Silver Squelchers 34 & Their Interesting Associates

Presented November 2015 by Charles Savoie

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Treaty

_of_Westminster_%281674%29

Research in the Public Interest

Royal & Hereditary Nobility Ancestry Part Four

Take 32 seconds to hear what should be The Pilgrims theme music!

"He spoke openly against the Society"

(Line from "The Rifleman," March 3, 1963)

"An ultra secret organization known as the Pilgrims Society." ---"The Hidden World" (2015, John Baselmans, page 240).

"The Pilgrims Society is a massively influential Anglo-American grouping of the Global Elite that remains unknown to the general public yet has members who number some of the most powerful men and women for the last 100 years. If you look at the small print of major historical events Pilgrims show up with alarming frequency unlike any other organisation in the world. It seems the US monetary system itself is crawling with Pilgrims."

"Remember when I said that the Bilderberg Group was a red herring?"

(Found at Logistics Monster, "This IS the center of the web—meet The Pilgrims Society," citing my work and that of Joel Van Der Reijden).

******

#34 ends the current series! Info will resume as Silver Squelchers Flashback series!

******

The Royal couple---Patrons of The Pilgrims Society, Both Branches!

"The Society of Pilgrims thrives in a marvellous manner." ---Illustrated London News, July 1, 1905.

"No enterprise is more likely to succeed than one concealed from the enemy until it is ripe for execution"--- Niccolo Machiavelli (1469 to 1527), Italian political schemer regarded as the father of political science.

1) Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor, His Grace The Duke of Westminster, Major General Gerald Grosvenor, Knight Order of the Garter, Commander, Royal Victorian Order, Commander, Order of the British Empire, Protestant Order of Saint John of Jerusalem, Anglican Church of England, Viscount Belgrave (a subsidiary title named after the Belgravia district of London, of which he's the runaway dominant landlord)--- (December 22, 1951---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined and Freeman of the City of London as of

1981, which makes it likely he was admitted into The Pilgrims London shortly thereafter, as he was far too big to not be a member); also an earlier Duke of Westminster is listed on pages 20, 27 and 28 of "Happy Pilgrimage" by Sir Harry Brittain, a founder of The Pilgrims Society in London in 1902 (Hutchinson & Company, London, 1949). The Duke of Westminster is also mentioned on page 53 of "Pilgrims and Pioneers" also by Sir Harry Brittain (same publisher, 1946). As I write this, four copies of the latter book are currently available on Amazon. That earlier Duke of Westminster would therefore be the direct or previous predecessor to the current Duke, who married into Russian nobility. There is a genealogical link via Russian nobility connecting the Duke of Westminster to William David Morrison (our #2 member of The Pilgrims in this presentation) and though Morrison, at least a multi-millionaire in visible wealth, is small in wealth next to Gerald Grosvenor, Morrison is still a heavyweight influence in financial, African agricultural and other affairs---including vaccines! Gerald Grosvenor's wife Natalia is the great-great-great-granddaughter of Czar Nicholas I of Russia. (Nicholas II is said to have been worth around $300 billion in today's terms). Have a look at Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor, current Duke of Westminster, who owns hundreds of acres of downtown London in addition to vast holdings in Hong Kong, China, Japan, Australia, Canada, Spain, the United States and ten other nations---and often named as the wealthiest person in England---(I'd say he's in the top ten) --- did you know he wants to have fly maggots and "treated" sewage in your diet? He does, as we will document in his profile! The December 9, 1885, New York Times claimed as of then, The Duke of Westminster's fortune was in the hundreds of millions! That's nearly 130 years ago! There's so much to be said about this man, his heritage, family, connections and assets we can't possibly cover it all. We'll address the choicest details including this matter of his ancestral linkage to the Cavendish family (his middle name), and the fact that as of the founding in 1694 of the Bank of England, William Cavendish, the Duke of Devonshire, was a large charter subscriber of the Bank of England!

> Wearing ceremonial medieval costume Intended to awe the small folks---

"If I'd have thought about it I'd have brought a loaded mortgage and shot him with that!" James Coburn in "Have Gun Will Travel," December 26, 1959

"Gerald Grosvenor basically owns London"---

http://moneystepper.com/other-finance/uk-top-10-richestpeople/

Czar Nicholas I absolute ruler of Russia from 1826-1855-- http://www.grosvenorlondon.com/about/about-grosvenor/

"Grosvenor Britain & Ireland is a part of Grosvenor, a privately owned property company, with an international property portfolio covering more than 70 cities."

The Los Angeles Times, September 21, 1986, reported that the Duke of Westminster "owns half of the Wells Fargo Building on a valuable site in downtown L.A. Grosvenor also holds 17 acres in Silicon Valley. He is diversified around the world." Mason Gaffney in "Who Owns Southern California" (1997) mentioned that item. Gerald Grosvenor leases towers to many megabanks! John G. Stumpf, current Wells Fargo chairman, is a sure bet as a Pilgrims Society member. Founded in 1852, Wells Fargo today claims 265,000 "team members," $1.8 trillion in assets, and 8,700 locations in 36 countries. John James McCook was a captain in the Union Army, a benefactor of the University of Kansas, became a Wells Fargo director (1893 to 1911) and was deeply involved in the railroad industry and turned up on The Pilgrims executive committee as of a 1907 document---he was a founder of the New York Pilgrims branch in 1903---William Fargo one of the two founders of today's giant megabank, was associated with the Livingston family (many Pilgrims members have Livingston ancestry), and he and William Livingston founded American Express---

Brief background on the Grosvenor family (more to follow) ---

A source dated 1905 shows the "honourable" Richard Cecil Grosvenor (1848 to 1919) as a director of General Life Assurance Company of London (established 1837, same year as the British engineered Panic of 1837 in America). This reference is important as it shows an intersection of two great lines dating back many centuries. We pointed this out in #33 in the fantastic profile of Robert Cecil, the 7th Marquess of Salisbury, who owns allegedly farreaching holdings in central Asia, the extent of which appear to have no public record.

Between 1660 and 1880, around two dozen members of the Grosvenor family were Members of Parliament! Their Parliamentary membership predates the 17th century however. A quick notation about Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor---he was named "trustee" as in "executor" of Princess Diana's will. Diana (1961–1997) has been speculated that her death was decided by The Duke of Edinburgh (Pilgrims Society inner circle) ---her maniac father in law who as a staggering thought is probably wealthier than this monster of mega-wealth, Gerald Grosvenor. I have no solid info on this matter about Diana but do regard it as possible. In 1994, about three years before Diana's fatality, her mother became Catholic, although Diana was a professing Anglican. British royalty has been killing Catholics for hundreds of years---and sometimes, vice versa, but in all candor, as someone who has read dozens of books and centuries old articles, I don't see that Catholicism "secretly controls the Royal family and the City of London." There are ongoing attempts at penetration and counter penetration by each sphere of the other. I don't expect the British to be out-foxed nor for the Vatican to acquiesce. The Grosvenors have occasionally spoken unfavorably about Jews, and they are well aware of members of that group in The Pilgrims Society. Perhaps if their wealth reaches some large threshold, they become acceptable! I haven't seen anything linking the Rothschilds to financing of Gerald Grosvenor's gargantuan global ("GGGG") property empire. It seems to have generated its own internal financing though not entirely so---others have been offered participation, but only so far as it advances the Grosvenor fortune. He's according to some the planet's biggest landlord. I think the Windsors and the Astors exceed the worth his real estate holdings, however!

Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor, according to The Peerage site, attended the Harrow School, founded in 1572 and described in Silver Squelchers Twenty Eight, pages 192–195. The top motto means "let the fortune of the house stand" and the lower motto means "the faithful dispensation of the gifts of God."

Gerald Grosvenor (pronounced "Grove-norr") is a Commander and Knight of the Order of Saint John---Officer, Order of the British Empire---Knight of the Order of the Garter (limited to a total of 26 members at any time including the British sovereign and the heir apparent) ---Companion of the Order of the Bath---Commander of the Royal Victorian Order---Knight Grand Cross of the Order of Saint Lazarus (France) ---Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Order of Francis the First of Sicily. He holds a Silver, Gold and Diamond Jubilee Medal from Queen Elizabeth II and the Volunteer Reserves Service Medal. He's an Honorary Colonel in the 7th Regiment Army Air Corps---Royal Westminster Regiment (British Columbia) ---Royal Armoured Corps---Northumbrian Universities Officer Training Corps--- the Queen's Yeomanry---and he holds Canadian and Territorial Forces decorations. All probably completely attributable to his status as a hereditary big shot! And yet the Latin motto on his crest of arms means "Virtue Not Ancestry"---

Symbol shows a beaver---

Their flag shows 20 battles they were in---

Royal Armoured Corps---

Northumbrian Universities Officer Training Corps

We notice, Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor the Duke of Westminster is "a global mogul who can trace his roots back to William the Conqueror" ---

Gerald Grosvenor is a walking global megabank–––all by himself! Sometimes he sells but usually deals in leases up to 999 years!

Prince Charles & The Duke of Westminster---both Pilgrims London---

During 2004 to 2007 Grosvenor was Assistant Chief of the United Kingdom Defence Staff for Cadets and Recruits (138,000 cadets and 50,000 recruits) and during 2011-2012 he was Deputy Commander of Land Forces for Reserves. He's a member of the international advisory board to Royal United Services Institute, with which Pilgrims Society members are heavily active. He was educated at the Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst. At the flagship Grosvenor Group site we notice in a timeline they present the year 1704 "The Grosvenors Welsh lead mines leased to London Lead Company and the income made possible further development of the Grosvenor Estate in London." Yeah, and how many understandably nationalistic enemies of British invaders and colonial occupiers as for instance, India, were killed and maimed by bullets from the Grosvenor lead mines? Was Grosvenor owned lead used to fire on our Revolutionary heroes during our War of Independence? This louse would be cooking French fries at Dairy Queen if I could arrange such fate for him. Hugh Grosvenor (1825–1899) curiously had as his middle name "Lupus," which is the name of an autoimmune disease in which the body attacks itself in various ways, with painful symptoms. In 1882 Hugh married Katherine Cavendish whose family led the colonization of the Bermuda islands centuries ago and became wealthy as the Dukes of Devonshire. However his first marriage was mentioned at http://chester.shoutwiki.com/wiki/Grosvenors "In 1851 he toured India and Ceylon. The following year, on 28 April, he married his first cousin, Lady Constance Sutherland–Leveson–Gower." She was related to the Duke of Sutherland described as "a leviathan of wealth" (see #7 Silver Squelchers, pages 77–82). Among the least of Sutherland's holdings was acreage in Scotland surpassing in extent seven figures. Hugh Lupus, the Count of Avranches (correct spelling, not "avalanches") came with William the Conqueror in 1066 AD and was high in William's entourage. Hugh's nephew, Gilbert Le Grosvenor, was with them. Hugh Lupus was also William's nephew! Hugh provided, according to which source you cite, 30 to 60 ships to transport William's army from Normandy (Atlantic coast of France) to England. Those we know as "Britishers" have ancestry from all over the map of Europe, including Russia, Scandinavia, Eastern Europe and the Balkans.

This military related entity is in the Westminster area and D.C. ---

The Duke is a member of the Council of the Duchy of Cornwall (England) ---

"The Duchy of Cornwall is a well managed private estate which funds the private activities of the Prince of Wales and his family. The duchy estate was created in 1337 and its primary function was to provide an income for the heir to the throne."

It's laughable that the rents from this district are the sole income, or remotely most of the income, of Prince Charles (Pilgrims Society).

Naturally he'd have another member supervising its financial dealings. Entrance foyer to HQ of the Duchy of Cornwall---

Inner circle Pilgrims Society multi-billionaires Prince Charles the Duke of Cornwall (left) with Gerald Grosvenor, the Duke of Westminster---

The Duke (Pilgrims) with Queen Elizabeth II (Pilgrims) ---

Somewhere back in history we'd likely find if we searched a connection between this word "Cornwall" and the "Cornwallis" family, of the infamous Redcoat General who attacked us in Revolutionary War times. As recently as The Pilgrims 1980 roster, the most recent known in outsiders hands, we notice a Lord Cornwallis listed! As of 1901, the Grosvenor and the Cornwallis lines intersected by marriage! When Gerald thinks of America he thinks "wayward colonists!"

DUCHY of CORNWALL

There is an annual Duke of Westminster Award by the CVQO, Cadet Vocational Qualification Organization, headquartered at Camberley, a city of around 40,000 tracing all the way back in time to Roman Britain, in the region known as Surrey. Below, The Duke bestowing his namesake award to a foolish young Englishman willing to go overseas to die fighting, if necessary, to protect Gerald Grosvenor's holdings, and those of his fellow "Hell 666" Pilgrims Society members---his ancestors backed England's tyranny over the American colonies----and bodyguards? He has the entire British military---

Gerald Grosvenor loaned one of his Cessna private jets to The Duke of Cambridge (Pilgrims Society) though it's unclear why, as the D of C undoubtedly isn't deprived as to his own transportation. Gerald has numerous ties with the Royal family. One of the Queen's doctors delivered Gerald's son in January 1991. The Queen, Prince Philip, Prince Charles, Princess Anne and several Prime Ministers have all been guests at the 52 room Lochmore Lodge, one of the Duke's lengthy list of properties in Scotland.

Field Marshall, General Thomas Grosvenor (1764 to 1851) was in charge of security at the Bank of England in 1780 (a very early start). He was a commander during the Battle of Copenhagen (1807) in the Napoleonic Wars. Both he and his father were Whig Party members of Parliament. In the USA, we had a Whig Party that was strongly in favor of a central bank. In "The Temper Tantrum," released originally at Silver Investor site in November 2006, I describe the President John Tyler administration, during which the Whig Party staged a riot outside the White House because Tyler vetoed another central banking bill. It was called the Fiscal Bank Bill, passed by the Senate on July 28, 1841, and promptly crushed by Tyler's immediate veto. Corrupt economic textbook writers by the thousands have since belched out vituperation on Tyler's memory, asserting how "backward" and "uninformed" he was about "monetary science." After the British failed to reinstitute a central bank in the Tyler Presidency, they set about fomenting the Civil War (did you read #33?) General Grosvenor was the target of a failed assassination attempt in 1820, and his second cousin replaced him in Parliament. Speculations on the motive for the attempt range from Jesuit plots to tenants evicted from Grosvenor properties.

http://www.cvqo.org/

At

http://www.theguardian.com/world/2002/oct/25/september11.usa we read about The Pilgrims Society "fusing" the UK and USA governments together---

"When the whiff of war is in the air," says the historian of British government Peter Hennessy, "The alliance between Britain and America becomes almost palpable. I was in our embassy in Washington in 1991, during the last Gulf war. It felt as if the two systems were fused." In any third World War, the USA and UK will be tied together--unless we neutralize The Pilgrims Society. Lest you think these two countries are inadequate to face a Russian-Chinese and other alliance, I remind you that Canada, Australia and many of the British Commonwealth nations would be opposing said alliance. However I think if these Pilgrims can have their plan realized, it will be for Russia and China to oppose each other. These newer superpowers however may be too smart for that.

This massive fortune of Gerald Grosvenor actually traces back primarily to Hugh Audley (1577–1662) who had a wealthy father and he became wealthier still and was known as a moneylender. He bought land in what became downtown London of later generations. As the growth reached land he owned, the value soared. In this sense Audley was on the scene long before John Jacob Astor who used that same system around New York. Astor bought undervalued land at the fringes of growth and time and soaring population made the worth go orbital. Hugh Audley owned the land where the world famous Buckingham Palace stands! We read at the Daily Mail link---

"Hugh Audley was one of the most famous – and notorious – money lenders of the 17th century. Audley Street in Mayfair, now home to upmarket art galleries and exclusive restaurants, is named after its former landlord."

In April 2014, a treasure hunter with a metal detector found a 24 karat gold ring owned by Hugh Audley---

The area we're researching was part of The Domesday Book, completed in 1086 AD, which was a survey of England ordered by William the Conqueror. Audley's holdings went to his great grand niece (long explanation) whose name was Mary Davies, and got married at the really tender age of twelve (12) and was heiress to what was known as the Manor of Ebury. Ebury Street is today a well known location in Belgravia district of central London and heavily owned by the subject of this profile---the longest we've presented. Mary Davies husband was Sir Thomas Grosvenor (1655-1700) who was a Member of Parliament, oversaw the building of a magnificent mansion, and was typically a member of the Anglican Church of England. His ancestor, Robert Grosvenor, actually started that side of the fortune in 1160 AD by becoming a landowner. During 1190 to 1193 AD, accompanying King Richard I of England ("Richard the Lionheart") on his Crusade to the Holy Land was Richard Grosvenor. In 1234 AD the Grosvenors acquired still larger landholdings in Cheshire. In 1443 Raufe Grosvenor added to the burgeoning family fortune by marring heiress Joan of Eton (later spelled Eaton). In 1634 Sir Richard Grosvenor (1604-1665) acquired possession of "mines and minerals in North Wales, an extremely valuable source of income." Flashing back again, we discover that Hugh De Audley, the first Earl of Gloucester (1291–1347) "was the second son of Sir Hugh de Audley, Lord Audley by Iseult de Mortimer and great, great grandson of King Henry II. He held many offices including Knight of Stratton in Stratton Audley, Oxfordshire, of Gratton, Staffordshire, the King's bachelor, Sheriff of Rutland, and was the English Ambassador to France in 1341." We won't go deep into complex genealogies besides stating that the present Duke of Westminster has in his background heritage from such as the Cavendish family, as seen in his name, Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor. Mister Gerald owns 300+ acres of the Mayfair and Belgravia districts in merry old London and immense estates in Cheshire (Eaton Estate plus 11,500 acres), Lancashire (Scotland, Abbeystead Estate, plus 23,500 acres); the Reay Forest Estate (Scotland, 96,000 acres) and overseas. He owns the Liverpool One Shopping Centre. Don't overlook that Grosvenor owns "vast estates in Oxford and elsewhere in Europe." However, a Belgravia Dot Com site insists Gerald's family owns 400 acres in Belgravia alone. http://moneystepper.com/ says homes in Belgravia can reach a $150 million price tag. "The Power of Scale---A Global History Approach" (2015, page 131) says 480 acres. Possibly some was sold---or someone wants to minimize the known extent of their wealth. The same page of that book remarks---

"The Grosvenors show commercial imperia building processes and their human consequences across the centuries and generations."

http://www.flat-living.co.uk/advice/557-the-grosvenor-estate says---

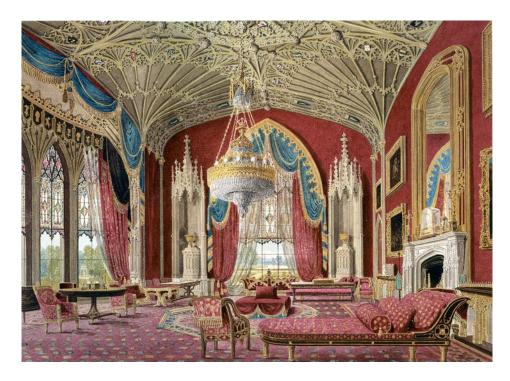

"Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor, the 6th Duke of Westminster is London's wealthiest landlord. He and his family own around 300 acres of land, including some of London's most exclusive addresses, which make up part of the Grosvenor Estate. The estate is most famous for its landmark residential properties in Mayfair and Belgravia but it also owns a portfolio of businesses, rural estates and other assets. In total the organisation employs more than 1,200 people. One hundred per cent of the shares in Grosvenor are owned by the Trustees of various Grosvenor trusts established for the benefit of current and future members of the family. The Duke of Westminster's seat is at Eaton Hall in Cheshire and the value of Grosvenor's property holdings and other assets are estimated to make him the third richest man in Britain."

In 1917 Eaton Hall set aside rooms for hospitalization of 250 British army officers wounded in England's war of colonial expropriation against Germany. In 1943 to 1946, it was used as the base of operations of the Royal Naval College. The Grosvenors are on the world warfare bandwagon!

Eaton Hall in Cheshire---

Typical interior view---

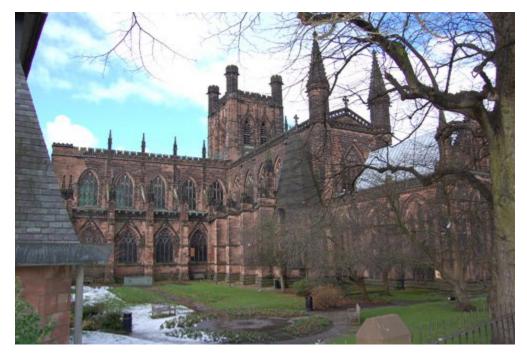

So-called "Dennys Hall" another major Grosvenor building on the same grounds---

Gerald Grosvenor is the Chancellor of the University of Chester since 2005, which means he gets the glory while career administrators handle the university's affairs on a day by day basis according to his dictates "from on high" as his full formal title is "His Grace the Duke of Westminster." It traces to 1839 and was founded by big shots including the 14th Earl of Derby, whose descendant became a leader of The Pilgrims Society London (chairman of executive committee, 1929–1945). Naturally Chester University is a Church of England institution. It has 18,800 students---

PR Week begged the obvious calling Grosvenor Group a "property powerhouse" and The Richest Dot Com mentioned "Grosvenor Group, the property giant controlled by the Duke of Westminster"---

Group Global

According to the "Sunday Times Rich List 2014," the Duke of Westminster is worth $27 billion. Another respected source says his London holdings alone are worth $15.7 billion (at a 1.57x currency conversion rate). As you review images and descriptions of Grosvenor Groups' overseas holdings, you'll think a tally stoutly exceeding $27 billion applies! He's old, not new wealth, and the media has a policy of severely lowballing wealth estimates of the old rich, because they want the public to believe that a "new order" of affairs has replaced the old. It has not!

"London is the real estate capital of the world." At http://www.grosvenor.com/investment-opportunities/ we notice---

"There are many ways to invest in real estate with Grosvenor, both as a client of our fund management business and also by partnering with our proprietary property companies which invest directly in property."

The divisions of this enormous holding company include Grosvenor Americas, Grosvenor Asia Pacific, Grosvenor Britain & Ireland and Grosvenor Fund Management, set up to go both long and short real estate.

Short video of Gerald posing as a do-gooder.

The National Westminster Bank shares his titular name not by coincidence! Of course it's linked, as all megabanks are, to many corporate interests. Comparing the symbols of the Grosvenor Group and this megabank shows visual confirmation of the strong cross-linkage. (The same is true of the Reserve Bank of Australia, who has a rep connecting it to the Grosvenor Group!) With banking connections such as the Australian central bank (where Gerald owns vast square footage) and a big United Kingdom megabank, Gerald Grosvenor by definition opposes the return of silver as money! In 2000 NatWest merged with RBS Group, Royal Bank of Scotland (where the Grosvenor interests also have embarrassingly large holdings)! Sir Sandy Crombie, director of RBS, is highly likely to be a member of The Pilgrims London. The National Westminster Bank division of RBS has 33,300 employees. We wonder how many of them remit monthly rent to Gerald Grosvenor---

These people like to deal in threes, double that = sixes! These symbols are strongly similar to the Trilateral Commission---

RESERVE BANK OF AUSTRALIA

The Duke of Westminster below at one of his several showpiece properties (Eaton Square, London). Here's a three bedroom "flat" in Eaton Square, asking price is 11 million British pounds! On April 28, 2015, it was reported that he banked $59 million in one transaction and that his property empire has a development pipeline (in addition to fabulously valuable existing structures) of $8.635 billion in USD terms (using a 1.57x conversion rate) --- "A royal connection---

"Eaton Square, Belgravia, London is perhaps the best known address on Grosvenor's London estate. It was built close to King George IV's royal home at Buckingham Palace and to the Houses of Parliament, during the housing boom that followed the Napoleonic wars. Grosvenor continues to adapt these classical buildings to provide contemporary homes for domestic and international residents." The Telegraph (London), November 20, 2008, reported---"Known as the Mount Olympus of London squares, Eaton Square is a magnet for the super-rich." The Evening Standard, February 1, 2013 reported "Seventy million pounds sterling for Eaton Square house with gold plated pool."

