TEXAS RESIDENTS---contact your state Senators and Representatives and insist that Texas owned gold be returned to Texas before the Texas Gold Depository is constructed! Don't give HSBC Bank (Pilgrims Society entity) more time to stall!

<http://www.capitol.state.tx.us/> There are ample storage facilities and can be guarded by Texas National Guard, Texas Rangers and Texas State Troopers! The world gold bank run is underway! It's terrible folly to wait! “He who hesitates is lost” applies!

On the matter of the toxic waste spill into Colorado's Animas River--- We must all steadfastly refer to the OBAMA EPA in every reference to the EPA. My two cents (1877 Indians in Mint State) is— Obama got orders from one of his bosses in The Pilgrims Society's inner circle, Prince Philip (big population reduction activist, says he wants to return as “a deadly virus”) to transmit orders to the OBAMA EPA to intentionally dump the toxins. See Prince Philip in poses with Obama on Google images. The Prince wants to poison people (“USELESS EATERS” is the Royal family’s description of plain folks) along the river’s course and downstream. Another reason—the waste came from a former GOLD MINE, this could be used as government pretext (“Pilgrims Society pretext”) to step in and SEIZE gold mines, as in Nevada and elsewhere! Prince Philip exerts his influence through more than 800 (eight hundred) organizations, see Wiki.

“Harrow the marrow” of The Pilgrims Society---spread this around!

In number 25 (or later) we'll discuss Tom Kean, who chaired the 9/11 Commission; he qualifies as a neocon, a warmonger and in intelligence.

1) Baron Robertson, Lord Robertson, George Islay MacNeill
Robertson was the tenth Secretary General of NATO, North Atlantic Treaty Organization (1999–2004). He has become a member of The Pilgrims Society in London at some time subsequent to the 1980 rosters. He is a member of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, the Royal Society of the Arts and the Royal Society of Edinburgh. Before taking the helm of NATO, he was British Secretary of State for Defense (1997–1999). He was Secretary of State for Scotland (1993–1997) and a Member of Parliament (1978–1999). The Baron is on record as making extremely forceful statements warning against the dire consequences of Scottish national independence--- naturally so, as by definition, Pilgrims Society members are Royal Family loyalists! We also note that he's a director of Cable & Wireless, an important megabillions telecommunications and internet corporation, and the Weir Group, reporting 14,000 employees as of 2012. It's involved in engineering in the oil, gas, mining and power generation industries. Weir Group has handsomely profited during wartime!

Robertson is also senior advisor at the Cohen Group in D.C., founded by a former Secretary of defense “to help multinational clients expand overseas.” The Baron is also a governor of the Ditchley Foundation, another Pilgrims Society think tank which stages high level conferences of USA and UK power brokers.

Ditchley says “*The Ditchley Foundation brings together leading practitioners and experts from around the world to help shape policy on the major international issues of the day.” Additionally he was or is a director of TNK–BP, a joint venture between Russian interests and British Petroleum, which had 50,000 employees until the merger into Rosneft, of which British Petroleum owns almost 20%. There are two interesting characters from the USA on the Rosneft board, one of whom has background with Exxon.

Wiki states that Robertson is on the advisory board to something disquietingly called the “Global Panel America” project and other elitist pockets of subversion. He’s been replaced in that post by Sir Malcolm Rifkind (Pilgrims Society London). Robertson holds decorations from the Netherlands, West Germany, Romania, Croatia and Estonia and the USA Presidential Medal of Freedom in addition to his strutting British titles---

Pilgrims Society member, industrial financier, Crown loyalist Baron Robertson warned of a “nuclear cataclysm” if Scotland achieved independence---

Robertson is president of the Royal Institute for International Affairs, which is directly subsidiary to The Pilgrims London in exactly the same way the Council on Foreign Relations is directly subsidiary to The Pilgrims New York. He is also president of the United Kingdom–Russia Roundtable. Tony Blair (former Prime Minister) to be profiled later is also a manager of this UKRR group.

<http://www.nato.int/terrorism/chronology.htm> shows that on January 31, 2002, Robertson gave a speech to The Pilgrims New York entitled “NATO after September 11” meaning after the 911 incident in which the World Trade Towers went down and the Pentagon was hit (all staged by The Society so as to enrich their war coffers and erode our Bill of Rights!) Excerpts---

<http://www.nato.int/docu/speech/2002> ---

“It is a great pleasure to be here with you. As a member of the Pilgrims, I have championed the special relationship between the United States and the United Kingdom throughout my political career. I have a few political scars to show for it. And of course, I now head the institution that embodies the transatlantic link as its very foundation. So I could hardly feel more at home than I do here this evening, in a group which focuses on, and supports, those important relationships. This is a particularly good time to be here. On the one hand, NATO's response to September 11th and the war against terrorism reaffirmed the importance of the transatlantic partnership. Tragedy in this city and Washington reinforces the bonds between us. As Le Monde uncharacteristically put it on 12 September, “We are all Americans.” But in recent weeks the tone of some commentators has changed. Merchants of transatlantic gloom have re-emerged to warn that NATO has been marginalized and that its future is in doubt. A good story. Is it true? I am here to tell you that the answer is an emphatic “No.”

The Society used the 911 tragedy to boost its globalist activities!

“You will, of course, remember that this is not the first time that predictions of this kind have been made. A dozen years ago, when the Berlin Wall fell, some critics suggested that NATO had completed its mission, and could pack it in. Then, after the success of the Gulf War coalition, they suggested that all future operations would be exactly like Desert Storm – and that, as a result, NATO wasn't appropriate to meet modern challenges. The critics were wrong. During the 1990s, NATO's members transformed the Alliance to deal with instability in Southeast Europe, to provide security across the European continent and to spearhead the modernization of their armed forces. NATO prospered, expanded and even won its first military campaign, in Kosovo. Ignore the revisionists. Kosovo was a huge success. We won in 78 days, without casualties, without a legacy of bitterness or terror, and with all our objectives met. Every time I visit Kosovo, I meet people who would not be alive today but for NATO's planes and soldiers. You don't hear them bleating about "war by committee." Today, NATO is keeping the peace in trouble spots in Southeast Europe; and cooperating more and more deeply with Russia, Ukraine, and 25 other countries in Europe and Central Asia. And as a sign of NATO's popularity among people who know, nine countries are queuing to be admitted to join this year. So NATO entered the 21st century as healthy, as relevant and as busy as ever before."

"Bleating about war by committee" was Robertson's mud tossed at non-interventionists who, if their will prevailed, the war complex profitability would plummet.

"But September 11th changed the world. As a result, critics argue that NATO has no role in dealing with the new threats that confront us all. Or that it could have a role but lacks the political will to seize it. I totally disagree. The critics were wrong after the Cold War and the Gulf War. They are wrong now. NATO is not only a part of the campaign against terrorism – it is an essential part. Start with the declaration of Article 5. We must not let revisionists cast doubt on the fundamental importance of that decision, within hours of the horrific attacks. By declaring that this attack was an attack against them all, NATO's 19 members triggered the same collective defence arrangements for the United States which Europeans had counted on during the Cold War. This decision demonstrated that the mutual trust and commitments on which the Alliance has been based for 52 years remain tangible, real and reciprocal. The fundamental link between two continents and among 19 nations is as strong as ever. But Article 5 is not just a statement of solidarity. It is also a commitment by Allies to offer practical support. And the response by America's Allies reveals a basic truth about the transatlantic relationship: that as we enter the 21st century, NATO remains the pre-eminent and unrivalled forum for preserving the security of all its members.”

The transatlantic relationship consists of England dragging America into foreign wars and eventually, installing the British Crown in the White House after doing away with the presidency. NATO is, like the League of Nations and the United Nations---a Pilgrims Society creation. Dean Acheson, heir to a Canadian whiskey fortune, was Secretary of State and authored “Present At The Creation” (1969) in which he actually mentioned “The Society of Pilgrims” in London on page 392. Acheson was not only a creator of NATO (acting for The Pilgrims inner circle), he was also “one of the chief architects of the postwar world.” His father was Episcopal bishop of Connecticut, a state tightly in the grasp of Pilgrims Society members with near total control over all media based there. Note Dean Acheson's horsefly looking face---how many livers were ruined and how many died in wrecks from his booze fortune inheritance (Gooderham & Worts Whiskey) ---

Continuing with Baron Robertson---

“At the outset of the crisis, the United States asked for a range of specific measures, such as enhanced intelligence support; blanket overflight rights for US and other Allied aircraft; and access to ports and airfields. This was quickly granted, and NATO – primarily European – forces were rapidly deployed to the eastern Mediterranean and the Balkans. Most significant, of course, was the move of seven NATO AWACS airborne early warning aircraft from their base in Europe across the Atlantic to replace US aircraft. These NATO aircraft are now patrolling US airspace. As President Bush said in his joint press conference with me in the White House Rose Garden on 10 October: "This has never happened before, that NATO has come to help defend our country, but it happened in this time of need and for that we are grateful". The old world coming to support the new, to misquote Winston Churchill. And a high point indeed in the transatlantic relationship. Ah, say the critics, but what about Afghanistan? It is true that NATO did not lead the campaign against the Taliban and Al-Qaida because, as in the case of Desert Storm in the Gulf, a larger, more diverse coalition was needed. But NATO's political, military and logistical support has been crucial. Furthermore, European members are leading the international stability force now deploying to Kabul. As in Desert Storm, their ability to work effectively with each other and with the United States is the result of decades of cooperation in NATO."

