This 239 page item (image above), released in November 2016 had content that was up to date as of when it was released. Since then one of my worst fears, that being which organization would be chosen by the State of Texas Comptroller's office to manage it, appears to have been laid to rest. Texas and the PM community appear to be fairly safe on that score. Also the state sponsored vault facility has an OK location near the State Capitol of Austin in Williamson County. Gold is supposed to lose all respectability if not stored in COMEX vaults, huh? However, two serious flaws persist regarding the Texas Gold Depository. One, though the legislation that created this depository correctly bans the insidious, overbearing Federal government from coming and seizing the precious metals and other valuable physical objects (such as diamonds), the legislation remains defective as it specifies that no entity "other than by an authority of this state" can appropriate, seize, confiscate or alter ownership by court order, eminent domain or civil asset forfeiture. For Texas to protect depositors from Federal seizure while leaving them wide open to seizure “by an authority of this state,” is a hollow “protection” indeed. A Texas Ranger can shoot someone just as cold dead as an FBI Agent! If your hard won property is taken by a Federal or a State agency, or by a plain burglar, isn’t the end effect on you the same devastation?

We will promptly assert that if Texas wants its new bullion depository bank to be a success and to attract hard metal from many points of the USA and even the world map---including Mexico and Canada---it must take care to not tarnish its reputation by disrespecting private property deposited for safekeeping and for transactional usage! Were the Texas Bullion Depository to start seizing citizens precious metals via requests from other Texas state agencies (“authorities”), who would want to come in? What is the most commonplace reason cited for authorities to seize property, if not illegal drugs? Speaking as someone whose only “narcotics” (?) if such they could be called by so many alarmingly commonplace twisted minds, are chocolate and coffee, I say Texas should start moves to end the “War on Drugs.” We should use the model established by Portugal, after which “drug use has plunged dramatically.”

<https://www.thefix.com/content/decriminalization-portugal-ten-years-later> ---

“We’re not holding our breath that the Portuguese example will lead to any kind of abrupt about-face in America's own drug war, which is still sputtering steadily along at a cost of trillions a year. However, with the medical marijuana movement so far refusing to be strangled out of existence by the DEA, Senators Jim Webb and Arlen Specter recently made a proposal to create a blue ribbon commission to look at prison and drug sentencing reform.”

We can't have some tyrannically ridiculous situation happen in which someone has 636 gold ounces on deposit in the new facility gets a letter from the State Attorney General's office notifying them that their gold has been seized because some newbie in a citizen police auxiliary noticed part of a pot joint in his fourth cousin's driveway and he doesn't even know who that fourth cousin the hell is! Alcohol prohibition was a failure, the Drug War is a failure also---it creates crime and turns law enforcers into the worst criminals, busting into innocent people's homes and massacring the first dog they see so they can binge on their narcotic which is POWER. We continue to have a legal beer and alcoholic beverage industry and people who misuse those while harming others or being a risk to others are punished.

We also can't have Texas property tax districts filing paperwork to seize precious metals, rare coins, collectibles or gemstones over alleged nonpayment of taxes. No depositor in the new State of Texas Depository should forfeit their metals absent criminal conviction for felony, and not until after appeals are exhausted.

Strongly linked to people's ability to deposit precious metals in the new State Depository we note the excruciating issue of outlandish property taxes, which sully the state's reputation and persuade some to avoid moving here. If property taxes were two-thirds present rates, many Texans would be able to invest in precious metals for savings.

"Constantly climbing property tax rates upset voters across the state"---"The House Will Come to Order: How the Texas Speaker Became a Power in State and National Politics" (2010, page 186).

Property taxation has reached alarming runaway levels in Texas, causing many stress and sleepless nights; insist on dramatic rollbacks; we do not WANT so many “government services!” It seems as if with each property tax hike, they know that a new wave of thousands of struggling homeowners will be forced out in dozens of more populated counties.

What follows? Their former homes and lots go to “tax sales” at county courthouses---and are snapped up by an exclusive circle of cronies, who then add more to their expanding real estate holdings, and more money is generated to pay lobbyists in Austin to influence legislators to block real property tax reform? Is THAT what’s been taking place? Are most of these tax sales going to rich Democrats, and are they members of Masonic Lodges? Are there select groups of contractors with city and county connections who are feeding off the public with these acquisitive looting confiscation rates? How startling is this welter of corruption? My property taxes are up 45% in two years!

Actually, that overbloated 45% hike was as of the first “statement” delivered in December; unexpectedly a revised “statement” (coercive demand) arrived in early January, which still adds up to a 40% increase over two years ago. Apparently this is a wily tactic calculated by the schemers to dissuade voters from seeking a real rollback and a cap regulated by voters themselves.

The Texas Tribune, August 17, 2017, reported up to 50% increases! And the County Royalty recently built a new $13 million multi-story granite building--- completely unnecessary---in the county where I reside. It’s an awesome building, but is antithetical to frugality. It could be upgraded to gold plated and diamond studded too! Just treat homeowners like a herd of sheep to be sheared at will. Meantime, what of those highly vulnerable working class unfortunates pummeled into Spartan austerity by extortionate appraisal district demands from whom the relentless taxers draw by threats this pirated plunder booty from? They feel like they're at the edge of forfeiting body parts!