21 Eaton Square 1/2013 had 3 bedroom flat at 6,500,000 pounds sterling---

23 Eaton Square where in January 2012 3 bedroom flat was listed at 17.5 million pounds---

36-37 Eaton Square has a "flat" at 6,308,000 pounds---

60 Eaton Square---

65 Eaton Square had a one bedroom flat Listed in 2014 for 2.5 million pounds---

Cheshire House at 66 Eaton Square---

82 Eaton Square "has housed a Major-General of the East Indian Cavalry, a Lord Strafford, a Lord Bagot, an Earl of Dalhousie, an Earl of Clare, a Duke of Bedford, and Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands."

The Duke of Westminster "still owns much of central London" and "The Grosvenor Estate still owns swaths of central London, centered on the ultra-wealthy areas of Mayfair and Belgravia." The American Embassy in London, located at Grosvenor Square for some 200 years, has recently changed location. The Canadian High Commission is at 1 Grosvenor Square. Grosvenor Square itself traces to the year 1710 and Sir Richard Grosvenor who owned a stable of racehorses as a pastime, and traveled to Switzerland, Germany, the Netherlands and elsewhere in Europe---and he was a Baronet---swell, huh? These Grosvenors have owned costly Arabian stallions. He was a Member of Parliament and participated in the coronation of King George II (reign 1727–1760). This item mentions a "flat" with a view of Grosvenor Square and the "flat" (domicile) is valued at 18 million British pounds or $28,260,000 USD at a conversion rate of 1.57x PS. There can be no doubt that Gerald Grosvenor doesn't poke about in restaurant dumpsters for dubious morsels. Astonishing cash flow for years and years has allowed him to expand his real estate empire overseas as we shall see. The moment expansions are paid for the Duke's income increases and more developments transpire.

GROSVENOR SQUARE

Historic location of many Embassies and home to many international residents

> BEST ADDRESS Grosvenor Square

WHO BUYS Large Middle Eastern, Indian and Greek contingent

FLAVOUR Classic Mayfair homes as lateral apartments

> LANDMARKS US Embassy, Italian Embassy

In 2001 the British Petroleum pension fund sold ten acres in Mayfair adjacent to Gerald's holdings---acres less valuable than his---for 335 million pounds sterling. Gerald's landholdings outside of London probably eclipsed the value of his London base over ten years ago. His holdings literally pepper the world map as you will see.

Note that there have been several Sir Richard Grosvenors way back in this fabled line. The Sir Richard Grosvenor who was part of the coronation ceremonies of King George II had a second wife---her name was Diana Warburton. She was the daughter of Sir George Warburton of Arley in Cheshire, according to a page at British History site. At History of Parliament Online unsurprisingly we're told that Sir George was a Member of Parliament. We read---

"Warburton's family had been established in Cheshire since at least the early 14th century, and owned substantial lands in the north of the county."

Warburton was a Whig politically. The American Whig Party originated in 1833 at almost the peak of President Jackson's power. The Whigs favored the continuation of the second United States Bank (the central bank), and getting rid of the Bank was Jackson's biggest goal. The Whigs called Jackson "a dangerous man on horseback," a reference to his wildly successful career as a general. Another Grosvenor, Robert, the 1st Marquess of Westminster, was also a Whig and ironically he had the same birth and death years as Jackson---1767 and 1845. We do trust these two men aren't in the same destination and that the Marquess remains "ablaze."

The Pilgrims 1940 London---

Warburton, Captain P. G. Eliot, M.C. Warburton, Rupert E. Law

The Pilgrims1957 London---

Warburton, Captain, P. G. Eliot, M.C. Warburton, Rupert E. Law Warwick, The Earl of

The Earl of Warwick owned Warwick Castle, built in 1068 AD on orders of William the Conqueror. The Earl had opulent holdings in Switzerland, Italy and France.

The Pilgrims 1974 London---

The Pilgrims London 1980 shows Dame Anne Warburton and the same John Richard Eliot Warburton from the 1974 roster. The Dame was Ambassador to Denmark during which time she visited the very large Danish holding---Greenland. She was president of Lucy Cavendish College at Cambridge, again suggesting a linkage of the Warburtons to the much bigger Grosvenors, as Gerald's middle name is---Cavendish. She was the daughter of Captain P.G. Eliot Warburton, a Pilgrims member from earlier years. She was with Lazard Brothers & Company of London in the early to mid 1950's--a City merchant bank of major importance still today. She held decorations from England, Denmark, West Germany and Spain.

Warburton's, a baking (not banking---oven baking) concern has 5,000 employees and is has revenues north of $1 billion USD and is based in Bolton, England.

As if gloating over centuries of English colonial exploitation of the world, largely made possible by sailing ships, a younger Gerald Grosvenor poses before a masterpiece---

Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor is chairman of the trustees of The Westminster Foundation which role assists his posturing as a dogooder.

20 Grosvenor Square is the former site of U.S. Naval operations in Europe---

Interior view of Marriott Hotel London at Grosvenor Square---

The Dragon Group is at 22 Grosvenor Square and "is involved in financing and managing a number of resource projects worldwide at various stages of the mine development cycle. Dragon's business model involves the assessment and acquisition of mining projects worldwide. Dragon co-founded Arian Silver Corporation" (Mexican silver!) "Dragon co-founded Siberian Goldfields" and has developed major diamond, copper and gold strikes in Africa. Does Gerald Grosvenor hold a stake in this enterprise?

The Millennium Hotel is at 44 Grosvenor Square---

Memorial statue of Franklin Roosevelt in Grosvenor Square. Members of The Pilgrims Society London supervised this project out of gratitude to FDR being a gold and silver suppressor and dragging America into World War Two which was what the British planned since 1919 or earlier. "The Pilgrims of Great Britain" (Profile Books, London, 2002 short run book), pages 30–33, 55, 63, and 132–136, all feature mention of how The Society erected this statue---eleven pages worth---

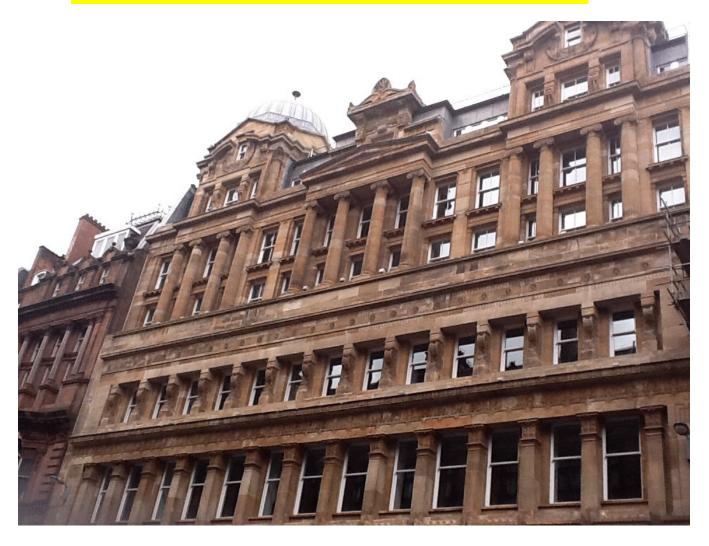

41 to 43 Mount Street in Mayfair, area of prime Grosvenor holdings. This is known as the Audley Building, named after Hugh Audley, the main founder of the Grosvenor fortune. An apartment nearby has an asking price of 8.75 million pounds "sterling" (about $13,730,000). Expensive diamond jewelers are common in areas owned by The Duke of Westminster ---

Mount Street in London features luxury shops and restaurants---"There are 47 retail premises on Mount Street, of which Grosvenor directly control 32." You should assume that includes "controlling" the luxury jewelers there, with fortunes in diamonds. Apparently this mega-billionaire owns not only the buildings, but sometimes also the operations of the retailers---

The massive Grosvenor Building in Glasgow, Scotland---

At http://www.grosvenor.com/featured-locations we'll review the following incomplete list of The Duke's far flung, enormous holdings---

Grosvenor Place (Kamizono Cho) in Tokyo---luxury penthouses---

Grosvenor's Opus Arisugawa Terrace in Tokyo, "This apartment is located in the center of Tokyo's most international area"---

The Belgravia Azabu in Tokyo is a 102 unit luxury residential tower---

The Westminster Roppongi in Tokyo is a 99 unit luxury penthouse---

The Westminster Terrace in Hong Kong is another upscale residential affair with penthouses of 6,500 square feet---if we had details, we'd find some Japanese members of the Trilateral Commission paying monthly tribute to His Grace The Duke of Westminster of The Pilgrims Society of Great Britain in London---"Land holdings all over the world" was bullseye attributed to the Grosvenors by Tom Quinn in his 2013 book "London's Strangest Tales—Extraordinary But True Stories" (Pavilion Books) click on attributed to see the quotation---no page number is stated.

The Duke's opulent Westminster Terrace at Grosvenor Place (other view shows dissimilarities due to different direction), Hong Kong, looking like an advanced alien building out of "Star Trek"---a typical unit goes for $15,483,072 USD---

Grosvenor House on Maoming Road in Shanghai, China---

"PILL-GRAMS"

"Gerald Grosvenor leads growing list of wealth builders in London."

Grosvenor Ambleside in West Vancouver Canada is 98 luxury homes above pricey shops and restaurants---

The Rise in Vancouver---92 costly residential units over retail outlets---

Grosvenor Edgemont in North Vancouver---condominiums, townhomes, retail and office space---

15 West (or 15 West Tower) in North Vancouver---18 story condo with 115 units---

The Avenue West End in Calgary (Canada) features 319 ultra costly residential units---it's as if important regional leaders reside where The Duke of Westminster has holdings---as a likely inner circle member of The Pilgrims, this would facilitate him imparting "illumination" to these Grosvenor wanna bees---

The Drake in Calgary---135 mega-price condominiums and townhomes---

The Smith in Calgary---18 story "boutique" building with 129 penthouses---

Grosvenor Americas acquired this 106,000 square foot office building at 1520 Fourth Street in Calgary---

The Bridges At Northcreek (luxury apartments) ---suburb of Seattle---

Campbell Run Apartments (360 units) in a Seattle suburb---

Chelsea Apartments at Juanita Village in a Seattle suburb 196 apartments---

In September 2012 it was announced that Grosvenor Americas acquired the 360 unit Waterford Place Apartments near Seattle for $58.4 million. "With the acquisition of Waterford Place, Grosvenor Americas, a privately owned global company, now owns 10 apartment communities with a total of 1,660 units in the greater Seattle area."

1645 Pacific Avenue in San Francisco---30 expensive penthouses---

A Grosvenor Group London development under way in San Francisco---

Another Grosvenor Group London development in San Francisco---

Trailside Terrace in Belmont, California 195 luxury apartments---

http://pitchengine.com/pitches/51075136-3c55-42e4-94dba8dc3c52a054

"Grosvenor Americas also owns 308–310 North Rodeo Drive in Beverly Hills, with approximately 15,000 SF of retail space housing the internationally renowned jeweler Harry Winston and women's fashion retailer bebe. Grosvenor is a privately-owned property group, active in some of the world's most dynamic cities with 19 offices in 12 countries and assets in a total of 17 countries. The Group operates and invests in three different business areas; direct proprietary investment in real estate through our Operating Companies in Britain & Ireland, the Americas and Asia Pacific; indirect proprietary investment in real estate managed by others, which is the responsibility of the holding company; and our international fund management Operating Company – Grosvenor Fund Management – which manages capital on behalf of investors. As of December 31, 2012, the Group had total assets under management of US$19.9 billion."

Cheyne Terrace---"Luxury London Living," this is an old French word meaning "oak-hearted" a possible reference to the Norman conquest of England in 1066 AD---

119 Ebury Street in London is a former hotel converted to apartments and it looks like the smallest coin in Gerald Grosvenor's Marianna Trench deep pockets---

Intersection of Grosvenor Gardens and Ebury Street---

40 Grosvenor Place, London---

Grosvenor Hotel London---

With such wealth and tastes, The Duke looks at small folks like crawling bugs!

Indeed, The Duke intends to FEED us on this "globalized" diet (proof to follow!)

101 Buckingham Palace Road, address of The Grosvenor Hotel London---

The Grosvenor Kensington Hotel London (another one) ---

Eccleston Place in London, luxury townhouses in Belgravia district of the City of Westminster---

11 Passmore Street in London has 23 units with an average recent value of $3,683,000 in USD terms---

Barton Park in Oxford, England, 885 new homes under construction as of 2014---

Parkside Place in Cambridge, England---8 story apartment building and offices---

Grand Arcade Shopping Centre in Cambridge, England---

Trumpington Meadows near Cambridge---1,200 homes---

The Grosvenor Hotel in Chester, England---

Interior view---

Springside in the Fountainbridge area of Edinburgh,

Scotland---"over 600 new homes, student accommodation, a hotel, office and amenity retail uses, all within the award winning environment."

Liverpool One is a massive development by the Grosvenor interests--

Liverpool One features a very large triple tier shopping mall and a 14 screen cinema---

Liverpool One features high end residential towers---

One Park West in Liverpool has 326 expensive units & rooftop heliport---

Southampton's New Arts Complex---63,000 square foot arts building, six restaurants and 38 residential homes---

He owns Festival Place Shopping Centre in Basingstroke---

http://www.festivalplace.co.uk/

The District on 14th Street NW in Washington, six story luxury apartment building---sold in 2013 to JP Morgan for $76 million---

F1RST (note the spelling the letter "I" is expressed as a "1" as in number one) in Washington D.C.--- "this exciting mixed-use community designed by architect Hickok Cole will offer 325 rental apartments, a 170-room Residence Inn by Marriott and over 2,300 sq m of retail space at the doorstep of Nationals Park baseball stadium." Also known as the Capitol Riverfront development (on the Potomac River) ---

Grosvenor Americas acquired this 120,000 square foot medical office building in Fairfax, Virginia---even gougers get gouged by The Duke---he paid a paltry $43 million for it---and will have those avaricious Pharma allied medicos blowing up pennies invested to the size of manhole covers with typical scandalous Pharma markups---

Grosvenor Central in Silver Spring, Maryland will have a "bike workshop" (as we'll see The Duke's wife Natalia is a global bicycle magnate). It will have 243 luxury units and large retail space on the ground level---

The Avalon Grosvenor Tower in North Bethesda, Maryland---

An item dated 2012 at Grosvenor Fund Management site mentioned its staff in Philadelphia was expanded by four additional hot-shot performers. One was previously with Lazard Freres & Company (Pilgrims Society) and JP MorganChase (Pilgrims Society) and another came from the surprisingly huge State Street Global ($28 trillion, Pilgrims Society).

The Grosvenor Campus at Sunrise (Reston, Virginia) has tenants in government contracting, financial services, technology and consulting---

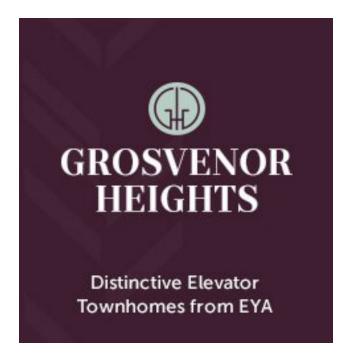

Other aspect of these Grosvenor buildings shows this ---

Grosvenor Americas first acquisition was in 1944 with Annacis Island (1,200 acres) in the Fraser River delta near Vancouver. This is mainly an industrial development including a very large wastewater treatment plant servicing Vancouver.

http://grosvenorheights.com/ in Bethesda, Maryland, consists of ten homes and 142 "elevator townhomes" this is a classic example of a powerful Englishman informally gathering around himself a veritable constellation of persons of major local influence, whereas his reach is global---

At http://gptccommunity.org/outside_home.asp we notice---

"Welcome to the Grosvenor Park Townhouse Condominium community! Nestled in a corner of what was once the estate of National Geographic founder, Gilbert Grosvenor, we are one of the Washington area's best kept secrets."

We arrive now at an interesting juncture. Apparently some of the Grosvenors, but not the main family line, migrated long ago to North America. Gilbert Grosvenor and his son, Melville Bell Grosvenor, two famous Washingtonians, are of the branch that came here. According to http://londinoupolis.blogspot.com/2013/01/why-americans-dontown-their-london.html referring to the Grosvenors stated, "most of Maine and New York, owned once by the family." I determined it was the main Grosvenor line who remained in England who were large absentee Colonial landlords. We stated it earlier but repeating it here isn't excessive---there was a Gilbert Le Grosvenor in AD 1066 who accompanied William the Conqueror to take over England! Yes, the recent USA Grosvenors are of this same ancient line and I haven't looked at their background in early medieval France---there may be aspects of deep interest! I haven't seen statements about how closely linked the Grosvenor transatlantic families are. I figure there are strong links out of public view.

Gilbert Grosvenor bought the land being discussed here in 1912 and moved there "from the DuPont Circle area in Washington, D.C."

Gilbert H. Grosvenor (1875 to 1966) was born in Istanbul, Turkey, and was second cousin to William H. Taft, President and Supreme Court Justice and Skull & Bones Society member. His brother, Henry W. Taft, was in The Pilgrims 1924. It's unclear when The Pilgrims made the USA President an "honorary" member and their "honorary" president. Gilbert is known as the "father of photo journalism" and is credited for having built the National Geographic Society into the large organization it became, today with 6,800,000 members all being fed subtle doses of globalism. His son Melville Bell Grosvenor (1901–1982) was the grandson of Alexander Graham Bell who invented the telephone. Several of these USA Grosvenors have been directors of an important regional telephone company, as we shall see! Coincidence? Not in this case! Melville ran the National Geographic Society and its magazine for some years. Neither has appeared in any Pilgrims rosters I've reviewed however, clearly they were in the periphery of The Society. Pilgrims Society members have routinely been National Geographic Society trustees. Also bearing his name is Grosvenor Lodge in Katmai National Park in Alaska.

A 20,919 foot peak in the Eastern Himalayas in China was named Mount Grosvenor in his honor, probably because National Geographic has sponsored so many expeditions to remote regions and made so many advancements to mapmaking. Of course, the Chinese have their own local name for it. As of 2012, only three ascents of this mountain have been confirmed. Also named for him in Alaska is another Mount Grosvenor, 8,460 feet yet not climbed till 1979. There's a Grosvenor Glacier on Mount Salcantay, a 20,574 foot peak in the Peruvian Andes range. Utah has a sandstone formation named the Grosvenor Arch.

The 1952–1953 Who's Who in America, page 986, shows Gilbert G. was a member of the English Speaking Union, confirmed over and over as a Pilgrims Society front. He and his son were both members of the Cosmos Club, National Press Club and the Chevy Chase--- D.C. and metro D.C. clubs well interlocked with globalist forces. Gilbert was a director of American Security & Trust Company and Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company while junior was a director of paper manufacturer Champion International and Washington Loan & Trust. Both were also members of the Cruising Club of America, wealthy yacht owners with a Pilgrims Society interlock. Champion was probably providing paper for National Geographic Magazine. How wealthy has this lesser branch of the Grosvenor family become? There's nothing definite however some number approaching several hundred million minimum is likely---- enough to be in the orbit of The Pilgrims Society.

The 2014 Who's Who In The East, page 559, shows Gilbert Melville Grosvenor, grandson of Gilbert H., a member of the Chevy Chase Club and chairman since 1987 of the National Geographic Society. He's a former director of Chevy Chase Bank. Has the American branch of the old, old line Grosvenor family been able to "benefit" by means of membership fees paid by over 25 million National Geographic Society members over the years? Could they be tempted, or don't their feet hit the ground when they walk? He's a former member of the President's Commission on Environmental Quality and a current member of the Explorers Club in New York, along with Pilgrims Society member Peter J.C. Mosse, profiled in #24 Silver Squelchers, pages 24 through 37. The National Geographic Society and the Explorers Club have concerned themselves with world geographical, exploratory and ethnic knowledge for over a century. This global research may have provided complimentary information to the Grosvenor interests in London in their expansion campaign across the immense world map.

Gilbert Melville Grosvenor (son of Melville Bell G.) was as of the 1994 Who's Who In America for 1994, page 1391, a director of the White House Historical Association, Chevy Chase Bank, Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone, Conservation Foundation, Ethyl Corporation and Marriott Corporation (hotel chain). Marriott has a number of major hotels in association with the London based Grosvenor Group! Additionally, this character was as of 1994 a director of the American Farmland Trust, which comes across strongly as a counterpart to the London Grosvenor owned Wheatsheaf Group, which we will take a hard look at as you continue to read this profile on His Grace The Duke of Westminster! Additionally, Gilbert Melville Grosvenor was a member of the Newcomen Society of North America, which at that time was headed by second generation member of The Pilgrims, Charles Penrose Jr. (page 2680, 1994 volumes). Absolutely there's an American Grosvenor family branch, much smaller in wealth though still of considerable influence and we should assume in full collaboration with The Duke of Westminster.

Edwin S. Grosvenor (born 1951) is editor in chief of American Heritage Magazine. Edwin was associated with third generation member of The Pilgrims, George Ames Plimpton, of a very old influential English family. In 2007, Edwin led an investor group that bought American Heritage from second generation member of The Pilgrims, fake gold standard advocate Steve Forbes. The Grosvenor USA branch has dealings with the Rockefellers (Pilgrims Society) as seen in this 2006 item relating to a technology meeting. Do you suppose the London Grosvenors have dealings with the London Rothschilds? I haven't found any, but I didn't look far. It's a virtual certainty.

In September 2015 in a $725 million deal, 21st Century Fox, controlled by Rupert Murdoch (Pilgrims Society---most likely) bought the media assets of the National Geographic Society.

There was a Grosvenor Atterbury (1869 to 1956) who was an architect and urban planner who graduated from Yale. Skull & Bones member? Perhaps he was in the Wolf's Head Society or Book & Snake Society! "Much of Atterbury's early work consisted of weekend houses for wealthy industrialists." He did work for Pilgrims Society members! He built or designed Rockefeller Hall in Winter Harbor, Maine for confirmed Pilgrims member John D. Rockefeller Jr., in 1933. The 1930–1931 Who's Who in America, page 205, shows he designed the Psychiatric Clinic ("prison torture chamber") at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, the Phipps Institute in Philadelphia (Pilgrims Society family associated with Carnegie Steel), did work for the Russell Sage Foundation (Pilgrims Society) and was a member of the National Institute of Social Sciences, a Pilgrims Society run group which appears to be planning the management of serfs lives in the New British Empire. The New York Social Diary mentions Grosvenor Atterbury. The Pilgrims New York 1974 showed---

Atterbury, Boudinot Phelps

This may have been a cousin of Grosvenor Atterbury (who by the way may have had a member of the family associated with Dow Chemical as a mother, as he was born in Michigan and her name was Dow!) There's little info out there on Boudinot Phelps Atterbury but I've been able to determine he was related to the Arizona and Nevada based Phelps–Dodge copper mining fortune, including silver mining and railroads in Nevada, the much older and larger Van Rensselaer land fortune and several other dynasties! One of these individuals was in China as of 1879 and potentially an opium manager and during the Boxer uprising of 1900; several of his "colleagues" were killed by Chinese angry over what opium addiction had done to their hyper–exploited country. In "The Transactions of the Rockefeller Family Association for 1905," page 211 shows several Rockefellers who were buried at Grosvenor's Corners, New York! Bertram Grosvenor Goodhue (1869 to 1924) was another architect. That's two (2) architects having "Grosvenor" as part of their name. I feel this can't be by chance, as the main Grosvenor branch based in London, couldn't have had this blue whale sized fortune they hold, in the absence of the science of architecture! Goodhue designed dozens of buildings including the private chambers of the Wolf's Head Society at Yale University! Even the architectural firm he was with had several names associated in a familial sense with The Pilgrims Society.

The Pilgrims NYC 1924 shows---

Francis Abbott Goodhue

Francis A. Goodhue III is with UBS Financial Services NYC!

And another Goodhue (With a Livingston, no less!) ---

Livingston, Jr., Goodhue

The New York Times described Goodhue Livingston Jr. as an "independent investor" and confirmed his ancestry from Robert Livingston who arrived in America in 1673 and founded a tremendous landowning family. Goodhue Livingston Jr. was also described as "the son of a prominent architect," and there we are again---architecture. No, I didn't suggest this particular science is subversive! Goodhue, a backer of Planned Parenthood, was associated with American & Foreign Banking Corporation and Equitable Trust Company during 1923-1927, which bank was coleader with another Pilgrims Society Bank, the Chase National (Astor-Rockefeller) in selling Bolshevik Bonds in the USA, enabling the Soviet Reds to remain in power in Russia!

