Silver Squelchers Twenty Two & Their Interesting Associates

Real Estate & Other Financiers With Connections To Silver Suppressors

The Pilgrims theme music?

“He spoke openly against the Society”

(Line from “The Rifleman,” March 3, 1963)

Presented by August 2015 by Charles Savoie

In the closing presentation in this series, we’ll review a real estate operator who is considerably larger than all these profiled here. We are however placing that London based member of The Pilgrims into section #2 of Royalty and Nobility (probably Silver Squelchers Twenty Nine by the numbers).

1) Charles Lawrence Brock (1943—Pilgrims Society at least by 1994 Who’s Who, page 421) has info in the 2014 Who’s Who In the East, page 162—-
In remarks to the United States Senate on July 26, 1995, we find in the Congressional Record the following---

“Mr. THURMOND. Mr. President, over the past 40 years, South Carolina has enjoyed tremendous economic growth, and has emerged as one of the Nation's leading centers for commerce and industry. Many people have had a role in this success, and I rise today to pay tribute to one person who made many contributions to our State's prosperity, Mr. Francis Moffett Hipp, who passed away earlier this week at the age of 84.

Mr. Hipp was recognized throughout South Carolina as both a community and a business leader. His father founded the Liberty Life Insurance Co., which Francis eventually took over and ran as its chairman. Under his direction, the company grew and diversified, even acquiring a chain of television stations, including one in Columbia, SC. The Liberty Corp., as it is now known, is one of our State's largest insurance companies, employing literally thousands of people and contributing an inestimable benefit to South Carolina and its economy.

Because of his stature as a businessman, and his concern for the future of our State, Mr. Hipp also served as the chairman of both the South Carolina Development Board and the South Carolina Research Authority. Both these organizations have played important roles in expanding the Palmetto State business community, and during his tenure at those agencies, Mr. Hipp's dedication and vision helped greatly to develop industry in our State. Thanks to the concerted efforts of Francis Hipp, and those who worked with him, our State stands both financially stronger and better positioned to compete in the 21st century global marketplace.

Mr. President, Francis Hipp led a full and productive life, and through his work, he left a tremendous mark on South Carolina. He was a gifted businessman, a committed citizen of our State, and a dedicated and loyal family man. I was proud to count this man among my friends and regret that the Senate schedule prevented me from attending his memorial service today. My sympathies and condolences go out to all who knew Francis Moffett Hipp, especially his sons; Hayne and John; and daughter, Mary Jane Hipp Brock.”
C.L. Brock is another hell of an operator---the kind that become members of The Pilgrims. Starting with his wife, he married into big money. He probably met her via his law experience in Sullivan & Cromwell. Pilgrims members associated with S & C over the years have had monumental influence. Members of this law firm who haven’t been members are supervised by members, and the influence of these subordinates is huge. It’s often regarded as the world's premier law firm. I find on Guide Star the Mary Jane Hipp Brock Family Foundation, with no statement of assets reported. However, it is no empty piggy bank. Her father bought control of Southeastern Life Insurance in 1930 and founded Broadcasting Company of the South in 1950, renamed Cosmos Broadcasting Corporation in 1965. This link tells us that F.M. Hipp was also a director of South Carolina National Bank, Carolina Pipeline Company and South Carolina Electric & Gas. He helped launch the University of South Carolina Business Partnership Foundation and the twin towers of the USC Business Administration Building are named for him. Hipp was chairman of the South Carolina Foundation of Independent Colleges and was a board member of The Citadel Development Foundation, Queens College, and the University of South Carolina President’s National Advisory Council. We also discover—“Hipp was the longest-serving chairman of any listed company in the history of the New York Stock Exchange. Liberty had become a diversified holding company with more than $3 billion in assets and revenues of over $600 million. Liberty Life was a dominant insurance company in the Carolinas and had a national presence. Liberty's newest subsidiary, Liberty Insurance Services, was the largest third-party administrator in the life insurance industry. Liberty's newest subsidiary, Liberty Insurance Services, was the largest third-party administrator in the life insurance industry.”
The chain of radio stations Hipp acquired naturally advertised the insurance services of his Liberty Life. “As chairman of a revitalized State Development Board from 1959 to 1963, he helped recruit a record number of industries to South Carolina during a time of vast economic growth. He also served on numerous boards of educational, medical, civic, professional and financial institutions including the South Carolina Foundation of Independent Colleges, Greenville General Hospital and the Greenville YMCA. In 1985, Hipp was inducted into the South Carolina Business Hall of Fame and also received the South Carolina Order of the Palmetto.” Furman University has a Francis M. Hipp fellowship. Images of businesses and organizations Hipp was prominent in---

The South Carolina National Bank traces to its original name in 1817---the Office of Discount & Deposit, a subsidiary of the second United States Bank (forerunner to the Federal Reserve) in Charleston, which financed cotton and rice exports to England and Europe---
South Carolina national Bank became part of Synovus Bank. South Carolina electric & Gas became part of SCANA Corporation; its name is taken from the letters in “South Carolina.” It has 661,000 electric utility customers and over one million natural gas customers in South Carolina and around 6,000 employees.
South Carolina Research Foundation---

Greenville General Hospital’s name changed to Greenville Hospital System--- Raycom Media is the successor to Cosmos Broadcasting & also to Liberty Life Insurance Corporation---
The Citadel is South Carolina’s military college—
More British Royal influence in our country seen here—

Well—-that's some huge credentials for the father in law of Charles Lawrence Brock, the member of The Pilgrims we’re profiling now. How much of the multiple fortunes his father in law represented came under Brock’s control? Anyone care to ask? I recommend not seeking to contact these people; at best your time would be wasted. During 1974 to 1980 Brock was an official of Scholastic Magazines, undoubtedly another conduit for teaching globalism to school children. They claim annual revenues of around $2 billion, presence in 150 countries and 9,500 employees---

In 1980–1982 Brock was v.p. and director of Compton Communications. Their site mentions involvement in high speed internet; digital TV; bundled services; home phones and more. It was merged into Canadian based Rogers Communications, a conglomerate with around 30,000 employees which invests around $2 billion Canadian annually. The board is interlocked with Barrick Gold. David R. Peterson, a director, was invited to join the Privy Council to the British Sovereign in 1992; he may easily be a Pilgrims member. Rogers Tower in Toronto---

During 1982–1984 Brock continued his trajectory towards membership in The Pilgrims. He may have been a member by 1981; this cannot be confirmed. In 1982 he joined the law firm of Drinker, Biddle & Reath with branches in New York, Philadelphia and Washington. The other names are unfamiliar; Biddle however is well known to this Pilgrims investigative researcher as a family with strong connections to other important Pilgrims dynasties. See info on the Biddle family of the Second United States Bank in “Pilgrims Society Takeover of BITCOIN,” pages 59–77. During 1984 to 1995 Brock was a partner in Carter, Ledyard & Milburn in New York which calls itself a “Wall Street general practice law firm.” By this time he had certainly arrived; we know Brock was a MEMBER at least by 1994.

Carter, Ledyard & Milburn is a pre–Civil War firm dating to 1854. The current name dates to 1904 when John G. Milburn became a partner. He was a Standard Oil Company attorney and he was a charter member in 1903 of The Pilgrims New York. In his listing Milburn stated, “President McKinley was taken to his house after fatal assault and died there,” Who’s Who, 1916–1917, page 1696. President McKinley (1897–1901) was a member of Congress years earlier, and he did vote for the Bland–Allison Act of 1878 regarding issuance of the new Morgan silver dollars, which the New York Clearing House Association boycotted and minimized as much as they could. That account if you wish to read it appears on pages 4–12 of #1 Silver Squelchers. Milburn was president of the New York City Bar Association in 1920–1921. At that time the firm was most active in steel, petroleum and tobacco. Lewis Cass Ledyard, not a Pilgrim as far as available info shows, had a grandfather who was Michigan Territorial Governor (1813–1831); Secretary of War (1831–1836); Ambassador to France (1836–1842); Senator from Michigan (1849–1857); Secretary of State (1857–1860) and co–founder of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Michigan. These three law firms in Brock’s background—–Sullivan & Cromwell; Drinker, Biddle & Reath and Carter, Ledyard & Milburn have fantastic roots in influence, wealth and corruption, which is par for Pilgrims connected institutions.

Clinton Ledyard Blair (1867–1949, Pilgrims 1949 and other years), described in #5 Silver Squelchers, pages 29–35, was the grandson of one of the 15 or 20 wealthiest men of the nineteenth century, railroad magnate John I. Blair who among other feats, seized millions of acres of land in Iowa by bribing the state legislature! His tools included the Sioux City Railroad and the Iowa Falls & Sioux City Railroad. Almost 5 million acres were looted in this manner, most likely still in Pilgrims Society hands. Included in that presentation are interior images of one of Clinton Ledyard Blair’s mansions that would make the typical Maharajah weep with envy.
Pages 143–144 of the 1798 classic expose, “Proofs of a Conspiracy” by Scottish university professor John Robeson, mentioned a man named Ledyard!

