds, rubies, banking transactions and so on have been consummated there---

According to <http://www.dec.ny.gov/about/62462.html> Whiting is a patron member of the National Rifle Association. I suggest NRA members inquire as to Whiting's ideas on America's future--- should we return to being under the heels of the British Royal family---sponsors of The Pilgrims Society---to which he belongs? Should "ordinary" Americans be allowed to own guns, Mr. Whiting of The Pilgrims Society?

6) Lady Sylvia Jay, Baroness Jay of Ewelme (1946---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined; after the 1980 list; her husband is a very likely member), Commander of the British Empire (following is from Bloomberg) --- "served as a Managing Director of Food & Drink Federation since January 2001 and also served as its Director General from January 2001 to August 2005. Lady Jay holds experience 7 years in bank, finance, insurance, 12 years in industry and 36 years in public service. She served as a Civil Servant for more than 20 years, where she dealt with UK financial aid to less developed countries. She also worked in the U.K. Civil Service

Selection Board. She held various official positions within the Overseas Development Administration – DFID, and was seconded to the French Ministry of Cooperation, the French Treasury, and the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (Political Director). She worked at French Tresor. She held various positions as a Senior Civil Servant in the British Civil Service from 1971 to 1995 and was mainly concerned in government financial aid to developing countries. She serves as the Chairman of the Pilgrim Trust. She served as the Chairwoman of Food From Britain since January 1, 2006. She served as Chairwoman of L'Oreal UK and served as its Vice Chairwoman since September 1, 2005. She has been an Independent Director at Alcatel–Lucent from December 1, 2006 to May 28, 2014. She has been a Director of Lazard Group LLC and its subsidiary Lazard Ltd., since March 23, 2006. She has been an Independent Director of Casino, Guichard–Perrachon Société Anonyme since May 11, 2012. Lady Jay has been an Independent Director at Compagnie de Saint–Gobain since June 2001. Lady Jay served as an Independent Director of Carrefour SA from 2003 to 2005. She served as a Non–Executive Director of Gibraltar Ship Repair Company. She serves as Lay Member of the Disciplinary Committee of the General Council to the Bar, Governor of the British Nutrition Foundation, and Trustee of the Pilgrim Trust, the Food Foundation UK, the Food and Drink Federation Pension Fund, Entente Cordiale Scholarships Scheme and of the Prison Reform Trust. She served as Trustee of the Body Shop Foundation. She was a Chevalier de la Légion d'Honneur in 2008 and awarded an Honorary Doctorate of laws by Nottingham University in 2009. She serves as Member of Franco-British Council. Lady Jay was educated at the University of Nottingham (United Kingdom) and London School of Economics.”

According to this she chairs the Pilgrim Trust, located in the Clutha House, 10 Storeys Gate in London---

However, according to this, the Pilgrim Trust is currently chaired by Sir Mark Jones (a highly likely member of The Pilgrims Society London). Take your pick! This link also shows a member of the infamous Pakenham family is also a trustee of the Pilgrim Trust--- of General Pakenham who attacked our country at the Battle of New Orleans! He too is a likely Pilgrims prospect---

Harriman represented the vast Union Pacific Railroad fortunes, Brown Brothers Harriman & Company private bank and other interests.

Lawrence M. Jay isn't in Who's Who volumes and appears to not be William Jay's son. A surprising number of these Worthy Gentlemen are very difficult to trace! Jefferson was president of Struthers–Wells Company, manufacturer of “gas and steam engines, boilers et cetera” (Who's Who in America, 1914–1915, page 1238) and “was identified with one of the first organizations for transporting natural gas, 1882; investor in timber since 1884; president Warren Pennsylvania Electric Light Company; director Pennsylvania Gas Company; Warren Savings Bank; Warren Trust Company; Pennsylvania Oil Company; treasurer, National Foundry Company Redondo Development Company and various lumber and timber companies in Oregon, New Mexico, North Carolina, Washington and Pennsylvania.” I don’t find a direct connection to Thomas Jefferson; somewhere way back, perhaps in the Old World, it would surface. Jeffery was president of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad and Rio Grande Southern Railroad and chairman of Western Pacific Railway and New Orleans & North Western Railway. He was a director of Utah Fuel Company; Rio Grande Junction Railway; Pleasant Valley Coal Company of Utah; Saint Louis & Southwestern Railroad; Texas & Pacific Railway; Colorado Midland Railway; Wabash Railroad; Missouri Pacific Railroad; Manhattan Railway Company; Saint Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway; Salt Lake Union Depot & Railroad; George’s Creek & Cumberland Railroad; Western Union Telegraph; Mercantile National Bank; Manitou & Pike’s Peak Railway; Globe Express Company; Colorado Fuel & Iron Company; First National Bank of Chicago; First Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago and Equitable Trust Company of New York (Who’s Who in America, 1914–1915, page 1238).