Several links ago we noticed that the structure seen below was built on land once owned by Gilbert Grosvenor. The story behind his acquisition of that parcel is---what? Did he get any funding from London? The Grosvenor-Strathmore Station is a rapid transit station in the Washington D.C. metro line that is located in North Bethesda, Maryland. Maryland is named after Queen Maria of England, wife of King Charles I. The name Strathmore is of significance as seen in the profile of a Pilgrims member by that name in this royaltynobility category. There are a number of major scale buildings nearby this station including The Meridian at Grosvenor Station and The Oakwood and Avalon Apartments. These structures aren't listed as holdings at Grosvenor Group London. So, does the smaller, but significant, American branch of the Grosvenor family have any interests in these major buildings? Perhaps is all we know at this time.

Grosvenor Park Condos in North Bethesda, Maryland---

Address is 10101 Grosvenor Place---

Grosvenor Auditorium of the National Geographic Society in D.C.

Back to our tour of Gerald Grosvenor's holdings!

Typical mansion in Belgravia district in London owned by the Grosvenor interests---

Number 3 to 15 Grosvenor Crescent contains 15 luxury apartments---

Other aspect---

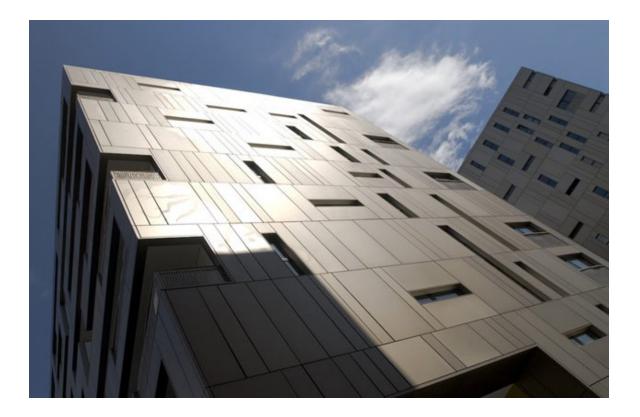

Another spectacular Grosvenor family holding in London---

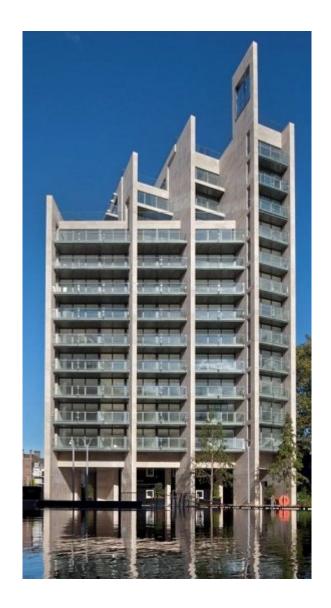

The Pantechnicon Building in London on Motcomb Street is another Grosvenor holding---it contains "upmarket pubs and eateries"---

Grosvenor Waterside in London, so named for its nearness to the River Thames, is called "a triumph in contemporary architecture" and "one of the most sought after addresses in central London" and "a stunning dockside development." The Economic Times of India said in December 2006 that areas of London controlled by Grosvenor Group feature "leasing costs are 45% more than in central Tokyo."

Another building at Grosvenor Waterside---

Moore House at Grosvenor Waterside has 149 expensive luxury apartments---

Another building at Grosvenor Waterside (this isn't all, there are 4 others) ---

What can the average Joe do to conceptualize the astronomical cash flow of The Duke of Westminster? Just picture an ant looking at the Sierra Blanca mountain range in south central Colorado, a seven thousand foot rise.

Moving on to number 17 Grosvenor Crescent we notice it's the address of the Embassy of Belgium in the United Kingdom. I notice many expensive jewelers holding leases in Grosvenor commercial buildings in the many nations where The Duke operates. This leads me to think, he being as crafty as he is, that he may be taking a toll on all the diamonds sold to public buyers, in terms of the diamonds themselves and not only through lease payments made to him. Belgium has long been the world's leading diamond processing country. In fact, at 20 Hanover Square in the Mayfair area (Grosvenor holding) there's a---Grosvenor Diamonds Limited. The Duchess of Westminster owns a collection of diamond and ruby tiaras that few jewelers can even conceive of, and the rubies are many times rarer than the diamonds! (Balancing prices however is that far fewer people are seeking rubies).

Rue De La Republique in Lyon France---where Grosvenor Fund Management bought a lengthy holding of retail outlets on both sides of an important street in a top French city---

Grosvenor Hotel in Paris at 69 Boulevard Haussmann---

http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-486373/Billionaire-Duke-Westminster-sparks-protest-Paris-flea-markets-70-rent-rises.html

In The Daily Mail (London) of October 8, 2007, we find, "Billionaire Duke of Westminster Sparks Protest in Paris Flea Markets With 70% Rent Rises" at the World Antiques Fair, specifically, the Serpette and Paul-Bert sections of the market bought by Grosvenor Continental Europe. Just squeeze the small folks harder, Duke! "Seize" and "absorb" wealth from your peasant serfs! Carry on like a member of the "PILL-GRAMS!" World making kingpins like the Duke know how to put the screws to the small folks! Gerald sez, "I'll Pilgrimize everyone I come into contact with!"

Burlov Shopping Centre with 70 tenants (Grosvenor Stockholm, Sweden) ---

Haninge Shopping Centre (Grosvenor Stockholm, Sweden) ---

Vasby Shopping Centre (Grosvenor Stockholm, Sweden) ---

Balstra Centrum (Grosvenor Stockholm, Sweden) ---

Skarholmen Shopping Centre (Grosvenor Stockholm, Sweden) ---

An item dated February 2015 announced that the Grosvenor Fund Management and we read---

"Grosvenor Fund Management (GFM) has acquired a high street retail unit at 22 Via Torino, Milan, Italy, from a Fund managed by an institutional SGR, on behalf of Urban Retail V. The acquisition is the second for the fund, following the acquisition of a high street retail portfolio on London's Kensington High Street earlier this month. The property also benefits from a geothermal energy production system, rather than traditional methods of heating and cooling, making it a highly sustainable and cost-efficient building for tenants. Urban Retail V is Grosvenor's fifth high street retail investment vehicle and focuses on core cities in UK, France, Belgium, Sweden, Finland, Denmark, Italy and Spain. The vehicle is capitalized by The Grosvenor Group."

The Italian complex features a high-end jeweler---

Grosvenor Place at 225 George Street, Sydney, Australia ---Silver suppressor Barclays Bank has a major branch in this tower---

Grosvenor Executive Apartments in Melbourne, Australia---"He is a major owner in downtown Melbourne." http://www.wealthandwant.com/themes/underpop/duke_westminst

er

An earlier Duke of Westminster owned 17 Rolls Royce's. Gerald's risk of being without transportation can't be mathematically figured as to the number of zeros behind a decimal point---it's a transcendental number like "pi." The earlier Duke we're referring to was Hugh Richard Arthur Grosvenor The 2nd Duke of Westminster (1879-1953) who according to Wiki "was a British landowner and one of the wealthiest men in the world" and had "a private train built to facilitate travel from Eaton Hall directly into London where his townhouse Grosvenor House was located. Grosvenor House was later leased to The United States for use as the American Embassy" and he was "a man who enjoyed hiding diamonds under the pillow of his mistresses." Hugh wasn't Gerald's grandfather. It's a long, twisted story as to how Gerald inherited the Dukedom of mentioned on page 31 of "The Pilgrims of Great Britain" (2002, short run book). Gerald's son Hugh is named in memory of the earlier Hugh Grosvenor---

Gerald rides only in luxury cars---

http://www.luxurytraveler.com/grosvenor_house_art_and_antiques

"This year the Grosvenor House Art & Antiques Fair celebrates its 75th anniversary and will be held in the Great Room of Grosvenor House on London's Park Lane from 11–17 June 2009. Founded in 1934 the Fair remains the finest art and antiques fair in the UK due to its constant commitment to showcasing the best dealers and the most beautiful objects, all of which are for sale and are strictly vetted for quality and authenticity and exhibited in a magnificent setting. The Royal Charity Gala Evening has long been one of the highlights of the Grosvenor House Art & Antiques Fair. This glittering event regularly attracts an A-list crowd of the rich and famous. The Fair is delighted that Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Cornwall, president of this year's charity, will attend the Gala Private View. The Fair showcases an extraordinary range of artifacts. Furniture, paintings, jewellery and more are offered for sale by 90 of the top art and antique dealers in the world."

Typical platinum, diamond & ruby item at GHAA Fair---

Ivana Trump, The Donald's ex wife, has attended the Grosvenor House Art & Antiques Fair. There is also this---

Historically, besides colossal land ownership and near boundless rents received therefrom, what other channels of wealth added to the hulking dimensions of the Himalayan size Grosvenor fortune? We won't engage in a lengthy research besides noting info from the year 1782 regarding a large (729 tons) ocean going merchant ship, The Grosvenor, which had a route between English ports and Madras, India. The Grosvenor had a charter with the British East India Company, whose major profit item was---OPIUM. The British East India Company

The Grosvenor site shows a timeline and one of the highlights is in 1381 AD, the Peasants Revolt. Naturally the Grosvenors have hordes of peasants today to lord over with their blinding wealth and shattering influence. 1605 AD is of interest to the Grosvenors as they mention the "Gunpowder Plot," in which "Guy Fawkes and other Roman Catholic conspirators fail in attempt to blow up Parliament and James I." In January 1605, Fawkes and his co-conspirators against the Crown and against his Church of England, were tortured and executed by hanging, drawing and quartering, which involved removal of body parts while still living, and watching those parts being torch burned in front of them. Does this suggest a Jesuit controlled London? No it does NOT and I conclude the British establishment has been paying tale bearers to popularize this fantasy of Vatican control to draw attention away from the actions of these Dukes, Earls, Viscounts, Marquesses, Lords, Baronets, Sirs ad nauseam against the world. I have reviewed the connections, especially the Dukes of Norfolk, and conclude some Pilgrims members have a foot in both camps, and mutual penetration efforts exist, with the British at all times holding the vastly decisive whip hand over the Catholics, who never give up. These are two separate competing empires, folks, with a touch of overlap! Next in the Grosvenor timeline they show the year 1707 and "The Act of Union, which unites the kingdoms of England and Scotland and transfers the seat of Scottish government to London." These Grosvenors, among the largest landowners in Scotland and owners of major buildings there, are Royal family associates, and definitely have sentiments contrary to Scottish independence. Next they mention 1715 to 1746 when a major Scottish rebellion took place and its defeat at Culloden by the Duke of Cumberland. Connected to the history of an earlier Duke of Cumberland is the historically famous deep blue Wittelsbach Diamond, acquired several years ago by billionaire London diamond dealer Laurence Graff, a highly likely member of The Pilgrims London. Graff majors in huge high grade diamonds. The Pilgrims London 1940 roster shows a Graff on the organization's executive committee---too coincidental that the supersize jeweler in London now reckoned to be worth $5 billion isn't related to him---

CLARENCE GRAFF

In The Economist (London) of January 18, 1919, page 99, Clarence Graff was quoted---

"London will always be the financial center of the world, but there are many ways in which Chicago, New York and London bankers can cooperate."

Right-O, Pilgrims Society bankers cooperate to suppress silver prices first, and gold prices as a priority of secondary urgency.

Sir Richard Grosvenor (1585 to 1645) had as his topmost concern "to root out the "evil of popery."

You thought we were finished with the building review! Not hardly! Gerald collects residential and commercial buildings like boys collect toys.

Grosvenor House Dubai in the ultra-prosperous United Arab Emirates actually consists of Tower One & Tower Two, both 690 feet and encompass 2,435,000 square feet of high cost rental space--for example, a one bedroom apartment goes for USD equivalent of $68,075 per annum (as this is written, with a Dirham to dollar exchange rate of .2723 to the dollar) ---money is needed you see for lollipops for Gerald Grosvenors progeny---

Night view & has high speed elevators---

The Duke of Westminster & the King of Bahrain ---

Gerald of The Pilgrims with other wealthy Bahrain officials---

Gerald with unidentified Saudi official discussing the site Of a planned Grosvenor mega-development skyscraper---

Grosvenor Business Tower in Dubai---tenants include United Arab Bank, Access Medical and many others in many sectors including pricey diamonds---

Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor with the King of Bahrain---

Grosvenor Casinos, with 57 locations, is owned by The Rank Group, with the prestigious Grosvenor name licensed to them---Mister Gerald very likely is a heavy holder of Rank Group stock---

Southampton, England site---

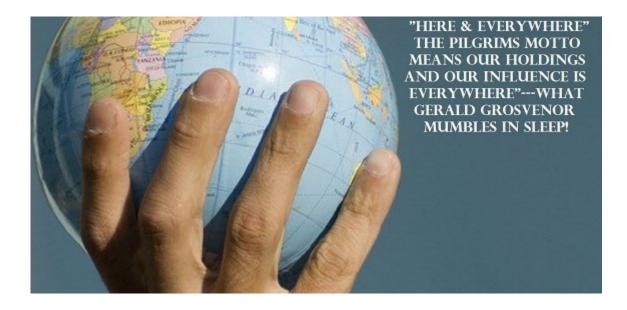

Huddersfield (England) site---

Number 10 Grosvenor Street is the headquarters of Grosvenor Fund Management ---

"PILL-GRAMS"

The Grosvenor Funds, possibly not (??) directly connected to The Duke of Westminster, is located at 888 Seventeenth Street NW in DC which has four partners, at least two of which are potential members of The Pilgrims. Names can't be copyrighted, but it's some stretch figuring there's no connection to The Duke and note the heraldic symbol---

GCM Grosvenor (Grosvenor Capital Management) was founded in 1971 and recent figures are that it has $50.5 billion (fifty and one– half billion) assets under management in USD terms "GCM Grosvenor is one of the world's largest and most diversified independent alternative asset management firms. We offer comprehensive public and private markets solutions, providing clients with a broad suite of investment and advisory choices that span hedge funds, private equity, infrastructure and real estate. We specialize in developing customized investment programs tailored to each client's specific investment goals. Our global client base includes public and private pensions, sovereign wealth entities, banks, corporations, insurance companies, charitable organizations, endowments and high net worth individuals." GCM Grosvenor has no apparent direct link to Gerald Grosvenor. However, an entity as large as this is seemingly unavoidably associated in some way---time is a hurdle to digging deeper. Limited bios of directors show the expected connections to other financial powerhouse entities like Goldman Sachs, and connections to Pilgrims Society family names such as Seward, tracing to the Secretary of State who bought Alaska from Russia in 1867.

Number 9941 Grosvenor Pointe Circle in Windemere, Florida, a luxury residence, recently sold for $3,640,000. This is in a swath of high priced houses. It's unclear who the developer is. If other than Grosvenor Group, we may wonder if some consideration was paid for the fabled name. The same may be true of large interests such as the Hilton Grosvenor Hotel in Glasgow. Next we resume with interests certified to be those pertaining directly to The Duke of Westminster---

Grosvenor Shopping Centre at Macclesfield, England---

Grosvenor Shopping Centre at Chester, England---

Ceiling view of the boundlessly opulent Grosvenor Chapel in London at 24 South Audley Street in the City of Westminster---

Unafraid to Reason. Unashamed to Adore

Monument to Sir Robert Grosvenor (1767 to 1845) who became the first Marquess of Westminster in 1831---this is at Number 1 Grosvenor Crescent---

There's a Grosvenor International office in Luxembourg at 46 John F. Kennedy Avenue---

On the matter of some Grosvenor relatives---

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chatsworth_House "Chatsworth House is a stately home in Derbyshire, England. It is in the Derbyshire Dales, about 3.5 miles (5.6 km) north-east of Bakewell and 9 miles (14 km) west of Chesterfield It is the seat of the Duke of Devonshire and has been home to the Cavendish family since 1549." There are 297 rooms and a staff of 500, plus art masterpieces by Raphael, Van Dyck and Rembrandt ---this is owned by the Duke of Devonshire, a relative of Gerald Grosvenor. He also is almost certainly a Pilgrims member and is another recognized billionaire---

The Duke of Devonshire quite naturally labeled an "aristocrat" by this source (The Daily Mail) "has a string of properties including Lismore Castle, in Ireland. He is also chancellor of the University of Derby, a director of Sotheby's and chairman of Ascot. The Devonshire dukedom was created in 1694 and became one of Britain's most colourful and influential families, with political heavyweights spanning the centuries." 1694 was the year the Bank of England was founded. Connection---absolutely, and we mentioned it in the opening stretch (first 664 words) of this research documentary.

"Pilgrims and Pioneers" (1946) by Sir Harry Brittain, an organizer of The Pilgrims in 1902–1903, pages 228 and 229 also mentions the Duke of Devonshire (reference year 1920) who was British Governor General of Canada. In "War Plotters of Wall Street" by Charles P. Collman (1915, rare volume which pointed the correct finger of accusation at The Pilgrims Society for plotting to cause World War One), we find on page 55–––

"LONDON PLUTOCRATS WHO OWN CANADA HAVE NO MERCY."

Among the numberless Cavendish family treasures is an exceptionally high grade Columbian emerald of 1,383.93 carats. That's only what's public knowledge. What else is in this treasure trove looted from the world? Wealth accumulation isn't wrong; methods used by the British were based on force---

More Wealth Flowing to The Duke of Westminster---Video related to The Duke's agricultural interests---start at 4:45 he mentions holdings in Spain. He owns shopping centers in Spain and Portugal. He has a landholding in Spain called "La Garganta," the throat. Yes, a measurable fraction of the world's wealth disappears down the Grosvenor family throats, and add in the rest of The Pilgrims organization in London and Manhattan, and the percent becomes shockingly scandalous. If air were distributed like wealth, Pilgrims Society members would be living in a wind tunnel and all the world's small folks, including what's left of the beleaguered middle class, would be living in a near vacuum. Most likely Mister Gerald has his regiment of planners reviewing wind generated electrical power as well. Located in the Castilla La Mancha region of south central Spain, the property contains over 19,000 olive producing trees and over 34,000 cork producing trees, plus a large area for growing grain. Forbes says the holding is 32,000 acres.

As of 2014, Grosvenor Group was looking into investments in residential and mixed use real estate in Madrid and Barcelona, Spain. Collectively, both branches of The Pilgrims Society have made astonishing strides towards becoming literally the world' central landowning committee.

Gerald Grosvenor and the other inner circle Pilgrims Society members---Mellons, Rockefellers, Windsors, Rothschilds, Astors and several others---are clutching at the globe with strangling tentacles, seizing, absorbing, expropriating wealth while the small folks struggle to survive, and drawn off by false hope radiated towards them by political contenders who are all in the grip of The World Money Power---while maintaining facial expressions like that of an effervescent goblin---

http://www.wealthandwant.com/themes/underpop/duke_westminst er.htm ---

"Is it any wonder that, given how there is little or no land value taxation, the duke has all his many eggs in the land investment basket? But it's not just for economic considerations that he could never contemplate selling his vast acreage, for he has a philosophical reason for not selling. (Have a bucket ready before reading the following!) "This is part of my heritage, my birthright. It is not to do with anything materialistic, but is deeply ingrained."

Yet that is definitely no longer applicable, that real estate is Gerald's sole focus. The following will abundantly prove this contention!

"Investing in food, water and energy businesses for future generations" is the slogan of The Duke's Wheatsheaf Group, which says of itself---

"Wheatsheaf was set up by the Grosvenor Estate in 2012 to invest into food, energy and water security. Today, we have a growing portfolio focused on selected themes, all of which are tackling resource efficiency challenges. Changing patterns of consumption have put pressure on our planet's resources, and these pressures are increasing. Long-term solutions will need to be commercially viable, which is where Wheatsheaf Group is looking to invest. We seek effective long-term commercial solutions aligned to our investment strategy. We are a forward-thinking business drawing on centuries of experience within the wider Grosvenor group."

They're saying they have just as much interest in taking tolls off feeding the world as in receiving monthly tribute from an almost inconceivable number of renters, leasers, store operators, and retail patrons of their enormous interests. We wonder what relationships Gerald Grosvenor may have with large building contractors, steelmakers, electrical wiring interests, concrete and so forth. As you read on you'll see some of these matters answered to some extent.

Wheatsheaf has activities in genetic "progress" in beef, fish and sheep, "increasing efficiency in the animal protein chain" with a particular emphasis on fish and "innovation in plant breeding and fertilizer science" (sounds like Monsanto) and "increasing sophistication in genetic analysis" of meat animals and "to recover, recycle and reuse resources from waste." Wheatsheaf is moving into the energy production and management sphere and says---

"We believe that managing energy demand through the development of energy–efficient technologies is of primary significance. We also believe that a shift from central energy generation to distributed energy generation will be essential. It is well documented that a unit of energy saved at the consumer level translates into much bigger energy savings at the source level. As a result, there is increasing demand for a wide spectrum of energy efficiency technologies for industrial and residential buildings. These include insulation, smart appliances, and building energy management software – all of which reduce consumption whilst helping to reduce carbon emissions. Small–scale, local integrated power generation – such as combined heat and power, solar or hydro projects – that can be installed for commercial and residential customers will provide much of the solution to uncertainty around power supply, and will help to mitigate against rising fuel costs. New power grids will need to manage both the delivery and receipt of power generated by consumers, and will need to be capable of meeting demand at all times regardless of such input."

How much of the world electricity market does this inner circle Pilgrims Society member intend to "seize" and "absorb?" Wheatsheaf says their portfolio of companies consists of---

AKVA Group---Benchmark Holdings---BluWrap--- Cogent Breeding---David Ball Group---Enterra Feed---Farm Wizard---Gilkes Energy---Grosvenor Farms---Grosvenor Green Energy---Imperial Innovations---Ostara---Tatra Forest---XPV Capital Corporation---and Zouk Capital LLP.

Of AKVA Group we read---

"In February 2015, Wheatsheaf invested in AKVA, the market leading supplier of equipment and services to the global aquaculture industry. AKVA has been a leading innovator in aquaculture equipment for over 40 years and was the first company to market plastic cages and central feeding systems that are now the industry standard in modern efficient production of farmed salmon. AKVA supplies a broad suite of equipment (cages, cameras, sensors, feeders and barges) and software to sea-based and on-land

recirculating farm systems around the world and across multiple

fish species. Aquaculture production volume has grown faster than any other meat protein over the last 40 years yet it is still an industry in its infancy. The farmed salmon industry is the most mature amongst farmed species yet by volume it is only 4% of global annual aquaculture production. AKVA's offering will help not only the salmon industry to continue to improve its efficiency but also enable the development of sustainable farming systems for many other species around the globe. 800% more edible meat is produced from a salmon farm than a beef ranch per tonne of feed."

Want some salmon for supper? Sure, just buy some from this Pilgrims Society member who like so many others, has his wealth "seizing" hands in your pockets! Of Benchmark Holdings we read---

Benchmark Holdings was formed in 2000 to develop solutions for animal health, food, agriculture and aquaculture businesses. Wheatsheaf originally invested into Benchmark in 2013, sharing in the company's vision about the need to build profitable businesses based upon the growing need to create a sustainable future for global food production. Benchmark's activities include diagnostic services related to fish health, animal vaccines and treatments, salmon genetics and consulting work on sustainable farming, which it supports through online news, information and training products on different types of agriculture. 500 million salmon per year are saved with Benchmark's sea lice treatment."

This is a whiff of Monsanto! While The Pilgrims New York has Monsanto, The Pilgrims London has counterparts to it!

Of BluWrap we read---

"In October 2014, Wheatsheaf invested in BluWrap, a fresh food logistics company headquartered in San Francisco with operations in Chile. BluWrap uses fuel cell technology to create and maintain a minimal oxygen atmosphere that extends the shelf life of fresh proteins. This breakthrough technology allows suppliers of fresh protein products to ship by ocean rather than air freight whilst still delivering fresh, high quality products to customers. The twin benefit of reduced costs and a significant reduction in the carbon footprint offers a compelling proposition. 99% reduction of CO2 emissions using BluWrap technology compared to the costly alternative of air freight."

And---

"We're extremely excited that Wheatsheaf has seen the potential in BluWrap's technology to challenge the status quo in the fresh protein logistics supply chain and reduce the its harmful impact on our environment. Wheatsheaf's goal of investing in and developing businesses that will contribute solutions towards meeting the growing global demand for food, water and energy in the face of a rapidly changing world population, is perfectly in line with BluWrap's vision of revolutionizing the way fresh proteins are transported around the world."