The Ledyard National Bank in New Hampshire and Vermont, opened in 1989, reflects very old roots. Several of its directors interlock it with large regional hospitals, as major points of the plan to loot the middle class include banking and Big Medicine. Another director is with the Nelson Rockefeller Center at Dartmouth College.

John Ledyard (1751–1789) attended Dartmouth College. He died in Cairo, Egypt, during a trading journey peddling furs destined for China. Opium may have been involved. He was involved with Philadelphia financier Robert Morris, slave importer who also was most likely involved in opium dealings in the Far East. Robert Morris Associates is today a definite Pilgrims Society front. In 1781 Morris started the Bank of North America, direct forerunner of the first (British controlled) United States Bank, which in 1791 supplanted the BNA. Charles Lawrence Brock, Pilgrims Society, you may be assured is aware of all this history and far more besides.

Brock founded Brock Partners in 1995 and changed its name in 2002 to Brock Capital Group, into which very likely much of his wife’s inherited money was injected. Since 2002 he’s held the titles of chairman and chief executive officer of Brock Capital Group. It’s called “a boutique investment bank” and a mergers and acquisitions advisory firm. See Brock third from left in the fancy red vest. It features investment banking, venture capital, working capital loans and fiduciary services also. “Brock assists family offices, trustees, high net worth individuals, and foundations with private, direct investments and private funds.” In mergers and acquisitions “Our experienced M&A professionals have personally led or advised on over 100 transactions across a wide range of industries. Brock Real Estate offers specialized real estate advisory and investment banking services, including access to significant off-market transactions. Our network extends beyond strong relationships with major institutional investors to encompass access to several domestic and overseas investors, including private family offices and high net worth individuals.” Brock Capital Markets—“Brock Securities specializes in raising capital in public and private markets, and placing debt, equity, and innovative and complex securities with institutional and other investors. Arranges capital market transactions in excess of $5 billion, including public offerings, private placements, M&A, special purpose acquisition companies (SPACs), private investment in public equity (PIPEs) and secondary offerings. Brings expertise in industries including maritime, metals and mining, media, telecom, energy, real estate and financial services. Place securities with an established list of institutional and other investors.”
Brock Fiduciary Services has $23 billion in assets. It arranged a $4.35 billion funding for United Auto Workers Medical Benefits Trust among many other deals.

Medical benefits for UAW retirees are paid to providers in which Pilgrims Society members hold interests—count on it.
Without mentioning individual names, Brock Team members have been with or are presently connected to the following---many names may be unfamiliar; Hightower Advisors alone represents over $20 billion---at the top of this pyramid stands Pilgrims Society member Charles Lawrence Brock---some of the more important ones are highlighted---Goldman Sachs and Eli Lilly & Company (pharmaceuticals) both had three connections in Brock Capital and also the Rockefeller Foundation is represented, or connected to Brock Capital Group---

Of note is Alan Bilowski a Brock Capital associate ---

“As founder of the Healthcare Group at Wasserstein Perella & Co. in 1991, Dr. Biloski assembled a group of 12 professionals who concluded over $40 billion in pharmaceutical, health service, and medical device deals. Through his specialization in pharmaceuticals, Dr. Biloski has been responsible for a number of landmark transactions such as SmithKline Beecham’s acquisition of Sterling Winthrop (largest OTC deal), the sale of Sterling Winthrop North American to Bayer (second largest OTC deal), the sale of SmithKline Beecham’s animal health business to Pfizer (largest animal health deal), SmithKline Beecham’s purchase of DPS from United Healthcare (third largest pharmacy benefits manager deal), and the Chapter 11 reorganization of A.H. Robins (largest pharmaceutical product liability and bankruptcy).”

It also has a connection to Renwick Capital, most likely of the same family as Sir Robin Renwick, Pilgrims London, whom we cover in one of these last four presentations. RC is “a hedge fund investing in public equities, derivatives, real estate and private equity transactions.”

Pilgrims member L.C. Brock’s brother in law, Jerome Paul Kenney (Yale graduate), may be the son of Pilgrims member F. Donald Kenney, who was associated with the Harriman interests on Wall Street. J.P. Kenney “is Independent Director at Och-Ziff Capital Management Group LLC, a Director at KECALP, Inc. He is on the Board of Directors at Och-Ziff Capital Management Group LLC and Intelligent Medical Devices, Inc. He was Vice Chairman and member of the Executive Client Coverage Group of Merrill Lynch & Co., Inc., currently the investment banking and wealth management division of Bank of America Corporation, positions he held from February 2002 to August 2008. He was also previously a member of the Board of Directors of Freddie Mac (formerly known as Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation), where he served on the Audit, Compensation and Human Resources Committees. Mr. Kenney holds a BA in Economics from Yale University and an MBA in Finance from the Kellogg School of Management of Northwestern University.”

Och–Ziff Capital Management has offices in New York, London, Hong Kong, Mumbai, Beijing, Shanghai and Dubai and says of itself “We are one of the largest alternative assets managers in the world with an established global presence that enables us to invest on an international scale. We focus on establishing long-term relationships with a global base of institutional investors, which today encompasses many of the largest, most sophisticated investors in the world. These include pension funds, fund-of-funds, foundations and endowments, corporations and other institutions, private banks and family offices.” OZ Capital reports $46.7 billion under management. It has large commercial real estate dealings also.
Charles Lawrence Brock, Pilgrims Society, as you can see, is deeply immersed in the money realm---from all directions. He likely represents people wealthier personally than he is, and not all of them may be Pilgrims members; but their capital is represented in The Society. His brother in law (married Carol Brock; same parents as C.L. Brock) may be a member; he’s also a former director of Invesco, and came from Goldman Sachs. Invesco represents $19 billion and is incorporated in the offshore banking and tax haven of British Bermuda.

C.L. Brock is a director of B & H Ocean Carriers, owning seven bulk ships, seven tankers and two chemical transport ships. Headquartered in Hamilton, British Bermuda, it has offices in New York, Bristol (England), Oslo (Norway) and Singapore. “Our mission---to be a world class ship owning organization.”
C.L. Brock is a director of an ostensibly competing enterprise, Excel Maritime Carriers. Excel reported peak assets of $3.3 billion and as of 2009 became the largest bulk carrier (iron ore, steel, coal, grain, bauxite, fertilizer) of any company in this sector in the USA, although its headquarters are in Athens, Greece. It’s registered in Liberia, West Africa, which is a haven for “dual ship registry,” which is a scam and a tax dodge as described in “There’s One In Every Port” episode of “The Rockford Files.” Excel predictably also has offices in Hamilton, British Bermuda.

Since 1992 C.L. Brock has been a member of the important Harvard University Board of Overseers. Founded in 1636, Harvard today has an endowment of $36.4 billion and enrollment of 21,000; its endowment tops that of Yale by over 50% with Yale at $23.9 billion.
Who says Yale is more important than Harvard? Because Skull & Bones is at Yale? That’s not enough, podnuh! The Porcellian Club at Harvard predates Bones by 41 years! Brock is most likely a Porcellian member and he definitely is not a Bonesman, yet easily transcends most of them in influence because The Pilgrims are the apex group.

Since 1986 C.L. Brock has been on the executive committee of the Harvard Law School Association and has chaired its membership committee since 1987 and 1986 is a likely year he’d have been admitted into The Pilgrims---Brock has held numerous decision making positions in the Harvard organization for many years---
Since 1989 money tycoon C.L. Brock has been on the board of advisors to the College of Arts & Sciences of Northwestern University (Pilgrims member Mark Angelson is also associated with Northwestern in an influence capacity). The C of A & S deals in many areas including physics and graphene research (patents to enrich Pilgrims Society members) ---
C.L. Brock also since 1990 has been a trustee of the Academy of the Arts at Northwestern University near Chicago. In 1981–1988 Brock mentions he was treasurer and trustee of Family Dynamics, of which no info appears available; a similar sounding group was founded in 1994. FD could have to do with the phalanx of Pilgrims Society dynastic families sucking civilization dry.

During 1984–1986 Brock chaired Harvard Community Partners which has chapters all over America. Its purpose is to help Harvard Business School alumni make a positive impact in their communities (translated—-“promote globalism”).