Both Presidents Bush the First and Second were/are neck deep with their Pilgrims Society counterparts in London.

"It is a striking fact that because of NATO's emphasis on multinational interoperability, British tanker aircraft over Afghanistan can refuel US Navy fighters, but US Air Force tankers cannot. And NATO's contribution stretches even further – because it has made a vital contribution to building the coalition that the United States needs to win this campaign. For years, NATO has been building partnerships and trust with Central Asian partners, including for example Uzbekistan. Now these same countries are providing airspace and bases without which effective operations in Afghanistan would have been impossible. Would that have been feasible without those years of cooperation with NATO? I doubt it. Afghanistan reinforces the fact that no modern military operation can be undertaken by a single country. Even superpowers need allies and coalitions to provide bases, fuel, airspace and forces. NATO and its partners in the Euro-Atlantic Partnership Council are the world's largest permanent coalition. And NATO is preeminently the world's most effective military organisation. It will not be in the lead in every crisis. But it has a vital role – in my view the vital role – to play in multinational crisis prevention and crisis management. Nonetheless, to maintain that role – to remain the central core of Euro-Atlantic security – NATO must continue to evolve. The context for our security is changing, and everybody in the security business has to adapt. What NATO's critics do not seem to know is that we are already on the job.”

“For instance, the Alliance is becoming the primary means for developing the role of armed forces to defeat the terrorist threat. NATO forces have, for example, already destroyed dangerous Al-Qaida cells in the Balkans. All our nations are examining ways to improve our forces' abilities to protect themselves against the use of weapons of mass destruction. And we are looking at using the military's unique skills and capabilities more effectively to protect our populations, and to assist in civil emergencies. We are engaging non-NATO countries, including Russia, in the process. Next week, I will host, along with Russian Defence Minister Sergey Ivanov, a major meeting to jointly look at how our militaries can do more, and do more together. This is an important symbol of NATO's deepening relationship with Russia, built on more issues than terrorism. We intend to work together as equal partners, in new ways which benefit both sides but still safeguard NATO's cohesion and autonomy of action. If we are able to bind Russia closely to the Alliance, and to what it stands for, the strategic picture will be transformed as fundamentally for the good as it was for evil on September 11th. We are also redoubling our efforts to complete the modernization of European and Canadian forces. They must be able to take on a greater share of the burden of maintaining our common security – including dealing quickly with terrorism and weapons of mass destruction. The United States must have partners who can contribute their fair share to operations which benefit the entire Euro-Atlantic community. This is the best possible way to build on the emotional and practical strengthening of transatlantic bonds caused by the terrible attacks last year.”

Terrorism so-called (caused almost entirely by bad USA and UK foreign policy) is a “reason” to end our privacy, our right to move about, to be free from intrusions, and “transatlantic bonds” is more code language for Old World influences concentrated in London to be dictating USA foreign policy.

“The willingness to share the burdens and risks of taking on terrorism of a global reach was clearly evidenced in the offers made to the United States for its military campaign in Afghanistan. The picture on burden sharing, however, is frankly a mixed one. In practical terms, America's Allies are pulling their weight. In the Balkans, for example, more than 85% of the peacekeeping troops are European. The European Union is paying the lion's share in reconstruction and development. Javier Solana and I have a polished political EU-NATO double-act to keep the peace in the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia. And in the coming months, we will see increasing efforts by the Europeans to reduce the burden on American shoulders in some of these Balkan operations.

Unfortunately, the longer term picture is less optimistic. For all the political energy expended in NATO and in the EU, the truth is that Europe remains militarily undersized. American critics of Europe's military incapability are right. If we are to ensure that the United States moves neither towards unilateralism nor isolationism, all European countries must show a new willingness to develop effective crisis management capabilities. I am confident that this will happen. September 11th was a wake-up call for us all.”

“My clarion call in this job has been the importance of "capabilities, capabilities, capabilities." But keep in mind that this is not simply a task for NATO. The European Union has an equally important role to play. Its Headline Goal process runs in parallel with and complements NATO's Defence Capabilities Initiative. Another example of European Defence at work in practice. Yet the United States must also do much more too. Not in terms of soldiers on the ground or aircraft in the air. But in facilitating the process of European defence modernization. By easing unnecessary restrictions on technology transfer and industrial cooperation, Washington can improve the quality of the capabilities available, and diminish any problems our forces have in working together. Finally, we are beginning the modernisation of NATO's decision-making processes. NATO has an unique ability to take and implement quick decisions. We showed it last summer, when within five days of the political decision we had deployed 4,000 troops to Macedonia. This force supervised a crucial disarmament process, and it certainly helped to avoid a civil war. That kind of quick action will be necessary in future – including, potentially, to respond to terrorism. We must therefore ensure that it can still be done after any NATO enlargement in November.”

“We have a demanding new agenda through to the Prague Summit in November. But in adapting and updating the Alliance, we must not discard the essentials which underpinned its value in the 90s. Perhaps I do not need to say so to this audience, but there is simply no credible alternative forum for transatlantic security coordination.

Nor is there any credible alternative for ensuring the military and political interoperability on which all coalition operations depend. There is no other means than NATO to ensure that European Defence strengthens our collective capacity. And there is no other organisation which can provide stability and security in the Euro-Atlantic area and prevent the re-nationalization of defence in Europe. As the Wall Street Journal wrote last week, if security were a marketable product, it would be harder to find a better brand name than NATO. September 11th was an enormous tragedy. But it has revealed many truths. That the bond between the United States and Europe is as strong as ever. That NATO remains the essential platform for defence cooperation and coalition operations. That NATO is and will continue to be the essential pillar of Euro-Atlantic security, and cooperation between the two sides of the Atlantic. So ignore the merchants of doom. September 11th was not a blow to NATO. It was further proof of its enduring value. And it has stimulated another round of modernization. In an uncertain world, the transatlantic link is not an optional extra. That is why NATO has emerged from each crisis more vibrant and more relevant than ever."

The globalists use crises to aggregate more control over society!
In 2008, along with other Pilgrims members (Sir Christopher Meyer, Lord Alan Watson and Sir Robert Worcester), Lord Robertson was a big wheel at the English Speaking Union World Members Conference in 2008 in Edinburgh. The ESU has chapters in more places than you'd believe, all with subtle pro-British overtones---

2) Field Marshall General Charles Ronald Llewelyn Lord Guthrie of Craigiebank, Baron Guthrie of Craigiebank, member British House of Lords and titled Freeman of The City of London (1938---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined), Knight Grand Cross Order of the Bath; Royal Victorian Order; Order of the British Empire; United States Legion of Merit was Chief of the General Staff of the United Kingdom (1994–1997) and Chief of the Defense Staff (1997–2001). 1957 graduate of the British Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst. His family owns sizeable land in Scotland. He saw military service in the U.K., Germany, Malaysia, Libya, Northern Ireland, Vanuatu (small Pacific Ocean nation) several African nations and Turkey (as a military envoy). He was a colonel in British Intelligence in the mid-1980s. In 1999 he was awarded the odd sounding title, “Gold Stick to the Queen,” which could have all manner of implications from monetary to tawdry. He’s been an official of SAS, the Special Air Service of the British military. Just how powerful is the British military today? Could it defeat either Russia or China? Certainly not; however, the big picture is that British force includes Canada, Australia, and unfortunately, the U.S. military remains at their disposal, because The Society controls our foreign relations, Commander in Chief, and the armed forces! It seems inevitable that at some point, these Anglo-Americans would want to maneuver Russia and China to lock horns while they stay out of the conflict, and then step in when the weakened survivor is determined.

Guthrie in British military regalia.
The red represents Royalty and bloodshed!