They can't do that home improvement; they can't take that short vacation; they can't buy the kids new clothes and have to shop Salvation Army and Goodwill instead; they must rummage like roving gypsy scavengers through stale possessions left at the curb by others summarily evicted from their former homes at gunpoint by the most horrifically heartless members of society; they have to let the pet's health situation go untreated; can't send their teenager to an orthodontist; they must stop eating out and spending money at the movies; they have to stay with a cheap flip-top phone because they still can't afford a smart phone; use cheap box fans and go about scantily clad indoors in summer to cut the electric bill; cut back on winter heating; shower once per week to scrimp on the water utility; take the risk of ripping off the neighbors water with their garden hose (financial pressure DOES incite crime); the kid's bike has to be sold to the pawn shop so the family can bleakly subsist on a $15 sack of beans; be worried shitless about the next round of stunningly increased tax demands; can't save for children's college tuition; have to get the high school grad a fast food job to help ends meet, and he/she gets only four hour shift due to people cutting back; have to max out on their credit cards at high interest; they can't retire and must keep slaving away, some transitioning from work to the cemetery; they have to get a low paying job after retirement; can't put aside meaningful savings; have low value retirement accounts, and some none; they are compelled to sell the wife's diamond engagement ring for 80% off what it cost to raise quick cash to appease the menacing property tax “authorities” and their implacable, voracious, gluttonous, marrow draining demands; seek loans from reluctant relatives; older folks must risk heart attacks by mowing their own lawns so as to avoid abominable code violation fines; can’t buy a new appliance; they can’t do so many things, because of callous property tax regimes spiraling out of control draining their life’s blood away, enforced literally by ARMED INQUISITIONAL MERCENARIES in an ENRAGED state of mind ready to KILL if anyone twitches, to evict people from their homes due to being “delinquent on their statement.” How much homelessness is due to heartless tax appraiser–collectors? It must account for some plump percent. The lowlife seen below? Father Time will squelch him!

so the armed bandits would stay away from our vine while the strangling weed of runaway government growth with its throttling tentacles chokes out more and more businesses dependant on discretionary income, and the employment they provide is curtailed. Are businesses like construction contractors who are recipients of funds vortexed away from homeowners by property taxes disproportionately represented in Masonic lodges to which city and county officials belong? Is that where much of this stealing traces to, “good old boy” networks?

“If taxation without consent is not robbery, then any band of robbers have only to declare themselves a government, and all their robberies are legalized”--- Alexander Spooner, who challenged the federal monopoly on letter mail (1844–1851).

"THE IRS JUST RAN OFF WITH WHAT LITTLE I HAD LEFT AFTER THE PROPERTY TAX CREEPS ALMOST SUCKED ME DRY! NO VACATION THIS SUMMER KIDS! NO STEAK! JUST BEANS!"

Many desperate members of the public are having to do so much belt tightening to keep their homes from being seized by the all-devouring Property Tax Cartels, their abdominal aortic blood pressure is risky high! Roast the public; we'll take MORE gravy next year! Lavish abundance for tax consumers and the contractors they deal with, squalor to the homeowners! Taxation without representation? Tax assessor collectors are now British Redcoat Generals ready to unleash murderous Colonel Tavingtons on the public! (“The Patriot” 2000).

*President Houston's first Official Residence at Houston

Frugality? Living within their means? Hell no! Not for spending spree Texas property tax appraisal districts rampaging like insatiable shrews binging on others savings! The bigger government grows the worse for the private sector! What's next? Cities deeply in debt due to bond issues stemming from developers who got on the City Council in a conspiracy get at public finances, will come after homeowners with absurd daily fines due to nitpicking "code violations," things that couldn't be repaired because the property tax extortion evaporated their finances? Home owners are hypertensive from fear as to what it will cost them to keep the wolf away from their throats next time! How much breathing air is in a vacuum? How much is in a wind tunnel? Homeowners can have the vacuum chamber air, sez the Tax ASSessor-Collector!

SINGLE ISSUE VOTERS UNITE! No commitment from State Legislature contenders to roll property taxes

back by 33% and cap at that level for five years, no voter support! We can comfortably do WITHOUT so many government “services” at the cost of turning us into dried up husks! Accumulate an inheritance for your kids? You have got to be joking! City and county governments will block you from this dream, capsizing your hopes and demolishing your rainbow. This thing is getting worse than the blasted Federal Reserve System!

You can pay up to several months late, with added penalties (hefty ones). But that allows you and your spouse and a grown child to sell fluids to the blood bank twice a month, to genuflect to the REAL owners of your homes! How many residents of low income frame house areas are having to sell their dogs to dogfighting rings as “practice” animals, after their finances are reduced to cinders by property tax grabs?

Locate EBAY bumper sticker seller; obtain a sticker for each side of rear of auto saying---

PROPERTY

SUCKING YOU DRY?

I suppose if you had such stickers you might be gunned down on sight by any typical church going policeman, and they almost always WALK! The ONLY reason Michael Slager, the cop in North Charleston, South Carolina, got a twenty year sentence for spraying a black motorist in the back with “righteous law enforcement bullets?” The local authorities didn’t want their property tax appraisal district to incur millions in lower valuations due to riots if he’d been allowed to “walk” like they really wanted him to! They’ll quietly release him after a few years or maybe say he had a heart attack, sneak him out and relocate him with another identity. Boating excursion post property tax ripoff---

At the county sub courthouse where I surrender my substance once per annum, they have some woman with the most pleasant voice routinely summoning people to go to this or that window to capitulate to their threat demand, and the voice soothingly says, “now serving number (so and so)” we need legislation forcing change in the wording to “Now BLEEDING number so and so!” Because they hike their property tax demand by 40% in two years does not signify that people’s incomes have so steeply jumped!

<http://www.lebanondemocrat.com/News/2016/05/07/Property-values-shock-residents>

On May 7, 2016, a news story from Pennsylvania reported residents were appalled to see tax demand sharply hiked 63% over the previous year's threatening demand! Wealthy Episcopalians there like the Drexels, Mellons and Biddles are sure to have their means of sidestepping this demand that prevents potential competitors from accumulating capital!