C.L. Brock lists himself as an adviser to Minority Attorney Reporter, on which using quotation marks I found only one link, tracing to Brock. No doubt it’s another Highly Placed Pilgrims Society Member Manipulating Others. Brick Presbyterian Church New York, of which Brock was an official (1973–1976) traces to 1768 and is probably home to several members of The Pilgrims at any time. Brock migrated to wealthier territory when in 1997 he became a regent of The Cathedral of Saint John The Divine in Manhattan, where many Pilgrims Society members over the years attend. Founded in 1873, the Cathedral is Episcopalian and is parallel to the much older Trinity Church (also Episcopal) which also has many Pilgrims members attending, and both churches as organizations own huge wealth. Henry C. Potter (1835–1908), Episcopal bishop of New York, was with the Cathedral of Saint John The Divine, and he was also the first president of The Pilgrims New York (1903–1907). The Royal family has its own church, you see, and it’s melded into The Pilgrims Society! The Cathedral---
Stewart Burnett Clifford (Pilgrims) was an elder here as of 2005; he’s in our closing profiles---

In 2011 C.L. Brock became a trustee of the East Hampton Historical Society, which owns residences dating to 1680, representing ancestors of some who became members of The Pilgrims. Since 1989 Brock is a director of the Harvard Alumni Association (founded 1840), having input at least in terms of “suggestions” to the members of the national HAA. Curiously, membership stats appear unavailable; it may be over 125,000; Harvard was the school of 62 billionaires, some of whom may invest through Brock Capital Group. Brock is a member of The New York Yacht Club, haunt of many Pilgrims over the years and founded in 1844---
Brock is a member of The Union Club of New York, founded in 1836--- Brock belongs to other clubs---The Down Town Association (founded in 1859 in a building owned by the monumentally wealthy Astors); Piping Rock; and Maidstone. Entrance to The Down Town Association at 60 Pine Street (adjacent to Wall Street) ---
The Piping Rock Club in Locust Valley, on Long Island, has had many members of The Pilgrims Society in its ranks over the years. J.P. Morgan Jr. (Pilgrims), Benjamin Strong (Pilgrims; first president of Federal Reserve Bank of New York) and Vincent Astor (Pilgrims) are only three examples of this particular key interlock.
The Maidstone Club, named after Maidstone, England, was founded in East Hampton, New York in 1891.
Maidstone England, founded in 1549, is historically important to the English monarchy and nobility. Leeds Castle nearby, traces to the twelfth century AD and used by King Edward I and King Henry VIII. “Built in 1119 by Robert de Crevecoeur as a Norman stronghold, Leeds Castle descended through the de Crevecoeur family until the 1260s.” Creve Coeur, Missouri, a city of 18,000, is apparently named after him. Leeds Castle, a Pilgrims Society entity, has history you can read here.
The Pilgrims Society, known to very few outsiders, is easily history’s most powerful influence network, and members like Charles Lawrence Brock amply demonstrate this extremely solid fact. The Ogeechee Golf Club is part of the Ford Plantation in Georgia where “Stately oaks have witnessed history since before the American Revolution.” It’s now a private development (“private luxury sporting community”) where home sites range into several million dollars. Brock may well be the major investor in this entity.
The 2005 Who’s Who in America, page 543, showed Brock a member of the Association of American Publishers, probably due to providing financing to some of their members—

The AAP has over 200,000 members and states—

ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS

The AAP has over 200,000 members and states—
“AAP is the trade association for the U.S. book publishers, providing advocacy and communications on behalf of the industry. AAP represents the industry’s priorities on policy, legislative and regulatory issues regionally, nationally and worldwide. These include the protection of intellectual property rights and worldwide copyright enforcement, digital and new technology issues, funding for education and libraries, tax and trade, censorship and literacy. Additionally, AAP works to showcase the value of content and the critical role of the dynamic U.S. book publishing industry around the world. AAP national headquarters are in Washington, DC. It also has offices in New York and Philadelphia.”

The June 21, 2015 New York Times reported that Susanna Brock, his daughter, married William Deringer, both of whose parents are medical doctors. (That’s with one “R,” not two, as in derringer, a small pistol). The ceremony was at the Episcopal Cathedral of Saint John The Divine in New York, which church has had probably at least hundreds of Pilgrims Society members in attendance since The Pilgrims New York branch was started in January 1903. She has a master’s degree from Columbia University in neuroscience. The story noted that her mother is the director of Stratford Hall in Virginia, birthplace of Confederate General Robert E. Lee. She is also vice chair of the Big Apple Circus. Deringer will join Massachusetts Institute of Technology as a science professor. He may not make it into The Pilgrims, but they’ll give him some useful roles to play in the globalist campaign.
Not to be omitted is the detail about Brock being a scholar at the Indian Law Institute (founded 1956) in New Delhi, India, during 1967–1968 on a Rotary Foundation grant. Is his group active in the very large Indian market? Why would he have been there otherwise?

Rotary International is involved with vaccines and with the Gates Foundation, whose vaccine sponsorship caused almost 50,000 cases of “paralysis death” in India---

Since Brock Capital Group has connections to Pharma names such as Eli Lilly, Squibb, West Pharmaceutical Services and the Food and Drug Administration, is it in any way invested in foisting vaccines by deception and/or compulsion in India or elsewhere? Is a befuddled population easier for Pilgrims Society members to control?

Lunch at the Four Seasons with: Theodore R. Gamble Jr.

GAMBLE Scion of an illustrious St. Louis family, the investment banker is burnishing his reputation in real estate.
I have unconfirmed information that his wife, Susan L. Stupin, ex of Goldman Sachs, is among the few women members of The Pilgrims Society. Her father was cofounder of the annual Hula bowl in Hawaii. In 1999–2002 Gamble was president of Transwestern Commercial Services which today has 180 offices in 38 countries and is associated with BNP Paribas Real Estate. BNP stands for Bank Nationale de Paris and Paribas is a contraction meaning Paris and the Low Countries (Belgium and the Netherlands). It has a lengthy list of properties for sale, many over seven figures. In the 1995 book, Return of the Rothschilds: The Great Banking Dynasty Through Two Turbulent Centuries,” we find on page 287 the BNP mentioned. Pages 318 and 337 mention Goldman Sachs and page 323 mentions Drexel Burnham Lambert, previously identified by Butler as the commanding COMEX silver short.

“In the five years since Mr. Gamble became chief executive officer, the company has made 15 acquisitions, all but one outside the dairy field. It is the latest foreign acquisition made only a week ago. Mr. Gamble spends about three-quarters of his time away from the office investigating potential new markets and acquisitions in the United States and abroad. “We are achieving the kind of sound diversification that will enable us to participate in well-above average food industry growth. Actually we should double ourselves in the next four or five years.” Last year, he and six officers in a company-owned Convair visited 26 countries to study areas of interest. Mr. Gamble said: “I was fascinated with the financial community. Besides, I made more money in the market than from my job and did even better than the research analysts.” Mr. Gamble is active both nationally and locally in civic and business affairs and is an officer or member of a long list of organisations and universities.”

At http://www.prescott-group.com/newsItem we notice this from the New York Sun, March 2, 2005, “Catering to the Hugely Wealthy”

“Theodore R. Gamble Jr., founder and managing director of The Prescott Group, a real estate merchant bank, certainly has a pedigree. In New York’s self conscious investment community, a pedigree is taken seriously. His father, Theodore R. Gamble, was chairman, president and CEO of Pet Incorporated, a large international food company based in Saint Louis, which was founded in the 1880s by the older Mr. Gamble’s grandfather, Louis Latzer. The company’s brands included Pet Milk and dairy products, Progresso soups, Old El Paso Mexican foods, Whitman’s chocolates, Schrafft’s restaurants and hotels, Stuckey’s restaurants, Musselman fruit products, Pet Ritz pies, Downeyflake frozen foods, Laura Scudder’s snack foods, Reese Gourmet foods, and Hussmann store and food service equipment. In investment banking, an Ivy League education also carries weight. Mr. Gamble is, of course, an Ivy League man through and through. He got his undergraduate degree from Princeton and a graduate degree, also in architecture, from Harvard. Following in his father’s footsteps, Mr. Gamble attained an MBA, from Harvard again.”
“Watching my father financially transform and build a large company was tremendously exciting to me and had a major impact on my choice of career.” That choice took him to—where else? Morgan Stanley & Company after Harvard, where he structured and managed investments for Morstan, Morgan Stanley’s vehicle for investment of the firm’s capital in real estate. His job involved working with major institutional investors, and persons with serious money. What is "serious money"? The reporter could picture Mr. Gamble with an abacus—no, using a computer would be too facile for such a sketch—calculating the net worth of the clients he likes to do business with. Let's see: the ideal high net worth individual would have at least $20 million in assets to invest in real estate holdings. But The Prescott Group, whose other partners include Susan Stupin, formerly of Goldman Sachs, also makes allowances for clients with less pocket change. That is to say, for those who have between $250,000 and $500,000 to invest, Mr. Gamble offers "transparent property-asset portfolios that provide attractive risk adjusted returns.”