Of Cogent Breeding we read---

Cogent Breeding was founded by the Grosvenor Estate in 1995, and has grown to become the UK's largest bull stud. Cogent is the leading exponent of sexed semen technology, exporting products to more than 40 countries around the world. Through its breeding programmes, the application of its pioneering sexed semen technology and its complete fertility management service, Cogent specializes in improving the efficiency of dairy and beef production systems."

Of the David Ball Group we read---

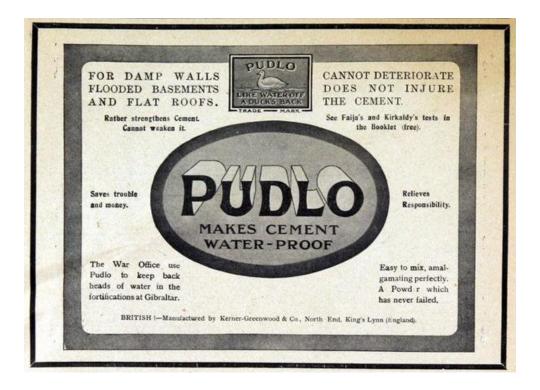

"In February 2015, Wheatsheaf invested into David Ball Group, a leading and innovative UK based manufacturer and supplier of cement admixture products and ultra-low carbon, cement free concrete. 5 to 7% of all manmade CO2 emissions is generated by use of Portland cement. David Ball Group, based in Cambridge in the UK, has a 130 year legacy of materials innovation dedicated to the advancement of quality, sustainability and performance in the construction industry. Its PUDLO product is a technically advanced concrete waterproofing system. The company's new product, CEMFREE, is a ground breaking cement replacement technology enabling the production of structural concrete without the need for Portland cement, a constituent of traditional concrete."

Will "His Grace" The Duke of Westminster, Pilgrims Society inner circle member, become the worldwide kingpin of concrete for construction?

They've been selling this product for decades---

Of Enterra Feed, a Wheatsheaf holding, we read this---

"In September 2014, Wheatsheaf invested in Enterra Feed Corporation, a British Columbia-based company that has developed a process that imitates nature to transform high-nutrient, preconsumer food waste into protein, natural oil and fertilizer. Enterra's proprietary bio-conversion process uses larvae of the Black Soldier Fly to recycle nutrients from pre-consumer food waste. This organic waste, diverted from food retailers, distributors and processors, would otherwise be lost to landfills or used in composting operations, with considerable loss in complex food nutrients. The fully grown larvae are harvested and processed into high-value protein and oils which are proven substitutes for resource-intensive feed ingredients, such as fishmeal, poultry meal and soybean meal. The bio-conversion process also creates an Brad Marchant, CEO of Enterra, added---

Enterra has developed game-changing technology for world food supply. With the recent investment by Wheatsheaf, Enterra is now ramping up production capacity at its new Langley farm operation near Vancouver, with production expected to reach 100 tonnes of food waste processed daily. In cooperation with Wheatsheaf we are now considering a further expansion at the Langley site in 2015 as well as joint venture opportunities in Canada, the US and Europe."

Of the black soldier fly, Enterra boasts ---

"The black soldier fly (BSF), or Hermetia illucens, is a local beneficial insect that can be found all over North America and around the world. The adult black soldier fly does not eat, sting or bite — which means it's not a pest or a vector for disease. All it does as an adult is mate and reproduce. The females lay eggs that hatch into larvae which naturally feed on decaying organic matter. BSF larvae are voracious eaters as they need to store enough energy to sustain the entire adult stage of their lifecycle. At Enterra, we feed pre-consumer waste food to BSF larvae under controlled conditions. These indigenous insects then do what comes naturally – they rapidly transform the waste nutrients into protein and fat. After a 14–day feeding cycle, the larvae are harvested and processed into sustainable animal feed ingredients. The larvae also produce an organic natural fertilizer that is rich in nutrients and beneficial microbes."

666"PILL–GRAMS"666

Is The Duke of Westminster trying to "out-Monsanto," Monsanto? The 1973 sci-fi film of the future, "Soylent Green" starring Chuck Connors and Charlton Heston, was about the government solving the food crisis by processing newly deceased folks into "feed" for the masses--- World citizens, eat your kibble!

Of Farm Wizard we read---

"In February 2015, Wheatsheaf invested in Farm Wizard, a webbased livestock management business headquartered in Belfast. Farm Wizard is the leading provider of agricultural cloud-based software for the effective management of farm resources. Software platforms and mobile apps have been developed for beef, dairy and sheep farmers which seek to drive efficiency and enhance value through improved information flow. The combination of Cogent, as the UK's largest bull stud and leading exponent of sexed semen, and Farm Wizard's leading software, will facilitate the development of increasingly compelling products and services to improve the efficiency of dairy and beef production systems." Terry Canning, managing director of Farm Wizard, whose system is now managing over two million farm animals, adds---

"Wheatsheaf has a clear vision for how technology is going to help feed the world's growing population and I am delighted that Farm Wizard is going to play a part making that a reality."

http://www.farmwizard.co.uk/

On Gilkes Energy we find this---

"Gilbert Gilkes & Gordon Ltd has been supplying turbines to generate energy from water since 1853, and Wheatsheaf invested into their hydro-development business in 2012. Gilkes Energy was formed to help clients develop and finance hydro projects and to focus on joint ventures with landowners. To date, Gilkes Energy has helped many landowners fund and develop hydro projects, ranging from 500kW to 2MW. In 1895, Gilbert Gilkes & Gordon provided a turbine to Queen Victoria to provide light at Balmoral Castle. The Grosvenor Estate also has history of hydro-electric schemes, with its earliest turbine installed on the Reay Forest Estate in Scotland in the 1920s."

Grosvenor's approximately 100,000 acre estate in Scotland "contains no less than three mountains." More like, big hills of several thousand feet in altitude.

http://www.gilkesenergy.com/

Their HQ is in Glasgow---

We read this about Wheatsheaf's holding, Grosvenor Farms---"Formed in 1974 and covering 6,000 acres in Cheshire, Grosvenor Farms is one of the largest farms in the UK. It is home to 1,400 dairy cows and grows 4,500 acres of arable crops. New state of the art dairy facilities opened in November 2014 incorporating the best animal health and welfare technology and standards. The farm aims to be in the top 1% of most efficient milk producers in the UK. 16 million litres of milk are produced each year by the farm."

However a story, "Dairy Duke's Cows Never See Daylight" remarked---

"The Duke of Westminster has sparked controversy by setting up an American-style "super-mechanized" farm where dairy cows are kept indoors 24 hours a day, 52 weeks a year. The multimillion-pound "zero-grazing" dairy unit was opened at Grosvenor Farms — Tesco's largest UK milk supplier — near the duke's Eaton Hall stately home in Cheshire, last month. Up to 800 of his 1,400-strong herd live in two large sheds with individual sleeping cubicles 14ft by 4ft. They never go out to graze and are milked on a circular, rotating walkon, walk-off platform. Animal welfare groups, campaigning against an increase in large American-style mechanized farms in the UK, criticized the move, claiming it was "cruel" and harmful to the cows' health."

Since The Duke aims to squeeze every scintilla of profit from his breathtakingly vast holdings, we may assume that his dairy herd is being "juiced" with bovine growth hormone. Naturally he and his family will be drinking all natural milk from cows that graze on nonchemical sprayed grass. Toxins are for the serfs, churls and common folk! Veterinary administration of these hormones literally causes cows to be or sense pregnancy so they can generate more milk and do it for ten out of twelve months! These carry over and cause health issues in humans, enriching Big Hospitals and Big Pharma controlled by Pilgrims Society members. Absolutely the conspiracy against the public health and wealth is that profound. If you can't avoid these added hormones, consider taking calcium Dglucarate daily for detoxification.

Of Grosvenor Green Energy the Wheatsheaf site says---"Grosvenor Green Energy is a holding company for the Grosvenor Estate's hydro-electric energy generation assets. The Grosvenor Estate has been generating electricity from a single Gilkes hydro power for more than 90 years, and indeed provides electricity for the village of Kylestrome in Scotland through its scheme on the Reay Forest estate. 90+ years of generating hydro power from a single Gilkes turbine."

Imperial Innovations, another Wheatsheaf holding, says this---

"Imperial Innovations Group plc creates, builds and invests in pioneering technologies developed from the academic research within the 'Golden Triangle' of London, Cambridge and Oxford as well as other leading research institutions. Imperial Innovations supports scientists and entrepreneurs in the commercialization of their ideas through the licensing of intellectual property by--leading the formation of new companies---providing investment and encouraging co-investment and recruiting high caliber management teams. 1,400,000,000 pounds sterling research funding received each year by the universities we focus on (Imperial, Oxford, Cambridge and University College of London.)"

This is more confirmation that super capitalists, the monopolistic variety, have entire battalions of kept scientists and researchers finding new processes and creating new devices and modalities, which are then patented for income accrual to their overlords like Gerald Grosvenor. This they admit though less bluntly---

"We are a technology commercialization company, combining the activities of technology transfer, intellectual property licensing and protection, company incubation and investment. We are focused on the commercialization of the most promising opportunities from a broad range of technology sectors, with particular expertise in therapeutics, medtech, engineering & materials and ICT."

Apparently the devil's own potions---pharmaceuticals---are high atop their priority scale.

Their notion of innovation---

Ostara is another Wheatsheaf holding and like Enterra Feed, is based in Vancouver Canada---

"In April 2013, Wheatsheaf invested in Ostara, a Vancouver–based nutrient recovery business. Phosphorus is essential to life and a finite global resource--- predicted pressures on its future supply is a worrying trend. Ostara has developed a process to recover phosphorus from waste water. It turns this recovered phosphorus into a slow-release fertilizer that is more efficient and less polluting than mainstream alternatives. The company's proprietary technology is called the Pearl® Process, recovering otherwise polluting nutrients, phosphorus and nitrogen, from municipal and industrial water streams. Its transformation into a slow release, ecofriendly fertilizer is marketed as Crystal Green®. The process helps wastewater treatment plants reduce treatment costs and meet increasingly stringent discharge limits, while Crystal Green's efficient Plant-Activated™ mode-of-action improves crop yield using less nutrients."

Ostara's CEO added---

"Ostara shares the Wheatsheaf vision as an organization committed to changing the way we think and act upon energy, water and resource sustainability."

"From the sewer to the farm, via Ostara" says this link.

This word Ostara is an olden "wiccan" or druid word meaning ancient spring festivals.

Tatra Forest holding of Wheatsheaf has this description ---

"In 2012, Wheatsheaf invested into Tatra, located in Northern Slovakia. Tatra is an organic farm focused on the production of milk, cheese and herbs – both culinary and medicinal. It also operates a ground-breaking composting operation. Through good ecological management involving the use of manure, composting, appropriate crop rotation and proper cultivation, the original micro-organic life is returning to Tatra's soil. As a consequence, Tatra is achieving yields comparable to conventional farming. 2.1 million litres of organic milk exported by Tatra per year."

Organic? Are we certain? What about bovine growth hormones (and other concerns) like how can Gerald Grosvenor possibly be trusted?

The figurehead CEO, Lubomir Kruzliak, completely under Gerald Grosvenor's huge thumb, adds--- "I never believed that nature has such an amazing regenerative ability. Even after decades of it being harmed by herbicides, pesticides and insecticides, in less than five years, we managed to bring it back to its original state with the help of Wheatsheaf. Thanks to this experience I believe that it is not too late to build a healthy and sustainable agriculture."

XPV Capital Corporation, still another Wheatsheaf holding, features this intro---

"Grosvenor Estate invested into XPV Capital in 2014 and Wheatsheaf manages this investment on behalf of the Grosvenor Estate. The Canadian investment company partners with emerging water companies around the world, investing in technologies or waterrelated businesses that address ways in which we produce, manage and use water. In addition to traditional applications, water technologies and innovations can improve a wide variety of processes, such as semi-conductor manufacturing, heating and cooling of buildings, oil and gas production, food processing and many others. 200 million litres of water needed per second to grow food for the planet."

Sure, Gerald Grosvenor is interested in agriculture, but how does he balance this with his obvious military interests, seen earlier? The more people are killed in Pilgrims Society arranged conflicts, or conflicts they simply capitalize on, the fewer mouths to feed, and the less he makes from agriculture. Ahh, the dilemmas of being a member of history's runaway most powerful influence network! XPV owns investments in seven corporations.

http://www.xpvcapital.com/

XPV is at 266 King Street West in Toronto Canada---

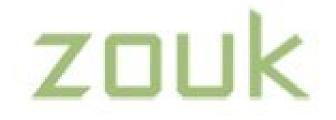

The final entity in the Wheatsheaf list of holdings is Zouk Capital Limited---

"Wheatsheaf has developed a strategic partnership with Zouk, a leading investor in European clean technology and renewable energy infrastructure. In September 2014, Zouk announced its second infrastructure fund of €220 million, dedicated to investments such as waste-to-energy, geothermal, biomass, energy storage, energy efficiency and small-scale distributed energy across Europe."

A Mr. Salty (yes) the CEO of Zouk Capital based in London with an office in Singapore, added---

"Our investment strategy facilitates the construction of renewable generative facilities by bridging the funding gap between developers and long-term final acquirers of infrastructure assets."

100 Brompton Road is Zouk HQ---

This Wheatsheaf division, a large holding company in itself, yet just a subset of the gargantuan Grosvenor interests is at 70 Grosvenor Street London---

THE CITY OF WESTMINSTER---

Let's cast a cursory glance at the City of Westminster in London, which is the namesake of Gerald Grosvenor, the Duke of Westminster. No, he isn't the sole landowner. He's absolutely the extremely dominant landowner in the Mayfair and Belgravia subdistricts of the City of Westminster, which itself slightly pre-dates the Norman conquest of England in AD 1066. It's very likely that in this region there are up to a few dozen other members of The Pilgrims, and some of them may be Gerald's lieutenants. What Gerald doesn't own is likely dominated by a garish assortment of other Pilgrims Society members, all with freakish influence, though well below his size, possibly excepting the Royals. The region is said to have 233,292 residents as of 2014. Map shows greater metropolitan London and in red, the City of Westminster, which is governed by a city council. It actually has 32 sub-districts---

"The City of Westminster is home to a large number of companies. Many leading global corporations have chosen to establish their global or European headquarters in the City of Westminster. Mayfair and St. James's within the City of Westminster also have a large concentration of hedge fund and private equity funds."

Victoria Street in the City of Westminster is partially within The Duke's holdings.

"In his tract of Mayfair, land values are in the stratosphere."

Some of the well known names with top or subsidiary HQ's in Westminster include---British Broadcasting Corporation---British Petroleum---Rio Tinto Group (RTZ) ---Rolls Royce---Northrop Grumman---Economist Group---British American Tobacco--- Korean Airlines---Astra Zeneca Pharmaceuticals (world HQ) and others. Number 10 Downing Street, executive seat of the British Government, is in the City of Westminster. I wonder if in some instances Gerald Grosvenor informs a corporate tenant of his like Astra Zeneca, that he wants stock options on their shares in lieu of a certain amount of lease payments.

10 DOWNING STREET

City of Westminster

It allegedly means "Lord watch over the city"---

City of Westminster College has around 7,000 students---

The University of Westminster, tracing to 1838, has about 25,000 students---

In a review of The City of Westminster, we should mention the world famous Westminster Abbey. In the year 1245 AD, on orders of King Henry III of England, construction began of what became the modern building. However, religious services transpired here long before then, as both King Harold II, the last Saxon King of England, and his successor who defeated him at the Battle of Hastings, in 1066 AD, William the Conqueror, had their coronation ceremonies on this site. Since the year 1100, sixteen Royal marriages profoundly affecting medieval and modern history, have taken place on this fabled site. Until Henry VIII imposed direct Royal control in AD 1539, this was a Roman Catholic managed church. Under Queen Mary I of England (reign 1553–1558), Catholic control was briefly restored and she was nicknamed "Bloody Mary" for her executions of Protestants. At least 283 victims are known to have been burned alive due to her orders in sympathy with the Pope of Rome! Yes, this is the origin of the term for a particular alcoholic drink! The burning deaths included Thomas Cranmer, Archbishop of Canterbury, who had been forced to watch his associates roasted to cinders in Queen Mary's screaming human bonfires. Over 800 high profile Protestants chose exile to execution under her Heresy Act. It was ironic that she restored Catholic control, as the Vatican's all time historical arch-opponent, King Henry VIII was her father, but her mother was Catherine of Aragon, from Catholic Spain. She died in 1558 allegedly of influenza before her 43rd birthday though rumors of poisoning have persisted for centuries. Immediately upon her death, the Monarchy reverted to Protestant Anglicanism, and in the past 457 years, hasn't been derailed off that course for a split second. I am of the opinion that her death was by poisoning and not by natural causes, though you can guess who'd have a motive to make it seem natural.

Today, the Reverend John R. Hall, Anglican Dean of Westminster Abbey, being among the highest officials of the Church of England, I regard as almost certainly a member of The Pilgrims Society London. Previously he supervised over 5,000 (five thousand) Church of England affiliated educational institutions. Westminster Abbey, easily among the world's most magnificent buildings, contains a memorial to Hugh Grosvenor, an earlier Duke of Westminster.

In the city of Chester, England, founded in 1541, which is one of the Grosvenor strongholds away from London, there's a Grosvenor Club built during 1881–1883---

Also in Chester we notice the Grosvenor Rowing Club (founded 1869) apparently as a gesture of fake benevolence towards the small folks (possibly family employees) ---we see mention of "clerks and assistants"---

There's a Grosvenor Rugby Club founded in 1953 in Ulster, Northern Ireland. It appears to be for ordinary souls, but the name shows how widespread the family influence is--- http://www.grosvenor-contracts.co.uk/ ---

At Kettering in Northamptonshire England---car leasing, fleet management, business and government fleets. I don't know if The Duke owns it or holds an interest, or if it's just another knock-off on his historic title---

Lots of major London addresses are in areas The Duke owns or has name association with him. We'll review an abbreviated list starting below. Note the difference between Grosvenor Place and Grosvenor Street.

Number 1–5 Grosvenor Place is the immense showpiece structure in the Belgravia district of central London---

1-5 (One To Five) Grosvenor Place in London, other view (large hotel) ---

11 Grosvenor Place has companies active in satellite communications, capital investments, fund and asset management, commodities trading, food production, neuroscience telemedicine, unreported other, and the King Saud Foundation has an office there---

Number 33 Grosvenor Place---

33 Grosvenor Place is now the London address of the Cleveland Clinic (founded 1921). Their site returned 133 hits for the term "vaccine." A current Cleveland Clinic trustee who is a prospective member of The Pilgrims is William R. Timken Jr., former Ambassador to the Federal Republic of Germany, interests in major industrial Timken Company---

This sprawling, outsized building contains entities dealing in securities, holding companies, building construction contractors, petroleum, wind power generation, banking, natural gas, unspecified---

Number 6 Grosvenor Street London has offices for fund management, investments, film making, insurance, and unclassified---

The Daily Mail (London), May 27, 2015, reported a judge ordering 40 squatters to leave the historic building at number 16 Grosvenor Street, having entered before a renovation was to start. Two of the evictees held up a large sign reading "No more deaths on our streets."

21–22 Grosvenor Street---Samena Capital Management and Baer Capital Partners have offices here. SAMENA stands for "the Indian Subcontinent, Asia, Middle East and North Africa – a region collectively known as SAMENA." The investment firm is said to have only 48 shareholders and to manage assets of over $800 million. Its principals include an Indian and others from Qatar, Saudi Arabia, United Arab Emirates and Oman, another Persian Gulf oil country. They have their hands in the ghastly pharmaceutical pie. Michael Baer, founder of Baer Capital Partners, is very prospective as a member of The Pilgrims---it has many investments ranging to $200 million---

Number 28 Grosvenor Street London has offices of Fresnillo Management Services (the name is suggestive of a major Mexican silver mine; even Bloomberg doesn't get specific) and others in media, retail management, unspecified "world projects," finance and unspecified---

33 Grosvenor Street---

Number 35 Grosvenor Street London--- ocean freight, finance, hospital management, supermarkets, automobile dealership management, recycling, energy, hotels, other---

Number 43 Grosvenor Street London formerly had a tenant with the name Du Pont. Other tenants show activity in finance, oil and gas, real estate, artworks, home building, golf course operations and others---

Number 46 Grosvenor Street London is the HQ of Killick & Company, which has talent from such other entities as Barclays, and deals in "investments which play to key global themes"---The Pilgrims London 1914 roster shows a member of the Speyer banking family---Bart is short for "Baronet," a title. As of that time, Edgar Speyer resided at 46 Grosvenor Street. He died in 1932 and isn't in The Pilgrims London 1924 roster. It's a long story, but in December 1921 King George V removed Speyer from membership in the Privy Council, an inner circle of top advisers to the Crown. Apparently Speyer was also at that time struck from The Pilgrims membership, and is to date the only such example of which I am aware. Edgar Speyer's British citizenship was even revoked. Mind you, the Speyers were long associated with the Rothschilds. This again suggests the Windsors are the top family in the world globalist movement and have working control over The Pilgrims Society. Yes, their landholdings, which in many cases would consist of undeveloped areas are much larger than those of Gerald Grosvenor! Speyer assisted Charles T. Yerkes, Pilgrims Society, in forming the Underground Electric Railways Company of London, which succeeded in freezing out another Pilgrims Society member, the original John Pierpont Morgan, from that piece of the action! Yerkes was a dominant figure in Chicago business and was a charter member of The Pilgrims in 1903. James Speyer, probably a nephew, was in The Pilgrims 1940.

49 Grosvenor Street is HQ for Aerium Investments, a real estate operation with over 6 billion Euros of mainland European holdings. Its CEO came from W.P. Carey & Company, a New York real estate mega-giant, though certainly much smaller than Grosvenor Group. William Polk Carey was a member of The Pilgrims Society and we describe him and the operation he ran and some associates in Silver Squelchers #14 pages 2-3 also see here.

At 50 Grosvenor Street in Mayfair is a Lloyd's Bank branch---

55 Grosvenor Street---United Utilities PLC occupies an entire floor---it has 5,300 employees and is the largest publicly traded water provider in the United Kingdom---

Barclays Private Bank has a branch at 59 Grosvenor Street in London--- It also contains offices of companies in executive search, apartment building, commodities trading, venture capital, law firms, capital investment and others---

Broadbent House London at 65 Grosvenor Street and is the HQ of Silver Lake, "the global leader in technology investing" which has execs from Morgan Stanley, Lazard & Company and so on---Silver Lake has over $26 billion in investments under management---not only is Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor in the stratosphere (or exosphere), he also rents to others who are also high in the firmament---

69 Grosvenor Street is a townhome---

73 Grosvenor Street---

Number 77 Grosvenor Street London has offices of interests based in oil wealthy Qatar and there are others such in Grosvenor buildings---The Duke has persuaded sizeable Middle Eastern investment in London, undoubtedly so the worth of his massive holdings can be propelled ever higher---

Number 84 Grosvenor Street London appears to be occupied entirely or primarily by Cerberus Capital Management, with $30 billion in assets, it owns Safeway and Albertsons among other well known business concerns---Cerberus is the mythological name of the three headed dog that guarded the gates of hell---John Snow, former U.S. Treasury Secretary, is a Cerberus official and highly likely member of The Pilgrims Society---

There's a Belgravia Residents Association in the Belgravia region, largely owned by Gerald Grosvenor---

There is also predictably, a Residents Society of Mayfair & St. James as a counterpart to the Belgravia Residents Association, and Grosvenor is easily the dominant property owner in Mayfair. Saint James is a bordering area, and he may well have fastened a grasp there also.