This was a 2001 meeting of The Pilgrims London, shown on page 205 of “The Pilgrims of Great Britain” (short run book, 2003) ---

16 May Dinner for
GENERAL SIR CHARLES GUTHRIE
[Now Lord Guthrie]

Circa 2002, Guthrie became a director of N.M. Rothschild & Sons of London of the mythically legendary Rothschild clan, still believed by many to be history’s wealthiest family. During 2005 to 2007 Guthrie was a paid advisor to the Arab government of Oman.

According to Joel Van Der Reijden, the great European researcher on The Pilgrims Society, Guthrie has been on hand at Trilateral Commission meetings dating to 2002 and has had association with the Windsor Leadership Trust of the British Royal family. Guthrie is deeply involved (steering committee member) with the world's two leading military forces think tanks---the International Institute for Strategic Studies in London and the Center for Strategic and International Studies in D.C. The London group is based in Arundel House.

Guthrie has made public warnings about terrorism, biological and nuclear weapons and has specifically denounced Syria; presumably those cautions apply to other than militaries aligned with The Crown. Arundel House in London, HQ of the International Institute for Strategic Studies. This was also the site of ancient baths during the Roman occupation of Britain. In 1549 it was acquired by Henry FitzAlan, the 12th Earl of Arundel. The present building on the site however dates to the 1800s. The Fitzalans are well represented in The Pilgrims London as a leading dynasty spanning centuries, and in fact, potentially representing, with intersecting marriages, several hundred billions in wealth; see pages 37–40 of #11 Silver Squelchers---

Lord Guthrie is a trustee of the Institute for Strategic Dialogue at Oxford University. It's also known as the Weidenfeld Institute for Strategic Dialogue or simply the Weidenfeld Institute. Chairman is Lord Weidenfeld (Pilgrims London 1980 roster) whose credits include director of Cheyne Capital Management and he received the Charlemagne Medal for European Media. He holds decorations from Germany, Italy and Austria and he's Honorary Chairman, of the Board of Governors, Ben-Gurion University of the Negev (Israel). Sir Ronald Grierson is a trustee; he's long been a Pilgrims Society management official and associated with the Warburg banking and finance empire. Grierson has ties to the Reynolds family (Pilgrims U.S., consumer conglomerate and aluminum) and the Graces (Pilgrims U.S., chemicals, utilities, banking). There are two other trustees highly likely to be Pilgrims members---

Guthrie is or has been a member of the European Council of this Israeli university.

The Rothschilds have had long standing historical interest in this region of the world.

Guthrie was a director of Advanced Interactive Systems Inc, and Aon Ltd. AIS was based in Seattle and operated shooting ranges for training security professionals. Its assets were acquired in 2013 by Cubic Defense Applications. Aon Ltd. works with hundreds of multinational corporations. We read, “Headquartered in London, Aon plc is the leading provider of risk management services, insurance and reinsurance brokerage and a global leader in human capital and management consulting. Our key advantage is our broad view of the insurance industry. With an employee base of 65,000 colleagues in 500 offices in more than 120 countries.” Guthrie is an ex-director of Aon; there is a member of the Carnegie family there, adequate to link it to The Pilgrims group---

This link states that Lord Guthrie is a consultant to BioDefense, based in Boston. We read--- “BioDefense Corp. is currently the only company in the world to develop and deploy technology that can neutralize and destroy a biohazardous substance, such as anthrax, ricin and influenza, while maintaining the integrity of mail, packages, currency and medical waste. The process takes about 45 minutes and can be completed in the field or in a small office. The MailDefender(R) is currently deployed at the United Nations, U.S. Department of Justice, U.S. Department of Defense, Department of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and several embassies worldwide.”

Guthrie is a “non-executive director” of Colt Defense which for some reason appears to have little public info; it may be a subsidiary of another company. At the Russian based site of Petropavlovsk (formerly known as Peter Hambro Gold Mining), we read this on Guthrie---

“Field Marshal the Lord Guthrie of Craigiebank GCB LVO OBE DL was appointed to the Board in 2008. He is also a director of Colt Defense LLC and a non-executive director of Gulf Keystone Petroleum Ltd. Lord Guthrie is an independent member of the House of Lords, a board member of the Moscow School of Policy Studies, a Visiting Professor and Honorary Fellow of King’s College London, Colonel of the Life Guards and Gold Stick to The Queen. He was formerly a director of NM Rothschild & Sons Limited, Chief of the Defence Staff and the Principal Military Adviser to two Prime Ministers and three Secretaries of State for Defence.”

Rothschilds London---

Here we're told that Guthrie's status as a Rothschild director is no longer current. Does anyone believe that ended his connections with them? In all, Petropavlovsk has four directors who may be Pilgrims; only one is confirmed, that being Guthrie. In 2013, Petropavlovsk produced 741,200 ounces of gold.

Lord Guthrie has been involved with something called Turkana Appeal, billed as a relief charity in Kenya. Turkana is a large region in Kenya with a large lake by the same name. Kenya Today, September 16, 2013, using less than perfect English, announced, “CENTRAL KENYA MPs secretly discuss GOLD DEPOSITS found in Mount Kenya after Turkana Water” and continues---

“After the discovery of mineral water in Turkana which scientists say can quench the thirst of this country's 40 million plus Somali refugees plus all those international tax evaders living in Nairobi's leafy suburbs, a group of Mt Kenya Mps secretly met yesterday afternoon to discuss the old rumour that the sacred mountain may be holding the world's largest gold deposits yet to be discovered.”

I suggest that Lord Guthrie, acting for the Royals or the Rothschilds or both, is involved in something besides water relief activities for refugees in Kenya.

Gulf Keystone Petroleum is in northern Iraq known as Kurdistan; Lord Guthrie is a current director. They claim five discoveries in the region and state Gulf Keystone has one of the largest onshore developments in the world today and the Company is moving into a phase of significant production. We believe that we have only scratched the surface of the true value of our blocks and our ongoing exploration and appraisal activity is expected to result in further upside.”

GULF KEYSTONE PETROLEUM LTD.

There isn't much on the Moscow Institute of Policy Studies, but Guthrie isn't involved in flea market operations, so there's something of more substance going on with this institute; it suggests connections with Russian leadership. Another site says he's a director of the Moscow School of Politics. Elsewhere it's called the Moscow School of Political Studies. Again there's little on this one (whatever the actual name); it's mentioned at the site of the Institute for European Studies. Guthrie has a lot of status at King's College in London as a visiting professor and as chairman of the trustees of Liddell Hart Centre for Military Archives; notice the suggestion of boundless wealth in an interior of one of the buildings---

Information has it that Guthrie is chairman of Siboney Limited, which is apparently a beach club on the island of Antigua in the Caribbean. A less likely possibility is that of an advertising agency based in New York which operates in Spanish speaking countries south of the U.S. He's a non-executive director of Sciens Capital

Management. Non-executive means he isn't burdened by the day to day affairs of the company, but he's there for someone larger than himself who's out of view in the background. At a diamond trade source we notice this--- "Can a newly launched colored diamond hedge fund deliver huge returns?" ---

"The colored diamond trade is about to become a lot more transparent. At least that's what former Bulgari executives Mahyar Makhzani and Philip Baldwin think their new Sciens Colored Diamond Fund will do when they attempt to show the industry how the intersection of Wall Street high finance and the diamond trade can ring in profits. The new fund is a joint venture between Makhzani and Baldwin, acting as the fund's managing directors, and Sciens Capital Management, which has more than $6 billion under management. Sciens Capital is one of Wall Street's leading alternative investment firms — firms that invest in assets other than stocks and bonds. The joint venture fund is designed to invest only in intense deep and vivid colored diamonds."

The Rothschilds financed Cecil Rhodes cartelization of South African diamonds at the close of the 1800s; they are still holders of De Beers Diamonds and doubtless other diamond ventures also.