Morgan Stanley, documented silver price antagonist, made even the skeptical dead laugh when it was designated a market maker in gold and silver by the London Bullion Market Association---
"The reporter asked: "So you would get luxury apartments for your clients to live in?" "No no," Mr. Gamble said. "We consider ourselves a financial boutique. We don't do residential real estate. What we do is to offer guidance for investment for our high net worth clients. This could mean, of course, buying into luxury apartment complexes which is what we're doing in Mexico right now for an American client. Another example is Atlanta, where we're recommending investment in apartment complexes. The idea is for our clients to look at real estate as an investment, not as property for their own use." His clients often use high-powered financial advisors, which means that Mr. Gamble must carefully nurture his relationships with those who whisper into the ears of the very wealthy. That requires frequent travel. Not long ago, for instance, he flew to London for a meeting with such an individual that lasted less than an hour. But it was important for Mr. Gamble to be perceived as a man who would make an enormous effort in pursuit of a deal. Another trip took him to Bermuda recently. Still another trip had him in Australia. If there's such a thing as a typical week in his frenzied line of work, it involves being on the road two or three days on business. "My work at Prescott essentially involves the intersection of finance and real estate," Mr. Gamble said. "We see tremendous opportunity as the private client world – and particularly its investment in the real estate sector – becomes increasingly more sophisticated. By creating investment vehicles that allow the substantial private investor to access institutional quality investment products, managed by strong and experienced operating partners, we feel we can establish Prescott as a preferred provider in this rapidly expanding and evolving part of the investment landscape."

Even though he's given to using jargon – an occupational hazard for an investment banker – and even though he speaks so fast that the reporter, a veteran of on-the-run interviews, has to request him to slow down a tad, Mr. Gamble leaves little doubt of the tremendous potential of his industry. Consider this: In 2005, Mr. Gamble will deploy $500 million in real estate. This is made possible, in large part, because he was able to invite the participation of two trusts of the Gordon P. Getty family, Orpheus and Pleiades. And how did that happen? It was a dividend of the relationships that the investment banker had assembled over the years. One of his contacts was a lawyer – someone with whom Mr. Gamble had worked closely on an earlier deal – who was friends with an advisor to the Getty family. So one man spoke to another, and then – well, the Gettys came in with money to invest. What that means is – in investment banking parlance – the Getty Trusts "have a preferred right to invest in all of Prescott's real estate investments," Mr. Gamble said. If the Gettys could participate in $500 million of investments through The Prescott Group at one go, how much money was out there among high net worth individuals, money available for investment? Mr. Gamble did a quick mental calculation, that abacus at work again. "About $40 trillion in assets is available to high net worth individuals worldwide," he said.”
The father of David T. Schiff (Pilgrims), profiled elsewhere in this series of members post the 1980 list, was also a member and a director of Getty Oil Company. In certain instances, owners of big fortunes who aren’t members themselves, are represented in The Society by someone else, who may or may not be as wealthy.

Pet Incorporated was bought by Grand Metropolitan of London, which merged into Diageo which reports 28,000 employees. Lord Davies of Abersoch, very likely a Pilgrims member in London, is lead director of Diageo. His background is with the large Standard Chartered Bank London and he’s a Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Elsewhere at his site we read—

“Prescott is a globally-focused real estate merchant banking firm that undertakes property investment, asset management, and investment banking activities. Founded in 1987, Prescott is active throughout the U.S. as well as internationally. The firm is independent and privately-owned. Its senior principals are capable and dedicated professionals with extensive experience at Prescott and at a variety of leading global financial institutions. Prescott pursues investment and asset management activities and provides investment banking and advisory services to a broad range of institutions, corporate entities, and private clients around the world. The firm is distinguished by its strategy of developing operating platforms in support of asset investments. This enables it to bring greater influence and expertise to the creation of value in its investment strategies. The firm invests in all major property types, including office, industrial, retail, hospitality, residential, and land, and at all points of the risk/return spectrum, including "Core," "Core Plus," "Value Added," and "Opportunistic" investments. Prescott's objective is to meet the demands of sophisticated investors for attractive risk-adjusted investment returns across multiple market environments while employing rigorous investment and operational risk management practices. Prescott's investment banking and advisory group provides independent advice and execution capabilities for a broad variety of sophisticated real estate and capital market participants. The firm's comprehensive global relationships and the capability and experience of its principals provide clients with exceptional access to the international property and financial markets.”

The New York Sun story suggested that Prescott isn’t involved with residential real estate; but they probably do $500,000 and up homes. Speaking of this newspaper, stories from it sometimes get linked on gold sites. Have you ever noticed The Sun mentioning The Pilgrims Society? No you have not, nor will you, because they’re controlled opposition. They criticize the FED, I post a remark about The Pilgrims Society owning the FED, the New York Sun NEVER allows the post! Prescott units include Prescott Net Lease Capital, Ariel Preferred Retail Group and Prescott Capital Advisors. We read---

“The firm maintains close relationships with major global capital sources and industry participants at their most senior levels.”

Prescott Capital Management, another division, says--- “Prescott acquires high quality, income producing commercial properties located in targeted markets throughout the U.S. and internationally.”

At http://www.arielpreferred.com we read--- “Ariel’s expertise includes assets in the value retail sector, such as manufacturers' outlets and discount centers; properties in other related sectors of the retail market, including "big box", community, lifestyle, and neighborhood centers; and larger regional malls and mixed use properties.”
According to this, Gamble founded and ran the Hotel Group at Morgan Stanley and is or has been a trustee of the New York Historical Society. The NYHS was founded in 1804 and recently opened an exhibit entitled “Alexander Hamilton---The Man Who Made Modern America,” Hamilton was a British collaborator and a ringleader of the first United States Bank opened in 1791 as an engine of Crown control over our country! The NYHS can always be counted on to have several Pilgrims members on its board at any time---

Gamble, with whom it might be “chancy” to do business with (couldn’t resist the pun) is a vestryman of St. Thomas Episcopal Church on Fifth Avenue in New York. Founded in 1823, the church has its share of Pilgrims members at any time. Do they derive a sense of morality from attendance? I say they do not.
Present building completed in 1914---
Gamble lists himself as a director of The College of Arms Foundation which shows his photo about halfway down the page. It was founded in 1983 as a USA extension of The College of Arms in England. The alleged intent of the USA group (another Pilgrims tentacle) is to promote knowledge of English heraldry here. This is just another Crown loyalist front run by America citizens whose real loyalty is to the Royal family, sponsors of The Pilgrims. The College of Arms in London at 130 Queen Victoria street is superintended by Pilgrims members there. It dates to 1555 AD.
Another USA Pilgrims member with the COAF is here.
Gamble chairs the visiting committee (big shots) of the Harvard Graduate School of Design. His architecture major enables much of his commercial buildings and skyscraper purchase and design activities---

Gamble is a governor of the American Order of Saint John of Jerusalem discussed in “Pilgrims Society Takeover of Bitcoin,” pages 115–117 and 120. Gamble states membership in this group of bloodsuckers getting people into debt for long periods of their lives---
A top officer of YMBA is with HSBC and another is with Capital One—both Pilgrims Society entities.

Gamble being constantly immersed in large real estate transactions, naturally is a member of the Real Estate Board of New York, founded in 1896.

The 1957 Who’s Who in the East, pages 842–843, shows Lee T. Smith (Pilgrims) was president of REBNY, 1949–1953 and was also treasurer of the Building Owners Association and foreman of the New York Country Grand Jury. As Gamble has many (marked) cards in his Pilgrims Society deck, he is also a member of the International Association of Corporate Real Estate Executives, for which I’ve found little besides this mention in the Chicago Tribune of June 21, 1992, “Corporate Real Estate Is Now Big Business,” naturally a doughnut shop is of no notice to this wheeler dealer. He also holds membership in the Association of Foreign Investors in Real Estate http://www.afire.org/ which is “the voice of the foreign real estate industry.” Recall his flight to London regarding a large real estate investment here by (another Pilgrims Society member perhaps?)
Covering all important bases, Gamble is a member of the National Association of Real Estate Investment Trusts founded in 1960 at Washington, D.C. We read---“On September 14, 1960, President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed legislation to create a new approach to real estate investment for income. The following day on Sept. 15, 1960, The National Association of Real Estate was incorporated. This association eventually evolved into the entity known today as NAREIT. It has partnered with several other entities in its political endeavors, most notably the FTSE Group and the European Public Real Estate Association. Through their combined efforts they have established the FTSE EPRA / NAREIT Global Real Estate Index Series.”

Eisenhower being a Pilgrims Society member, as was his widow (1980 roster necrology), naturally as President he’d sign anything to make The Society’s kingpins wealthier--- Gamble holds two important committee memberships in the Urban Land Institute, a “land use think tank” founded in 1936 that today has 33,000 members. “Through its many programs, ULI has influenced policy and practice for decades.” Mahlon Apgar IV, Pilgrims Society post the 1980 leaked roster and a Clinton Administration crony, is a governor of the Urban Land Institute Foundation. We read that Apgar is “a housing, infrastructure, and real estate consultant to global corporations and government agencies, and the founder of Apgar & Company. He has been senior advisor on real estate and a partner of the Boston Consulting Group (BCG), a partner of a McKinsey & Company.”