Yes! I know that Japp, Jefferson and Jeffrey didn’t share the last name “Jay.” These are touched on so you can see who their “neighbors” were on the hidden rolls of the Secret Society, and to provide another glance towards their earlier organization. Members of The Pilgrims were all over the railroad industry even more than they were all over the oil, iron and steel industries, and possibly a touch more so than the big banks. As for Jefferson, he was one of the many members who left no children. To whom did his fortune pass, assuming his wife survived him? There is definitely a set-up in The Pilgrims Society by which such funds are channeled into a central hidden trust, trusts or foundations, to permanently add to the shocking concentration of wealth in this British Crown sponsored financial network!

John Jay Hopkins (Pilgrims 1957) was the founder of General Dynamics Corporation, a top tier defense contractor (“warmonger interest”). He was born on the West coast, so he may not have been a close relation to the New York Jays however, anyone can move anywhere. He was a director of Tidewater Oil Company, a consultant to the U.S. Treasury Department, a director of the Navy League of the United States and an executive committee member of the National Security Industrial Association (“war profiteers”). Who’s Who in America, 1952–1953, page 1173. The Pilgrims New York 1957 lists a John Jay Ide. Mister Ide was the great grandson of Supreme Court Justice John Jay. J.J. Ide (1892–1962) was an architect, art collector and an aviation pioneer who gathered military intelligence on German forces during the 1930s. J.J. Ide’s father was a Rear Admiral and he married the daughter of “steel financier William Henry Donner.” We also note--- “John Ide returned to the United States soon after retirement from the NACA, residing in New York City. He was socially prominent in that city, as well as in Washington, D.C., and Palm Beach, Florida. He served in a variety of honorary positions during this period, vice president of the International Aeronautic Federation, president of the International Sporting Commission, board member of the National Aeronautic Association, trustee of the Museum of the City of New York, and a vestryman of the St. Bartholomew's Protestant Episcopal Church in New York. He returned to France in 1958 to present a plaque to commemorate the site in Paris where John Jay participated in the signing of the peace treaty between Britain and the United States in 1783 that ended the American Revolution."

Silver Squelchers Nineteen is about investment bankers. To control the money system, you must control law and the courts. Look at all the links back to a Supreme Court Justice!

John Jay McCloy (1895–1989, Pilgrims 1957, 1969, 1974, 1980 and most likely by the late 1950s and until his death) is an incredible doozy and could easily have an entire book written on his Pilgrims activities. He was High Commissioner in Germany after World War Two; president of the World Bank; chairman of Chase Manhattan Bank; chairman of the Council on Foreign Relations; a member of the Warren Commission; a director of Mercedes-Benz North America; Squibb Corporation and others. He's mentioned in #11 Silver Squelchers.

Peter Jay, Pilgrims of Great Britain, was British Ambassador to America (1977–1979) and is a former director of the Bank of England during 2003 to 2009. In 1982 he became a governor of the Ditchley Foundation, a Pilgrims Society run think-tank for tangling American foreign policy up in British intentions; we discuss Ditchley elsewhere in this series. “Jay is a supporter of Keynesian economics.” He was economics editor of The Times of London for ten years. Did he take opportunity to badmouth silver? See for yourself if you want to check the online index.