Businesses that suffer most from runaway property tax increases are those most dependant on discretionary income---restaurants, roller skating rinks, bowling lanes, beauty salons, barber shops, travel agencies, jewelry stores, new clothing stores, movie theaters, new car dealerships and so many more; dental implantologists and you can add scores to the list. People can still chew after missing several teeth! When the public has no money left after unrestrained, carpet-bagging property tax increases inflicted by demon influenced criminal gougers including wildly overpaid city managers, a wide range of businesses suffer and layoffs must occur. Government is never as efficient with money as the private sector! The insane lunatic greed of plundering, looting, blood sucking tax consumers has become a wild orgy, a revved-up nightmare frenzy akin to Mongol horsemen pillaging a city and thundering away with the best possessions of the people! Undoubtedly many Texans have been broken out of cherished gold and silver in order to meet these burgeoning, warp speed metastasizing property tax increase demands. Just thinking about the dreaded moment when they open these demand letters gives many unfortunates an acute sense of impending doom, like a caterpillar seeing a mean Texas red wasp land to cut it up alive for meat. Maybe that particular stinging terror buzzed out of a nest in Straus armpit! Air conditioning repairman in Dallas reports this sting hurts worse than a 460 volt shock! They are in San Antonio also; take no precautions Joe!

Love property tax hikes?

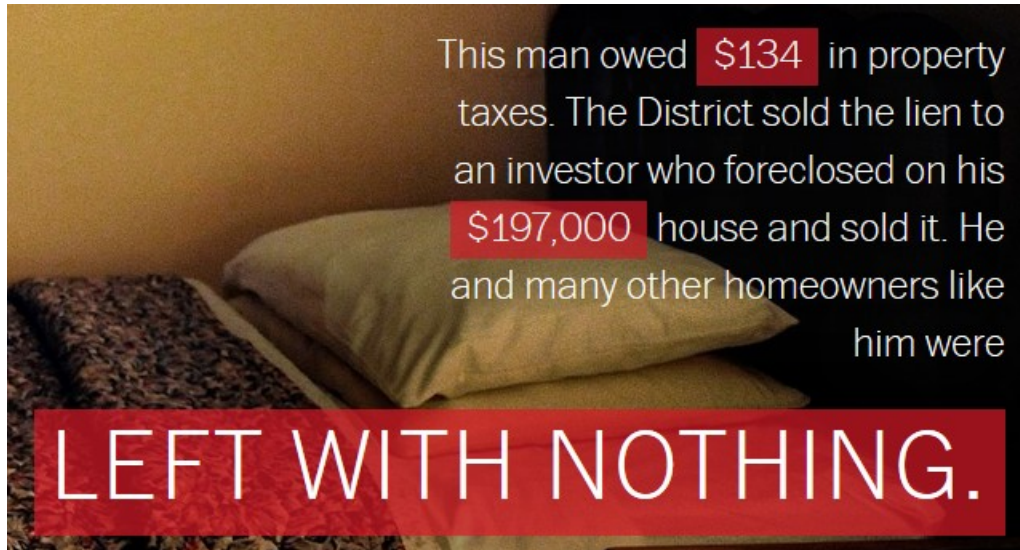

Then you must be “mentally healthy!”

Yes! You must be “clinically normative!”

This plays out in all 50 States and in D.C. The Washington Post, September 8, 2013, had a truly gut-wrenching account---

On the day Bennie Coleman lost his house, the day armed U.S. marshals came to his door and ordered him off the property, he slumped in a folding chair across the street and watched the vestiges of his 76 years hauled to the curb.

Movers carted out his easy chair, his clothes, his television. Next came the things that were closest to his heart: his Marine Corps medals and photographs of his dead wife, Martha. The duplex in Northeast Washington that Coleman bought with cash two decades earlier was emptied and shuttered. By sundown, he had nowhere to go.

All because he didn't pay a $134 property tax bill.

(Story gets much worse!)

A letter writer in Pennsylvania, regarding property tax gouging, remarked, “Let them SEE the SAUSAGE being MADE.”

For some it could be a subtle form of the torture seen in “The Wicker Man” (2006) and leaves their finances mauled as by a Cat ‘O Nine Tails. For some property tax payers, they may as well have been visited by an arsonist! Everyone wants more money with which to fund their goals; only government has coercive power to take money in complete disregard of the citizenry, who are just victims for their regional Dracula.

A 2014 news story from Detroit reported, “Winning bidder of Detroit home in tax foreclosure auction killed trying to take possession.”

Related stories aren’t so rare; the Washington Post of July 12, 1978 reported,

Assessor's Body Found - Bound, Gagged and Shot

The dead tax assessor's last named ironically was "Angerman." To note that such incidents have taken place does not equate to advocacy of them. The farthest I'd go is to contemplate refusing to convict anyone so accused were I on such a jury.

The Associated Press reported on September 9, 2014, "Property Tax Feud Leads to Shooting" --- "An Iowa man angry about his property taxes was fatally shot during a public meeting Tuesday after he pulled a gun from a briefcase and pointed it at the county assessor, law enforcement officials said."

An August 29, 2017 report from Georgia---

Tax assessors feared for their safety in season of unprecedented appeals

The point about these sad accounts is that everyone has a breaking point and it's awful public policy to continue turning the tax screws ever tighter, refusing to acknowledge that more people will "snap" because of it. Especially risky are those medically cheated folks placed on civilization destabilizing psychiatric “medications,” far more likely to go on a gun rampage!