As The Prescott Group owns and operates shopping centers and malls, he’s a member of the International Council of Shopping Centers founded in 1957 in New York. It has branches or correspondent organizations in 29 countries.

Gamble is a member of the Ocean Club (Florida), the Gulfstream Bath & Tennis Club also in Florida—
Add to Gamble’s list the Coral Beach & Tennis Club in British Bermuda, a banking and hedge fund haven. Founded in 1948, it has a residence on site built previous to 1650 and of course this club is private.
Gamble holds membership in The Harvard Club, with branches in New York and Boston. The New York club was founded in 1865 and the Boston location in 1908.
Both locations possess opulent interiors---

Gamble as of 2014 is president of the Princeton Club for Princeton University graduates in New York and on its executive committee and governing board. It’s almost as if it became his personal plaything. It was founded in 1866.
Gamble is a member of The Brook Club (1903), of which David T. Schiff, third generation Pilgrims Society member and on The Pilgrims executive committee, is also a member. The Links Club is another of Gamble’s memberships, which we describe elsewhere in this closing series of 4 presentations of The Silver Squelchers. Gamble belongs to the Knickerbocker Club, founded in 1871. Like the Brook, it was designed by Delano & Aldrich architects, two men who weren’t Pilgrims members, but whose lineages were represented by other men---they were in The Society’s “orbit.” Inside the Knickerbocker---
The University Club in Manhattan is still another of Gamble’s stomping grounds. Their building was completed in 1899---
The Racquet & Tennis Club in NYC has this building finished in 1916; Gamble holds membership here also---

Gamble is a donor to the Metropolitan Museum of Art--- Gamble’s offices for The Prescott Group are at 575 Madison Avenue, tenth floor---
This impressive office tower is owned by Elliman Real Estate. Douglas L. Elliman (Pilgrims 1957 and 1969) here’s his info from page 864 of the 1960–1961 Who’s Who in America---notice his mother Mary Lawrence Bogert---The Pilgrims 1969 roster showed H. Lawrence Bogert Jr. a member (investment banker)---The Pilgrims Society is tied together a million times more than any spider web---

Notice his involvement with NYC police!
“Established in 1911, Douglas Elliman has grown to become the largest regional and the nation's fourth largest real estate company, with a current network of more than 5,000 agents in over 70 offices throughout Manhattan, Brooklyn, Queens, Long Island (including the Hamptons and North Fork), Westchester and Putnam Counties, as well as South Florida, California and Connecticut. In addition, through a strategic partnership with Knight Frank Residential, Douglas Elliman's powerful network extends to 43 countries across six continents.”

Friends? How ‘bout them “PILL-GRAMS?” Finally, Gamble and his Goldman Sachs alumnus wife reside at 860 United Nations Plaza (one of these twin skyscrapers is 870 U.N. Plaza; some Pilgrims members reside in both high rise penthouses) ---
A news item from 2006 mentioned The Prescott Group acquired 1,550 housing units in Texas and Louisiana for $110 million. It was part of a lengthy enumeration of their deals. Will the small folks residing in these structures know they pay tribute to a Pilgrims Society member? No! In contrast, also in 2006, Prescott Group acquired 34 townhouses in Greenwich, Connecticut, for $50 million. Those 34 units were in three separate developments. One of them is known as Milbank Commons—apparently named after another Pilgrims Society represented family of Wall Street money gougers.
Prescott as always is interested in “office, manufacturing and distribution facilities” plus “hotel and resort properties.” See the next profile following for more on the Milbank family.

The December 3, 1962 episode “Squeeze Play” of “The Rifleman” TV series depicted a real estate operator named Prescott who used questionable tactics to seize land he wanted. Is this episode the philosophical model for Gamble’s Prescott Group? Someone by the name Theodore R. Gamble was with the Treasury Department (1943–1945). Was he involved in the silver leasing program, which set the pattern for future silver leasing activities for worldwide price management objectives? That name doesn’t match with any Treasury detail in the 1960–1961 Who’s Who in America, page 1037, right column. Tracking these people without making mistakes requires caution and confirmation. This I have done since the start. The wartime Treasury figure was Theodore Roosevelt Gamble, not the father of this member of The Pilgrims. The description of that official is here. A 1960 book entitled “75 Years of Pet Milk Company 1885–1960—the Company that Founded an Industry” isn’t likely to mention The Pilgrims Society, especially since the book was sponsored by the Newcomen Society of North America, a Pilgrims Society front that closed in 2007 long run by the rather obscure Penrose family, whose fortune came in part from gold mining. This group was named after Thomas Newcomen (1664–1729), inventor of the early steam engine.
3) Stanley DeForest Scott (1926--; Pilgrims Society as of unknown; very likely well before 2005) has info in the 2005 Who’s Who in America, page 4191—

Scott sold one of his homes for $3 million. I find little on his ancestry or his wife; undoubtedly there are connections. Scott was in the publishing and printing industry for around 41 years before switching to real estate. There may be hereditary interests in his real estate dealings in 145 Hudson Street Associates. An apartment here is listed for $10.5 million, while another is listed at $48 million. Another unit sold for $30.5 million; prices average from $3.5 to $7.3 million. This is in a 1929 “Art Deco” building and we read “Stanley Scott is the developer of the Sky Lofts at 145 Hudson Street.” Scott bought this building in 1996 and spent more refurbishing it including $1 million for a staircase---it offers residences “for billionaire buyers”---

Hudson Square Management Corporation is called a “foreign business corporation” at http://www.companiesny.com/n/business/hudson-square-management-corp

It has offices at 145 Hudson Street NYC and shows Stanley D. Scott as president. Which foreign investors does he represent, other than the expected members of The Pilgrims Society of Great Britain? I saw inconclusive documents in my research on Scott’s profile suggesting that his family owns a great deal of land in Hudson County, New Jersey; inconclusive, I said. What is beyond doubt is that he owns several major Manhattan buildings and derives a vast income therefrom.

Below is the Fraunces Tavern Museum, which Scott has had a top management role in for many years. This is a designated National Historic Landmark. Built in 1719, it’s “situated at 54 Pearl Street at the corner of Broad Street. The location played a prominent role in pre–Revolution, American Revolution and post–Revolution history, serving as a headquarters for George Washington, a venue for peace negotiations with the British, and housing federal offices in the Early Republic. It has been owned by Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York Inc. since 1904, which carried out a major conjectural reconstruction, and claim it is Manhattan’s oldest surviving building. The museum interprets the building along with varied exhibitions of art and artifacts” --- British sympathizers, led by The Pilgrims Society, have taken over very many buildings and historical objects dating to the Revolutionary War! The J. Carter Brown Library, after J. Carter Brown III (Pilgrims 1980; 1934–2002) refers to a highly placed underling of inner circle Pilgrims Society member Paul Mellon, a second generation member whose father held off both the Morgan interests in steel and the Rockefeller interests in oil. From 1969 to 1992 Brown was director of the National Gallery of Art in D.C., donated by megabillionaire Andrew Mellon, Paul’s bizarrely wealthy father. The Frick Collection is named after industrialist Henry Frick, a pal of Andrew Mellon, very rich but only a fraction of Mellon, who apparently never made it into The Society.

Having been a member of the New York City Mayor’s Industry Advisory Committee, he had a highly placed “in” at City Hall, no doubt useful in his real estate dealings. Next we notice Scott as of this 2005 info a trustee of the American Numismatic Society; nor is he the first as we shall see.

Coin World, September 25, 1914 announced---

“Elizabeth and Stanley DeForest Scott, longtime benefactors to the American Numismatic Society, will receive the group’s Trustees’ Award at the ANS’s annual Dinner Gala at the Waldorf Astoria hotel in New York City on Jan. 8, 2015. Mr. Scott is a real estate developer and is presently general partner of 145 Hudson Street Associates and president of Hudson Square Management Corp. He has been a member of the ANS since 1993. He was elected to Fellow in 2003, when he also began serving on the ANS Board of Trustees. He served for nine years, stepping down in 2012. His accomplishments during his tenure included helping with the sale of the former ANS building and the subsequent relocation to its new headquarters. The ANS’s Sept. 22 press release notes that while he has broad numismatic interests and has donated ancient Greek and Sicilian coins to the ANS, his abiding love is for Colonial and American material. It states, “Among his past gifts to the ANS in this realm are a group of Carson City mint silver dollars of the 1880s, rare platinum proofs of the Fraunces Tavern Museum ‘Sons of the Revolution’ bicentennial commemoration medal, and George Washington’s Farewell medals in platinum, gold, bronze, and silver. Elizabeth Forbes Hazard Scott has a particular interest in groups involved in Anglo–American history since her grandparents were born in England.”