7) Brian Griffiths, Lord Griffiths, Baron Griffiths of Fforestfach (1941---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined) is vice chairman of Goldman Sachs International and is a member of Parliament (House of Lords) where his info states he's a director of Goldman Sachs International and a director of Goldman Sachs Bank and Times Newspapers. During 1983–1985 he was a director of the Bank of England. He's chairman of a group called Christian Responsibility in Public Affairs and is a patron of the Foundation for Ethics in Globalization in Zurich, Switzerland. He additionally receives unspecified remuneration from something called Telereal Trillium. He's been a member of several Parliament committees---including the ominously named Committee on Religious Offences (2002–2003) and is at present on the Economic Committee. His motto, in the unusual Welch language is OFN YR ARGLWYDD Y DYW DOETHINEB which I haven't looked up! During 1991 to 2001 he chaired the Centre for Policy Studies. During 2000 to 2002 he was a director of the Conservative Christian Fellowship and is a vice president of Nature In Art Trust. That he graduated from the London School of Economics makes him suitable as a Goldman Sachs official however as serious theft and wealth destruction is involved I don't see how that jives with his pretended veneer of Christianity.

much to the old Chinese opium business. There's a Goldman Sachs personality there also---

Here he was at a Saint Gallen Symposium in Switzerland, which has been taking place for over 40 years annually. He was a professor of banking and international finance at City University of London and a professor at the London School of Economics. In his 7 minute speech he made no mention of The Pilgrims---

Lord Brian Griffiths is also the “chairman of the Lambeth Fund, which manages the investments of the Anglican Archbishop of Canterbury.” He voted to reduce the membership of the House of Commons, presumably due to Pilgrims Society power being sufficiently concentrated in fewer hands. The Archbishop of Canterbury is at all times a member of The Pilgrims of Great Britain. The Pilgrims as an organization have not neglected the influence potential of religion, and as a Crown allied group reflect this by having the top clergyman of the Church of England as a member.

Constantine Michael Bellas, his father, is described here---

"In 1937, the Bellas Company dba Iron City Distributing Company (ICDC) was founded in Steubenville, OH by the late Constantine M. Bellas. In 1966, the company relocated from Steubenville to its present location of 2670 Commercial Avenue in Mingo Junction, Ohio. The leadership of the organization was transferred to his son Michael C. Bellas, the current Chairman in 1991. Along with the current management team that includes President, Robert M. Chapman, Vice President/General Manager, Kevin G. Medley, and Sales Manager, Ted Stupak, Iron City Distributing Company also employees an additional 15 individuals who collectively as a group have over 250 years of beverage industry experience. Iron City Distributing Company is eastern Ohio's oldest wholesaler specializing in the distribution of beer, wine, spirits, and a wide assortment of non-alcoholic beverages in the entire counties of Jefferson, Harrison, Belmont, and Monroe and south of Route 30 in Columbiana County."

Bellas and his parents are/were Greek; his wife is Italian. Italy and Greece had a major tussle in World War Two. Here's his wife in an unrevealing video. Notice in 1963 Bellas was a summer intern in the White House, possibly because his father had been a Kennedy backer in Ohio. There's a gap in the history he shows (1963–1968) which would include all of 1964–1967. While he was playing in the White House in 1963, who was Treasury Secretary? None other than the anti-silver activist Douglas Dillon (Pilgrims Society, and on the executive committee in later years). Where did Bellas land in 1968? Oh, with Dillon, Read & Company in New York, Dillon's investment banking operation which also included United States & Foreign Securities Corporation and United States & International Securities

Corporation. After more than three years at Dillon Read---which raised lots of money for Silver Users Association member companies---Bellas “Pilgrimed” his way over to Goldman Sachs during 1973–1976, during which time he had opportunity to be indoctrinated and tested to see if he could eventually be “tapped” for Pilgrims membership. He passed, and they eventually loaded him with connections besides those he had by inheritance in Ohio. The Pilgrims shuffled their deck and he landed at Loeb, Rhoades & Company (John L. Loeb Jr., Pilgrims Society and Ambassador to Denmark) and afterwards was with the Shearson Lehman and Lehman Brothers during 1979–1991 period and would have known Pilgrims member George W. Ball, a former Ambassador to the U.N. and on the Bilderberg steering committee. A link with a story on Offitbank (no date) said it managed as of then $11 billion. At 520 Madison Avenue, Offitbank is “a leading provider of wealth management services to the upper tier of the wealth management market. Its select client base is comprised of high net worth individuals and families and corporate and institutional investors.” Founded in 1983, as of the time of this link it had 1,119 accounts. In 1999 Wachovia Bank acquired Offit Holdings for $200 million and the division serves “individuals with investable assets of $10 million or more.”