Investing in diamonds? This is a very tricky area. Huge price variations occur with slight differences in grading. Shady operators are known to massage diamond certificates. They buy a GVS1 2.28 round and sell it without the cert. Next they cut a slightly larger JSI1 down a few points in weight to 2.28; they display the diamond against blue paper, making it look white like a G color and say it goes with the cert. See if there's supposed to be a laser inscription on the "girdle." Beware many other pitfalls such as high pressure high temperature (HPHT) which whitens the diamond; it also makes it more brittle and it could fracture into worthlessness. Another serious issue is that even major diamond dealers admit that they can send the same diamond multiple times to the Gemological Institute of America (GIA) Gem Trade Lab and get several different certificates ("lab grading reports") all varying as to statement of the diamond's quality aspects. The price differences from one color and clarity grade to another run into the thousands of dollars per carat, whereas the reports aren't priced to make repetitive opinion seeking unpleasant. To the contrary, diamond grading laboratories have financial incentive to allow multiple resubmitting of the same diamond, because they collect fat fees each time! So when you buy a GIA certified diamond it's most likely you bought a stone that was sent in multiple times and you will pay for all the certs in addition to the single best one you'll be handed! Since diamonds can be measured and weighed with great mathematical precision, I suspect there's a framework in place by which diamonds sent for the first time get lowballed as to quality, and that there's some tendency to "improve" the stated grading on every resubmission, with a limitation on the number of submissions so the scandal's chance of becoming big news is minimized. We are assured the GIA has cleansed itself after its nasty bribery scandal reported on November 1, 2005 at Diamonds Dot Net. Buying a diamond just by its papers is also woefully misleading otherwise; absent an in person eye evaluation in several lighting environments, you have little assurance of how nice the gem's optical performance will be, including with other lab reports on such matters. In spite of all the outrageous pitfalls, some pros still make money in diamonds. Sell what you don't own is the best way to not lose money on diamonds; but even then you can lose due to nonproductive advertising. Watch out! "I find diamonds frightening" was a message I received in my inbox. Can't sell to end users? Stay away from diamonds. Agricultural land may be a better buy (unless Pilgrims interest Monsanto has seized it all).

All that said, if you can navigate the risks diamonds can be quite profitable and have never been nationalized by Uncle Sam---as have both gold and silver. If you aren't buying for investment your worries are greatly eased. Natural diamond sources are in decline and while manmade diamond technology has greatly improved, purists will always insist on all natural only. Yes, I think I'll acquire some---but only because I've spent over 400 hours in study on it! That still leaves me a neophyte by many standards. You can also "invest" in diamonds by leaving bullion with dealers, and see if you can turn some gems to end users. If you are robbed you lose the collateral you left. That's the deal! You can also consider using www.escrow.com as intermediary. Don't ever show a diamond in a non-carpeted room---damage can occur if it's dropped. If you sell a loose diamond and someone else sets it, you must tell the buyer you have no responsibility if the other party damages the stone while setting it or "swaps" it for one of lesser value! This field in particular requires you protect yourself in many ways! Unless you invest at least 100 hours reading about diamond gemology I'd forget about it. Pre-owned diamonds are usually the best buys because someone was paid a lowball pittance to raise funds for an emergency. These are tough to come by due to competition and without know how you could place funds into a terrible lemon. If you want a free diamond education contact me through www.silverstealers.net and I'll tell you where to get it. Be ready to spend several hundred hours time. Don't be thinking that precious metals will be the only way to add wealth.

Guthrie is a non-executive director of Ashley Gardens Block 2 Ltd which is apparently a building in London. He is or was an advisor to Thorium Power, since known as Lightbridge Corporation in McLean, Virginia which is in nuclear energy consulting.

General Lord Guthrie, whom we may say is either lordly in a general way, or generally lordly, but very highly Pilgrimized, is a trustee of the Vijay Amritraj Foundation, named after an Indian who held a United Nations post; just more globalists. Other trustees include Pilgrims Society member former USA President George Herbert Walker Bush and Sir E.R. De Rothschild, London financier who can't presently be shown to be a Pilgrims member. Most of them (88 to 91%) don't allow that detail into the public record, however; he's a member---bet on it, and in the inner circle. This makes two and more like three Rothschild connections Guthrie has, if we include the colored diamond investment trust.

Lord Guthrie was president of the (British) Army Benevolent Fund. Guthrie isn't currently listed. However, other Pilgrims members in London are listed. The Queen; Field Marshall Lord Bramall; Field Marshall Lord Inge; and several others likely.

Guthrie is listed as president of Action Medical Research. They're vaccine hucksters and were founded in 1952. Guthrie is confirmed here as their current president and their Royal patron is Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, outspoken advocate of sharp reduction in world population. Subverting health via vaccines lessens population.

Guthrie was a governor of The Charterhouse in London, which dates all the way back to 1371 AD. Part of the grounds had been used to bury victims of the Black Death, the bubonic plague. This is a complex of buildings connected to tremendous episodes in English history and large–looming personalities such as the Dukes of Norfolk, who were later to be members of The Pilgrims Society of Great Britain. The Charterhouse today operates as a social service organization. Governance of The Charterhouse includes at least a half dozen members of The Pilgrims London; those are only those I'm able to ID, being limited by the Secret Society's refusal to post rosters to public view.

Guthrie is on the advisory council to the Atlantic Council in York, England, whose Washington D.C. counterpart is also a Pilgrims Society front wanting political unification with England. In their code language, “the transatlantic relationship remains the core of all our activities, with NATO at centre stage.” John Forbes Kerry, who inherited a fortune and expanded it and married into the still larger Heinz (Pilgrims Society) fortune, present Secretary of State and a Yale Bonesman, is another member post the 1980 roster; we could do his own profile on him as well, addressed the D.C. Atlantic Council. He and his wife represent north of $1 billion together---

Arrábida Conflict Prevention Initiative Institute of which Guthrie is or was an advisor to, appears to not have a website. It's located in Lisbon, Portugal. Guthrie is a patron of the UK Defence Forum. Guthrie's name is here along with another member we profile elsewhere, Admiral Lord Boyce. There appear to be as many as five other members on this board; confirmation cannot be effected without a roster or other acceptable evidence.

UK DEFENCE FORUM

Guthrie is on the roster of patrons of the Second World War Experience Centre in West Yorkshire, with several other likely members---

Lord Guthrie (Pilgrims) with Lord Robertson (Pilgrims) of NATO, seeming the more sinister due to blur, profiled in this installment just previously---

Lord Guthrie is a patron of the Burnaby Blue Foundation, an English charity involved in relief work for deprived children; that more or less is the official line. They are vaccine hucksters. He's been involved as president with the Federation of London Youth Clubs which represents over 400 groups. Guthrie is or was vice-president, Trinity Institute for Christianity and Culture at 124 Sloane Street in London. This is also the address of Pacific Investments, Key Rock Capital and 84 other commercial entities. A few who are aware of it may be wondering if I'm going to mention the fact that not only is Guthrie Catholic, but additionally that he's a member of the Knights of Malta, which happens to be the Vatican equivalent network to the Royal family's Pilgrims Society so; I mentioned it. Also needing to be mentioned is that he converted to Catholicism, interpreted as being a Crown loyalist with a foot in the Vatican camp for Crown intelligence purposes. We know the Rothschilds aren't Catholics either and Guthrie is one of their boys. I suggest the Crown, the Rothschilds and The Pilgrims are being slicked by Guthrie for the Rome faction, or the other way around, which it most likely is---the other way around. J. Peter Grace, chemical conglomerate magnate and Citibank director (Pilgrims 1969) mentioned in his listing (page 867, 1970–1971 Who’s who in America) that he was a member of the board of founders of the U.S. branch of the Knights of Malta, but was silent as to his Pilgrims membership, because this Crown organization meant more to him than being leader of a Catholic group! Why are men like Peter Grace and Charles Guthrie out in the open about being in an elite Catholic group, but “underground” as to Pilgrims membership? Their Catholicity is worn in public, their membership in the Royal family’s top group was/is in the dark. Here’s Pilgrims Society member Lord Guthrie on You Tube.

3) Robert James Woolsey (1941---; PROBABLY a Pilgrims member) is a special situation for this enumeration. The fact that he’s had Presidential appointments in two Democrat and two Republican administrations is illustrative of this matter of The Pilgrims Society controlling both “adversarial” parties from the top down; the small folks never grasp this, as they’re distracted by TV talk shows and pro sports. Woolsey was Central Intelligence Agency director (1993–1995). In 1944 General William Donovan of the Office of Strategic Services (OSS) called for the creation of the CIA, which transpired in 1947. Donovan appeared in The Pilgrims 1957 roster with a Wall Street lawyer who lived to be over 100. Dorr's relative was with the OSS and "after World War II he was the United States delegate on commissions dealing with German reparations and the recovery of gold seized by the Germans." The son was later an exec at Chase Manhattan Bank---

"He specializes in a range of alternative energy and security issues. He also serves as an officer or advisor to a range of government, corporate and non-profit groups, Woolsey is a frequent contributor of articles to major publications and from time to time gives public speeches and media interviews on the subjects of foreign affairs, defense, energy and intelligence."

In these articles, speeches and interviews, does Woolsey ever mention The Pilgrims Society? About as much as a shoplifter announces he's smuggling something out the front door.

Woolsey is a Rhodes Scholar, which in a distinct minority becomes a conduit to later Pilgrims induction. On August 9, 2011, in a telephone conversation with Jill Spiller, secretary of The Pilgrims in New York, my venerated Dutch colleague Joel Van Der Reijden was told that Woolsey has been a speaker at a Pilgrims meeting.

Prospects are very high he's member and not only a guest speaker.