A more recent item on Scott is---

“The American Numismatic Society is pleased to announce that on Thursday, January 8, 2015, the Society will honor longtime benefactors Elizabeth and Stanley DeForest Scott with the Trustees’ Award at the Annual Dinner Gala. The event will be held at The Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City. The Scotts have been closely involved with the Society for many years as both generous donors and steadfast caretakers. Mr. Scott has been a member of the ANS since 1993, a life member since 2001, and an Augustus B. Sage Society member since 2006. He was elected to Fellow in 2003, when he also began serving on the Board of Trustees. He served for nine years, stepping down in 2012. During his tenure, he was instrumental in assisting with the sale of the ANS building at 140 William Street and the build–out to our current headquarters on Varick Street. Stanley DeForest Scott has lived in the New York City area his entire life, as has his family for many generations. A real estate developer for decades, Mr. Scott is presently General Partner of 145 Hudson Street Associates and President of Hudson Square Management Corp. Formerly, he was General Manager of Alfred Scott Publishers and Chairman and President of S. D. Scott Printing Co., Inc. He shares, with his wife, a passionate interest in American history, the arts, and rare books, and he lists among his many associations—the Fraunces Tavern Museum, the J. Carter Brown Library, the Frick Collection, the Royal Academy of Arts, George Washington’s Mount Vernon, the American Museum in Britain, the New–York Historical Society, and The Grolier Club, to name just a few. Not surprisingly, his numismatic interests are similarly focused.

J. Carter Brown (Pilgrims 1980) was an understudy of inner circle Pilgrims member Paul Mellon. Brown “transformed the museum world” according to the New York Times. Brown was “an aristocrat by upbringing” who had dealings with “foreign dignitaries” and “United States Presidents” and with 1980 silver short Armand Hammer of Occidental Petroleum, who apparently was never admitted into The Pilgrims. Brown’s successor at the National Gallery of Art in D.C. was John Walker (Pilgrims Society).

His family goes back generations—naturally his membership in the Society of Mayflower Descendants, a Pilgrims Society controlled hereditary group, reflects this.
The 1966–1967 Who’s Who in America, pages 1460–1461 shows an earlier Pilgrims member was president of the American Numismatic Society—

John F. Milbank was in The Pilgrims New York 1924 list. The Pilgrims 1940 New York roster shows Dunlevy Milbank a member. Samuel Milbank above was in The Pilgrims 1957 and still in the 1974 list (below) and also 1980—
Notice in his scan that Livingston family ancestry is on display, and he had some sort of Dutch hereditary connection with “Willemstad” Fund. Besides investment banking he held sugar and also gold mining interests in Honduras. Gold ownership is OK if you’re a member of The Pilgrims or one of their numerous satellite organizations! It’s possible that the drift at many sites to buy numismatics rather than bullion, is coming from Pilgrims Society sources. Buy numismatics however if you feel you can navigate around the pitfalls.

Scott is a sustaining patron of the New York Philharmonic Society. He’s a patron of the American Associates of the Royal Academy of the Arts (London); has been an adviser to the Mount Vernon Ladies Association (Virginia home of George Washington, our first true anti-British President, whose memory they urinate on by taking over his house); and the New York Historical Society. The Sons of the Revolution, an ostensibly patriotic group and I assume their rank and file are, should never have any British sympathizing Pilgrims Society member as an official; same with the Society of Colonial Wars of which he’s also a member. As of 1986 Scott became a member of the council of the American Museum in Britain, which is dedicated towards memorializing how the British have bled us white of monetary resources and gotten tens of millions of our service personnel wiped out in World Wars sponsored by the sickening English leadership! That goes hand in glove with his being a patron.
of the English Speaking Union (Pilgrims front group), American Friends of English Heritage, the Crown sympathizing Saint George’s Society.

Located in the city of Bath, England; related to the Order of the Bath and the ceremonial bath of purification a knight took after being drenched in the blood of the Crown’s enemies who he’s killed; many of our military officials like General Colin Powell are members of this sickening warmongering British order founded in 1725 by King George the First---
Scott can’t get enough British links to satiate his hunger; he’s been associated with the Sir John Soane’s Museum Foundation, entirely new to me but these Pilgrims continue to dazzle with their near boundless constellations of influence. Scott is a member of the Church, Union, Knickerbocker and Grolier clubs in Manhattan, described in other profiles.

Stanley DeForest Scott at left receiving an award from Pilgrims Society member Charles Clement Lucas Jr., to be profiled in the Royalty & Hereditary Noble Ancestry in The Pilgrims, at the end of this series—–
Adding interest to Scott’s profile is this matter of his being a member of the American Friends of The Hermitage Museum. The Hermitage Museum is a famous landmark in Saint Petersburg, Russia. Currently out of eleven trustees, nine aren’t Russian residents but reside in New York or London! No wonder they have a New York office. This incredible building was begun in 1764—-
As of 2005 info Pilgrims Society member Stanley DeForest Scott resided at One Sutton Place South (older image), an exclusive co-op.
A recent price check showed a range of $10 to $12.5 million per unit—

Like so many Pilgrims Society members Scott is associated with the Pierpont Morgan Library as a financial sustainer (first image following) and he is also associated with the Royal Oak Foundation (1973), which collects donations here for the support of the National Trust of England—
Stanley DeForest Scott is a member of American Friends of the Louvre (the world famous Paris museum). That group is chaired by Christopher Forbes (Pilgrims Society), kid brother of Steve Forbes (Pilgrims Society), both profiled previously under media figures. Apparently Mister Scott has made significant donations to assorted museums in order to achieve large tax deductions. He has such involvement with the Donald W. Reynolds Museum. The procedure has been detailed long ago and prostituted appraisers make it possible. Here’s Scott at the Frick Museum with Joanne Du Pont Foster, from an extended Pilgrims Society dynasty profiting on silver price suppression---

The American Numismatic Society, founded in 1858, is at 75 Varick Street NYC. This is also known as 1 Hudson Square and Scott is president of Hudson Square Management Corporation. This building contains 985,000 square feet and the location was associated with a printing company Scott controlled (see his scan). www.numismatics.org is the site of the ANS which according to Guide Star, has assets of $46,561,022---
Scott was a trustee of the ANS as recently as 2012. As of 2013 an identifiable member of The Pilgrims, Arthur Amory Houghton III (third generation member, Corning Glass Works fortune) is an ANS trustee. The Houghtons arrived in Massachusetts Bay Colony in the 1630's.

Scott is involved with the National Trust for Scotland Foundation USA. This is one more of so very many transatlantic connections binding America, via The Pilgrims nearly unknown vast network, to the British Isles.
Scott is listed as a senior patron of the American–Scottish Foundation (founded 1956) ---right below the Royal Bank of Scotland (Pilgrims entity also).

He’s a member of Saint Thomas Episcopal Church in New York which on a web page under “Hands Across The Sea” stated---

“Saint Thomas has long had a special bond of affection for and connection to the mother Church of England. Recently, the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) asked us to record a Thanksgiving Day service for Sunday morning broadcast on BBC.”

Scott is listed as a patron member of The Church Club of New York, another Episcopalian supremacy outpost operating very quietly. It’s always peppered with Pilgrims Society members and wanna be types. I notice a previously profiled member there, Gordon J. Whiting.

Scott is a member as of 2007 of the American Antiquarian Society (founded 1812) in Worcester, Massachusetts. That blends with his rare coin collecting pursuits.
Numismatic  News  reported---

“Stanley DeForest Scott has lived in the New York City area his entire life, as has his family for many generations.”

In a document dated September 2, 2005, Stanley DeForest Scott had input into proceedings of the Subcommittee on Trade of the United States House of Representatives, advocating exemption from import duties for rare foreign coins. Naturally he and his Pilgrims pals are always massaging Congress to get all they want, while their media influence is so great that these things go unreported.

“Miscellaneous Duty Suspension Bills” is how they labeled that string pulling enterprise. See page 47. If non–globalists are importing something, will they get exemptions from import duties? How does Pilgrims member Stanley Scott feel about a VAT tax on silver? Has he slipped the idea to his kept Senator and Congressman?

From that Numismatic News page I notice his wife Elizabeth is a member of the Forbes family. There are two Forbes family branches, both in The Pilgrims Society. The magazine publishers are the more recent arrivals. The senior branch of the Forbes family centered around Boston have been there for many generations and involved with a startling amount of business and financial activities—including opium dealing and suppression of silver as money. See details in “The Silver Stealers,” use the searchable Word document version and see William Cameron Forbes, who was a director of over a dozen corporations including AT & T and Commercial Credit. There is a Stanley DeForest Scott Art Gallery in Manhattan. Pilgrims members are so typically wealthy they are forced to invest staggering surplus income. Stanley DeForest Scott is on PP—- “Panache Privée is the world's leading interactive network of affluent and influential people.” It has considerable interlock with personalities in the New York Social Diary.