37-38 Upper Grosvenor Street in the Mayfair district of London is a mansion of 15,864 square feet as of April 2013 was listed at 60 million British pounds (USA equivalent ---

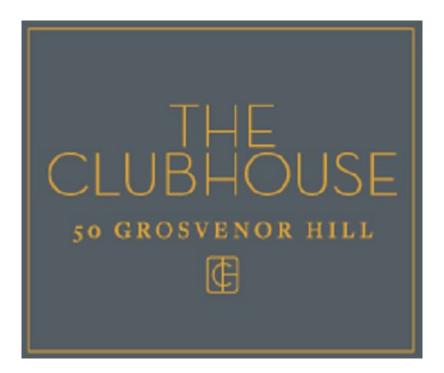

A different mansion on Upper Grosvenor Street listed for less, about $22 million in US dollar equivalent---

Number 20 Grosvenor Hill has 22,000 square feet & houses a very expensive art gallery---"Gagosian" Art Gallery, with 16 offices in 8 countries and features art by a Vanderbilt relative---

The Clubhouse London is at 50 Grosvenor Hill---

Grosvenor Court is at 99 Sloane Street in Belgravia---

Montrose Place is a subset of the Belgravia district. A "flat" there had a price of 16,750,000 pounds sterling. Grosvenor Group has a 50/50 joint venture partner called Native Land in number 10 Montrose Place of which we read---

"Immediately to the east of Belgrave Square, 10 Montrose Place is one of ultra prime London's most exclusive addresses. This discreet, contemporary development comprises 18 large lateral apartments within two blocks centered around a colonnade and reception area that look out over a private, landscaped courtyard."

Apartment number 17 at Ten Montrose Place is reckoned to be worth 24,970,000 pounds sterling. Number 14 has a price valuation of 18,898,000 pounds sterling. Number 11 has a price tag of 11,284,690 pounds sterling. Apartment 9 is 15,500,000 pounds sterling (as this is written, that's $23,725,000 in USD terms at 1.53 X). We could drag this out but you get the picture. Gerald Grosvenor doesn't deal with small-fry. This site claims that Montrose Place has a total of 55 homes, meaning that 18 are at Number 10 Montrose Place. I didn't think it looked that pricey but it is---

Bathurst House, 12 Belgrave Square---

17 Belgrave Square houses the Royal College of Psychiatrists! Founded in 1841, ask any member---investigating The Pilgrims Society and Gerald Grosvenor demonstrates "mental illness"---They work big time with Pilgrims owned Pharma companies---

Home prices here top $100 million UDS!

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Belgrave_Square ---

The Embassy of Romania has an office at 1 Belgrave Square. The Embassy of Syria is at 8 Belgrave Square. 11–A Belgrave Square is the residence of the Ambassador of Kuwait. The Embassy of Portugal is at 11–12 Belgrave Square. The High Commission of Ghana (Africa) is at 13 Belgrave Square. The Society of the Chemical Industry (silver users) is at 13–14 Belgrave Square. The Country Land & Business Association is at 16 Belgrave Square. The official residence of the Austrian Ambassador is at 18 Belgrave Square. The High Commission of Brunei is at 19–20 Belgrave Square. The German Embassy is at 21–23 Belgrave Square. The Spanish Embassy is at 24 Belgrave Square. The Royal Norwegian Embassy is at 25 Belgrave Square. 28 Belgrave Square houses the Serbian Embassy. The Embassy of Bahrain is at 30 Belgrave Square. The Caledonian Club is at the corner of Belgrave Square. 39 Belgrave Street houses the Italian Cultural Institute (please don't interpret this as meaning that "the Pope tells the Duke of Westminster what to do," Gerald is a member of the Anglican Church of England!) The Trinidad & Tobago High Commission is at 42 Belgrave Square. 43 Belgrave Square houses the Turkish Embassy. 45 Belgrave Square houses the Malaysian High Commission. The Meridian Group is at 49 Belgrave Square, and the official residence of the Ambassador of Mexico to the United Kingdom is at 48 Belgrave Square. Gerald Grosvenor (Pilgrims Society inner circle) towers like the titan he is over Belgrade Square http://www.historicengland.org.uk/listing

> Seaford House houses the Royal College of Defence Studies. It faces Belgrave Square---

30-31 Belgrave Square---

47 Belgrave Square---

49 Belgrave Square---residence of the Ambassador of Argentina to the UK---

Chester Square is another address owned by Grosvenor's holding company. It was planned in 1828 and work started in 1832. During 1940 to 1945, Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands resided at 77 Chester Square.

Number 74 Chester Square in Belgravia is listed at 23,995,000 pounds sterling---around $36 million. For that sum it's a mere 6,291 square feet! Mary Shelley, author of "Frankenstein," was once a resident at 24 Chester Square.

Chester Street, a different street from Chester Square, features this large structure at number 33---

Wilton Crescent is another street in Grosvenor's Belgravia district. A 2014 mansion sold on Wilton Crescent for 32 million pounds sterling.'

Number 12 Wilton Crescent---

Number 23 Wilton Crescent---

Number 33 Wilton Crescent---

Is this Pilgrims Society member worried about hellfire? Does he rattle before he strikes? Does he avoid relationships in which money doesn't give him the upper hand? Could he be bribed to cough up current rosters for The Pilgrims Society? No, $25,000 is only another drop in his Pacific Ocean---let's not omit to mention he owns the United Kingdom's largest bull stud operation---is he perturbed thinking about fellow Pilgrims members like the Astors and Windsors---who (IMO) both hold a larger real estate fortune than his? ---

48 Upper Grosvenor Street is priced at 16,982,000 British pounds (over $25 million USD) and features four (4) large bedrooms---

77 South Audley Street contains luxury residences---the street is of course named for Hugh Audley, who we reviewed early on in Gerald Grosvenor's profile, as being the main origin of the Grosvenor fortune of today---

The Audley Pub and restaurant at 41–43 Mount Street in Mayfair---"The Audley was established in 1730 as The Bricklayers Arms and was rebuilt in 1888 on the instructions of the Duke of Westminster, who oversaw the redevelopment and transformation of Mount Street."

130 Mount Street contains an Oscar De La Renta store---

Inside view---

The Audley Hotel

Number One Mayfair is actually located on North Audley Street. This is another in the filibuster long list of Grosvenor Group holdings---

The Beaumont Hotel in Mayfair is another Grosvenor Group interest---

Interior view---

Thomas Goode Tableware founded in 1827 by a merchant dealing in porcelain, china, glassware and sterling silver table sets, merchandise that came over the fabled "Silk Road" as trade goods from China and the Far East, and inevitably had connections to the British opium "business" perhaps indirectly, is located at 17–22 South Audley Street in Mayfair. As a jewelry and silversmith user of silver, they'd be against silver as money and opposed to a higher price for silver miners--- "Thomas Goode is a china, silverware and glass shop at 19 South Audley Street in Mayfair, London. It has been described as "the ultimate shopping experience for your selection of china, glassware [or] silver" and holds two royal warrants to supply the British royal household, one from Queen Elizabeth II and the other from the Prince of Wales."

http://powerbase.info/index.php/Grosvenor_Gardens ---

"Grosvenor Gardens, not far from Victoria tube, London is home to a large concentration of Climate Change, Energy and Carbon (trading and offsetting particularly) related organisations, lobby groups and businesses. Some of these share boardroom connections and have swapped chairs and other staff over the years. Others share offices and addresses. A number of parliament–related organisations are also housed here, giving lobby groups close geographic access to powerful political figures."

Grosvenor Gardens is in the Belgravia area of central London.

It also has expensive residences, as this one listed at 4,797,000 British pounds (around $7.2 million USD). 46-48 Grosvenor Gardens is HQ for Skye Pharma which is in the vaccine business and has a USD market cap around $570 million--- as of 2013, Skye Pharma and another entity were accused of colluding to hinder access to lower cost generic drug competition---

Number 52 Grosvenor Gardens has companies dealing in retail, dermatological treatments, indoor ski slopes, prepaid payment technology for the financial services industry, travel and hospitality industries, media, financial markets commentary, a group called Mall People Ltd., an employment agency providing serfs to the Dukes, Earls and so forth that own the mega-developments, care facilities, investments, petroleum consultants, laser printers, others, unspecified.

33 Davies Street, another Grosvenor holding and that street is named after Mary Davies, one of Gerald Grosvenor's most important antecedents---

65 Davies Street, yet another Grosvenor holding has 63,000 square feet of office space---

Grosvenor Group in fact has real estate holdings---residential and commercial---in no fewer than seventy (70) cities. We reviewed only a choice sampling---it was in no way comprehensive! What was the line from "Forbidden Planet" (1956) ---"Prepare your minds for a new scale of magnitude!"

Let's review some Grosvenor Group officials beginning with Norman Lyle (Order of the British Empire) ---but prefacing the review with a quotation from

http://www.wealthandwant.com/themes/underpop/duke_westminst er.htm ---

"He has his underlings collect and bank his rent."

"Norman was appointed to the Grosvenor Asia Pacific Board In November 2008. He is a Non-Executive Director of Msheireb Properties and Lei Shing Hong Limited, and is also Supervisor of Standard Chartered Banks in China and Taiwan. He was Group Finance Director of Jardine Matheson Holdings Ltd until his retirement in 2005 and, prior to this, worked for Zeneca Group Plc and ICI Plc where he was Group Treasurer and worked in the UK, Kenya and Malaysia."

Their HQ is in the Tornado Tower in Doha, Qatar---

مشيرب العقارية MSHEIREB PROPERTIES

Major dealer in premium automobiles across Asia and deals in bulldozers, mining machinery, forest products, fertilizer, financial services and other---

Sir John Peace, chairman of Standard Chartered Bank in London with 90,000 plus employees in almost 100 countries, is certain to be a member of The Pilgrims London---

Jardine Matheson had 2013 revenue of $61.38 billion in USD terms. Founded in 1832, it dealt mainly in opium for hard silver in China, but also in tea and cotton. In fact, they are still today so bold about their hellish history that they use the image of an opium poppy in their corporate logo! It diversified into insurance, shipping, railways and breweries. Today it deals in luxury automobiles, real estate development, holds extensive Indonesian agricultural interests, is active in other areas (use your imagination) and owns the huge Mandarin Oriental Hotel Group. The Keswicks (Scottish family) have long been the dominant faction in Jardine Matheson, and have had plenty of representation in The Pilgrims Society London. There are four (4) Keswicks on the board of this EVIL company, and all four are probable as members of The Pilgrims Society London, plus Lord Leach of Fairford and even more so Lord Sassoon, of an old Persian dynasty whose lineage intersected with that of the Rothschilds (Pilgrims Society) generations ago. Jardine Matheson is one of the world's DIRTIEST companies, right up there with Monsanto (Pilgrims Society). The Keswicks may even be in The Pilgrims inner circle but if not, are very likely standing with one foot in it and the other in the high mid-circle---Adam Keswick was with N.M. Rothschild, linking two huge dynasties---three, counting the disquietingly large Sassoons---that the Keswicks, Rothschilds and Sassoons would have connections to the Grosvenors is to be expected in the high galaxy of Pilgrims Society world finance---

Zeneca was a UK based multinational pharmaceutical company. Notice that Lyle was with ICI, Imperial Chemical Industries. ICI merged with Zeneca in 1993 and in 1999 the Swedish giant drug maker, Astra, merged with Astra Zeneca, today based in London and as of 2014 reported 50,000 employees and $27 billion USD revenues. Astra Zeneca makes vaccines (of course) and has had an $100 billion merger offer from Pfizer, a USA based Pilgrims Society giant. Astra Zeneca gets its share of lawsuits over its hellish "medications." Since as we saw earlier, the Grosvenors were part of the Far East opium business at least as of 1782, and here we have a Grosvenor Group official, Norman Lyle, from a major Pharma corporation, we must ask the inevitable question---did profits from the Chinese opium business go to fund some Pharma start-ups generations ago? Christopher Pratt another high exec in Gerald Grosvenor's giant empire was until recently a director of HSBC----Hong Kong & Shanghai Bank, the old British opium bank for China! Gerald Grosvenor---what do you know about the history of opium? Pratt was also a director of Air China from 2006 to 2014 and is a Knight of the British Empire.

Domenico Siniscalco of the Grosvenor board was with Morgan Stanley---and he was Treasurer of the nation of Italy. Another board member has ties to the British Property Federation. Another was with Goldman Sachs. Other Grosvenor officials hold assorted positions including chairman of the United Kingdom Urban Land Institute Sustainability Council and is a member of the Green Building Council of Australia. Another was with Unilever, Courtaulds and ICI. Another was with Lehman Brothers and the Reserve Bank of Australia---their wicked central bank. Grosvenor has another official with the humorous name, Fenella Gentleman. Grosvenor has an official who was with Morgan Grenfell, a leading City of London merchant bank with a long Pilgrims Society history. Still another Grosvenor exec came from Kleinwort Benson---the interests that enabled Goldman Sachs entry into London generations ago. Other Grosvenor execs have in their resumes links to Trizec and other interests. Trizec was a large property group owned by the Bronfmans (Seagram's Whiskey), who were represented in The Pilgrims by a member of the Cullman family (Philip Morris).

The Kleinworts of London (Pilgrims Society) Enabled GS entry into world markets---

Created by Lord Leverhulme, Pilgrims Society---

Launched by Edward Grenfell, also known as the 1st Baron St. Just (Pilgrims Society), Member of Parliament (1922–1935) who was a Bank of England director (1905 to 1940–––his father was a BOE director (1881–1883)

Let's have a glance at the Grosvenor Group executive committee, Gerald Grosvenor's top subordinates. Andrew Bibby is a director of Canadian Western Bank and is a former director of the Real Property Association of Canada. Benjamin Cha, not surprisingly, heads

Grosvenor Asia Pacific. He was a managing director at UBS Global Asset Management (Union Bank of Switzerland) and was with Mandarin Oriental Hotel Group. Of Mark Preston we read "Mark currently holds two Non-Executive Directorships on the Boards of Persimmon Plc and Sonae Sierra SGPS. He is a Trustee of ULI and Chairman of the ULI Centre for Sustainability Advisory Board, as well as being a Trustee for the Westminster Foundation. He is a member of the Board of The Association of Foreign Investors in Real Estate, the (University of) Cambridge Land Economy Advisory Board and an Honorary Vice-President of the Cambridge University Land Society." James Raynor "joined Grosvenor in 2004 from The Royal Bank of Scotland" and "he sits on the INREV Training & Education Committee and the ULI French Council." Nicholas Scarles an attorney is "a Non-Executive Director of Sonae Sierra SGPS." Peter Vernon "is a member of Peabody's Board, Deputy Chairman of the West End Partnership, Director of London First and is on the Royal & Sun Alliance London Regional Board. He was a Commissioner of the independent City Growth Commission launched by RSA."

CWB has $22.3 billion Canadian in assets---

This one has seven likely members of The Pilgrims as directors (Keswick opium trade family, Rothschilds and Warburgs) ---

Persimmon PLC is a homebuilder with 13,509 units built in 2014---

Sonae Sierra is a Portuguese holding company, mainly of shopping centers but also of telecommunications, software and information systems. As of 2010 it had 43,270 employees---

The Urban Land Institute in DC is a Pilgrims Society front via Mahlon Apgar, a member.

The so called West End development is a "ward" of the City of Westminster and is "one of the most expensive locations in the world in which to rent office space"

RSA has had over two dozen Pilgrims in its management---

In "The Power of Scale---A Global History Approach" by John Bodley (Routledge Publishers, 2015) we find on page 132 in the section titled "The Rise of European Commercial Elites" ---

"The company implemented worldwide the Grosvenor vision of shopping centers, commercial skyscrapers, high rises, and industrial parks in such diverse places as London, Edinburgh, Dublin, Lisbon, Madrid, Brussels, Brisbane, Singapore, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Washington D.C., Tampa, and Eugene, Oregon. Few families have had such a global impact."

Page 131 mentions---

"The Grosvenor family claims descent from a nephew of William the Conqueror, and like the famous Norman Duke, they created an enormously successful Imperium based on real estate. Their lands were held intact thanks to the judicious use of land trusts and leases and the pattern of eldest sons perpetually inheriting their fathers estates by means of periodically renewed "entails," or legal settlements that effectively prevented fragmentation. The 480 acre London estate of ancient manors on what was then the outskirts of London, which the Grosvenors acquired by marriage in 1676, proved to be a tremendous real estate bonanza for the family. Much of this land still belongs to the Grosvenor family and is now located just half a mile west of the world famous landmarks of Parliament, Westminster Abbey and Buckingham Palace, bordering Hyde Park and the Thames."

http://www.grosvenor.com/home/ announced some sort of business relationship with http://hsrealtyco.com/ which owns developments in 13 States---

It's time to take a glance at Gerald Grosvenor's wife and children.

The Duchess of Westminster---Natalia Ayesha Grosvenor Descended from Russian nobility and a great grandfather Who amassed a huge fortune in South African diamonds and gold Just imagine how much caviar has gone into that grinning pie-hole

The Duchess is a director of Alex Moulton Bicycles founded in 1962, which has sales divisions in Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, China, Finland, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Malaysia, Mexico, Singapore, South Korea, Spain, Switzerland, Taiwan, Thailand, the United Kingdom and the United States---she probably owns the company, or most of it. Their foreign offices or sales outlets are probably in Grosvenor owned buildings. Revenue figures appear undisclosed but it may be in the ten figure range---you'd be surprised at the price tags on their high end bicycles---up to USD $24,000 plus! The Grosvenors haven't thought about offering locks of their hair or their autographs on E Bay for $10,000 apiece.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Natalia_Grosvenor,_Duchess_of_West minster

"She is the youngest of five children of Lt.-Col. Harold Pedro Joseph Phillips (1909-1980) and his wife, Georgina Wernher (1919-2011). Her eldest sister is Alexandra Anastasia Hamilton, Duchess of Abercorn and another sister is Marita Crawley, who wrote the libretto for the opera "The Poet and the Tsar" about their greatgreat-great-grandfathers, Alexander Pushkin and Emperor Nicholas I of Russia. Natalia is one of three godmothers to Prince William, Duke of Cambridge. Her family has long been close to the British Royal Family, being distantly related to both Elizabeth II and Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh. They are also descendants, through non-Catholic marriages, of Sophia, Electress of Hanover, in whose Protestant descendants is vested the right of succession to the British throne according to the Act of Settlement 1701."

It's no coincidence that the great Manufacturers HANOVER Bank (since part of JP Morgan Chase) bore the name of the Hanoverian royalty of Germany, who migrated long ago to England by way of Royal marriages. Queen Victoria of England (reign 1837–1901) became known as "the grandmother of Europe" due to marriages of her children and grandchildren to continental Royals, tying Europe together! But the "centre" of European power has long since been London, at least since 1588 when the Spanish Armada's attempted invasion failed. A continuing power struggle with the Vatican has never ceased, with the older power in Rome being knocked back to distant second. A man with a gravelly voice claiming the Vatican owns "hundreds of trillions" in worldwide wealth has refused coverage to the royalist Pilgrims Society. Claims without documentation are garbage! On the matter of coverage being refused, actually only a few sites have allowed any. Ask them why we have this Pilgrims Society unknown to the public that has the President as an "honorary" member and that fact to them---adds up to just nothing!

The Wernhers will be discussed further in the next profile, that of William David Morrison, related by marriages and genealogy to Gerald Grosvenor. For now we'll only mention the 2012 book,

"Grand Dukes and Diamonds---The Wernhers of Luton Hoo," which we'll look at more in Morrison's profile. Harold Wernher was in The Pilgrims 1924 London list. "The Pilgrims of Great Britain" (2002 short run book) page 154, mentions Sir Harold Wernher as a racehorse owner. Perhaps here we should interject that Harold Wernher's father, Sir Julius Wernher, (1850–1912) was known in South Africa as a "Randlord" and "became part of the English establishment." He was also identified as PROTESTANT---not Jewish. We read---

"Born in Darmstadt, Hesse, Wernher was the son of a railway engineer of Protestant stock. He was educated at Frankfurt-am-Main, where he entered a banking house. In 1871, having served in the Franco-German War, he moved to London at the age of 21. His talent for business was spotted by a diamond dealer named Jules Porgès of London and Paris, who sent Wernher in 1873 as his agent to the diamond mines of Kimberley, South Africa to buy and export diamonds. Wernher bought up mining interests and by 1875 was a member of the Kimberley mining board. In that same year, Porgès and Alfred Beit joined him in Kimberley, and Porgès formed the Compagnie Française des Mines de Diamants du Cap. Porgès returned to London after having made Wernher and Beit partners in the firm of Jules Porgès & Co. By 1884 Wernher returned to London and traded in diamond shares, while Beit remained in Kimberley to look after their interests. On Porgès' retirement in 1889, the firm was restructured and named Wernher, Beit & Co."

78.53 carat Porges Diamond---

"With the discovery in 1886 of gold on the Witwatersrand, the firm appointed Hermann Eckstein as their representative in Johannesburg, while Cecil Rhodes and Beit effectively amalgamated the Kimberley diamond mines by 1888 and enabled Wernher, Beit & Co. to acquire a controlling interest in De Beers Consolidated Mines. Wernher by now was managing over 70 South African companies from his London office, and developing a passion for collecting art. He was created a baronet in 1905, as well as being a member of the Order of the Crown of Prussia. Despite having a reputation for prudence in business, Wernher was swindled out of £64,000 in 1906 by Henri Lemoine, who claimed he could make synthetic diamonds. Beset by failing health in 1911, Wernher merged the shareholdings of Wernher, Beit & Co. with those of Central Mining and Investment Corporation and Rand Mines Ltd. Besides his interest in art, Wernher funded an extension to the National Physical Laboratory. He also begueathed £250,000 to establishing a university in Cape Town, and £100,000 to the Imperial College of Science and Technology in London. At the time of his death in London, he was one of the richest men in the United Kingdom."

Julius Wernher's son, Major-General Sir Harold Augustus Wernher, Baronet (16 January 1893 - 30 June 1973) "married Countess Anastasia (Zia) Mikhailovna de Torby, (9 September 1892 - 1977), daughter of Grand Duke Michael Mikhailovich of Russia and Sophie Nikolaievna von Merenberg, Countess de Torby."

Continuing with the other Wiki entry---

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Natalia_Grosvenor,_Duchess_of_West minster

"They also descend from Pushkin, Russia's most renowned author and nobleman, as well as from his African great-grandfather, Abram Petrovich Gannibal, the youth believed to have belonged to a family of tribal chieftains who became a protégé of Peter the Great. The sisters' maternal grandmother was born Countess Anastasia de Torby (later Lady "Zia" Wernher), younger morganatic daughter of Grand Duke Michael Mihailovich of Russia (a grandson of Tsar Nicholas I) by his wife Countess Sophie von Merenberg, morganatic daughter of Prince Nikolaus of Nassau (himself brother of Adolphe, Grand Duke of Luxembourg) by his wife Natalya Aleksandrovna, Pushkin's younger daughter. Lady Zia's sister Countess Nadezhda de Torby (or "Nada") was the wife of Prince George of Battenberg (later George Mountbatten, 2nd Marguess of Milford Haven), elder maternal uncle of the Duke of Edinburgh. The Torby sisters were third cousins of the prince through their common ancestor, Tsar Nicholas I. Natalia's paternal grandparents were Joseph Harold John Phillips and his wife Mary Mercedes Bryce, whose niece Janet Mercedes Bryce (daughter of Major Francis Bryce of Hamilton, Bermuda) married David Mountbatten, 3rd Marguess of Milford Haven, Nada Mountbatten's son. Lady Tamara Katharine Grosvenor (born 20 December 1979); married Edward van Cutsem on 6 November 2004, at Chester Cathedral. Edward and Lady Tamara have two sons, Jake Louis Hannibal van Cutsem and Ludo Lupus Hugh van Cutsem."

They changed the name "Gannibal" to what they felt was the loftier "Hannibal," after the legendary military commander from Carthage, North Africa, who gave the Romans so much grief. Notice the name "Lupus," tracing back to Hugh Lupus, who came to England with William the Conqueror in AD 1066!