He also attended Yale, where most likely he became a member of a "super-fraternity" there such as Wolf's Head Society; that also, especially combined with a Rhodes scholarship, gives a big potential boost towards eventual Pilgrims induction. I'm giving you my opinion that as he's taken on so many huge positions after the date of his Pilgrims address, that he has become a full member. He's the only one on these lists with whom I've taken what I feel is not unreasonable license; the rest have more definite confirmation either from Who's Who volumes or websites of companies or groups they're involved with. Apparently that 2011 conversation didn't include an inquiry as to whether Woolsey was at that time on The Pilgrims waiting list for membership. Woolsey is also deeply involved with confirmed member Richard Carlson at the Foundation for the Defense of Democracies. Woolsey is chairman of FDD as of fall 2014. Following is a review of Woolsey's background. He wears the Democrat political label; it should read "globalist warmonger."

The Who's Who in the East 2014, page 1526, shows this on Woolsey. My advice is to not attempt sending any of these characters any E-mail; there is no object; they will not disclose the rest of The Pilgrims roster for either branch---

The intelligence community is deeply connected to The Pilgrims Society. Allen Dulles, who headed the CIA from 1953 till 1961, surfaced on The Pilgrims executive committee by 1971. To be clear---the CIA doesn't control The Pilgrims, it's the other way around, and this applies to every last interlock all members of The Pilgrims have. Richard Helms (Pilgrims Society second generation member---his grandfather headed the Bank for International Settlements) was CIA director in 1973-1977 and in The Pilgrims 1974 roster.

After becoming a Rhodes Scholar and his Yale experience, Woolsey spent two years in the late 1960s with the Defense Department followed by a year in the National Security Council. His wife! We'll save her for last; she has so many credits we don't want to confuse the pair. In the late 1960s he was a State Department rep to arms limitation talks, something which can't be taken at face value. That was a role he reprised in 1989-1991 and held the rank of Ambassador. In similar roles, he was on the President's Commission on Strategic Forces in 1983-1984, the President's Blue Ribbon Commission on Defense Management and the Soviet Arms Talks in Switzerland in the mid-1980s at the U.S.-Soviet Strategic Arms Reduction Talks (START) and Nuclear and Space Arms Talks (NST); and again on a ballistic missile commission in 1998 under Donald Rumsfeld---a potential member himself and notorious silver price suppressor from the Nixon Cost of Living Council, which acted in a Fascist manner to cap domestically mined silver at $1.61 the ounce!

Shea & Gardner was a D.C. law firm founded by two hacks from the catastrophic Franklin Roosevelt administration. It later merged with Boston based Goodwin Procter which is “the 38th wealthiest American law firm.” It was founded in 1912 and Arthur Ballantine played an early role with the firm; he was in The Pilgrims by 1957 and was undersecretary of the Treasury. In 1977–1979 Woolsey was undersecretary of the Navy. Rhodes Scholars have been fed into an extensive array of Federal posts for decades! Their outlook is identical to that of The Pilgrims except in that they’re lower level. In 2009 Woolsey had money from a fund set up by billionaire Pilgrims Society member Walter Annenberg at the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace at Stanford University. Annenberg of Triangle Publications owned TV Guide and was Ambassador to England (1969–1974) and a mentor of Ronald Reagan (Pilgrims Society outer circle member). Back in 1972–1974 Woolsey was a Stanford University trustee (The Pilgrims Society wanted a Rhodes Scholar in that role) and it was also during the period he was a Washington lawyer and general counsel to the Senate Armed Services Committee.

HOOVER INSTITUTION

STANFORD UNIVERSITY

As of 1989, Woolsey was a director of Coalition for a Democratic Majority, a completely toxic globalist group against privacy and all else we hold dear.

Woolsey was associated with the Project for the New American Century, which evidently is supposed to mean America (The Pilgrims Society) intends to attack, invade and occupy the entire world, other than the members of the British Commonwealth! Let these Worthy Gentlemen then, lead every “boots on the ground” charge!

James Woolsey was Director of the Central Intelligence Agency (1993–1995) in the Clinton administration. For the sake of precision in this profile we will repeat some concise details on Woolsey we mention elsewhere in the profile on Pilgrims member Richard Carlson. They are both directly associated in the FDD, the Foundation for the Defense of Democracies, another warmongering organization. Woolsey chairs the FDD and is an expert on the intelligence community, Iran and energy security. Other areas he addresses include Arab Spring, Somalia, missile defence, Yemen, Saudi Arabia, the Gulf States, Iraq, Al Qaeda; ISIS isn't mentioned but we take no license in adding it.

Assorted panelists at an FDD meeting---

The FDD sponsors several projects including “The Long War Journal” which is alleged to be “accurate reporting on the global war on terror, the “Iran Project,” energy sanctions, the “Qualitative Military Edge Project,” and the Center for Sanctions on Illicit Finance. Woolsey was a Rhodes Scholar in 1963 and graduated from Yale Law School in 1968. Obviously this FDD is another warmongering Pilgrims Society front. The FDD obviously has offices in D.C. but lists only P.O. Box 33249 as a physical address.

Woolsey is chairman of Woolsey Partners LLC which according to Bloomberg is based in the U.S. Hardly any other info is available; it's a consultancy. He's a venture partner with Lux Capital Management. Woolsey chairs the Strategic Advisory Group to the Washington D.C. based Paladin Capital Fund, a private equity fund, and chairs the advisory board of the Opportunities Development Group. Paladin Capital holds investments in 76 high growth field companies. He remains associated in an "of Counsel" capacity to the D.C. office of Boston based law firm, Goodwin Procter and dispenses advice on alternative energy and security related matters. This link shows Woolsey's Wall Street Journal article from May 14, 2014, "How to Hit Putin Where it Hurts." In summer 2007 Woolsey provided content for the publication of the World Future Society, of which Pilgrims Society member Glenn Seaborg who headed the silver using Atomic Energy Commission was once a director. Elsewhere we discover that Woolsey is former co-chairman of the Center for Security Policy and is current co-chairman of the Committee on the Present Danger (warmongers both!) Woolsey, probably arguing for more warfare---

Lux Capital manages \$700 million. It's linked to Goldman Sachs and Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

This one manages "Paladin Homeland Security Fund with holdings in 22 companies selling to the Government---

The Opportunities Development Group at 901 New York Avenue Northwest in D.C. appears to have no site. Most likely it's another entity angling to foment and profit from overseas war and capitalize on the so-called "War on Terror" at home---

901 New York Avenue NW in D.C., above, is also where Woolsey has an office with Goodwin Procter law firm.

From 2002 to 2008 Woolsey was an exec with Booz Allen & Hamilton, founded in 1914 and now with 22,000 employees. Its core business is the provision of management, technology and security services, to civilian government agencies, as a security and defense contractor to defense and intelligence agencies, and to civil and commercial entities. Their scope of services includes strategic planning, human capital and learning, communications, operational improvement, information technology work, systems engineering, organizational change efforts, computer modeling and simulation, program management, assurance and resilience, and economic business analysis. It is one of the oldest management consulting firms in the world.”

BAH is involved with NASA Deep Space Mission, health networks and much more.

Woolsey was on the President’s Commission on Federal Ethics Law Reform (1989) which must have been a flurry of hypocrisy. During 1999–2000 Woolsey was a member of the National Commission on Terrorism---he’s a Neocon globalist warmonger desirous of reducing civil liberties and privacy here! During 1989–1993 Woolsey was a Smithsonian Institution regent in D.C. ---

Smithsonian Institution

In his scan he says he's chairman of Freedom House. At their site I find otherwise; it must be an outdated notation. It has offices in D.C. and in New York at 120 Wall Street. This is another pathetic, immoral warmongering group masquerading as patriots spreading freedom. It's headed by a plant from the extremely dangerous Warburg (Pilgrims Society) interests!

Bloomberg has almost nothing on Woolsey Partners, which is probably in D.C. to be closer to the Federal government. The site is also unrevealing. It has to be about warmongering and profiting from warmongering. At this URL http://burgess.house.gov/uploadedfiles/james\_woolsey we read he is a “Senior Fellow at Yale University’s Jackson Institute of Global Affairs. From July 2002 to March 2008 Mr. Woolsey was a Vice President and officer of Booz Allen Hamilton, and then a Venture Partner with Vantage Point Venture Partners of San Bruno, California, until January 2011.” Vantage Point is connected to Du Pont (Silver Users Association). Vantage Point has over $4 billion in investments---

This House dot Gov site mentions Woolsey was also a diplomat to the Nuclear & Space Arms Talks and much earlier while with the U.S. Army, he was an adviser to the U.S. delegation to the Strategic Arms limitations Talks (SALT I) in Helsinki, Finland and Vienna, Austria. Woolsey is a member of the National Commission on Energy Policy. He is also chairman of the advisory boards to the Clean Fuels Foundation and the New Uses Council and a trustee of the Center for Strategic & Budgetary Assessments. Clean Fuels Foundation apparently has been name changed to Clean Fuels Development Coalition.