At the Smithsonian Institution’s Museums of Asian Art in D.C., we notice that Stanley DeForest Scott is a member of the Gala Events Committee of the Museums of Asian Art. Eleven members of its International Committee are foreign royalty. Another official has the amusing name, Katherine Tarbox. A fair number of these names are very likely to be members of The Pilgrims. The Museums of Asian Art, of which Scott is also a patron, has a Diplomatic Committee composed of Ambassadors to America from Saudi Arabia, Japan, India, Kuwait, Oman, Kazakhstan, United Arab Emirates, South Korea, League of Arab States, Egypt, Germany, Italy, Cambodia, Turkey, Indonesia, France, and from the United Kingdom, Pilgrims Society member Sir Peter Westmacott, currently in Washington with his opium fortune inheritance wife (previously profiled!) What is Stanley DeForest Scott and other Pilgrims members doing involved with foreign royalty, dignitaries and ambassadors? I suggest influence peddling for more globalism and gouging the small folks of the planet of some of their national art treasures!

One of the gallery buildings of Asian art of the Smithsonian---

Scott is a member (see page 9) of the Saint Nicholas Society of New York; a group profiled elsewhere in this SS series, well interlocked with The Pilgrims. It represents old-line Dutch hereditary wealth here tracing back to the pre 1664 colonial era.
Scott is listed as a financial backer of http://www.one-to-world.org another typical internationalist–globalist front. This front is at 285 West Broadway and we wonder if Stanley DeForest Scott holds any interest in this structure---

This group boasts 79 institutional members of its network including Rockefeller University, John Jay College of Criminal Justice, Mountbatten Institute (British Royals) and the Open Society Institute (run by George Soros, extremely likely member of The Pilgrims) ---
Stanley DeForest Scott is involved with the World Monuments Fund in New York. A 2008 document shows (“former”) Silver Users Association member Tiffany & Company, is a corporate sponsor of this group which has a “Hadrian Award,” after Roman Emperor Hadrian.

As if Stanley D. Scott can’t get all his fattened up fingers into every available pie, he’s noticed also as a member of the Committee of the French Heritage Society where he mixes with a Count, a Baron, and a member of the perverse Roosevelt (Pilgrims Society) family.
In any deeper investigation into the real estate dealings of these Pilgrims Society members, the first matter to probe would be---have interests they operate denied lease space to gold and silver dealers? Not pure numismatic shops, but ordinary investment grade precious metals. Do they hold shares in pharmaceutical manufacturers, hospital chains and medical equipment manufacturers?

ADDENDA On The Pilgrims Society

In “Thanks for the Memories: The Truth Has Set Me Free! The Memoirs of Bob Hope's and Henry Kissinger's Mind-controlled Slave Used as a Presidential Sex Toy and Personal 'mind-file' Computer” (1999 Aware Journalism, 313 pages) by Brice Taylor (female author) we find on (unnumbered page---click on link to see it) we notice this--- Chapter Twenty-four: USC: Higher Education or Mind Control--- Uncle Charlie Donates $4.7 Million to USC” ---

“As I was to later find out, Charles Lilley Horn had quite a name at USC, as well as in San Francisco at the United States Mint. He personally knew members of the Federal Reserve Board. As I discovered, he was connected to Federal Reserve Bankers; old money, and Hearst newspaper type of old money friends. Uncle Charlie was a direct link with the Council through the money he was able to generate. He was revered by those who knew him as a trusted businessman, a man who was adept in politics and investments. I believe Charles Horn was the single most important family link to my control by the global elitists. The reality of what I was involved in was carefully concealed every Christmas when I dutifully sent a box of See's Candy to him and his wife at their winter home in Scottsdale, Arizona. I was drugged and programmed that this act of gift-giving reminded me to forget, which it did for many years. And, I was programmed to watch the popular television series, Charlie's Angels, in my controllers' attempt to cover and scramble my memory. Charles Lilley Horn, as Chairman of the Board, retained control of Federal Cartridge Corporation for many years until relinquishing control around 1970 to his progeny, Charles B. Horn and William B. Horn. Federal Cartridge Corporation is a munitions manufacturer, based in Minneapolis, Minnesota (address: 2700 Foshay Tower, Minneapolis, MN). Dun & Bradstreet Million Dollar Directory indicates that Federal Cartridge Corporation was a long-time subsidiary of the Olin Foundation, Inc. headquartered in New York City. The Foundation Directory shows that Charles Lilley Horn also was President of the Olin Foundation, Inc. throughout the 1960's and 1970's.”

The Olin Foundation (founded 1953) closed in 2005 after disbursing $600 million on Pilgrims sponsored globalist think-tanks such as the Manhattan Institute for Public Policy Research, the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace, the neocon warmonger Project for a New American Century, the Center for Security Policy and other spooky groups. At one time, Pilgrims member William Simon, ex Treasury Secretary and silver suppressor, was its president. Federal Cartridge has as its slogan “every shot counts.”

In addition to Charles Lilley Horn, chemical industry magnate John Merrill Olin (below, trustee of Washington University, Cornell University, Johns Hopkins University and other positions) was in The Pilgrims 1969. Operators like these are rarely buy and hold types rather, they’re always selling on peaks, going short and covering at the bottom types, who repeat the cycle over many years, “recovering” payrolls from the middle class, confused into never selling. John Merrill Olin held a slew of patents due to being responsible for “numerous developments in ballistics.” The original John Olin had red hair and arrived from Wales in Rhode Island in the year 1700. This link mentions “the giant Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation” (there was a merger). His religion? Episcopalian, of course---showing allegiance to the British Royal family.

Message---“this connection is untrusted”---
The F.W. Olin Foundation paid for the construction of 72 buildings at many universities including this one at Vanderbilt University---

Olin Hall

3807 Zenith Avenue South is rated as worth a mere $894,000, a near pauper residence for a Pilgrims member. Some however minimize their real estate worth to invest in other areas.

War factories like this one run by Charles Lilley Horn, the Twin Cities Ordnance Plant at Minneapolis–Saint Paul, had to be staffed largely by women due to so many men being overseas in another World War arranged by The Pilgrims Society---

The Pilgrims 1969 roster shows a Wall Street lawyer---William Ward Foshay at 48 Wall Street. Connection to Foshay Tower?
“The Olin Foundation, Inc. (currently F.W. Olin Foundation, Inc.) was established as a charitable trust in 1938 for Franklin W. Olin, founder of Olin Industries, which later merged with the Mathieson Chemical Company, eventually becoming the Olin Corporation of today. During the 1970's, the Olin Corporation was interlocked with the Chase Manhattan Corporation, whose Chairman was David Rockefeller. The Rockefellers, of course, have long had controlling interest in the United States Federal Reserve, which as many people know is actually a private corporation, with shareholders. According to The Foundation Directory (1995), the F.W. Olin Foundation, Inc. (with William B. Horn, Vice President) listed its assets at $317 million (as of 1993). The Directory describes the Foundation's purpose and activities as "primarily for constructing and equipping new academic buildings and libraries at private four-year, accredited degree-granting colleges and universities..." In the book, Understanding Foundations (1967), the Olin Foundation, Inc. is similarly described; it states, "Many grants in education are made, especially for construction. Grants show a preference for the field of engineering. Recent recipients have been the University of Southern California..." (among others). This information was confirmed by the USC Office of University Advancement, indicating two grants given to USC in the 1960's by the Olin Foundation: (1) In 1964, $2.4 million to fund the Olin Hall of Engineering and (2) in 1965, $2.5 million to fund the Vivian Hall of Engineering. With these donations, it is no wonder that Uncle Charlie (Charles Lilley Horn), who was President of the Olin Foundation at the time, was popular at USC, particularly with the Engineering School which is currently located in Olin Hall. Interestingly, during the 1960's the USC School of Engineering was transformed into a major research facility and expanded into several new areas, including biomedical engineering. Today the Engineering School boasts several academic departments and research centers. One such research facility is the Center For Neural Engineering, which lists among its research activities: (1) Hardware Models of Hippocampus Toward Brain Implants (2) USC Brain Project; and (3) USC DARPA (Defense Advance Research Project Agency) Ultra Scale Computing Project to name a few. The USC Brain Project is sponsored by the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH)."