OFFITBANK
The Investment Management Bank

Moving again like a spider across a web, Bellas headed Neuberger Berman LLC in 2000–2003. This was a Lehman subsidiary. I figure the “inside” money (“Pilgrims”) had pulled out of Lehman and gone short before it caught on fire, same as with Barings Bank in London.

“While at Lehman Brothers, Mr. Bellas was a member of the Board of Directors, Director and Chairman of Operating Committee for the Public Finance Division. Additionally, he chaired various firm-wide commitment committees responsible for approving investment banking transactions and private partnerships investments.”

In 2004 Bellas founded The Solaris Group “Albert C. Bellas is a member of Brock Capital Group LLC and a co-founder of the Solaris Group LLC. The Solaris Group is a specialized global wealth strategy and asset management firm for ultra high net-worth individuals, families and family offices, foundations and charitable programs, and institutions.” Charles Lawrence Brock, Pilgrims Society, will be profiled in #21 and what a rip-roaring big wheel he is. Another partner in Solaris Group, Stephen Brent Wells, looks like a Pilgrims prospective member with his background from Morgan Stanley, Goldman Sachs, and the important Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft law firm (Pilgrims Society).

“The Solaris research-intensive approach to security selection focuses on company fundamentals. Our universe of investments includes over 1,000 companies that have an acceptable level of trading liquidity. These companies are subjected to our proprietary multi-factor computer model, which assists our sector managers and analysts in identifying securities for further research. We focus on some 400 companies that may have business issues which limit the realization of their growth potential. The securities of these companies represent unrealized value in the financial markets. We then identify those companies where we believe positive change is most likely to occur—typically about a hundred companies at any given time.”

Bellas says that since 2005 he's been a member of the investment committee of (let's try and interpret his abbreviations) the Society for Neuroscience (your opinion reader is---what?) The Society for Neuroscience in D.C. was founded in 1969 and has around 40,000 members. It has 130 chapters in 90 countries and is comprised of medical doctors and researchers. Naturally these are of above average incomes---and Bellas controls their investment funds now for more than ten years! We must also reasonably assume that whatever patents arise from these researchers, The Pilgrims Society will have a stranglehold on the wealth streams resulting therefrom---

St. Mary's Foundation for Children, now known as St. Mary's Healthcare System for Children near Brooklyn, is allegedly a nonprofit enterprise. They are a typical vaccine pushing organization.

Founded in 2010, Lenfest Foundation supports entities in the Philadelphia area only. H.F. Lenfest started in 1965 with Pilgrims Society member, billionaire Walter Annenberg, owner of TV Guide (Triangle Communications). Before 1965, Lenfest was with Davis, Polk & Wardwell, among the most important Pilgrims Society law firms in Wall Street. In 1974 he formed Lenfest Communications and sold it to AT & T in 1999, who sold it to Comcast in 2000 for $6.7 billion---

Persons associated with Forbes (Pilgrims Society), Citigroup (Pilgrims Society), Colgate Palmolive (Pilgrims Society) and so forth, are directors of this patriotic site, corrupted by globalist influence---of which Bellas is a member of its investment committee---that detail comes from <http://www.brockcapital.com/albert-c-bellas/> Charles Lawrence Brock of Brock Capital has an extensive Pilgrims profile as we'll see.

During 2002–2006 Bellas was treasurer of the Century Association, a group with a significant overlap with Pilgrims membership. Tracing to 1829, the Century Association today claims over 2,000 members and it's an invitation only club.