A November 2015 item from Chicago was titled “Suicidal Property Tax Rates”--- “Confiscatory” is not an exaggeration of some of the rates common in many of these communities.

Rates now average 5.23% per year of a the market value of homes in south suburban communities.

Will the majority of Texans act before their property tax burden cripples their finances a la Illinois? Who are the real heroes of these tax imposers? Probably Witch Finder General Matthew Hopkins, the Marquis De Sade and Joseph Stalin.

Drive people to desperation; impose British redcoat style non-representative and escalating taxation upon them; mushroom the size of government by shrinking private sector finance; incidents of this type from Detroit will increase! “No house for the heirs, it was seized for taxes!”

Let's ask the question because there is the possibility---is legislative bribery transpiring in regard to the causation of runaway property tax “assessments” and blocking home ownership rights by defeating property tax reform measures in the State Legislature? <https://govbanknotes.files> ----

Contact your Texas State Representatives and State Senators insisting on the following needed reforms----

1) The same respect for private property of Gold Depository customers that Texas insists be shown by the Federal Government, must also be demonstrated by all government agencies of the State of Texas including State, County and (the repellent word) “Municipal.” Abolish eminent domain and civil asset forfeiture in all 254 Texas counties and also inside the Texas Bullion Depository especially as relating to precious metals, diamonds, real estate, automobiles and cash. Stealing from the public wasn't part of the dream for the future of the hundreds of Texas patriots who died under Mexican bullets, bayonets and swords at the Alamo and at the Goliad massacre! Not a Texan but among our best patriots---

2) The sad probability is that America may enter a state of active warfare involving North Korea, Iran, and potentially a duo of two far powerful adversaries as well. Wartime is when our rights as Americans and in this case, as Texans are most at risk. America hasn't had a military silver stockpile now for close to a generation. The fact of "no silver stockpile" gives the D.C. Government excuse to declare "national emergency" and order citizens to turn in any silver they own; local Post Offices would be convenient surrender locations! There is a prospect that we may be at war before the Texas Bullion Depository is up and running! So; all privately owned gold and silver in Texas 254 counties MUST be extended the same State of Texas protection as applicable for the Depository itself! If this protection isn't extended timely, there may be relatively little precious metal available for making more powerful on the world stage, the presence of the Texas Bullion Depository! Evil men nearly always take pre-emptive action before better men act to protect the public! DO SOMETHING ABOUT THIS! The Governor should issue a communiqué stating that all precious metals in Texas are immune from Federal nationalization!

As long as I remain a Texas resident I'd like to be able to repatriate my metals from New Mexico back into Texas; however, unless Texas comes up to the level of New Mexico in repealing civil asset forfeiture, my metal will remain out of state. The state insect of New Mexico is the oversized tarantula hawk wasp; its sting is rated as quite horrible; tax consumers, ask a larger specimen where my metal is.

By taking this sweeping legislative measure to protect all Texas residents against Federal nationalization of gold and silver as happened in 1933 and 1934, it would be a very high profile event in national and world news, and another battle would be won against inflatable government created currency! It would additionally cause within weeks literally millions of ounces of silver and hundreds of thousands of gold ounces to start migrating to Texas from such malevolent tax consumer states as Illinois, New Jersey and California. Texas represents 8.6% of the USA population but could in a matter of six months, attract 86% of the nation's privately owned gold and silver bullion, with insulation against repeat Federal "national emergency" theft as the attraction for moving PM here.

3) Roll back all property tax increases statewide by a minimum of one third and capped there for five years minimum. Make increases subject to voter approval. It will mean that many government workers for cities and counties will be laid off. Tough SHIT! It will also mean that there will be more money for private enterprise, and that these parasitical tax consumers with their biting flea minds and their blood sucking tick mentalities can gravitate towards the newly created private sector jobs, where they can become some useful cog on society's wheel. So many things that are being done by all levels of government are better to be done by private industry, private charity (churches and charitable groups) or both, and if so be it, not at all! When you contact your Texas State Representatives and State Senators with these demands let them know you are single issue voters on such matters of full protection for private property ownership rights in precious metals and property tax rollback and capping. Realize that unless you've contributed $500 or more to their political campaigns, they may not give you any personal response, including by staff. But! They will be aware that things must change else they'll be voted out of office. Too many municipal bond elections are another monstrosity that must be squelched. Cities with draconian fines for code violations must be dragged into court and those unreasonable fines reduced by legal challenge, and also by legislative rollback in Austin. The more per capita debt, the more tyrannical a city government!

4) Eliminate the annual tax on business inventory. Texas is one of 14 states still inflicting this tax, which is often non-transparent to most consumers. It places Texas businesses at a disadvantage with those of the other 72% of States that aren't doing this. It discourages businesses from expanding into Texas! It's well known that a new business needs to have a five year capital reserve to remain solvent till it can build up enough clientele to float! Inventory taxes kill many businesses that otherwise would survive and provide employment! Shrink government payrolls! Shrink government activity! Megamillions aren't needed for parks and park improvements; homeowners need some finances to stay afloat!

On May 18, 2015, an important news story came out about the Texas State Governor, Greg Abbott, putting the municipal government of the city of Denton in north Texas in its subordinate place, reeling like a child spanked by its parent, as "State law trumps municipal law” in this case, in regard to energy production.

When you contact your State Senators and State Representatives, please remember to also deluge Governor Abbott’s office with these concerns, and I believe he’s sympathetic as he already expressed with Lieutenant Governor Dan Patrick, much concern over rapidly escalating property tax demands by tyrannical local government coalitions; I don’t see how this doesn’t amount to RACKETEERING.