CLEAN FUELS FOUNDATION

The New Uses Council has to do with bio-based products including ethanol and sorghum and appears connected to Pilgrims Society agribusiness giants and the British based World Land Trust. The Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments is connected to militarism. It's a D.C. based defense think tank founded in 1983. It "thinks" about (researches/plans) war games, undersea warfare, electromagnetic warfare, air warfare, military space systems, anti-Americanism and just about any other possible aspects---

His scanned info shows he's vice chairman of the advisory board to Global Options LLC, which sounds like derivatives. Bloomberg describes it ---

“The company intends to acquire, through a merger, share exchange, asset acquisition, plan of arrangement, recapitalization, reorganization, or similar business combination. Previously, it developed and implemented crisis management and emergency response plans for disaster mitigation, as well as continuity of operations and other emergency management issues for governments, corporations, and individuals; and provided investigative surveillance, anti-fraud solutions, and business intelligence services to the insurance industry, law firms, and multinational organizations. The company also delivered security and investigative services to governments, corporations, and individuals, as well as forensic DNA analysis and casework; and provided risk management and business solutions to governments, corporations, and individuals. Global Options Group, Inc. was founded in 1998 and is headquartered in New York, New York.”

As a matter of course, Woolsey would have to be a trustee of the D.C. based Center for Strategic and International Studies. Quite a few Pilgrims members have been associated with this warfare think tank since its founding in 1962---

CSIS owns its own $100 million building at 1616 Rhode Island Avenue N.W. in D.C. ---

Trustees of CSIS include confirmed Pilgrims Society members Henry Kissinger, Zbigniew Brzezinski, Felix Rohatyn and based on past patterns and the nature of his position, Rex Tillerson, chairman of Exxon Mobil, should definitely be a member. Woolsey says he's associated with the Jackson Institute of Global Affairs at Yale University. Founded in 2010, it now has over 900 alumni, "salted" around America, nagging state officials to give up our country and submit to United Nations ("British") control---

Yale JACKSON INSTITUTE FOR GLOBAL AFFAIRS

Woolsey is a former governor of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange. Founded in 1790, it's now part of NASDAQ---

His scan shows him a director of Information Systems laboratories. As their site doesn't show a board of directors, it cannot be confirmed as current nor outdated. They state---“ISL is a technology development corporation that performs expert research and complex analysis, advanced hardware design and development, software and systems engineering, and high-quality specialty fabrication for Defense and Energy customers, world-wide. ISL specializes in the areas of undersea warfare, surveillance, reconnaissance, space exploration, energy independence and cyber security.”

Similarly, Woolsey lists himself as a director of Linsang Partners in Silver Spring, Maryland, near the Washington D.C. warmongering complex that Woolsey is clearly a leading member of. The LP site shows no board of directors either. It “creates global access to information” meaning what? More information for the small folks? More likely, more information on the small folks for those who intend to rule over them. It says it “creates technology companies that expand access to information.” Start-ups are being launched and someone is making significant money on IPO’s, and the companies being started meddle deeper into our lives. A species in Indonesia, the linsang, is carnivorous. Woolsey’s 2014 info would have been supplied by December 2013. As of then he was a director of Fibersense Technology Corporation. In 2002 it was acquired by Northrop Grumman, a major scale armaments manufacturer (“defense contractor”) which would have Woolsey as a director of a Northrop Grumman subsidiary---

At Northrop Grumman ($24 billion annual volume and 68,000 employees), retired Air Force General Richard B. Myers, former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is very likely as a Pilgrims Society member. Incredibly, he’s simultaneously a director of United Technologies with $65 billion annual revenues and 211,000 employees.

This guy Woolsey is just totally incredible. Next we see he listed himself as a director of Invicta Networks which we read is “a computer security company founded by Victor Sheymov, a former KGB officer who was exfiltrated from Moscow and brought to the United States in 1980. The company's products use a technology that shifts IP addresses, which, the company claims, makes them "impossible to hack."

Invicta is based in Reston, Virginia, a convenient site as it's near the D.C. warmongering complex and the Central Intelligence Agency "Compound" in Langley, Virginia. Variable cyber coordinates is the descriptive term for shifting IP addresses. Bloomberg says it's based in nearby Vienna, Virginia. Sheymov holds over 30 computer science patents. In his 2012 book "Cyberspace and Security: A Fundamentally New Approach," Sheymov doesn't mention The Pilgrims organization.

Diana LLC appears to show little info besides being mentioned elsewhere without explanation. Woolsey being involved adds up to it isn't a bake sale or a lemonade stand. Agorics Incorporated offers "corporate and computer security" and "professional services and network security"---

Next Woolsey says he's on the advisory board to BioDefense Corporation of which we read (year not stated), "BioDefense Corp., the only company in the world to develop and deploy technology that can neutralize and destroy a bio-hazardous substance while maintaining the integrity of the tainted materials, today announced it has partnered with General Lord Guthrie, former chief of the British Defense Staff, to establish new security markets for the Bio-Defense Mail Defender in the United Kingdom. The BioDefense Mail Defender system was developed to give organizations increased control over a potentially uncontrollable situation -- the risk of bio-contamination through the mail. This first-of-its kind system decontaminates mail at the point of entry, protecting employees from harm and organizations from the threats of an actual attack or a disruptive hoax. The Mail Defender is currently deployed at the United Nations, U.S. Department of Justice, U.S. Department of Defense, Department of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and several embassies worldwide. The directors of BioDefense Corp. are hosting an event today to celebrate the partnership between the United States and the United Kingdom. General Lord Guthrie, member of the House of Lords and new member of the BioDefense advisory board, will speak at the company's new Boston world headquarters about the challenges of and solutions to biological threats.”

Elsewhere we profile General Lord Guthrie (Pilgrims Society). Previous board memberships of Woolsey include Martin Marietta; British Aerospace---Fairchild Industries---Titan Corporation---DynCorp---U.S. F & G; Sun Health Care Group; and Yurie Systems. Martin Marietta merged with Lockheed in 1995 to form Lockheed Martin---

MARTIN MARIETTA

This one underwent a name change to BAE Systems which employs 84,600---

Primarily in the automotive business, Fairchild is near Chicago---

Titan Corporation was acquired by L-3 Communications in 2005. Titan was embroiled in scandals including abuse of military prisoners; financing campaigns of African heads of state; and “Titan had employed Makram Chams, a Lebanese national. Chams owned a Kwik-Check convenience store in Venice, Florida, where the biggest overseas money transfer to the 9/11 terrorists ($70,000 from the UAE) was sent, according to the testimony of FBI agents during the 9/11 Commission hearings.” Was anything said during those hearings about The Pilgrims Society; no, because the hearings and proceedings were chaired by Tom Kean, a Pilgrims member we profile elsewhere in this series. Bet on it---CIA spook Woolsey, Pilgrims Society, was on the Titan board while the subversion was occurring---

Founded in 1946, DynCorp is a privately owned military contractor doing over $3 billion in business per annum with some 17,000 employees. “DynCorp International currently employs 300 intelligence professionals to offer highly specialized training for intelligence, counterintelligence, special operations and law enforcement personnel” ---

The United States Fidelity & Guaranty Corporation, founded in 1896, merged in 1998 with The Saint Paul Companies in a $2.8 billion deal---

Yurie Systems (communications) was acquired in 1998 by Lucent Technologies for $1 billion. In the 2002 book, “Making the Nation Safer: The Role of Science and Technology in Countering Terrorism,” page 387 states he was as of then a director of BC International Corporation and a trustee of the Aerospace Corporation.

BC has to do with ethanol and the Aerospace Corporation is federally funded. Founded in California in 1960, it has 3,700 employees

Woolsey is a CFR member and a Presbyterian, the second largest Protestant denomination in the largely Protestant composed Pilgrims Society. Woolsey’s New York office is at 295 Madison Avenue in the Lefcourt Colonial Building (named after the architect who designed it) ---

Woolsey was a speaker for Benador Associates, a bureau formed after the 911 attacks to propagandize for attacking Middle Eastern nations.

Speaking to a group of college students on 2 April, 2003, former CIA Director Woolsey revealed, "...the United States is engaged in World War IV, and that it could continue for years." Woolsey described the Cold War as the third world war. He then said "This fourth world war, I think, will last considerably longer than either World Wars I or II did."