The American Friends of the Royal Ballet School is just another strand linking us to British influence. These Pilgrims are all over top level cultural organizations and museums in London, New York and other Eastern cities especially; yet they may turn up anywhere. See Bellas also involved with the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts and the School of American Ballet and the Guild Hall of Easthampton, founded in 1931. There's big money in art---and big tax advantages!

The Brick Church in New York City is Presbyterian; it's long represented in The Pilgrims Society New York. The Mercersburg Academy "is a highly selective private, independent, coed college preparatory boarding school of 435 students in grades 9–12/postgraduate located in Mercersburg, Pennsylvania, about 90 miles northwest of Washington, D.C." The academy is associated with the UCC, United Church of Christ. As of his 2014 info, Bellas was chairman of Mercersburg finance committee for twenty years---

Since 1998 Bellas has been a member of Rockefeller University committee on trusts and estates. It started in 1901 as the Rockefeller Medical Research Institute. Big Medicine, Big Hospitals and Big Pharma---all Pilgrims Society dominated---

Bellas has acted as a fund raiser for the Yale School of Business, more often known as the Yale School of Management. Most likely he's a member of a Yale super-fraternity, and not necessarily Skull & Bones, which has attracted the most attention of the group due to its sinister name. In a Google search for the Partnership for Children's Rights, I see a notice "this site may be hacked." In 1968 Bellas was awarded a McKinsey Scholarship. Founded in 1926, McKinsey & Company as of 2013 has 17,000 employees and $7.8 billion annual revenue in multinational management consulting.

The American Bar Association founded in 1878, today has around 400,000 attorney members. The Money Power realized ages ago that to hold sway, it must control the making and interpreting of law. An inordinate number of state legislators and congressmen are lawyers. While you're watching pro sports or talk shows, occupational factions make laws that favor their interests. Tax laws can't be simplified because accountants lobby against it.

The Economic Club of New York is virulently opposed to monetary silver. It and the other clubs Bellas mentions membership in are described in other profiles. Bellas resides at 1130 Park Avenue in New York. Prices surveyed range from $4.3 to $6 million for a townhouse. His office is at 598 Madison Avenue in the Bankers Trust Building---

At Bloomberg we notice these details on Mister Bellas which don't appear in these other sources on him---

“Bellas was a Director at Isotag Technology Inc., Procuri, Inc., and Authentix, Inc. He is a frequent guest speaker at various conferences and seminars including the Investment Management Institute, The Chase Manhattan Wealth Management Conference, the Callan Investment Management Council, the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants, the Institute for Private Investors, and the Family Office Exchange.”

Isotag seems to have been merged into Authentix or is a division of it. Of Authentix we read---

“Authentix provides excise tax recovery, brand protection, supply chain security, product authentication, banknote authentication and banknote fitness solutions to governments, Fortune 500 companies and Central Banks around the world. Authentix helps safeguard clients in the oil and gas, pharmaceutical, spirits, tobacco, consumer goods, and agrochemical industries from issues including counterfeiting, product theft, product diversion, smuggling and adulteration. In addition, we help protect the currencies for many leading central banks. Innovative nano-scale engineering, proven program management experience, industry-leading authentication and traceability expertise and cutting-edge banknote sensor knowledge help Authentix create effective customized solutions that address each client’s needs. To date, Authentix has helped recover $11 billion in lost sales and tax revenue for our clients. This success has ensured that we are a trusted partner of the world’s leading brand owners and governments.”

This one is in Atlanta and has since merged---

Located in Greenwich Connecticut---

The Chase Manhattan Wealth Management Conference was apparently something going on before the year 2000, as in that year the historic merger of Chase Manhattan Bank and J.P. Morgan & Company took place, uniting two Pilgrims Society mega-titans. Callan Investment Management Council yields no definite results but appears to lead to Callan Associates based in San Francisco which says of itself--- "We are considered unique within the investment consulting industry."