INCORRUPTIBLE TAX ASSESSOR-COLLECTORS?

<http://www.kbtx.com/home/headlines/Former-Leon-County-Tax-AssessorCollector-Indicted-By-Grand-Jury> --- (June 2, 2015) ---

CENTERVILLE - “A former Leon County tax assessor/collector is facing felony charges. A grand jury indicted Louise Wilson on two counts last month; theft by a public servant and misapplication of fiduciary property. According to the indictment, Wilson failed to deposit between $20,000 and $100,000 dollars that was collected by her office from March 1, 2010 to December 29, 2011. The indictment does not say what she's accused of doing with the money."

A December 9, 2015 news item reported an official embezzlement case---

Starr County tax assessor-collector arrested, investigators believe $700,000 was stolen

"Investigators arrested Starr County Tax Assessor-Collector Carmen Pena and other county employees Wednesday after determining that $700,000 in taxpayer funds had been stolen. The 229th Judicial District Attorney's Office today announced the arrest of the Starr County Tax Assessor and others/county employees in connection with a multi-agency investigation into alleged tampering of government records, theft by a public servant, forgery, organized criminal activity and more," according to a news release from the Texas Department of Public Safety. According to the investigation, it is estimated that more than $700,000 of county funds were stolen. The Texas Rangers, Homeland Security Investigation, the Texas Department of Motor Vehicles, the FBI, the local HIDTA task force and U.S. Customs and Border Protection participated in the investigation."

On July 22, 2016, tax assessor John Noguez in Los Angeles was arrested for taking $185,000 in bribes for lowering assessments.

A report from Florida dated April 1, 2017---

Franklin County Tax Collector charged with sexual activity with teenager

FRANKLIN COUNTY, Fla. - The Franklin County Tax Collector is facing serious charges after allegedly engaging in sexual activity with a 17-year old male, according to the Franklin County Sheriff's Office.

Investigators said they received a tip Friday that James A. Harris Jr. had some type of sexual activity with a teenager. During a criminal investigation at a home in Eastpoint that night, Sheriff A.J. Smith said Harris confessed to the sexual activity.

Harris was arrested Friday night and charged with unlawful sexual activity with a minor 16-17 years of age, a second degree felony.

He was released Saturday morning from the Franklin County Jail after posting a $5,000 bond.

Harris has served as the tax collector for about 25 years.

(April 3, 2017)--- “The former Tax Assessor–Collector for Austin County was indicted by a grand jury last week. Marcus Pena was indicted on Wednesday in the 155th Judicial District Court on charges of theft and misapplication of fiduciary property of a financial institution, greater than $150,000 and less than $300,000. County officials say they discovered discrepancies in the office funds when a new assessor–collector took office. District Attorney Travis Koehn notified the Texas Rangers, who led the investigation, while the Austin County Sheriff's Office assisted. The Texas Attorney General's Office is handling the prosecution of the case.”

A tax assessor-collector in Massachusetts was charged with stealing over $300,000 in public funds “to sustain a gambling habit.”

How about those TAC's who just haven't been caught yet using funds drained from the exhausted public for renting hookers in Las Vegas?

A tax assessor-collector in a New England state was charged with money laundering and larceny (fall 2017).

At KJAS.com (Jasper, Texas) we note this scandalous situation dated November 29, 2017---

Jasper County Tax Assessor Collector Bobby Biscamp arrested on two felony charges

“Jasper County Tax Assessor Collector Bobby Biscamp was arrested on Wednesday and has been charged with two felony crimes. Soon after the Jasper County Grand Jury signed off on indictments against him, he turned himself in and was charged with 3rd degree felony theft by a public servant, and state jail felony securing execution of a document by deception. He has since been released on a bond that totaled $12,500 on the two charges. In March of 2017, KJAS News first reported that the Texas Rangers and the Texas Attorney General's Office were conducting an investigation involving the Jasper County Tax Assessor/Collector's Office."

An Illinois tax assessor collector was charged with forgery for attempting to use bogus documents to slash her son's "statement." (11/30/17)

On December 5, 2017, still another tax assessor collector found himself arrested; this time for official oppression (sexual misconduct) ---

Zapata County Tax Assessor arrested for official oppression and harassment

(The reporter) ---

Someone whines that I make no mention of all the thousands of TAC's coast to coast who haven't been charged with anything. To that I reply so what! They are all Communists (yes) in the sense that the infamous Communist Manifesto called for elimination of private property! See it all belongs to Appraisal "Districts" and people and businesses rent ("pay tribute") to remain on their lands and structures from the Appraisal District! I have no anarchy suggestion, but there's too little in place to cap government growth, and increasing taxes is the ONLY way it can grow---in this case, by KILLING its HOST that it FEEDS OFF of!

As of fall 2017, Texas House Speaker (“miss-speaker”) Joe Straus, an obviously hellbound demagogue spreading incalculable misery, sabotaging home ownership and the private sector, is the grand scale PICKPOCKET (“cortabolsas” in Spanish) who blocked property tax reform in 2017, isn’t up for re-election in 2018 (maybe he was diagnosed terminal)---let him read the 600 plus year old book “Dante’s Inferno” to get an idea of his future habitation. “Colder than a witch’s kiss ain’t ya?” (“Gunsmoke” episode “Island in the Desert” part 2, 12/9/1974) ---his moniker could be “DRY HEAVES JOE”---

BRIGAND!

HIGHWAYMAN!