Woolsey is also an advisor to the Washington Institute for Near East Policy, founded in D.C. in 1985 to agitate for more warfare. Its board of advisers includes Pilgrims Henry Kissinger, George P.

Shultz and outer circle member (borderline flunky) Condoleeza Rice---

Woolsey has spoken to the American Security Project. It's name is suggestive of dangerous stinging caterpillars. Founded in 2007 in D.C., it has several potential Pilgrims members on its board---

Woolsey as you see is yet another busy workhorse for the inner circle of The Pilgrims organization, with not only a full plate but a full platter. However, we can't wrap up his profile before reviewing what his wife is into, as she's an extension of his activities. She's a CFR member and according to Bloomberg she has a PhD degree in social and clinical psychology from Harvard University. That means she can and will slap the "mental illness" label on everyone opposing globalism and more avoidable warfare! Previous positions she held include--- "Prior to 1993, Dr. Woolsey served as an Executive Director of the Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education at the National Academy of Sciences/National Research Council." That's bizarre, since behaviorism is hardly science; more like, "witch-hunting," slapping labels on everyone you dislike!

The National Research Council, founded in 1916 with the backing of Pilgrims puppet Woodrow Wilson, "produces reports that shape policies, inform public opinion, and advance the pursuit of science, engineering, and medicine." More like, it propagandizes public opinion. The National Academy of Sciences dates to 1863 and the Lincoln administration; it's fully in the grasp of globalists. It has some 6,300 scientists, researchers, engineers and doctors as members, and several locations; research also takes place elsewhere. These are discoveries, patents and inventions going for warmongering, tightening control of medical tyranny over the public, and more income for largely out of sight Pilgrims Society members. In 1993 to 2001, Woolsey's wife was chief operating officer of the NRC and the NAS both---

Her earliest credit is that “from 1980 to 1989, she served as Consulting Partner of Coopers and Lybrand, where she developed and directed its consulting practice with healthcare institutions, research organizations, major research universities and corporate general counsels. She served as a Founding Partner at the Upstreet Partners LLC from 2000 to 2001.” Upstreet Partners is in Pittsburgh and may be a real estate operation. Coopers & Lybrand merged with Price Waterhouse in 1998. As of 2014, this accounting colossus had 195,400 employees---

“Suzanne H. Woolsey serves as the Chief Executive Officer of Woolsey Partners LLC. Dr. Woolsey has been Managing General

Partner at Invesco Exchange Fund since 2003. She serves as the Chairperson of Colorado College. She has been Trustee of Institute for Defense Analyses Inc since 2000 and chairman at Institute for Defense Analyses Inc since March 2010. She has been a Director of Changing World Technologies, Inc., since July 2008. She has been an independent trustee of various funds in Invesco fund complex since 2006. Dr. Woolsey serves as a trustee at German Marshall Fund of the United States. She serves as a Director at Morgan Stanley Institutional Fund, Inc. – Opportunity Portfolio. She serves for Paladin Capital Group/Paladin Homeland Security Fund. She serves as Trustee/ Director of various portfolios in the fund complex of Invesco funds. She serves as Trustee/ Director of various portfolios in the fund complex of Van Kampen Funds. She has been Independent Trustee for Invesco Trust for Investment Grade New York Municipals, Invesco Van Kampen Senior Income Trust, Invesco Municipal Trust, Invesco Pennsylvania Value Municipal Income Trust and Invesco Municipal Opportunity Trust since 2003. She has been a trustee for Invesco Van Kampen Trust for Investment Grade Municipals since 2003 and various funds in the Invesco funds. She has been a Trustee at Van Kampen International Growth Fund since 2005 and serves as its various funds of AIM funds. She served as a Director of Fluor Corporation from February 3, 2004 to April 29, 2014. She served as a Director of Intelligent Medical Devices Inc. She served as a director of Neurogen Corp., from January 1998 to June 9, 2006. She served as a Director of Van Kampen Series Fund, Inc. – Van Kampen Global Value Equity Fund since 1999. Dr.

Woolsey served as a director of Rocky Mountain Institute. She serves as a Member of Advisory Board at Medida Metrics, Inc. She served as Editorial Writer for the Washington Post; Associate Director of Human Resources of Veterans & Labor for the Office of Management & Budget and Research Program Director of the Urban Institute.”

Suzanne Woolsey is still an Invesco Exchange Fund exec. It manages $70 million. She’s involved with other Invesco and Van Kampen operations tallying into ten figures. The symbol of the mountain they use is that of Nepalese peak Ama Dablam, 22,500 feet and an extremely dangerous climb---

Woolsey is a trustee of German Marshall Fund (founded 1972), named after Pilgrims Society member, General George C. Marshall, who became Secretary of State. It’s role besides think tank is clearly to subvert German leaders into obedience to the Anglo–American world plan---

Colorado College (founded 1874) at Colorado Springs has a $680 million endowment---

Suzanne Woolsey is a former director of Rocky Mountain Institute (founded 1982) in Snowmass, Colorado. It pokes its nose into such areas as energy, sustainability, solar and biofuels, and we must assume, managing the destinies of the small folks (“Crown serfs”). Its annual budget has grown to $13 million, which is substantially more than all the leading silver miners earned in 2014. The RMI has recently formed an alliance with the “CARBON WAR ROOM” which was founded by Sir Richard Branson of Virgin Atlantic Airlines, a probable Pilgrims Society member in London---

Suzanne Woolsey is a top official of the Institute for Defense Analyses (war profiteers), with which hubby is also deeply associated. It was founded in 1956 during the Eisenhower administration (Pilgrims Society). Here's Suzanne Woolsey with Admirals, Generals and others at IDA---

Changing World Technologies is a private company founded in 1997 that makes diesel and biofuels from organic and agricultural waste---

Woolsey is a former Fluor Corporation director; it today has over 40,000 employees. It's a multinational engineering and construction firm and a "defense" contractor having to do with missile technology. We discussed Fluor in the profile on Lord Robin Renwick, Pilgrims London. Intelligent Medical Devices holds multiple patents, domestic and foreign---

Neurogen merged in 2009 with "Ligand" which has alliances with the world's biggest Pharma companies. The term "Ligand" refers to tying something together---

Medida Metrics in McLean, Virginia (near CIA HQ) is a "healthcare performance solutions company." Woolsey has contributed some editorials to the Washington Post. Want to become ill? Look them and read one, then call in sick---

Her position within the Office of Management & Budget appears past tense---

The Urban Institute was founded in 1968 by Pilgrims Society member President Lyndon Johnson and has at all times remained a Pilgrims Society operation ever since. It's another think tank, in this case, about managing large cities, apparently in the gradual transition back under British Royal family rule over America, planned to become publicly known once their control becomes impossible to counter---

She supported John McCain for President in 2008. McCain's father, an Admiral, was in the 1969 roster. She was also a trustee of the Council for Excellence in Government---Excellence in whose terms? Pilgrims Society member John W. Gardner, once Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Department, authored a lousy book entitled "Excellence" in which he starts off by asking, "Can we be equal and excellent too?" No, equality as in superiority is for Pilgrims Society members and "excellence" is for the rest of us, meaning neo-feudalistic serfdom. In 2009 the Council for Excellence in Government merged into another shill group called the Partnership for Public Service. John W. Gardner was a Rockefeller Brothers Fund trustee in 1968-1977 (Who's Who in America, 1978-1979, page 1158) ---

Lastly, Suzanne Woolsey is a former trustee of California Institute of Technology (CALTECH) ---

The Woolseys may be called a “power couple”---PILGRIMS SOCIETY
POWER.

4) Major General John Kirk Singlaub (1921---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined) is ID'd as a member by 2001 as a trustee of The Pilgrims Foundation; however, very likely well before then. Strangely, I don't locate him in recent Who's Who volumes. People are free to decline being listed. Here's his info from the 1978-1979 Who's Who, page 2997---

SINGLAUB, JOHN KIRK, army officer; b. Independence, Calif., July 10, 1921; s. John A. and Ethel (Newby) S.; B.A., U. Calif. at Los Angeles, 1942; grad. Command and Gen. Singlaub is a founding member of the Central Intelligence Agency though certainly not at that time in any lead role. He served in World War II, Korea and Vietnam. “During times of crisis, and a host of modern wars, Singlaub served as a leading figure in U.S. national security and defense matters under Democratic and Republican U.S. Presidents, from Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson to Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard Nixon.” Singlaub was “in the center of almost every controversial military action since World War II." Active for 40 years in overt and covert operations, he had private and secret interviews with many military and government leaders worldwide. He personally knew William Casey, Director of Central Intelligence during the Reagan Administration, as well as Oliver North, and was involved in the Iran–Contra affair. Singlaub was President Reagan's administrative chief liaison in the so–called 'private' Contra supply effort.”