> Peter the Great (reign 1682–1721) was six feet eight & just a pee-wee next to Emperor Maximinus of Rome (235–238 AD) who was eight feet six inches---

The Mountbattens are mentioned in two of the five authentic Pilgrims Society books I have copies of. Yes, the current Duchess of Westminster and Gerald Grosvenor's heir, Hugh Grosvenor---both have a highly diluted trace of African ancestry! Gannibal (correct spelling---not "Hannibal") lived 1696 to 1781 and was taken by force in 1703 from central Africa. Is there a chance Gannibal had any ancestry back to Hannibal (247 to 183 BC) the Carthagenian general who invaded the Italian peninsula---and was actually never defeated there? Many sites claim, falsely or otherwise, that Hannibal was indeed Black. Others insist that in those times there were no Black Africans at the north end of the continent, besides in Egypt. In any case I don't know, and we aren't very concerned with proof either way. Gannibal however had a coat of arms created for himself while in the Russian court. Notice the strong suggestion of linkage to General Hannibal, famous for deploying elephants in his attacks against Roman armies---The inscription FVMMO is alleged to mean, "fortune has changed my life entirely"---

Viola Maud Lyttleton---mother of Gerald Grosvenor and her father was a Viscount (at this point we borrow the word "swell," so sarcastically uttered by Clint Eastwood in one or more of his movies). That was John Lyttleton, the 9th Viscount Cobham (1881– 1949). Cobham, what was that? Cobwebs on a rotten piece of ham? To be fed to the serfs! He was a member of the (military) Order of the Bath, founded in 1725 by King George I. That was of course the ancestor of King George III, who persecuted the American colonists with two wars---our war of independence and the War of 1812. I don't find the 9th Viscount in the few Pilgrims lists I have. Perhaps with full information he might appear. Two members of this Lyttleton family were mentioned on page 44 of "Pilgrims and Pioneers" (1946 rare book) by Sir Harry Brittain, an organizer of The Pilgrims. He mentioned "The Right Honourable Alfred Lyttleton" (index description) and Oliver Lyttleton, who was a United Kingdom Cabinet Minister. The 9th Viscount Cobham had a Cavendish for his mother---notice Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor. The Cavendish family head holds the title Duke of Devonshire. The Duke of Devonshire was mentioned three times in "Pilgrims and Pioneers," and at that time was Governor-General of Canada (1916 to 1921) and afterwards was a League of Nations booster during 1921–1922, and became Secretary of State for the Colonies in 1922 to 1924. Have a look at the man from whom Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor got his middle name---the Cavendish family wealth is of unknown, but massive, dimensions, and has been virtually as prominent in England since the 1500s as the Cecils---who we reviewed last time out---

Interior views of his main mansion, Chatsworth House---

Lady Tamara Katherine Grosvenor was born in 1979. She's the first of Gerald and Natalia's children. Daughter, daughter, son, daughter was their outcome.

http://www.fauna-flora.org/about/council/ says this about Lady Tamara's husband, in his role as a council member of Fauna & Flora International---

"Edward van Cutsem is Managing Director, BlackRock Family Office Partners, an American multinational investment management corporation and the world's largest asset manager. Since 1996 he has also been a Director of ECO spray, which is committed to the advancement of ethical and sustainable food production through the scientific development of naturally based products and decision support systems. Edward is involved with work at the Lewa Wildlife Conservancy in Kenya and supports the Tusk Trust, whilst his wife, Lady Tamara Grosvenor is interested in orangutan conservation. The van Cutsems reside in Norfolk and joined FFI's Conservation Circle in 2010."

Fauna & Flora International is a globalist group grabbing control over large areas in the name of conservationism.

Prince Harry and Prince William are close friends with Edward van Cutsem. Here's Gerald's Dutch son in law---Edward's father was with the old-line Hambros Bank and left a score of millions in trust (he was small fry compared to our dear Gerald!) ---I can imagine this Eddy "Cuts Them" who looks mean quoting a line from "The Cloud Minders" ("Star Trek," February 28, 1969) ---"Secure him to the rostrum!"

Black Rock manages $4.5 trillion--- Sir Deryck Maughan ex of Goldman Sachs is the most likely member of The Pilgrims on the Black Rock board, and is also a director of the boundlessly evil Pharma giant, Glaxo Smith Kline and of Thomson Reuters, news media mega-giant covering for The Pilgrims and their Pharma subsidiaries---

Lady Edwina Louise Grosvenor (1981---) in 2010 married Daniel Robert Snow (1978---). Snow's background is tame compared to that of his awesome father in law Gerald Grosvenor---https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dan_Snow ---

"Daniel is "a British television presenter, who regularly presents history programmes for the BBC and other broadcasters and has a regular history slot on The One Show. Dan Snow is the youngest son of Peter Snow, BBC television journalist, and Canadian Ann MacMillan, managing editor of CBC's London Bureau; thus he holds dual British-Canadian citizenship. Through his mother, he is the nephew of Canadian historian Margaret MacMillan, and a greatgreat-grandson of British Prime Minister David Lloyd George. One of his father's cousins is the Channel 4 news reporter Jon Snow and his paternal great-grandfather (Peter and Jon's grandfather) was Sir Thomas D' Oyly Snow, a British infantry general during World War I. He has made numerous history programmes for the BBC. In late 2012 Snow embarked on a promotional tour for his new book Battle Castles: 500 Years of Knights and Siege Warfare, which was published in conjunction with a 6-part documentary he had presented for the History Channel. In early 2013, he presented a programme on the history of railways on BBC Two, called "Locomotion: Dan Snow's History of Railways."

This one can be trusted---sometimes!---

Daniel is a massager of the public mind for Pilgrims Society overlords. David Lloyd George (1863 to 1945) was a member of The Pilgrims. During the Indian Crisis of 1918 he was Prime Minister. The Indians demanded payment in silver for their wartime service. The British turned to their "Pilgrim Partners" the USA for silver and the Pittman Act of 1918 was the result---259,121,554 silver dollars were melted for silver metal for the British Empire, yielding around 209 MOZ! Sir Thomas Snow was a General during World War One. Not a Pilgrims member as far as my data mine shows. Continuing with the Wiki item on Daniel Snow---

"In the summer of 2013 Snow was part of a team with eight others down the Colorado River through the Grand Canyon in period– correct boats recreating the epic trip by John Wesley Powell through uncharted territory and rapids in 1869. Other British team members accompanied by American experts were Mike Dilger and Sam Willis. The footage, narrated by Doug Scott, became Operation Grand Canyon with Dan Snow which was broadcast on BBC Two in January 2014. Snow has also travelled through war zones in Congo and Syria to make programmes about the historical context of those conflicts. These were shown on BBC2 in 2013. Snow has released award winning apps, the Timeline series, which include the Number 1 selling Reference app, TimelineWW2. He attracted criticism for saying in 2012 that 'apps are simply a better vehicle than books'. On 7 May 2015 Snow presented the online alternative election night broadcast unelection."

This site calls it the "British Brainwashing Channel"

I noticed this video claiming the Grand Canyon has unmeasurable tons of gold in a "cordoned off" area. I decided to not comment. Allegedly this gold has been known for decades and is guarded by Marines. Well, they must have let Daniel Snow and his party through the area due to his father in law being a big world maker. More likely is there aren't any Marines guarding any gold there. Wiki continues on Gerald's son in law---

"On 27 November 2010, Snow married the aristocratic criminologist and philanthropist Lady Edwina Grosvenor, second daughter of the 6th Duke of Westminster. Their daughter was born in 2011 and their son in 2014. In August 2011, Snow chased a group of rioters through Notting Hill in London before tackling and performing a citizen's arrest on a looter who was fleeing from a shoe shop. An active campaigner, Snow serves as President of the Council for British Archaeology, an atheist and a humanist. Snow is a Distinguished Supporter of the British Humanist Association, an Honorary Associate of the National Secular Society and a member of the Royal Historical Society. He is also an advocate for political reform, being the Electoral Reform Society's first ambassador. He played a central part in the United Kingdom Alternative Vote referendum, 2011; after he released a successful viral video, the campaign used a version of it, featuring Snow, as their final Referendum Broadcast. In August 2014, Snow was one of 200 public figures who were signatories to a letter to The Guardian successfully opposing Scottish independence in the run-up to that referendum."

How much does his father in law Gerald collect every tick of the clock in rents or leases in countless thousands of offices and residential units? It's heart warming that his punk son is worried about some common serf lifting a cheap pair of shoes. But that meshes with his wife's interest in criminology-penology. Naturally the son in law of an inner circle Pilgrims Society member would be against Scottish national independence.

http://new.archaeologyuk.org/ Founded in 1944---

Founded in 1896 https://humanism.org.uk/

http://www.secularism.org.uk/ This one dates to 1866---

national Secular society

Chartered in 1868--http://royalhistsoc.org/

Founded in 1884--http://www.electoral-reform.org.uk/

Another lever of influence---

United Kingdom Alternative Vote referendum, 2011

The Guardian begged the obvious by stating that Edwina Grosvenor was "born into almost unimaginable wealth and privilege."

Her "criminologist" activities are connected to something called Accelerating Change Network---

Daniel Snow authored "Death or Victory---The Battle for Quebec and the Birth of Empire" (Harper Collins, 2009) about British Empire activities in Canada as part of the Seven Years War (1756 to 1763) in which the British defeated the French for control over Quebec. In The American Colonies it was called the French and Indian War. Still today Quebec is heavily French, Catholic, and many residents decline to speak English. I had paternal grandparents who came from Quebec. Before ending this look at Gerald Grosvenor's son in law Daniel Snow, who seems destined to become Sir Daniel Snow, I feel it appropriate, given all the genealogical links in The Pilgrims Society, to note a potential link to John Ben Snow (1883 to 1973) who built up the Speidel chain of newspapers and founded Western Horseman Magazine. He left the John Ben Snow Foundation and the John Ben Snow Memorial Trust. There's a great deal of large, though quiet, money in horses---racing, stud fees, selling. There's this horse business interest in Gerald Grosvenor's ancestry as you saw if you weren't "skimming over." The Who's Who in America, 1970-1971, page 2136, Shows J.B. Snow founded both the New York University Medical Center and the New York University Law School. For just once I won't check the web on those two references, I'll let you the reader go on a hunt. It seems as if the Center and the Law School would already have been in existence. Maybe it meant he joined a board of founders due to coming in with financial support. Is Daniel Snow related to J.B. Snow? Just maybe---he was a governor of the American Club in London.

Lady Viola Georgina Grosvenor (1992---) is unmarried as of the time of this investigative series. There's not a lot on her. We may safely assume that she has something to do with "Exquisite Jewellery from the Duke of Westminster's Private Family Collection." It calls to mind something actress Ina Balin said to Stuart Whitman in John Wayne's great movie "The Comancheros" (1961) --- "The smallest stone in that ring could buy and sell you!"

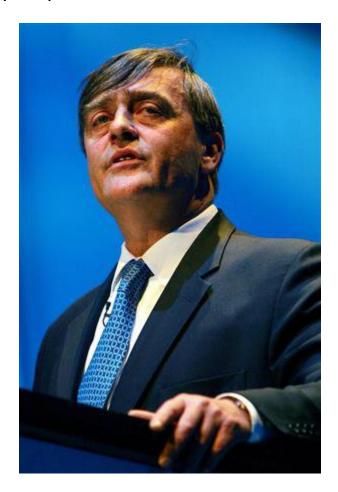

This brings us to the third of Gerald and Natalia's children, and the heir to Gerald's gargantuan fortune and in line to become the 7th Duke of Westminster.

Hugh Richard Louis Grosvenor (1991---third of his four children) with poppa Gerald below. Hugh, also known as Earl Grosvenor or the Earl of Westminster (an Earl is below a Duke) takes after his mother Natalia more in the face---the fancy coat signifies he's superior to the serfs and commoners of the world. Notice the green emblem on his father's jacket which appears to be a dragon symbol. Is there a similar one at http://www.heraldicsculptor.com ? Hugh Grosvenor, the heir apparent to the Dukedom of Westminster, is called "absurdly rich," a statement which defies contradiction to an extent matched by very few other facts---something in the background resembles a crown on his head---or is it horns? ----Would anyone care to create derivative bets on the chances of the Young Master ending up homeless on the streets of London? His 21st birthday celebration is estimated to have had an outlay in USD terms of $8 million. Just for a birthday event.

At http://worldofaristocrats.tumblr.com we discover that The Young Master was named a godparent of Prince George of Cambridge (born in 2013, grandson of Prince Charles) and attended Newcastle University. Ahh yes, The Duke of Newcastle was a charter member of The Pilgrims London in 1902. Artworks===the worth of those owned by Gerald and his family would probably be enough to build another large skyscraper. If all the buildings they own were turned into rubble, it would be enough to match the dimensions of a Rocky Mountain peak.

In 2004 Gerald Grosvenor addressed the annual convention of the Institute of Directors meeting at Royal Albert Hall in London---you can imagine him saying---"I shuck small folk like an ear of corn! I make them sorry they were ever born!"

Named for Prince Albert (1819-1861) ---

34,500 members, founded in 1903--- http://www.iod.com/

According to The Daily Mail, March 16, 2015, the wealth of the Earl of Cadogan is 53% that of Gerald Grosvenor and that the five wealthiest families in the UK encompass as much wealth as the lowest income 12 million UK residents. Problem is, the Daily Mail, being a "network" media source, is lowballing these people's wealth, so that the ratio is even more skewed as to wealth concentration. Charles Cadogan (1937---) is a virtual certainty to be in The Pilgrims London. We await complete lists, because the gaps are larger than the information we have. Charlie was associated with the Schroder Wagg banking interests, which is quite the frightening thought if you study their geopolitical/military history. In 2014, a house in his territory sold for 72,885,000 pounds sterling. Cadogan, of a fortune that's 300 plus years old, is a scaled down version of Gerald Grosvenor---

Of course Grosvenor Group has occasional large transactions both ways with such interests as Land Securities Group Limited and other big realty groups, none of which appear to be even close to being as closely held as Grosvenor Group.

Gerald The Duke of Westminster and the Royal Family---

"There are close links between the Duke of Westminster and the Windsors. One of the Duke's personal properties is a hunting estate in Cordoba, southern Spain where Princes William and Harry went for a shooting holiday earlier this year. His son Earl Grosvenor is godfather to Prince George and his daughter Lady Tamara is married to Edward van Cutsem, a family friend of the Duke of Cambridge."

Yes, the Duke of Cambridge, Prince William, son of Prince Charles---is a member. That Dukedom was mentioned as a membership position in "Pilgrims Partners—Forty Years of British-American Fellowship" by Sir Harry Brittain (1942, rare volume, page 50).

http://chester.shoutwiki.com/wiki/Grosvenors

Leonora Anson (1949---), Countess of Lichfield, is one of two sisters of Gerald Grosvenor. She married the 5th Earl of Lichfield (1939-2005) whose mother became Princess Anne of Denmark (long story). His mother was of the Bowes-Lyon family. The 5th Earl's residence---this property was seized from Catholic possession during the reign of King Henry VIII---In Silver Squelchers #32 we profiled Mary Strathmore (Pilgrims Society) of the same Bowes-Lyon family---

Lady Jane Meriel Grosvenor, the other sister of Gerald Grosvenor (born 8 February 1953), married Guy David Innes-Ker, 10th Duke of Roxburghe and moved into this residence---The Pilgrims London 1980 shows a Sir John Roxburgh (name variation, same family) ----Gerald Grosvenor has no brothers---

Like so many Uppercrust British aristocrats, Gerald Grosvenor, the subject of our Pilgrims Society profile---the lengthiest and most detailed profile in this entire Silver Squelchers series---has been publicly tainted with sex scandals. At http://www.newser.com/story/21498/british-duke-tied-tospitzer-hooker-ring we see--

British Duke Tied to Spitzer Hooker Ring

British Duke Tied to Spitzer Hooker Ring

Excerpt from the news item---

"The richest man in England has been linked to the prostitution ring patronized by Eliot Spitzer, the New York Daily News reports. Sources identified Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor, Duke of Westminster, as Emperors Club "Client 6," who arranged four visits in late 2006. Grosvenor is a close friend of Prince Charles—and godfather to Prince William, second in line to the throne. It is unclear whether Grosvenor was one of those caught on FBI wiretaps arranging trysts with the Emperors Club. Reports say the duke, despite being the 46th-richest person in the world, haggled with one girl over price; Emperors call girl Zana Brazdek said she wasn't impressed, either: "I thought his conversation was quite boring," she said." Maybe Gerald "His Grace" the inner circle Pilgrims Society member Gerald is like the jeweler I once knew who, when dickering over the price of a diamond with an exasperated seller, replied to the seller's sarcastic statement "how about for free" with "I can beat that price!" The prostitution ring was called the Emperors Club VIP, reflecting the matter of being organized for the wealthy and powerful.

Spitzer was contacted circa 2006 by some personalities in the silver community while he was New York State Attorney General. Naturally he declined to intervene. Someone is alleged to have sent Spitzer a one ounce silver round, which his office returned to the sender, who sure had unrealistic expectations and besides, why drop good silver down what amounts to a toilet? Spitzer had hellaciously spooky eyes! Oddly, those who attempted to get Spitzer to intervene in the COMEX silver fraud never mentioned to their web followers what they could have easily found out---one, that Spitzer had been with a Wall Street law firm and more strikingly, two, that Spitzer joined the staff of New York County District Attorney Robert Morgenthau was the son of Henry Morgenthau Jr., Franklin Roosevelt's Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr., who feloniously presided over most of the gold grab (Executive Order 6102) and all of the silver grab (EO 6814) during the darkest years in our history---the FDR years (yes, worse than the Wilson years!) Robert Morgenthau's grandmother was a member of the Lehman family. Why don't people who can look things up, look them up? No they did NOT! Henry Senior was a Pilgrims Society member from way back---

(1924 leaked roster) ---call girls and silver squelching price suppression---all in the same band of rogues---Spitzer's dad appointed him executor of his will/estate, which according to sources was around the $500 million mark---Morgenthau Senior was also a real estate mogul---

J. P. Morgan W. Fellowes Morgan Henry Morgenthau

Paul Weiss, the law firm Spitzer was with, works with typical international finance goblins---Citigroup and Barclays included. Here (as of October 22, 2015) their start page raves about Roberto J. Gonzales, former Deputy General Counsel of the Treasury Department, is joining Paul Weiss as partner."

Besides dabbling in hookers and running with silver price suppressing accomplices, I've located this other item about Gerald Grosvenor at the following link, which I opted to neither embed into text nor to shorten by editing, as by reading it you get an intro into what you encounter at that page, which it purports to be "mainstream news media extracts"--- http://carroll-foundation-trust.com/uncategorized/duke-ofwestminster-organised-crime-fraud-criminal-standard-of-proof-

prosecution-files-carrolltrust-boodle-hatfield-law-firmcorruption-bribery-case/

"The sensational Carroll Foundation Charitable Trust multi-billion dollar offshore tax fraud bribery scandal which is encircling 10 Downing Street and the Conservative Party has revealed that the explosive FBI Scotland Yard "cross-border" criminal "standard of proof" prosecution files have "named" the Duke of Westminster in this case of international importance. Sources have confirmed that the dossiers contain a compelling evidential paper trail which surrounds the Duke of Westminster's lawyers Boodle Hatfield who are known to have conducted break-ins burglaries and criminal seizure offences that were "targeted" at Gerald Carroll's multimillion dollar Eaton Square Belgravia penthouse and Westminster residences in central London spanning a bizarre six to eight years."

BESPOKE LEGAL SERVICES

Make of these statements what you will---I haven't formed a conclusion as to these claims. Continuing---

"Further sources have disclosed that the files contain a startling litany of Boodle Hatfield fraudulent property leases which are "directly linked" to forged and falsified Coutts & Co Gerald Carroll banking arrangements that effectively impulsed this massive bank fraud heist operation which stretches the globe. Scotland Yard "leaked" sources have said that the Queen's banker Lord Home former chairman of Coutts & Co is also seriously implicated following unconfirmed reports that Lord Home incorporated fraudulent Gerald Carroll accounts to effectively provide a diversionary corporate smokescreen for the embezzlement of a mind boggling two hundred million dollars of the Carroll Foundation Trust's huge treasury investment holdings that were held at Barclays International and Coutts & Co Strand branch London."

Coutts & Company was established the year before the Bank of England---in 1693.

"In a stunning twist it has also emerged that Lord Home is currently chairman of the Duke of Westminster's Grosvenor Holdings Group which has prompted well seasoned City of London financial observers to remark that the seizure of Gerald Carroll's Belgravia penthouse and Westminster properties was yet another sordid attempt by the Duke of Westminster and Lord Home to shield British public figures from prosecution in this great society scandal of the decade. The Carroll Foundation Trust files are held within a complete lockdown at the FBI Washington DC field office and the Metropolitan Police Scotland Yard London under the supervision of the commissioner Sir Bernard Hogan–Howe who has an intimate knowledge of this case spanning a staggering sixteen years." Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor wouldn't be prosecuted if he burned down 500 orphanages in America. He's just way too GD powerful!

http://international.coutts.com/en/locations/zurich/

In December 2010 Lord David Douglas Home retired as chairman of Grosvenor Group. His father has been identified as a member (page 159, "The Pilgrims of Great Britain," 2002, short run book. Alec Douglas Home was Prime Minister (1963–1964) and held numerous other positions. Considering David's credentials stated at the Coutts Bank site, I regard him as almost 100% certain to be a Pilgrims member. What's he doing as a board member of the Dubai Financial Services Authority? He came into finance by a great Pilgrims Society firm---Morgan, Grenfell & Company.

There's a figure of significance in the world financial arena who is most likely a member of this same Grosvenor family. I haven't seen exactly what his location is within the great Grosvenor constellation. I'm referring to Jonathan Grosvenor and this July 1, 2013 release

"KBL European Private Bankers (KBL) announced today the appointment of Jonathan Grosvenor, a financial services professional with over 25 years of international experience, as General Manager, Global Financial Markets, based in Luxembourg. Offering a full range of solutions for institutional investors and professional traders, the Global Financial Markets department is one of the pillars of KBL franchise, complementing the pan-European group's core business of private banking. Most recently, Grosvenor served as the Hong Kong-based Managing Director, Head of Corporate Clients, at BBVA, where he also began his professional career, serving first in London and then in Madrid. Between those two stints at the Spanish headquartered group, he served for over a decade at West LB, rising to the position of Joint Head of Global Financial Markets Asia, based in Singapore. Commenting on this significant appointment, Frédéric Genet, CEO, Professional Services, KBL, said: "Jonathan Grosvenor is a dynamic individual, with proven expertise in a broad range of financial markets products. With a tremendous combination of skills, knowledge and truly international experience, I am confident that he will successfully lead the sustained growth of the Global Financial Markets department - actively contributing to our UHNWIfocused strategy." Grosvenor, a British national who holds a degree in modern languages and economics from London South Bank University, will lead a team of over 30 professionals in the Global Financial Markets department at KBL."

Previously (June 2011 reference) Jonathan was "BBVA's managing director and head of corporate clients Asia Pacific." That's Banco Bilbao Vizcaya Argentaria, Spain's second biggest bank, founded in 1857.

Bloomberg notes that Jonathan Grosvenor is a director of the Luxembourg Stock Exchange.

https://www.bourse.lu/home

Jonathan is becoming a leading figure in finance from Europe to Dubai to Malaysia---

"KBL European Private Bankers (KBL) announced today that it has been named winner in both the "Deal of the Year" and "Sukuk Deal of the Year" categories at the annual Islamic Finance News Awards, which took place on Monday evening in Dubai. The Luxembourgheadquartered group was recognized in this regard for its role as a primary dealer of the International Islamic Liquidity Management Corporation's (IILM) $2 billion Islamic bond, or sukuk, programme. The IILM issued a debut $490 million three-month sukuk in August 2013, with KBL serving as one of nine primary dealers worldwide. The Central Bank of Luxembourg, among others, is a member of the Malaysia-based organization's Governing Board. On behalf of KBL, Olivier de Jamblinne, CEO, Luxembourg, and Jonathan Grosvenor, General Manager, Global Financial Markets, received these awards at a high-profile event at the Dubai International Financial Center."

Jonathan may be a cousin, second cousin, nephew, or some such, of Mister Gerald. Someone named Leslie Grosvenor was involved in a 2012 home transaction in Newport, Rhode Island, in an $865,000 transaction. Newport has been home to many Pilgrims Society members and men in lesser interlocked groups. The New York Times in a story from 1990 mentioned her father, "Charles B. Grosvenor of New York and Newport." These are members of the USA branch of the Grosvenors. Amanda Grosvenor is with something called Balanced Business Advisors and came there from managed news source, U.S. News & World Report.

On July 31, 1975 another British Empire globalist group was founded in an organizational meeting at the Grosvenor House Hotel in London. The Freedom Association was founded "by a group of businessmen, aristocrats, military figures, journalists and politicians on the far right. In its early years it played a prominent role in disrupting campaigns for workers rights and racial equality led by trades unions and anti-apartheid campaigners. It remains a well known fringe group within the Conservative Party."