“Taxes are the chief business
Of a conqueror”---“Caesar

And Cleopatra” (1945)

“TAX IMPERIUM” Joe Straus attempted to raise property taxes by 80% on four-fifths of Texas residents! Additionally Straus attempted to impose a so-called “granny tax” on Texas nursing home residents (HB 3778, 80th legislature!) No mother’s milk of human kindness is this money seizing Joe Straus! If he caused an aneurysm in an old lady’s temple to burst from financial worry over her struggling children and how they’re gonna pay property tax demands, he could just say she deserved it for being a lousy SCOFFLAW!

Joe Straus unremorseful coldness towards average Texas homeowners is best expressed in a line from the 1953 Western movie “Arrowhead” in which a woman asked an army scout as to her brother’s whereabouts and he replied---

Joe holds shares in Bank of America and Capital One Financial and every year at property tax time, Texas homeowners take on enormous credit card debt, often using as many as eight different credit cards, frequently accompanied by high interest and annual fees, to get the property tax carnivore away from their throats. This I know as I've discussed with some locally.

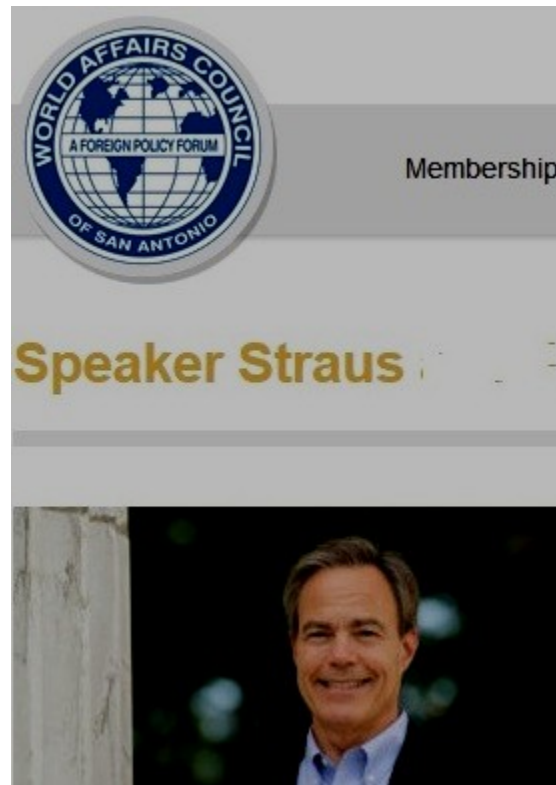

High interest rate loan companies send out bitter offers all the time and some resort to these to satiate the property tax demon. Joe Straus worked for Robert Mosbacher, United States Commerce Secretary (1989–1992). Emil Mosbacher Jr., Robert's brother, was in The Pilgrims NYC 1980 leaked roster (see more on this group later) and was a Chemical Bank director, a forerunner of the JP Morgan Chase colossus. Emil Jr. was chief of protocol for the State Department starting in 1969. Emil's father withdrew from the stock market before the 1929 crash; Jr., with holdings in oil, gas, real estate and insurance, was an associate of Nelson Rockefeller (Pilgrims Society). The 1994 “Who’s Who in America,” page 2457, shows Robert Mosbacher was a Presbyterian; his grandfather was Jewish. In 2010 the Washington Post called Robert an “oil mogul.” Robert’s ex wife Georgette was a booster of the tyrannical Attorney General John Ashcroft (2001–2005).

Emil Mosbacher Jr. became an Episcopalian <http://www.encyclopedia.com/religion/> Certain powerful Jewish people have converted to Episcopalian (Anglican) or Presbyterian (Scottish loyalists to the Crown of England) so as to advance in the clandestine globalist power structure run by the British Royal family! There was a Jack I. Straus in the 1980 list. Relation to Texas politician Joe Straus? Possibly.

Guilt by association? Absolutely 100%! Joe Straus is some sort of globalist type else Mosbacher would have never had Straus on board in the Commerce Department. Confirming Straus as a globalist also is his involvement with the World Affairs Council of San Antonio---

The WAC of San Antonio is a member of the World Affairs Councils of America with 96 tentacles in USA cities, which in turn has as a sponsor the Foreign Policy Association in New York. Dame Jillian Sackler (Pilgrims Society 2014 roster) heads the FPA and represents the family worth $14 billion via the poison called OxyContin. Sackler is the widow of a psychiatrist and Straus description at the WAC San Antonio says he's interested in "mental health" which long ago would signify that he's not a "witch" nor a "heretic" as psychiatry took over the role of persecuting people by means of bogus labels from the Protestant witch hunts and the Catholic Inquisition. Jillian Sackler's 100% boss is England's Prince Edward, the Earl of Wessex---

"You're building a career On corpses!"---line from "The Rifleman" 1960.

High and higher property tax rates, and the lowered standard of living that necessarily follows with them, have tons to do with globalism, as eliminating the middle class and forcing it back into Crown serfdom is a top goal of The Pilgrims Society, sponsored by the Royals. If Joe Straus gets a chance to brown-nose Prince Edward, hoping for admission into The Pilgrims Society, yes, I'm certain Joe would be delighted to think of himself as Edward's personal proctologist!

PROCTOLOGIST

AN ASSHOLE
WHEN I SEE ONE

If Straus falls short of invitation to join The Pilgrims Society, maybe he can be considered for the Order of the British Empire, a lower but important rank.

There are just and fair means of maintaining roads, bridges, schools etc. without runaway property taxes turning people into sharecroppers.

Could be that on a visit to Galveston Island, Joe was possessed by the spirit of Jean Laffite, the famous pirate who was once based there. Or maybe it was the ghost of Sam Bass, the 1870s outlaw, in Longhorn Caverns.

Just thinking about Joe Straus and his sorry, scheming, conniving breed is like having the taste of riboflavin in your mouth 24/7. Get a yellowish vitamin B-2 capsule, pull it apart and sample the taste!