He began his investment banking career at Morgan Stanley in New York in 1975, after receiving his M.B.A. degree. Prior to his graduate studies, Mr. Keevil worked for Unilever in England for five years as a member of its Management Development Scheme. Mr. Keevil is non-executive Chairman of The Risk Advisory Group, a leading EMEA-based business intelligence firm. He is also a Director of British American Business Inc., a member of the Business Advisory Forum of Oxford's Saïd Business School, and a member of the Advisory Council of the London Symphony Orchestra. In addition, Mr. Keevil is a Freeman of the City of London, a liveryman of the International Bankers Company. A holder of dual British and American citizenships, Mr. Keevil received B.A. and M.A. degrees with honors in philosophy, politics and economics from Oxford University, and an M.B.A. degree from Harvard University with High Distinction as a Baker Scholar."

There may have been a recent transition; in any case, there’s no difference, as the replacement is an admitted flunky for Prince Charles (Pilgrims Society). To return to Compass Partners---

“Compass Partners is a private international merchant bank headquartered in New York, with additional offices in London and relationships around the world. Compass has two lines of business: Advisory: providing innovative strategic and financial advice to leading corporations and government agencies across the world; Investing: investing institutional capital across a range of strategies. Compass is active throughout North America, Europe, China, India, Russia, Latin America, and the Middle East and is distinguished by its successful execution of complex cross-border transactions.”

In 2006 Compass Partners announced a partnership with Rondelli Advisers to enter the Italian mergers and acquisitions sector noting that it complemented “the coverage we already have in France, Germany, Switzerland, Benelux and the Nordic region.”

10) Sir Richard Lloyd, 2nd Baronet Lloyd according to The Peerage (1928---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined); Order of the British Empire is the son of a Major in the British military. His mother's middle name, Kynaston, is fairly unusual, and is doubtless a relation to Sir Kynaston Studd, who was Lord Mayor of London in 1928. Page 43 of The Pilgrims 1933 lists (London branch) shows---

His family, descended from William the Conqueror, made a fortune over many years in British colonial India in the textile industry. I heard a diamond seller once saying “they work all day in India for a bowl of rice cutting diamonds,” just think what the Kynaston Studd family may have paid in wages to the “inferior” Indians (the British WERE superior---they had guns and their subjects did not!) Lloyd married the daughter of a Brigadier General. Lloyd was with Williams & Glyn's Bank from 1964 to 1978, finishing as CEO. He was on the Independent Advisory Board (1972-1976) and became deputy chairman of Hill, Samuel & Company, international merchant bank in London, from 1978-1980 and became CEO 1980 to 1987 and chairman, 1987 to 1991. During 1981 to 1985 he was a member of the Overseas Project Board. During 1987 to 1995 Lloyd was an adviser to the Royal College of Defence Studies. During 1988 to 1998 he was a director of SIEBE PLC and during 1992 to 1997 he chaired Vickers PLC. Overlapping that time, during 1994 to 1998 Lloyd chaired Angus PLC. During 1997 to 1998 he chaired the advisory committee to the OECD, Organization for Economic Cooperation & Development.

The WG Bank traces to 1753. Hill, Samuel traces to 1832 and is since merged into Lloyd's Bank. Is there a connection between the name Lloyd's Bank, and Sir Richard Lloyd? It would seem so. A principal in Hill Samuel started shipping oil from Russia to Japan in the 1880s and developed a fleet of tankers including the first such ship that passed through the Suez Canal in 1892. That fleet became a major component of what is now known as Shell Transport & Trading, a division of the giant Royal Dutch Petroleum, which is an Anglo-Dutch company and well represented in The Pilgrims Society London.

Other sources say Lloyd joined Glyn, Mills & Company in 1952 and became a director in 1958, advancing by 1964 to executive director. Williams & Glyn's Bank eventually merged into the Bank of Scotland. The Royal College of Defence Studies was founded in 1927 as the Royal Defence College. As history's top warmongers, the British leadership got control over American military power and used it in both British planned and caused World Wars---

SIEBE PLC, tracing to 1819, in 1999 merged into Invensys, a multinational engineering and technology company with around $2.5 billion annual revenue.