The group's founding chairman was Viscount D' La Isle (Pilgrims London 1980 list), also known as William Philip Sidney (1909–1991) who was the 15th British Governor General of Australia and member of other British elite groups---Order of the Garter, Royal Victorian Order and others. "The Sidney family is one of England's oldest and most distinguished families. He was a descendant of King William IV." His son is a Free Man of the City of London and a member of the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths---and probably inherited his slot in The Pilgrims. At http://powerbase.info/index.php/Freedom_Association we notice a Christiana Hambro (old line Pilgrims Society banking family associated with Scandinavian finance) as the "development manager" of the Freedom Association. At their site http://www.tfa.net/aboutus/council-and-supporters/ we notice a list of names of leaders of this group and if a current Pilgrims roster were on hand, several of these names would be in it---

http://www.tfa.net/

The "Ipcress File" (1965) was filmed in Grosvenor Gardens. It was a spy movie about brainwashing scientists and counter-espionage.

There are cities named Westminster in Maryland (18,628 residents), Colorado (108,807 residents) and California (91,738 residents), and New Westminster in British Columbia Canada (65,976 residents) and Westminster in Western Australia (5,175 residents) plus the Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show---all named after the City of Westminster, borough or district in London reflecting the superprestigious title of The Duke of Westminster. There's a Westminster College in Missouri and another by the same name in Utah. There's a Westminster University in Denver. There's a bigger Westminster College at Sydney, Australia. Sydney also has a Grosvenor Club. Brisbane Australia has a Grosvenor (nightclub). Watford England has a Grosvenor Lawn Tennis Club. We could add more examples. Maryland has a Westminster County. Toronto Canada has a Grosvenor Toastmasters Club. There's a Grosvenor Caving Club in Wales (presumably with offices in a cave?) Belfast Ireland has a Grosvenor Hockey Club and a Grosvenor Fencing Club.

There's a Grosvenor Bowling Club in Greenock, England. The Grosvenor Club founded in 1922 at Beverley England today has 600 members. It's also known as the Grosvenor Recreation and Bowling Club. "Only a privileged few ever get inside the Grosvenor Club."

Let's not overlook the Grosvenor Hotel in Torquay, Devon,

England---

Glasgow Scotland has a Grosvenor Cinema---

San Diego, California is HQ for something called Grosvenor Square Advisors which does restructurings, mergers and acquisitions and debt financing. Their site has images of the London skyscrapers. I haven't established a direct connection to The Duke of Westminster. Maybe yes, maybe no; however, the matter of their size and connections does suggest it's a possibility plus the fact they do appear to be named after the globally renowned Grosvenor Square in London. They state---

"Grosvenor Square Advisors ("GSA") is a merchant bank focused on serving clients located in North America, Asia, the Middle East, Africa and Europe. We provide debt capital raising, asset sale advisory and certain restructuring services to a select group of companies, private equity firms, lenders, family offices and federal and provincial government entities globally."

Its managers have backgrounds from such "Network" banks as HSBC and Credit Suisse and its dealings are in the billions range---one its principals, very likely the wealthiest, Seymour H. Knox IV, is of the family who held the controlling interest in the former Marine Midland Bank of New York, which was bought out by HSBC----Knox is almost certainly a member of The Pilgrims United States---Knox IV is also descended from the founder of the F.W. Woolworth mass merchandising company---

You get the idea. This family's influence is gargantuan and shows The Pilgrims Society encompasses much more than Rothschilds and Rockefellers---there are many other dynasties represented, of varying sizes. These several dozen interrelated dynasties have formed this publicly unknown alliance in order to impose their collective will on the world!

The city of New Westminster in British Columbia, Canada, was founded in 1858 but this college (below) was only opened as of 2011. I haven't found a direct link between it and the Duke of Westminster, however, this matter of the name of the college is no coincidence. It's also definitely got strong connections to the Crown family of England. It belongs in The Duke's profile, and we'll keep it brief.

NEW WESTMINSTER COLLEGE NEW WESTMINSTER, BRITISH COLUMBIA

They also have a School of Diplomacy & a School of Leadership---

"Three postgraduate executive education programmes are offered in an executive seminar format through the New Westminster School of Cyber Security, including the Executive Cyber Intelligence Programme, the Senior Cyberspace Security Programme and the Advanced Cyber Security Programme. The distinctive worldclass curricula of our intensive executive education seminars and programmes provide unique opportunities for government and corporate leaders, and executives from all professional disciplines to advance their technical knowledge and upgrade their cyber security and intelligence management skills and currency in the global marketplace. Three postgraduate executive education programmes are offered in an executive seminar format through the New Westminster School of Diplomacy, including the Distinguished Ambassadors Programme, the Diplomatic Leadership Programme and the Advanced Diplomacy and Governance Programme."

NEW WESTMINSTER COLLEGE SCHOOL OF CYBER SECURITY

As of October 2015, General Jonathan Vance, a distinguished fellow of New Westminster College, became Chief of Staff of the Canadian Defence Forces. In September 2015, the Ambassador of Switzerland to China became a distinguished fellow at New Westminster College. A lot of influence has gathered at a university only very recently founded. He was previously Swiss Ambassador to France and Monaco. We notice this from Robert Goodwin III, president of the college---

"New Westminster College now has Governors and Fellows in 66 countries that have joined with our noble endeavour to support us globally. Our Governors and Fellows include heads of state (presidents and prime ministers), cabinet-level ministers, 45 ambassadors, 100 generals and admirals, French and NASA astronauts, 100 surgeons and medical doctors, world renowned scientists and professors, business leaders and other accomplished professionals at the top of their professions."

http://newwestminstercollege.ca/board-of-governors/general-retrobert-goodwin-iii/ ---

"Professor Goodwin is the Founder and President of New Westminster College and concurrently serves as Chairman of the Board of Governors. He is also a member of the Council of Senior Advisors of the International Association of University Presidents in New York, and has met and negotiated with numerous foreign heads-of-state, cabinet-level ministers, ambassadors, royalty, and senior-level government and business leaders. By official invitation, he has participated in numerous Minister and Ambassador Roundtable Meetings with leaders of the federal government and Parliament of Canada and other countries. Professor Goodwin is an Executive Member of the President's Council on Foreign Relations appointed by the President of the Republic of Macedonia. He serves on the International Board of the International Centre for Democratic Transition in Budapest, Hungary, and also serves on the International Advisory Boards of both the Research Centre for Studies on Intelligence, Strategic Science and Security in Rome, Italy, and the Research Institute for European and American Studies in Athens, Greece."

In 2002 Goodwin was awarded the Freedom of the City of London. By 2013 he received the Queen Elizabeth II Diamond Jubilee Medal. The New Westminster College site shows ambassadors (various countries, Canada to Malaysia, Governor of British Virgin Islands, Ukraine to Tajikistan, Iraq to Belarus, et cetera) and generals and admirals (USA, Canada, India, Bangladesh, Sweden, France, England, South Korea and others) who are associated with this new college. Maybe they'll make Gerald Grosvenor a trustee, but he might insist on being called a "regent" instead!

"ATTENTION SERFS! BE WARMED & FILLED!"

"British families are choosing between paying the rent and eating, according to the chairman of a food charity."

"PILL-GRAMS"

Gerald Grosvenor has no record of ever attending Bilderberg. He can do without it, as it's vastly inferior in power to The Pilgrims Society, which is by an extremely wide margin, history's most powerful influence network! There is substantial linkage between the two and is the Anglo–Americans way of expanding their network without admitting other members, and to distract the world's attention away from the older and superior organization.

The Daily Mail, September 15, 2012, reported Gerald Grosvenor was about to spend around $500 million USD on "A stately home refurbishment," no commoner is he!

"Grosvenor is a privately-owned property group."

This item dated June 2013 mentioned about the building below---

"Grosvenor Americas has acquired a Winchester Boulevard office building adjacent to the booming Santana Row shopping and lifestyle center, paying approximately $470 a square foot, or $47 million. The 560 South Winchester building is fully leased to Rockefeller Group Business Centers, Cushman & Wakefield and Merrill Lynch Wealth Management, according to Grosvenor. In California, Grosvenor is focused on buying in the Bay Area, Los Angeles and Orange County. Grosvenor Americas' holdings in the Bay Area include three San Francisco buildings on Union Square: 185 Post St., where De Beers is the ground-floor tenant; 180 Post St.; and 251 Post St. All of them are mixed-use buildings with ground floor retail and offices above. It also owns and developed the Hamilton Marketplace in Novato, a retail shopping center; Los Gatos Village Square; and Westgate West on Prospect Road in San Jose."

http://www.grosvenor.com/featured-locations-andproperties/asset/560-south-winchester/ says this is "in the heart of Silicon Valley"--- (San Jose, California) ---

180 Post Street in San Francisco---It has a Harry Winston's Jewelers---

185 Post Street, San Francisco---10,000 Square feet leased to fashion house Christian Dior---

This one has a "mere" 48,100 square feet---

Hamilton Marketplace in Novato, California has solar panels---

Los Gatos Village Square, Los Gatos, California---

Westgate West Shopping Center, San Jose, California---

"In Los Angeles, the company owns 308–310 North Rodeo Drive in Beverly Hills, home to world-renowned jeweler Harry Winston and luxury fashion house Chanel."

Ruby & diamond necklace by Harry Winston

Price unknown but in the multi-million range---

Did we show all of Gerald Grosvenor's holdings? You're kidding, right? Grosvenor Beachfront Apartments at the Gold Coast, Queensland Australia---

As one known for cutting descriptions, I must, in closing Gerald Grosvenor's staggering profile, resort to Gene Hackman's characterization of an English Duke as a "DUCK" in the 1992 movie "Unforgiven" with Clint Eastwood. But the Duke of Westminster may well be dining tonight on Duck a la Presse or some such expensive (to ordinary mortals) fare. I can almost picture Roger Moore as Simon Templar in "The Saint" TV series racing about the streets of Mayfair or Belgravia, being ticketed, and then someone in the Grosvenor family pulls a string and the matter is retired.

As of a 1981 research source, 711 individuals owned over 41% of the total land area of Greater Metropolitan London (not just The City area). That's a metro area as of 2014 that had 14,031,830 residents --- an extreme concentration of wealth. The Grosvenors, Windsors and Cadogans are certainly among those, and the study apparently didn't achieve percentage figures for the total valuations involved --- that most likely would soar past 70 percent. How many of these 711 individuals were members of The Pilgrims Society in London, or of lesser but important interlocking groups? It would be extremely telling to know. In the past 34 years, you may be certain that more consolidation has taken place, especially as the middle class, ever under Pilgrims Society pressure, transitions more and more from home ownership to mere renter (serf) status both in the United Kingdom and the USA!

Update---Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor passed away at age 64 in August 2016 of a heart attack. This changes nothing. His son becomes the successor Duke of Westminster, and Pilgrims Society planetary cartelization continues apace!

Admittedly as an anti-climax we feel we must include in this presentation, a profile on another London based member, due to the fact that this other member married into the same line of old Russian nobility as Gerald Grosvenor. Herewith a much briefer, but still remarkable profile---

2) William D. Morrison (1940---: Pilgrims at least as of 2005; most likely earlier) has info on page 3300 of the 2005 Who's Who in America---

MORRISON, WILLIAM DAVID, lawyer; b. Aug. 19, 1940; s. Maxey Neal and Mary Fuller (Chase) M .; m. Barbara Heath, Aug. 25, 1962 (div.); children: David Conrow, Stephen Munro, John Pomeroy; m. Sandra Elizabeth Butter, Mar. 16, 1983; children: Charles Nicholas, Sophie Natasha, BA, Princeton U., 1962; LLB, Yale U., 1965. Bar: N.Y. 1966, Calif. 1975. Assoc. Winthrop, Stimson, Putnam & Robert, N.Y.C., 1965-74; ptnr. Erickson & Morrison, and predecessor firms, L.A., 1974-79, LeBoeuf, Lamb, Leiby & Macrae, N.Y.C., 1979-88, Bryan Cave, St. Louis, 1988-97, Sidley, Austin, Brown & Wood, N.Y.C., 1997-2002; sr. cons. MEC Internat. Ltd., London, 2002-; sr. legal advisor The Trinity Group, London, 2003- Lectr. on Saudi Arabian law; active Royal Inst. Internat. Affairs (Chatham House). Mem. ABA, Calif. Bar Assn., Internat. Bar Assn., Royal Geog. Soc., Internat. Inst. for Strategic Studies, The Pilgrims, Brooks, City of London Club, Marks Club, Annabel's, RAC Club, Princeton Club (N.Y.C.). Home: 34 Norland Sq London WII4PU England Office: The Trinity Group 22 Upper Grosvenor St London W1K 7PE England Office Phone: (+44) (0) 20 7229 5187. Business E-Mail: wd.morrison@btinternet.com.

"The Pilgrims Society of London---many of England's most famous men---with a sprinkling of American residents of London." ---June 24, 1905, New York Times, page 1.

Notice Morrison doesn't mention where he was born. It may have been New York or New Jersey. The Princeton University Alumni Weekly of December 8, 1933, page 281, mentioned Maxey Neal Morrison as being on a Princeton sports team at that time. The author of the column was Herman A. Heydt Jr., who appeared in The Pilgrims New York 1969. Maxey's wife Mary was an Episcopalian, he was a Presbyterian. The 1957 Who's Who In The East, page 645 shows Maxey had a career starting in 1934 with the Philadelphia Inquirer and the Philadelphia Evening Ledger to 1941 and was with Curtis–Wright Corporation into 1944. C.W. Corporation is still in business in energy, aerospace, defense, power generation and other sectors. During 1944 to 1946 Maxey was director of the Civilian Information Bureau of the War Production Board. After that he was in public relations and had contacts in the Du Pont empire (Pilgrims Society, the biggest industrial silver users) through the Delaware Port Authority. His listing shows he had another son, Hugh Maxey Morrison. Bloomberg shows a Hugh M. Morrison, but it can't be the one we're looking at here as he's too young. No obit records found. Nothing found on Barbara Heath, W.D. Morrison's first wife. Nothing definite on David Conrow. John Pomeroy Morrison, probably the same one in the scan, is mentioned in a 1996 document from Hamilton College. Hamilton College was founded in 1793 as Hamilton–Oneida Academy and the paper money, national debt booster Alexander Hamilton was a trustee. As far as W.D. Morrison's children from his second marriage go, they undoubtedly are much more important in The Pilgrims worldwide spiderweb. First, review the next several items in this profile.

Morrison's second wife, Sandra Elizabeth Butter, was born in London on July 26, 1948. Her father, Sir David Henry Butter, is mentioned at this site with the notation "European Royalty & Nobility." This URL shows at halfway down the page Sandra Elizabeth Butter is listed as # 4427 with notations that her ancestors include Nicolas I of Russia: Philipp Wilhelm Von Brandenburg Schwedt and several other likely interesting characters. The page shows Sandra has three sisters and a brother---all with interesting pedigrees as to their marriages. This page, titled, "Descendants of Duke Wilhelm of Nassau," shows Sandra E. Butter descended from his line; which also intersects with that of the Grosvenor dynasty (a matter we looked at in Gerald Grosvenor's wife). Recall in #32 we reviewed Ivan Obolensky, another Pilgrims Society member descended from Russian monarchy. Nicolai I (1796–1855) was Emperor or Czar of Russia (1825–1855). In 1834 he founded Kiev University. His reign was marked by corrupt sub-administrators (bureaucrats) which allowed him to soak up considerable wealth. Under his direction construction engineers built the 404 mile long Moscow to St. Petersburg Railroad. Nicolai I had "a huge network of spies and informers," which evokes comparisons to our "national security" state of today---

Another of Sandra's royal ancestors dates farther back (1669–1711), Philipp Wilhelm Von Brandenburg Schwedt, who held the title "Margrave." He was born in Konigsberg Castle at Konigsberg, Germany. Unfortunately it was destroyed in 1944 by the Royal Air Force---

Philipp Wilhelm resided in Schwedt Castle in Brandenburg, northeast Germany, till his passing in 1711---

Another Royal in the lineage of Mrs. William David Morrison is Duke Wilhelm of Nassau (1792–1839) and he was German; the Dutch Royal family still today uses the word "Nassau" in their Royal titles. His cousin died in 1816, and from him he inherited the Usingen territories, expanding his exploitative area of control.

The Duke's residence in Wiesbaden Germany was Biebrich Palace---

Major Sir David Henry Butter (father in law of William David Morrison) was of a family whose status as landowners in Perthshire traces back to the 1100s. He was a Knight Commander of the Royal Victorian Order, referencing the 1800s when the British Empire reached its (unfortunate) peak of power. From 1946 to 2010 he was Games Chieftain of the Pitlochry Highland Games. In 1946 D.H. Butter became son in law of Major Harold Augustus Wernher, whose name was in The Pilgrims London 1924 roster. Prince Michael, Duke of Kent was at the wedding and the Queen became godmother to Butter's oldest daughter. Lady Zia Wernher was the daughter of Grand Duke Michael Mikhailovich Romanov of Russia. Besides marrying into old Russian nobility, Wernher rose to Major General in World War II and he was part of the brain trust in planning Operation Overlord, also known as the Normandy Invasion or the Battle of Normandy (Atlantic coast of France) in 1944. Notice that one of Morrison's children is named Natasha---a classic old Russian name and in this case, named for a Royal Russian, as is Charles Nicholas Morrison after Czar Nicholas I. D.H. Butter apparently wasn't a member: he functioned as a link between old hereditary landed wealthy royals, an earlier member and this member we're reviewing, William David Morrison, an American who moved to London. Alexander Piggott Wernher, H.A.'s brother, suggests by his middle name there's relation also to the Piggotts, another very old English family and also represented in The Pilgrims Society London. One of the Piggotts was extremely prominent in construction of major ocean going cruise ships and marine propulsion engineering and equipment sold worldwide.

Sir David H. Butter---

Interior view of "Luton Hoo" estate in Bedfordshire owned by Harold Augustus Wernher---

How do men like this afford such mansions? By "seizing" and "absorbing" wealth from others! They do it by a process of "Pilgrimization!"

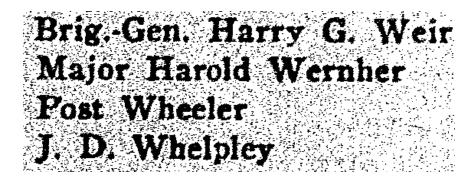

In "Grand Dukes and Diamonds---The Wernhers of Luton Hoo" by an obvious Britisher with a fairly painful name---Raleigh Trevelyan (which evokes suspicion as to his deep background) published in 2012 by Faber & Faber, we see here a genealogical layout in which you can see how Gerald Cavendish Grosvenor and William David Morrison are in a linkage situation and of course, the respective wives of these two Pilgrims Society members we're reviewing in this presentation. The book was given this brief intro here---

"Based on unrestricted access to private papers, Grand Dukes and Diamonds charts the history of one of the most influential and extraordinary families of our time: the Wernhers of Luton Hoo. The family's fortune was made by Sir Julius Wernher, financier, mining magnate, and one of the creators of modern South Africa. Luton Hoo, a country house in Bedfordshire, became the site of Wernher's magnificent collection and was duly inherited by Sir Harold Wernher and his wife Lady Zia, daughter of Grand Duke Michael of Russia and a direct descendant of Pushkin. At Luton Hoo the couple displayed her priceless collection of Fabergé, and together they ran a racing stud at Newmarket. Three of their racehorses, Brown Jack, Meld and Charlottown, became legends in their time. Sir Harold also played a crucial role at D-Day, the story of which has its definitive telling within Raleigh Trevelyan's fascinating narrative."

The Pilgrims London 1924 shows---

Of Wernher Wiki states, "He reached the rank of major-general during World War II, and played an important role in coordinating the logistics of Operation Overlord" (the 1944 Battle of Normandy or Normandy Invasion). Whelpley was a British propagandist raising hell for America to enter World War One on the side of The British Empire. One of his poison pen articles was "America and Her Impending Duty" (Littell's Living Age, April 10, 1915, pages 67–72). He had a relative turn up in The Pilgrims U.S. 1957 and 1969 rosters who started with Chase National Bank then migrated to the immense Guggenheim mining empire and personally sucked God knows how much wealth out of Chile in South America. That other Whelpley was an Episcopalian, while the Guggenheims (Jewish) weren't directly represented in The Pilgrims, but by proxies like Whelpley! While Whelpley was involved with vast silver byproduct of Guggenheim copper mines, he was a member of the anti-monetary silver Bankers Club in Manhattan (page 2583, Who's Who in America, page 2583). Wheeler was a career diplomat with assignments in Japan, Russia, Italy, Sweden, England, Brazil and Paraguay.

His father, Maxey Morrison, worked for the WarProduction Board in WW 2

And afterwards for the Delaware Port Authority (Du Pont/silver users influence).

In addition to offices at 22 Upper Grosvenor Street, Trinity has offices in St. George House, 15 Hanover Square in Mayfair, London---

Having had a glance at some of the amazing royalty behind Morrison's wife, we now return to his own career. Being a Yale alumnus, he almost certainly is a member of one of Yale's "super fraternities" such as Wolf's Head Society or The Berzelius Society, or one of their counterparts. In 1965 Morrison landed at the Winthrop Stimson law firm (deep connections to The Society) and as of 2005 with a different name due to a merger but the Winthrop name remains and traces to early Colonial Massachusetts; in 1979 to 1988 Morrison was with LeBoeuf, Lamb law firm (also deep Pilgrims connections as we saw in #22, profile of Robert C. Lawrence III); he was with Bryan, Cave LLP in 1988 to 1997, a firm which now reps for MONSANTO.

Next he went to Sidley Austin, 1997–2002, a much newer Pilgrims connected law firm; then he took over the top spot in The Trinity Group, London---although his info in the scan shows him as "senior legal advisor" to Trinity. Here's Morrison at left with Pilgrims executive committee member James Zirin of Sidley Austin---Zirin was profiled in number eighteen Silver Squelchers, pages 2-22---

Morrison's info at The Trinity Group site shows him as its chairman. We read---

"Bill began practicing law in New York in 1965 and came to London in 1975, when he opened the London and Jeddah offices for his firm. He has, over the years, been primarily involved in commercial transactions, specializing in banking, securities, mergers/acquisitions and investment funds, with a heavy emphasis on Middle Eastern and European clients and transactions. He has lectured and written extensively on doing business in the Middle East, particularly in Saudi Arabia."

Profiles at the Trinity site show that other persons working under him have the following past or present connections---Bear Stearns & Company (at one time, the big COMEX silver short according to Ted Butler); Bear Stearns Global Investors; Pierson Investment Finance (UK) Limited; ABN-AMRO; Boston College; Chemical Bank New York; Saudi International Bank; Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co.; KKR Middle East and North Africa; KKR Saudi Ltd.; Bank of America Merrill Lynch; Middle East Policy Council; Berger Group Holding; International College in Beirut; Intercontinental Real Estate Corporation; Continental Capital Corporation; Triad Holding Corporation; Imperial Bank; HMS Group; Inter Arab Investment Fund; Western Association of Venture Capitalists; Stanford University; Pittsburgh Steelers; Denver Broncos; National Football League; Almeida Capital Ltd; Credit Suisse First Boston; BGC Brokers; GFI Group; Portsmouth University; Rhône Buyout Group; London School of Economics; Standard Chartered Bank; Compass Rose International; Middle East Symposium; Kingston University and others. In keeping with Morrison's profound Russian hereditary links, he has someone named Natasha in The Trinity Group. Ford Fraker, an associate in Trinity, was U.S. Ambassador to Saudi Arabia (2007–2009). How much inherited wealth from his wife went into The Trinity Group? And/or wealth from her siblings and their connections? How much oil wealth has The Trinity Group channeled around the world, as their main focus is on Saudi Arabia? Military contracts---have they been placed with assistance of Trinity Group? His membership in the London based International Institute for Strategic Studies (warmongering think tank, Pilgrims controlled) shows his reckoning with future military conflict, and position investments to pour income into his treasure chest!

the-trinity-group-Itd-london

On May 1 ("Mayday") 2014, Morrison was part of "Cooperation Ireland Legal Dinner" in London; apparently that means the Irish are expected to remain subservient to their English overlords. His profile at Trinity states he's a member of the Royal Institute for International Affairs in London. That's the U.K. equivalent to the CFR, Council on Foreign Relations.