To a tax assessor-collector a rickety home like this---

Looks more like this for tax purposes---

The Texas Tribune cites a recent figure of $918,000 as the value of Joe's San Antonio residence. The TT noted Straus holds shares in some 30 corporations, including Dollar General, where commoners struggling under ever more burdensome property tax demands so gleefully imposed upon them by his pals must go to shop; undoubtedly he can spree at Nieman Marcus. Joe has income from brokers, banks and a half dozen assorted investment companies plus two trusts. Joe, are you able to sidestep property taxes to some extent by means of financial gymnastics? In 2007 Straus got through a bill helping AT &T (and others) to the extent of a $200 million deletion from State funds. AT &T was his biggest campaign donor and the TT mentions he owns AT &T shares.

Has Joe Straus selectively invested in corporations who are big beneficiaries of county and city funds across America? If so and the tide turns, is he nimble enough to go short? By way of sardonic humor, he gets described by significant sources as “a small businessman.” More like he’s a big time BUCKRAKER!

“He is a member of the Cancer Therapy and Research Center Advisory Board, San Antonio Zoological Society Board of Directors, South Texas Blood & Tissue Center Advisory Board, Texas Nature Conservancy Board of Directors, Winston School Board of Directors, and member of National Financial Partners.”

The cancer treatment industry is huge. It depends on treatments, not cures. It’s an enormous bilking of the public. From my experience with my dog who had a sentence of doom pronounced on by a veterinarian (I was lied to, or the vet was ignorant) cancer if not too far progressed is easy to beat by exploiting metabolic differences between it and normal cells. I found all I needed at Pub Med to save my dog's life by using natural substances which are being researched to get patentable derivatives from so more money can be FILCHED from the public. The natural modalities ALREADY work and are CHEAP! Cancer depends on iron much more than normal cells; lactoferrin starves cancer of iron. Carnosine starves cancer of cancer's fuel, which is glucose; carnosine blocks cancer using copper, necessary for blood vessel expansion; powdered apple peel, olive leaf and sea cucumber contain various chemicals including triterpenoids and Oleuropein, which wreck neoplastic cells without harming normal ones. Don't expect Joe Straus to boost cheap natural remedies to anyone.

The Winston School in San Antonio is a regional private college prep school similar to old East coast schools for children of wealthy families. National Financial Partners is an insurance industry conglomerate. The South Texas Blood & Tissue Center is involved in biotech and genetic research--- more big money! The Nature Conservancy has its share of globalists hiding behind a good cause.

Joe Straus did NOT VOTE yea or nay for the Texas State Bullion Depository! They knew before the vote it would overwhelmingly pass (140 yea to one nay) and why didn't Straus vote? Was it due to New York financial community cronyism? Voting no would have made it too obvious he's a sellout on many major issues.

Governor Greg Abbot, absolutely on a better page re property taxes than Straus, complained about the "gentrification" effect produced by steep rates---the middle class and poor really suffer! Joe Straus is Texas gentry, as are his unappeasable cronies.

Joe Straus, who calls to mind medieval shape shifter legends, would likely get off on a safari to visit the Maasai tribe in Kenya, who pierce cattle and drink their blood, inasmuch as Texas homeowners are just like cattle to him in the property tax slaughterhouse. Home ownership? Straus and his rampaging feral hog tax appraisal district cronies say yes!

“You CAN own a doll house!”

Not only can you own a doll house according to Property Tax WARLORDS, it can also have “Talky Tina” residing in it, who told Telly Savalas in “The Twilight Zone,” November 1, 1963---

“My name is Talky Tina, and I’m going to KILL you!”

They can also cite Scripture to beleaguered homeowners, saddled with ever mounting tax demand burdens, “be warmed and filled “ James 2:16.

Straus is a Vanderbilt University graduate, maybe that's where he got his stealing streak from. Named after history's seventh wealthiest family, historian Gustavus Myers stated, "that their extortions reached hundreds of millions of dollars a year was a patent enough fact." (Page 368, "History of the Great American Fortunes," 1907).

Maybe Straus can become a smug director of the Mental Health Association of San Antonio and he can start branding people put out of their homes by the tax appraiser as "the homeless mentally ill," as if not owning a residence were a medical issue! Straus sure has his critics and he could always play the "mental illness" card with any of them---if they disagree with him on taxation, they now have a MEDICAL problem needing court ordered treatment! I saw he also owns shares in CVS Pharmacy, and they peddle high risk psychiatric drugs, huh?

Alarming Numbers About Texans and Retirement Accounts” a 2017 item, reports that on average, Texans have only $32,028 in retirement accounts, “far below the ten years of annual salary that many financial advisers recommend.” People living in regimented social communes (apartments) also pay property tax as it’s built into their monthly rent; they aren’t immune from the pulverization! Will property tax districts fund these peoples retirements? No! What they do is look for ways to grow government and wither the private sector.

Joe Straus of San Antonio also disgraced himself in shameful opposition to a “Texas Bathroom Bill” favored by Governor Abbott and his Lieutenant Governor Dan Patrick, by which they want to protect the Texas public from some flaky types who probably voted for Hillary Clinton. Hypocritically then was the remark on Straus by the World Affairs Council of San Antonio that Straus is interested in “protecting children from abuse.” Possibly more of an outrage was Straus blocking an anti-groping measure against Transportation Security Administration (TSA) personnel at Texas airports! Now, to what extent does Joe Straus approve of men who grope women? Ahh! If done under color of government authority it's quite all right; same as stealing from others is A-1 OK if done under color of government authority! He placed a right nonexistent in law on the part of the DC government to have its minions molest Texans, over the value of their dignity!