Vickers was active in aviation, ship building and steel. It was bought by Rolls Royce in 1999, carved up and sold off---

Angus PLC, better known as Angus Dundee Distillers, has been in operation for 60 years. It's based in London---

According to a 1987 New York Times story, Lloyd succeeded Sir Robert Clark as chairman of Hill, Samuel & Company---Clark was in The Pilgrims London 1980 roster. The story noted---

“Throughout his 34 years in London financial circles, Mr. Lloyd has served on a number of prominent councils and advisory boards including the Industrial Development Advisory Board and the National Economic Development Committee. Currently, Mr. Lloyd is a member of the Council of the C.B.I. (Confederation of British Industries), the Institute of Bankers, the British Bankers Association and a member of the City Capital Markets Committee.”

The UK Industrial Development Advisory Board is currently interlocked with a large hedge fund. Founded in 1965, the Confederation of British Industry has 190,000 members meaning; the big boys suckered the small folks in to let them pay for funding---

The Institute of Bankers and the British Bankers Association may as well be identical twins; both stand for globalism. Sir Nigel Wicks of the BBA is almost certainly a Pilgrims member---

The Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development is definitely a globalist organization; founded in 1961 it has 34 member nations---

11) Peter Thomas Saint Germain (1952---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined) New York--(BUSINESS WIRE)—"Sept. 9, 2004--BNP Paribas is pleased to announce the appointment of Peter Saint Germain as a Director in Foreign Exchange (FX) Institutional Sales. He is based in New York. Peter joins the firm from Lehman Brothers' Institutional Sales Desk where he worked since 2001. Prior to that he worked in FX Sales and Trading at JP Morgan from 1982 to 2001, most recently as a salesman covering Institutional Investors." Their French slogan means, "The bank for a changing world." A 2011 figure from Wiki states this bank had at that time, 200,000 employees. It's long been believed by many sources that the French branch of the Rothschild family dominates the entire economy there; this bank was originally the BNP, the National Bank of Paris and the Low Countries (Netherlands, Belgium and Denmark). Naturally there is a Britisher on the $2.5 trillion BNP Paribas board.

12) Susan Mary Renwick Baring (1930---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined) and is/was a director of 7 unspecified companies. On November 25, 1955, she married John Baring, later known as the seventh Baron Ashburton. As of 1980, the last list we have, he'd have been 51 and a half, approximately. Admission to The Pilgrims usually occurs a touch later, though exceptions aren't rare. You're wondering about the name Baring and is it related to the famous Barings Bank, which dated to Francis Baring in the year 1762. In 1771 Francis Baring became a member of the court of the huge Royal Exchange Assurance. Due to military conflicts between France and the Netherlands in the 1770s, Barings in London seized ocean shipping business from Amsterdam operators. Nevertheless, Baring had connections with Hope & Company of Amsterdam, a mainland merchant bank, and the Baring firm had a strong “in” with the first United States Bank (central bank, 1791–1811) in the person of Thomas Willing who was president of the Bank of North America (1781–1791) which preceded the transition to the first U.S. Bank. Robert Morris and Alexander Hamilton were both deeply involved with these British allied banks---Hamilton’s genealogy appears in The Pilgrims Society in several examples, most notably that of Pierpont Morgan Hamilton (Pilgrims 1957), uniting the J.P. Morgan dynasty with the sellout Hamilton line. Robert Morris Associates has for many years been a strong Pilgrims Society front organization. From 1791 to 1807 Willing was the first president of the United States Bank (or as its often called, the Bank of the United States). Also involved with these sneaky banks was William Bingham (1752–1804), whose son in law was Alexander Baring---together they brokered the Louisiana Purchase! Bingham acquired millions of acres in Pennsylvania, New York and Maine. Thomas Willing was on record as opposing American independence from England---no wonder they chose him as first president of the United States Bank!

Notice in the Renwick coat of arms the same wings symbol as Barings Bank---

Returning to the present and the seventh Baron Ashburton (John Baring, Susan Baring's ex-husband) we find that he was chairman of Barings Bank (1974–1989) and of course, a director. Barings Bank is the London counterpart to New York's Lehman Brothers, as both were set up to go bust, hurting plenty of small folks and non-aligned rich alike in their crashes. Barings crashed in 1995 and Lehman in 2008. Did the Baring family go down with the bank? Indeed they did not, and most likely, neither did the Lehman family and other Pilgrims insiders in New York. John and Mary Baring divorced in 1984 with two sons and two daughters. His second marriage was into the Churchill (Pilgrims Society) family. He was a director of Trafford Park Estates (1964–1977); Royal Insurance (1964–1982); Jaguar Cars (years undetermined); Pye Holdings (1967–1979); Dunlop Holdings (1981–1984); British Petroleum (1982–1992); chairman of British Petroleum (1992–1995); and a director of the gold and silver suppressing Bank of England (1983–1991). John Baring is extremely likely to be on the roster of The Pilgrims London.