Trinity, which is concerned with "alternative assets" and corporate finance, says---

"Trinity's clients have included: The Carlyle Group, Lexington Partners, Kohlberg Kravis Roberts, Coller Capital, BC Partners, Cinven, Pantheon, Starwood Capital, Intercontinental Real Estate Corporation, Louis Dreyfus Commodities, Greenspring Associates, Hermes GPE, Swiss Re, Robeco Institutional Asset Management, Care Capital, Boston Capital, Venturion Capital, Sanderling, Aquiline Capital Partners, Evercore Capital Partners, Macquarie Bank, Deutsche Bank, DVB Bank, Grove Street Advisors, Highland Capital Partners, Causeway Media Partners, and Bear Stearns." http://mideastconsultancy.com/new/mecs/sale.php? Stid=3&id=131

Morrison in his scan says that as of 2002 he's a consultant to MEC International in London. They are Middle East Consultants International which has a "Windsor Energy Group" as a division, named after the British Royal family. Yes it's a direct connection; they do meet at Windsor Castle. WEG has relationships with Kuwait Petroleum, British Petroleum, Shell, Marathon Oil and other industry giants. MEC has other divisions including "Global Nuclear Initiative." Ready for humor? I knew someone in high school who insisted on saying "the Mental East." He always said "we're going to a beating" when he meant "to a meeting," he knew the difference but was being stubborn. He'd say, "It's invitable that he's an idot," meaning "it's inevitable that he's an idiot." The intentions of these Pilgrims are clear also---"world control." MEC is chaired by The Marguess of Lothian, Michael Kerr, the 13th Marguess of Lothian, a high title in British nobility. I'd bet a year of going naked that he's a Pilgrims member! His father, Peter Kerr, member of the House of Lords (1922–2004), was in the leaked 1980 London Pilgrims list. The father held top level U.K. diplomatic positions on the United Nations General Assembly; the Council of Europe; and the Western European Union. Philip Henry Kerr, the 11th Marguess of Lothian, was in The Pilgrims London 1940 roster. The 11th Marguess was British Ambassador to Washington (1939–1940). He was pals with Viscountess Astor, who urged America to join England in the second World War. Previous to that he was an associate of prominent stringpuller in South Africa, Viscount Milner (Pilgrims Society), who had personally known the awful Cecil Rhodes, who schemed The Pilgrims in the 1870s. The 11th Marquess was a director of United Newspapers and secretary of The Rhodes Trust (1925–1939), which "educates" power hungry collegiate age men at Oxford University, after which they're placed in positions of influence here and overseas, to exert themselves for globalism. The most important Rhodes Scholars later become members of The Pilgrims. Mother of the 11th Marquess was from the FitzAlan–Howard line. Their extreme wealth ($252.6 BILLION adjusted to modern terms) is described in #11 Silver Squelchers, pages 37–40. 1940 and 1980 Pilgrims London lists; the 11th & 12th Marquesses of Lothian–––the current titleholder, who chairs MEC International, to whom Pilgrims member William D. Morrison is a senior consultant to MEC, is an extremely strong prospect for current membership. The Secret Society holds steadfast in refusal to post lists to the public domain–––

> Lothian, Most Hon., the Marquess of C.H., D.C.L., (British Ambassador to the United States) Ludington, Wm. H.

Longden, Sir Gilbert, M.B.E. Lothian, The Marquess of

"Founded around 1984, MEC is active in the Middle East, Sub-Saharan Africa and Asia and states, "Our client base is global and includes many of the strongest and best informed corporations, institutions and governments." Like Trinity Group, MEC International has officers whose backgrounds feature impressive connections, including Windsor Energy Group; Trilateral Group (separate entity from the Commission); Oxford Analytica; Ludgate Investments; US State Department; London University; International Nuclear Material Protection Co-operation and Accounting Program; Republicans Abroad; Rio Tinto Zinc; Birmingham University; UK Immigration Service; University of Cambridge; NATO Advanced Research Workshops; British-Swiss Chamber of Commerce; Intertrust Switzerland; Nestlé; HSBC; Arab Financial Forum; LGT Group; RHT Partners; RJ Fleming & Co; School of Oriental and African Studies; British Council in Iraq; HM Diplomatic Service; Arab International Media Group; Global Nuclear Initiative; Network for Energy Technology; UK House of Lords Science & Technology Committee; UK Atomic Energy Authority; Gulf Cooperation Council; British Broadcasting Corporation; Air Products, BP, Shell, British Gas, Kuwait Petroleum, Mitsui, Marathon, Petrofac, PDVSA; Aegis; World Trade Organization; and more. One of Lothian's associates was British Ambassador to Georgia, Albania and Latvia. Another was British Ambassador to The Sultanate of Oman. Others in the MEC structure held British diplomatic posts in Lebanon, Libya, Kenya, Egypt, Jordan, Latin America, Thailand, Italy and Iraq. The MEC profile, to which our subject Pilgrims member William D. Morrison is strongly linked, just gets more profound---Special Advisor to MEC International is Sanford G. Henry of which the MEC site says--- "He is a former a Managing Director: Edmond de Rothschild and Fund Manager at Lazard Freres."

MEC offers an Intelligence Advisory service. William D. Morrison, Pilgrims Society, has a plethora of powerful connections! Divisions of MEC include---

Morrison also holds memberships in---

Morrison is licensed to practice law in California---

Founded in 1947 in London---http://www.ibanet.org/

the global voice of the legal profession

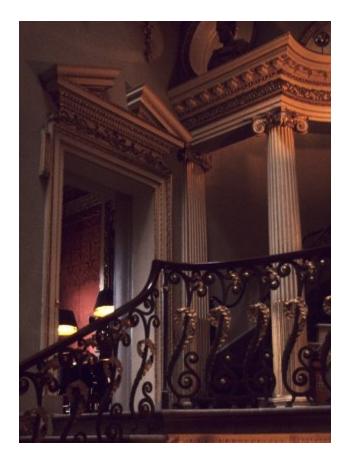

Brooks Club in London was founded in 1764---

Interior view, City of London Club, founded in 1832---

Mark's Club in London appears to be an upstart. Interior of Annabel's Club---

The Royal Automobile Club (founded 1897) is incredibly opulent---

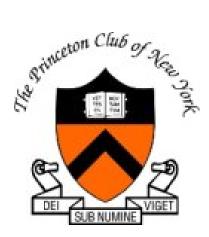

Morrison is in the Princeton (University) Club (1866) in NYC, well enmeshed

In The Pilgrims Society's vastly encompassing spider web of groups---

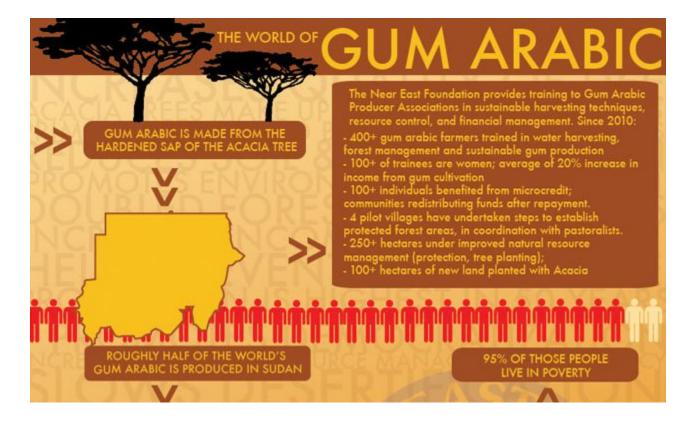

Such is the world of members of The Pilgrims, history's most elite organization.

Morrison's mother---Mary Fuller Chase has the name Pomeroy in her ancestry. It may be linked to Burdette Pomeroy (Pilgrims New York 1949, 1957, 1969, 1974, 1980) and Reynolds Pomeroy (1940 & 1949) and knowing the interconnected nature of this organization, there may be ancestry to Salmon P. Chase who was an Ohio Senator, then Governor of Ohio, Secretary of the Treasury (1861-1864) the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court; Chase National Bank was named after him in recognition of his servility to The Money Power. Additionally, she may possibly be of the same family as Salmon P. Chase (1808-1873) who was a Senator from Ohio (1849-1855) then Governor of Ohio (1856-1860), then again an Ohio Senator (March 4 to March 7, 1861), whereupon he became Secretary of the Treasury, holding that post until June 30, 1864. On December 6, 1864, Chase became Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, an appointment lasting till May 7, 1873. He conceived the National Banking Act of 1863 and he's the one for whom Chase National Bank was named! Mary Fuller Chase---possibly related.

William D. Morrison is founder and chairman of the Gum Arabic Foundation http://www.zoominfo.com/p/William-Morrison which operates the Acacia Social Investment Fund which got 75 million Euros from the Dutch State Employees Fund and we read---

"Gum Arabic remains an important cash crop for thousands of African farmers in the sub–Saharan "gum belt". The main production areas are in the Sudan but the commodity is also produced in, another 14 countries, many of them in the arid and semi–arid areas of the region including Nigeria and Senegal. Gum Arabic itself is essential in sustaining their farming systems, but with fluctuations in prices and the prevalence for uncertainty in the profitability of the crop it is unclear whether this fluid situation can ensure the sustainability of gum supplies to the world market. By establishing the industry on a firmer footing and developing the rural areas and communities that it supports, will provide for a significant positive impact on the region's collective revival. Establishing fairer trade amongst the Gum Arabic supply chain participants will be one of the core objectives of the Fund's social agenda."

Acacia Social Investment Fund is associated with Prorustica, which "is at the cutting-edge of agricultural development in Africa." Gum Arabic "also known as acacia gum, is a natural gum made of hardened sap taken from two species of the acacia tree. The gum is harvested commercially from wild trees mostly in Sudan (80%. Gum Arabic is used primarily in the food industry as a stabilizer. Gum Arabic is a key ingredient in traditional lithography and is used in printing, paint production, glue, cosmetics and various industrial applications, including viscosity control in inks and in textile industries. Also called acacia after the original source, gum Arabic is used as an emulsifier and a thickening agent in icing, fillings, chewing gum and other confectionery treats. The historical photography process of gum dichromate photography uses gum Arabic mixed with ammonium or potassium dichromate and pigment to create a coloured photographic emulsion that becomes relatively insoluble in water upon exposure to ultraviolet light. In the final print, the acacia gum permanently binds the pigments onto the paper. Acacia gum reduces the surface tension of liquids, which leads to increased foaming in carbonated beverages. For much of the 19th century, gum Arabic was the major export from French and British trading colonies in modern Senegal and Mauritania. France in particular first came into conflict with inland African states over the supply of the commodity, providing an early spur for the conquest of French West Africa."

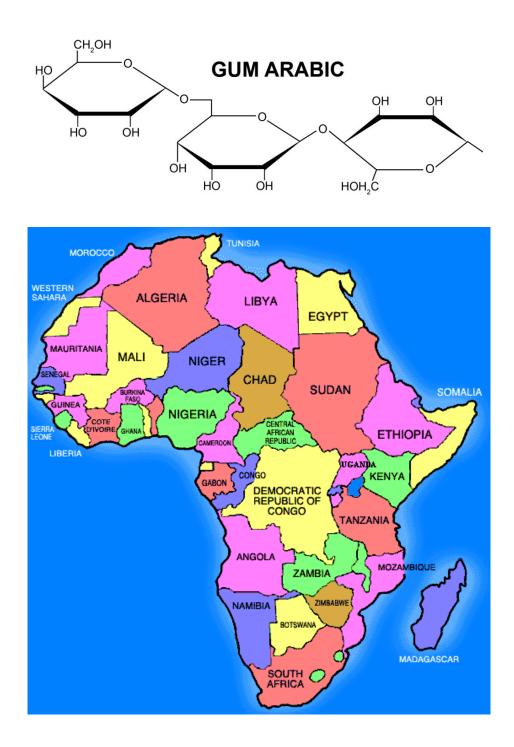

In "Gum Arabic---the Crop that Binds" at http://nextbillion.net/blogpost.aspx?blogid=3727 subtitled "The Commodity that Nearly Every Soda, Pill and Candy Needs" we notice---

"Without a magical little ingredient called gum Arabic, all the sugar in your soda would sink to the bottom of the can. Made from the hardened sap of the acacia tree, gum Arabic is a little-known additive and adhesive critical in foods, medicines and cosmetics. It keeps sugar suspended in soft drinks, makes marshmallows chewy, adds firmness to ice cream and makes postage stamps stick to envelopes. Farmers who grow gum Arabic should be benefitting financially from producing such a widely used crop. Instead they suffer at the base of a supply chain that faces an incredible spread of challenges. Gum Arabic is sourced from some of the poorest and most unstable areas on Earth. Sudan, Chad and Nigeria produce 95 percent of gum Arabic exported to the world market. Sudan is the globe's foremost producer at an estimated 88,000 tons per year, equivalent in weight to 550 blue whales. Sudanese gum Arabic is so vital that it was the only exemption when the United States brought trade sanctions against Sudan in 1997. Although gum Arabic is one of the most important agricultural export in Sudan, the estimated 5 million Sudanese farmers who depend on the crop for their livelihood receive only a tiny fraction of the income generated by it. The sap usually leaves the country in its raw, unprocessed form, allowing processing centers in Europe and the United States to double or even triple the gum's value, and keep the profits. While people across the world benefit from gum Arabic, its producers in Sudan struggle against almost impossible odds."

How much interest does Morrison and/or his Trinity Group London hold in gum Arabic production across an immense swath of central Africa? Does he have a hand in pushing vaccines in those areas? (Continue reading his profile!)

It's the same in diamonds. Independent African prospectors pan rivers for alluvial rough diamonds. They sell them for small amounts to English, Americans and Europeans---and some Arabs, in outpost areas and cities. On arrival in a cutting center, the price increases at least 20 x and after being cut and polished, the price at retail is increased by 4 x or more.

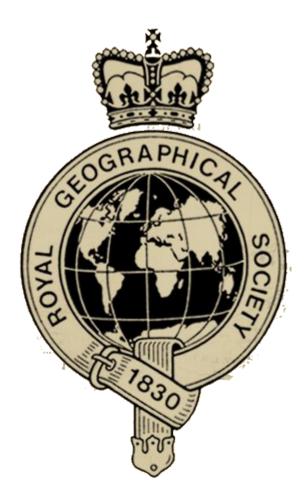

Besides Morrison's enormous personal connections, other trustees of his Gum Arabic Foundation include past and present connections with University of York; Rainforest Foundation; Jupiter Asset Management; Ecology Funds; Global Care Funds; AMP Capital; Sustainable Future Funds; Henderson Global Investors; Industries of the Future Fund; UK Social Investment Forum; World Business Council for Sustainable Development; UNEP Financial Sector Initiative; IFC Sustainable Financial Markets Trust Fund; International Interfaith Investment Group; The Carbon Assets Fund; Carbon Capital Markets; Libra Natural Resources; London Bridge Capital; GlobaLab; University of Bologna; University La Sorbonne Paris; University of Urbino; United Nations; European Union; Feltrinelli Foundation; BHF Bank; DZ Bank; South African Bank; HSH Nord Bank; German Micro Finance Fund; TBLI Brooklyn Bridge; International Programme of ACEVO; others.

The Gum Arabic Foundation gets input from the Near East Foundation which was launched by Pilgrims Society member Cleveland H. Dodge of the Phelps–Dodge copper and polymetallic mining fortune largely based in Arizona. Henry Morgenthau (Pilgrims Society) was involved early on as an executive committee member and there may have been others. Two Ambassadors are in management of the NEF today and are potential Pilgrims. Additionally there's a member of the old–line Dutch Goelet dynasty which is one of the few to date I haven't been able to link to The Pilgrims due to information gaps.

I submit this Gum Arabic Foundation is a power grab on Morrison's part, a seizure of wealth, and there is not net amount of altruism involved. Morrison's interest in Africa fits with his membership in the Royal Geographical Society of London---which goes far deeper than mapmaking and photography---

http://www.rgs.org/HomePage.htm

RGS HQ in London---

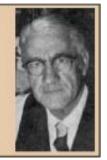

At The Sabin Vaccine Institute we notice this W.D. Morrison, Pilgrims Society member who married into a remarkable conflux of old Royal lines and became a figure in The City of London, is a trustee of The Sabin Vaccine Foundation Europe along with a member of the British Parliament and the treasurer of the Royal Bank of Scotland with 141,000 employees. Sabin Foundation has a Vaccine Advocacy and Education Program and a Vaccine Development Program. The Sabin Vaccine Institute is at 2000 Pennsylvania Avenue North West, Washington D.C. The Sabin VI is involved in http://www.sabin.org/shaping-policy And what policy do they want besides all the small folks must be pincushions for the Pilgrims Society Monster Machine that is the vaccine industry? They get vast income streams for their Big Hospitals and their Big Doctors treating vaccine injuries and disabilities which they deny are caused by their vaccines; they get populations who've lost the ability to question their "Great Leaders," and they march towards global depopulation, while planning more regional wars and World War Three.

"Many here voice a silent view that the Salk and Sabin vaccine, being made of monkey kidney tissue....has been directly responsible for the major increase in leukemia in this country"

Frederick R. Klenner, M.D., F.C.C.P .

Charles H. Sabin (Pilgrims New York 1914, 1924 and 1933) had this info on page 1821 of the 1928-1929 Who's Who in America---

SABIN, Charles Hamilton, banker; b. Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 24, 1868; s. Thomas and Cordelia (Eldridge) S.; grad. Greylock Inst., S. Williamstown, Mass., 1885; (A.M., Williams); m. 2d, Pauline Morton, Dec. 1916. In employ of Henry Russell, flour mcht., Albany, 1887-89;

with Nat. Commercial Bank, Albany, 1889-91, Park Bank, Albany, 1891-98; cashier Albany City Nat. Bank, 1898-1902; v.p. Nat. Comml. Bank, 1902-07; pres. Nat. Copper Bank, New York, 1907-10; v.p. Mechanics and Metals Nat. Bank, 1910; v.p., 1910-15, pres. 1915-21, chmn. bd., Oct. 1921-Guaranty Trust Co. of N.Y.; director International Mercantile Marine Co., Inspiration Consol. Copper Co., Intercontinental Rubber Co., Shell-Union Oil Co., Mo.P.R.R., Nat Surety Co., Discount Corpn., Chase Securities Co., Cuba Cane Sugar Pres. Boys' Club. Corpn. Episcopalian. Clubs: Ft. Orange (Albany), Racquet and Tennis, Links, Bankers, Piping Rock, Recess, India House, National Golf Links of America. Home: Southampton, L.I. Office: 140 Broadway, New York, N.Y.

C.H. Sabin's middle name suggests he may have lineage back to British connected financial conspirator Alexander Hamilton, who Aaron Burr should have cashed out sooner (July 11, 1804). This isn't farfetched, Pierpont Morgan Hamilton was in The Pilgrims 1957 New York list and traced to Hamilton and the original J.P. Morgan both. Was Sabin a relation of vaccine researcher Albert Sabin (1906–1993)? Possibly; it's a fairly scarce name. Notice that C.H. Sabin was in management of Guaranty Trust and Chase Securities---both forerunners of the silver antagonistic JP Morgan Chase. During 1935 to 1939 medical conspirator par excellence Albert Sabin was a member of the "scientific staff" of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research (Who's Who in America, 1980–1981, page 2875). Vaccines are a conspiracy of the big rich to suck wealth from the public---to dumb people down so they are compliant; and to reduce population. Consequences of the vaccine movement in India (Natural News) --

"BECOME HUMAN PINCUSHIONS FOR ALL VACCINES SAYS THE MONEY LORDS OF THE PILGRIMS SOCIETY!"

"QUESTIONING OUR VACCINES IS A CLINICAL MENTAL DISORDER THAT NEEDS COURT ORDERED, POLICE ENFORCED TREATMENT!"

"WE MONEY LORDS AND ROYALS WANT YOU SERFS SQUELCHED, GO & GET ALL VACCINATIONS!"

WE CONTROL ALL YOUR CHILDREN AS EVERY LIFE BELONGS TO THE

CROWN "REPORT IN FOR YOUR HELL 666 VACCINATIONS NOW!!"

Morrison resides at 34 Norland Square in London. A recent listing there is for 5,500,000 British pounds (over $8.2 million USD). A nearby residence went for 8,000,000 pounds in 2013. It's well to bear in mind that the value represented by a residence takes no account of the contents---works of art as in paintings, and contents of safes or vaults---gold and upscale jewelry included.

There's a possibility---in this case, not a strong one---I mention it as it's possible---that Morrison has ancestry connected to Englishman James Morrison (1789-1857, Member of Parliament).

In "A Genius for Money" (2012) we note at this URL https://books.google.com/books? id=ba4BcujAUNgC&dq=thomas+goode+%2B+opium we find an intro---

"This is the spectacular rags-to-riches story of James Morrison (1789-1857), who began life humbly but through hard work and entrepreneurial brilliance acquired a fortune unequalled in nineteenth-century England. Using the extensive Morrison archive, Caroline Dakers presents the first substantial biography of the richest commoner in England, recounting the details of Morrison's personal life while also placing him in the Victorian age of enterprise that made his success possible."

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/James_Morrison

"In the 1830s, Morrison established the American trading company, Morrison, Cryder & Co., and invested heavily in the railway industry both in the United States and in France."

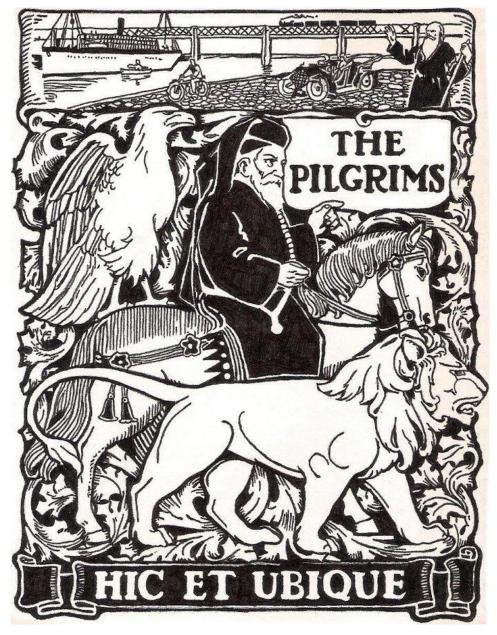

As far as his fortune having been "unequalled in England" at that time, I'd guess there were several dozen others who were decidedly wealthier. Everyone exaggerates their favorite character it seems. Just run a search to see how many men have claimed to be the world's strongest man in the last 50 years.

At "Commentary on the Shadowsphere," drawing on the work of my esteemed Dutch colleague, Joel Van Der Reijden, someone has posted this---

"The Pilgrims Society is a massively influential Anglo-American grouping of the Global Elite that remains unknown to the general public yet has members who number some of the most powerful men and women for the last 100 years. If you look at the small print of major historical events Pilgrims show up with alarming frequency unlike any other organisation in the world. It seems the US monetary system itself is crawling with Pilgrims. When analyzing the Pilgrims Membership list van der Reijden found that 1 in 3 of the U.S. members were also members of the CFR along with a regular and strong executive presence from Carnegie Institute; Federal Reserve; J.P. Morgan; Chase Manhattan Bank; and World Bank Presidents. As the presence of the Pilgrims is literally everywhere in Anglo-American banking, business and politics it is safe to assume, as van der Reijden points out: "... that the New York Federal Reserve Bank is owned by the Pilgrims ... because New York itself is Pilgrims property."

"A Secret Society gradually absorbing the wealth of the world."

---- Last Will & Testament of diamond monopolist Cecil Rhodes

"HERE AND EVERYWHERE"

Montana Congressman Jacob Thorkelson in the Congressional Record, August 19, 1940, referred to an address by Joseph H.

Choate, Vanderbilt family operative, one of the founders of The Pilgrims, as saying that those members who would many years later celebrate the start of the second century of The Pilgrims in 2003---

"...will have cause to bless their fathers that they founded this Society and kept the world on the right track."

Please ask sites to link this free research.

Please ask your Congressman and Senator to subpoena a Pilgrims roster!

www.silverstealers.net

www.nosilvernationalization.org

www.pilgrimsociety.org

Restore your arteries for small sum (supermarket item).