Tax hikes are the assessor's orgasm!
His mind is printed circuits, not protoplasm!
Let him read this, he'll have a weird spasm!
Hopefully he's near the edge of a chasm!

That's my personal poem, and I adapted the Ballad of Davy Crockett sung by actor Fess Parker to describe this serious stealing sinner Straus--- “Fought single handed to destroy morale!

Proving every day he’s not your pal!
He’s got you ready to throw in the towel!
Treats people like stock in a corral!”

“Tax thief, tax thief Joe! Thief of The Lone Star State!”

The Texas Monitor of December 12, 2017 reported, “Straus censured in home county over abuse, obstruction”---

“Republican leaders in Joe Straus’ home county voted to censure the retiring Texas House speaker, saying he abused the power of his office and usurped the power of the people’s duly elected representatives.
On a 77–21 vote Monday night, the Bexar County
Executive Committee called out the San Antonio Republican under state party Rule 44. The rule applies to a party office holder who takes three or more actions during the biennium in opposition to the core principles of the Republican Party and its platform.”

Click the link to read the rest but his stance on the bathroom bill was part of their disenchantment with his hide. Straus wrongly adjourned the Texas House early on August 15, 2017, very likely so as to derail property tax relief for Texas homeowners. The full resolution text to censure Straus is here.

The Texas Tribune, October 25, 2017, cited a remark from a Rice University professor on announcement that Straus wouldn't seek another term---“The political center of the state collapsed today.”

It didn't collapse in time to help Texas homeowners in the current “breaking-on-the-wheel” cycle.

A baker's dozen (13) of Straus anti-taxpayer colluders, several looking like gangsters from the old TV “Untouchables” series, recently retired from the Texas House! The Texas Tribune, October 26, 2017, reported Straus political campaign war chest still had some $10 million of unspent funds, and that he intends to deploy those funds to support certain Republicans; undoubtedly whoever will carry forward his anti-homeowner agenda! Texas residents, please support Greg Abbott and Dan Patrick for re-election! “No government should be able to tax people out of their homes. No government should be able to disregard the private property rights of its citizens. Texas should not stand for this. Property owners are not renting their land from the city. That is why we need property tax reform that prevents cities from raising property tax rates without first getting voter approval. We need serious property tax reform with a real revenue cap.”---Greg Abbott (April 2017) ---

John Jackson, campaign manager of Texans for Greg Abbot, sent me an email (excerpt) ---the opening was highlighted in the original---

“Our property rights are under constant siege as hardworking Texans continue to be hammered by rising property taxes. Property owners shouldn’t be renting their land and their homes from local governments, but entities that can tax and spend at the local level continue to blatantly disregard private property rights with rampant overreach. Because of our broken property tax system, more and more Texans face the risk of being forced out of homes they've lived in for decades.”

An Interesting Note On Property Tax Paid By Elite!

From my October 2017 release on the gargantuan Oppenheimer (Anglicans---not Jews) diamond, gold, platinum and mineral fortune, represented in The Pilgrims Society NYC by rapidly rising citrus industry kingpin Henry Richmond Slack, who has prominent medical gougers in his ancestry, on The Pilgrims executive committee as of the 2014 leaked roster---

www.silvermarketnews.com/.../

Henry Richmond Slack resides in Peapack, New Jersey and pays nearly nothing in property taxes! See pages 340-341 and page 352 for a mansion owned by a different member of The Pilgrims Society, valued at $13.5 million and property taxes ZERO!

The eagle represents America and the lion represents the British Commonwealth ("Empire") of which America is a covert component of!

Have a look at these scans following and you'll see he paid $8.64 in property taxes on one address which today is most likely worth beyond $2 million.

In 2016 the average New Jersey property tax was $8,353---over 966 times the amount this insider elitist paid! Mister Slack is 100% bossed by Prince William of England! Slack runs the Prince's USA branch of The Royal Foundation. Taxes are for serfs, peasants, peons and commoners!

These types also escape taxation intended to mow down potential competitors, by means of foundations and trusts. Wonder what Joe Straus fiduciary situation consists of, and his property tax grabbing cronies?

In “Paul Mellon: Portrait of an Oil Baron” (1974) we read that a property tax assessor in Pennsylvania was fired for “incompetence” when the Mellons felt the appraisal was overblown! Mellon was a second generation member of The Pilgrims Society whose father’s fortune, according to Texas member of the United States House of Representatives Wright Patman, was “equal to the entire value of all the property in the state of Texas.”

So to paraphrase Charles Bronson as Arthur Bishop in “The Mechanic” (1972) when he remarked, “There are killers and there are killers,” we arrive at---

“There are property taxes and there are property taxes.”

Texas property taxes, exploding like an angry mushroom cloud, are forcing Texans out of their homes, off their land, and are seriously debilitating all manner of productive business enterprises; enterprises which would more securely prosper with reinstatement of gold and silver money as favored by the best Governor (and President) Texas ever had---

Jan 12 About PM Ratios and Prices Charles Savoie

The backbone reason silver is such a small fraction of the gold price is that the powers that be hate silver with unlimited detestation because silver is the money of the masses, and they are dead set against silver showing value, and keeping investors thinking of silver as a sleepy investment that is doomed to stay sleepy and misdirecting trend investors into will 'o the wisp cyber currencies. There's no other rational reason for silver to be priced at mere pennies past the cost of production. See #'s 135 through #179 at No Silver Nationalization on how the elite have been beating silver down for generations and their kept politicians have made it the whipping boy of monetary policy especially since the close of the Civil War...