University of Southern California Olin Hall---
Of what does so-called mental “health” consist? It includes the following—never questioning anything the government does or says—blindly trusting state lawmakers and the national Congress—never challenging anything Big Medicine says or does—if we act like kids running towards an ice cream truck when it comes to getting punctured by a barrage of vaccinations, this is good evidence that we are just drenched in “clinical” mental health—if we blindly trust Big Media, this means we are mentally normal—agreeing that the government owns children, and parents are mostly just in the way—accepting that psychiatrists, who render accusations of so-called mental “disorders” against anyone they dislike, are themselves immunized from all disorders (their degrees give them this “clinical” immunity)—never questioning pervasive chemical spraying in neighborhoods that hurtful effects could accrue to any creatures besides mosquitoes—blindly accepting as harmless or positive any genetic modifications to food and any additives to it---blaming gun rampages on just anything other than psychiatric “medications”---believing that money is whatever the Federal Reserve says it is---if we feel that vitamins, minerals and herbs should be cartelized by Big Pharma and made available only by Rx medical prescription at 2000% over current prices, we are models of mental health---if we disbelieve in any organized conspiracies on the part of the big rich against the common man, we are deemed healthy as to our mentality---oh, and if we never seek any second opinion in a medical diagnosis of a child, this also makes us “clinically normative” and “mentally healthy” (psychiatrically speaking!) This socially destructive entity should be 100% defunded---it is targeting children with psychiatric drugs manufactured by Royal family allied Pilgrims Society corporations including Merck and Pfizer---

And another current member recently ferreted out ---Timothy Proctor Schieffelin---third generation Pilgrims member from a family described as “American royalty”---see #11 Silver Squelchers, pages 57 through 65 for details on his family’s history of wealth and influence and his father, grandfather, and the marriage links they achieved with the huge Vanderbilt (Pilgrims) dynasty and the lesser known but very large influence Bayard clan (Pilgrims Society, old line Dutch colonial landowners). They also have lineage from the large landowning Schuylers, similar to the Bayards, and from John Jay (1745–1829), first Chief Justice, 1789 to 1795 of the United States Supreme Court and New York Governor, 1795–1801. Jay was descended from the French “Huguenot” faction, in conflict with the Vatican—–which is why so many Pilgrims members today have Huguenot ancestry, as the Crown and the Vatican have been at odds for centuries. Jay opposed Catholics in public office. In West versus Barnes (1791) Jay and the Court majority ruled that paper money (by itself) was Constitutional! Other members of The Pilgrims have had lineage tracing to him. T.P. Schieffelin also has lineage to the Singer Sewing Machine fortune—–
The August 30, 1987 New York Times reported---

“At the Presbyterian Church in Mount Kisco, N.Y., Susan Elizabeth Utley, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dexter Utley 3d of Pound Ridge, N.Y., was married yesterday to Timothy Proctor Schieffelin, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jay Schieffelin 3d of Mount Kisco. The bride, a magna cum laude graduate of New Hampshire College, is the vice president of Searle & Company, stockbrokers in Greenwich, Conn. She was presented at the Colonial Ball in New York. Her father is president of Utley’s Inc., a packaging design concern in Woodside, Queens. Mr. Schieffelin is a vice president of Citibank in the Asia-Pacific division of the international financial institutions group. He graduated from the Bedford School, the Berkshire School and Washington and Jefferson College. His father retired as chairman of Schieffelin & Company, the wine and spirits importer, and of Almay Inc., a cosmetics concern. The bridegroom is a grandson of Mrs.
William Jay Schieffelin Jr. of New York and the late Mr. Schieffelin, who was also head of the Schieffelin Company. He is also a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Ross Proctor of Pittstown, N.J., Mr. Proctor was a senior partner in Abbott, Proctor & Paine, stockbrokers in New York.”

William Ross Proctor descended from a British soldier. Tim’s brother Michael married Katherine Speyer, most likely a member of the same Speyer family found in earlier rosters of The Pilgrims. Before the Revolutionary War, a member of the Schieffelin family furnished supplies to the British and joined the British effort to repulse the American invasion into British controlled Canada. He was also a land speculator. At this link we read---

“Jacob Schieffelin bought up land in upper Manhattan. He built his country house, Rooka Hall, where 144th St. now joins the Hudson, and sold land to his friend Alexander Hamilton for a country estate.”

Hamilton was the British financial agent who advocated for the first United States Bank (1791–1811) and said a national debt was good for the country. His descendant, Pierpont Morgan Hamilton, an intersection with the J.P. Morgan line, surfaced in The Pilgrims New York 1957 leaked roster. The six story Schieffelin Building (add a basement) was a warehouse and offices for their druggist business. Notice it faced on Beekman Street, named for another wealthy landowning Dutch colonial family represented in The Pilgrims Society (Beekman Downtown Hospital et cetera) ---
“The Schieffelins were chosen by Bayer (Farbenfabriken) the distributors for their new drug, aspirin. Bayer also helped Schieffelin introduce another substance to the United States: heroin. The Schieffelins already handled cannabis indica. The Schieffelins were involved when Congress started to regulate such substances. In 1910 Dr. William Schieffelin, President of the National Druggists Wholesalers’ association, testified—-
“So he was at least in part responsible for the problems that stem from including cannabis with opium in that class of controlled substances. Because of Prohibition, Schieffelin’s business would start to specialize in “medicinal” alcohol. It was alcohol intended for medicinal purposes, especially Hennessy Cognac and Moët & Chandon Champagne. Distilled spirits were a traditional remedy for chest pain, but I wonder what champagne was prescribed for. In 1962 the company gave up pharmaceuticals for alcohol. In 1980, Moët–Hennessy acquired Schieffelin. In 1987, Moët–Hennessy reached an agreement to merge Schieffelin with Somerset Importers Ltd., owned by Guinness.”

They distribute Dom Perignon, Johnnie Walker, Tanqueray Gin, Grand Marnier and other upper-end booze lines and probably hold interests in hospitals and pharma companies treating liver disease caused by excess alcohol consumption—like an octopus seizing smaller creatures in its vicinity.

A 2010 document shows the Schieffelins are involved with the American Chemical Society, founded in 1876 now with 158,000 members, many of them university faculty. It is in a real sense another version of the Silver Users Association! This is not hype—two members of the ACS board of directors have backgrounds with Du Pont—

Susan and Timothy P. Schieffelin—

He has four daughters, all of which presumably will marry other globalists. Their house at 42 Bruce Park Drive in Greenwich, Connecticut, is estimated at around $3.3 million. Someday picketers will holler at these bluebloods “He’s in the PILL-GRAMS” as they exit their office buildings. For those who missed the definition of that tragicomical adaptation, it means they foist harmful Rx pills on the public while stealing grams of gold and silver from miners and shareholders!

At https://www.nationalforests.org/who-we-are/board we read---

“Tim Schieffelin is a Senior Wealth Director at BNY Mellon Wealth Management. Previously, he was an advisor to Source Capital Group and to JSBO Realty & Capital. Earlier, Mr. Schieffelin was a Senior Vice President with Bank of America’s Private Bank. Prior to that, he was with Citigroup for 27 years as an executive in various capacities in their institutional group and private banking group. Mr. Schieffelin serves on the Executive, Audit & Finance, and (co-chair of) Development Committees of the National Forest Foundation, for which he also serves as Board Secretary; he also serves on the Investment and Downeast Campus Committees of the Maine Sea Coast Mission; the Descendants Advisory Board of Friends of John Jay Homestead and their Scholars Committee; and on the Board and Investment Committee of Sand Pond Corp. He is a former Vestry member and Finance Committee member of Christ Church Greenwich as well as an EFM program graduate. He is a member of The Pilgrims of the United States, a life member of Squadron A Association and is a Certified Investment Management Consultant (CIMC/IMCA) and a graduate of Washington & Jefferson College. where he served as a two-term Trustee. Mr. Schieffelin is married with four daughters.”

BNY Mellon represents almost $30 trillion in assets (trillion, not billion) and calls itself “The Investment Company for the World,” although State Street Corporation in Boston, another Pilgrims entity, is only about one trillion behind it--- “Schieffelin served as director and co-founder of Citigroup’s U.S. high-net-worth lead generation team.”

Considering Schieffelin’s background, probably another resource grab under the pretense of conservation. Based in Missoula, Montana, it reported 2006 income of $5,956,000. That’s not so impressive, unless its funds go to lobbying Congress, where almost modest sums are routinely leveraged into payoffs dozens to hundreds of times larger in the form of “friendly” legislation---
The Schieffelins are Maine landowners---

The John Jay homestead in Westchester County New York (below). His father was a wealthy merchant. His maternal grandfather was Jacobus Van Cortlandt and the Van Cortlandt family is another we see in lists of The Pilgrims Society during the last 101 years. The lineage intersects with the wealthy Livingstons, who appear in more Pilgrims families than any other! King William III gave a Van Cortlandt 86,000 prime acres along the Hudson River in 1697 which became the basis of their fortune. From 1778 to 1795 Pierre Van Cortlandt was lieutenant Governor of New York.

The obscure Sand Pond Corporation (and his Proctor lineage) is a link between the Singer sewing machine fortune and the Schieffelins.
Christ Church (Episcopalian) Greenwich Connecticut---

The Squadron A Association, well interlocked with The Pilgrims, we’ve described elsewhere. Washington & Jefferson College in Pennsylvania, founded in 1781, has an endowment of $104 million. George and Tom wouldn’t be pleased that a college named after them is run by men in on the British globalist plan. The Schieffelins own a great deal of valuable real estate going back generations.

"A Secret Society gradually absorbing the wealth of the world."