Trafford Park is the largest industrial estate in England and Europe both---

Here we have another allusion to Royalty possibly being higher than the bankers---

Jaguar luxury cars has around 10,000 employees---

Pye is a major UK homebuilder founded in 1927---

Dunlop became part of what is now known as Invensys.
We read about Invensys in Sir Richard Lloyd's profile.

The BOE is acknowledged as parent of the Federal Reserve---

As for Susan Mary Renwick Baring, notice the Renwick part of her name---recall in #12 Silver Squelchers, we reviewed Sir Robin Renwick, Pilgrims London and his lengthy business connections and diplomatic resume. Her father was Baron Renwick of Coombe. The 1957 Pilgrims roster for London shows---

Rendtorff, Andrew
Rennell of Rodd, The Lord, K.B.E., C.B.
Renwick, Sir Robert, Bt., K.B.E.

Susan Mary Renwick is confirmed as the daughter of Sir Robert Renwick, later known as Baron Renwick of Coombe. His father was wealthy as chairman of County of London Electric Supply---imagine supplying large areas of London with electrical equipment. This appears to be the same family group that includes Pilgrims member

Sir Robin Renwick, who was the first profile we examined in #12 Silver Squelchers. Rendtorff has very scant info available---there are a fair number of such Pilgrims, and they are therefore more worrisome. Rennell's father was Ambassador to Italy during World War One and was awarded the Grand Cross of the Order of the Polar Star of Sweden and Norway by King Oscar II. Rennell's father in law was in The Pilgrims London 1949---

Bicester, The Lord

This character was chairman of a trading company in Calcutta, Yule Catto & Company, and in the USA Pilgrims branch we had Henry Catto, who was President Bush The First's Ambassador to England; he held appointments from three other Presidents (they were told to appoint him) and held interests in TV broadcasting operating in 7 major cities and the Houston Post newspaper. Bicester was a director of Royal Exchange Assurance Corporation and of Morgan, Grenfell & Company, closely connected to the JP Morgan interests and through the Grenfells (Pilgrims Society) to the Bank of England. From The Pilgrims London 1957 list, Thomas Sivewright Catto Commander of the British Empire was a member of the Baltic Shipping Exchange, had a fortune partly tracing to opium (through members of the older branch of the Forbes family; not the magazine publishers) and was a Governor of the Bank of England---

A comment I recently posted on the web---

“It should be possible to organize a 50 state business coalition to push back against all mandatory vaccinations. The reason being as vaccinations as intended do generate illnesses and chronic disease conditions in their target victim recipients, money that people would otherwise spend on vacations, amusement parks, jewelry, movies, restaurants, boats, camping, fishing, home improvements, new automobiles, auto repair, new clothes, major appliances, coin collecting, tree trimming, gardening and hundreds of other examples, is instead being forcibly channeled by overbearing legislation into medical cartels by bribed legislators. These medical cartels are depriving a vast array of non-related businesses of at least hundreds of billions in annual revenue. The individual is induced by collusion to become ill so medical cartels can loot the public wallet. Many people have nothing left after being plundered by medical cartels and news stories are rampant about the elderly being forced to choose between air conditioning in summertime and heat in winter and Rx “medications,” when all they ever needed is “nutrients” which are safer, more effective and especially, cheap contrasted to “medications.” Medical cartels are therefore a severe threat to the business of most other businesses. Also, people with catastrophic medical conditions iatrogenically caused cannot donate money to an entire range of charities—homeless people, homeless pets, Meals on Wheels, job education programs and so much more—all due to a mounting casualty list of incomes seized and absorbed by the voracious Medical Colossus.”