In another profile in this series, we detail how Casey’s daughter, Bernadette Casey Smith, also surfaced as a trustee of The Pilgrims Foundation as of 2001. In addition to the United States, Singlaub holds decorations from England, France, Taiwan, South Korea, Vietnam and the Netherlands. Here’s Singlaub in 2013 at a Washington, D.C. event---the OSS William Donovan Award Dinner (Office of Strategic Services, forerunner of the Central Intelligence Agency) ---

<http://www.ossociety.org/>

Out of over 30 recipients of the William J. Donovan Award of the OSS Society, I spotted eleven Pilgrims Society members; without checking the lists. OSS Society is based in Falls Church, Virginia, which is a mere 15 minutes driving time from Langley, Virginia, where CIA headquarters is located. How convenient! I find nothing of note on Singlaub's parents. He and his wife were mentioned in connection with his aunt, Mrs. Willis M. Brooks, in the Torrance California Herald, January 28, 1945, page 2. It mentioned Singlaub had just returned from England where he acquired a Chinese teapot from circa 1770-1780 (which may have been silver and may have come from the opium business---or maybe not). The teapot also may have been ceramic. Where Pilgrims Society activities are concerned, suspicion must be maintained at maximum output. Here was Singlaub in an earlier photo, somewhat resembling the Dallas pipsqueak Ross Perot; (it may be these fellows just never needed to shave) ---

In Singlaub's 1992 book, "Hazardous Duty," The Pilgrims organization is not mentioned. The Southern Center for International Studies, founded in 1962, is a typical globalist front. Here they show Dean Rusk and Henry Kissinger, both Pilgrims Society members and former Secretaries of State---

As of 1978 (or earlier) Singlaub was public about being a CFR member. I was jolted to see that he was involved with former Georgia Congressman Larry McDonald in founding the Western Goals Foundation in 1979. McDonald had been outspoken against the Rockefellers, and had to have known that they were leaders in the CFR; I'd also assume McDonald should have known that Singlaub was a member. Such matters always have several potential explanations. I'd say Singlaub was posing as McDonald's type of patriot when his associations screamed to the contrary. McDonald died on September 1, 1983 when a Russian fighter shot down the Korean airliner he was on, over Sakhalin Island. McDonald was one of several dozen American representatives or delegates going to attend a monetary and trade conference in South Korea. At the proverbial last minute, it was arranged for him to be the only delegate on the Korean flight while the others arrived safely. Who arranged for his transition to a separate flight? George P. Shultz, Pilgrims Society member, was Secretary of State at that time and the American conference delegates were all under State Department supervision! Shultz had earlier been Treasury Secretary (1972–1974) and a precious metals price adversary! McDonald was outspoken in Congress about gun rights, states rights, returning to the gold standard, and opposition to disposals from the U.S. silver stockpile. In that last effort he partnered with Idaho Congressman Steve Symms. Symms backers included the Dallas Hunt brothers, and he also held silver investments. Apparently The Pilgrims Society wrecks its hard money adversaries on the exchanges---or in the sky.

The Spokane Washington Daily Chronicle, September 1980, page 4, had a letter from a Judy Sagerquist in Kellogg, Idaho ---

“I find it hard to believe that people living and working in the Silver Valley could criticize Steve Symms for investing in silver or preventing the Carter Administration from selling the Strategic Silver Stockpile. Steve Symms fight against this ridiculous sale should be applauded. Had it taken place, we too would be feeling the pressure of the economic recession that the rest of the country is presently feeling; and as long as our leaders are willing to invest in Idaho, we will continue to have a prosperous community. I appreciate what Steve Symms has done and will show my appreciation on election day.”

As to the WG Foundation involving Symms Capitol Hill colleague McDonald and General Singlaub---

“The Western Goals Foundation was a private domestic intelligence agency which was founded by former Congressman Larry McDonald in 1979. (8) Prior to its dissolution, it was a non-membership, nonpartisan organization which conducted educational outreach in addition to its intelligence activities. According to Western Goals, the group's objective was to "rebuild and strengthen the political, economic, and social structure of the U.S. and Western Civilization so as to make any merger with the totalitarian world impossible.”

Singlaub is the type of “patriot” I counsel everyone to beware of. You can’t be in with the devil, and not be his own kind. An associate of Singlaub, Francis L. Kellogg (1917–2006; Pilgrims Society as of unknown) --- was also a trustee of The Pilgrims Foundation as of 2001. He married the granddaughter of John Wanamaker who was United States Postmaster General (1889–1893) and a wealthy merchant whose descendants achieved a marriage link to the insanely wealthy Vanderbilts, inner circle Pilgrims Society dynasty. Kellogg’s second marriage was to an Iranian, Mercedes Tavakoli, who later married Fort Worth Texas billionaire Sid Bass, a highly likely Pilgrims Society member and later divorced. Kellogg served as special assistant to Secretaries of State William P. Rogers (Pilgrims Society) and Henry Kissinger (Pilgrims Society) in the early to mid-1970s. Kellogg was also on the staff of the Central Intelligence Agency.

5) John J. Devine (Pilgrims Society as of undetermined; trustee of The Pilgrims Foundation as of 2001; probably a member by the early 1980s) is a member of The Pilgrims important sub-group, the Council on Foreign Relations (shows Jack Devine and two others by this last name). He ordinarily goes by Jack as also seen here; it's the same man. I'm not finding this one in Who's Who volumes.

However, we will develop a profile on him. Firstly, the 1980 Pilgrims New York roster listed C. Robert Devine. He wasn't the father of J.J. Devine, but may have been related. C.R. Devine was an official of Reader's Digest Association and in addition to being chairman of the International Advertising Association, he was also a trustee of American University in Cairo and American Hospital in Istanbul (Turkey) and a director of International Executives Association. He also was president of the International Periodical Press Federation and co-chairman of the New York Chamber of Commerce & Industry---page 861, Who's Who in America, 1980-1981). He held multiple positions in the Magazine Publishers Association. Now we resume with "profile subject" John J. Devine, who unfortunately we can't place under a microscope, but will do the next best thing! We'll review his biography. He's a member of the Royal Victorian Order and Order of the British Empire---both well interlocked with the superior Pilgrims Society.

<http://thearkingroup.com/leadership/partners/jack-devine/> yes,
also goes by "Jack"---info from link-----

“Jack Devine is a founding partner and President of The Arkin Group LLC, which specializes in international crisis management, strategic intelligence, investigative research and business problem solving. He is a 32-year veteran of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). Mr. Devine served as both Acting Director and Associate Director of CIA’s operations outside the United States from 1993–1995, where he had supervisory authority over thousands of CIA employees involved in sensitive missions throughout the world. In addition, he served as Chief of the Latin American Division from 1992–1993 and was the principal manager of the CIA’s sensitive projects in Latin America. Between 1990 and 1992, Mr. Devine headed the CIA’s Counternarcotics Center, which was responsible for coordinating and building close cooperation between all major U.S. and foreign law enforcement agencies in tracking worldwide narcotics and crime organizations. From 1985–1987, Mr. Devine headed the CIA’s Afghan Task Force, which successfully countered Soviet aggression in the region. In 1987, he was awarded the CIA’s Meritorious Officer Award for this accomplishment. During his more than 30 years with the CIA, Mr. Devine was involved in organizing, planning and executing countless sensitive projects in virtually all areas of intelligence, including analysis, operations, technology and management.”

More on Devine from the Arkin Group---

“He is the recipient of the Agency’s Distinguished Intelligence Medal and several meritorious awards. He is a recognized expert in Intelligence matters and has written Op-Ed articles for The Washington Post, The Wall Street Journal, The Financial Times, Foreign Affairs Magazine, The World Policy Journal and Politico. He has also made guest appearances on National Press Club, CNN, CBS, NBC, MSNBC, Fox News, CSPAN as well as the History and Discovery channels, PBS, NPR and ABC Radio. Mr. Devine resides in New York City and is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. He speaks Spanish and Italian. Mr. Devine's book, "Good Hunting! A Spymaster's Story" was published in June 2014. It focuses on his Agency career and the role of Covert Action in the past and the future. He is represented by Leading Authorities for all speaking engagements. Book orders are handled by his Publishing Company, Farrar, Straus and Giroux."

The following comes from Bloomberg on J.J. Devine---

Devine has written articles for the Miami Herald newspaper. “From 1995 to 1998, Mr. Devine was the senior CIA representative in Great Britain at the U.S. Embassy in London. His international experience with the US government included postings to the United Kingdom, Italy, Argentina, Venezuela, The Dominican Republic, Mexico and Chile. Mr. Devine served as a Director of Global Defense Technology & Systems, Inc. since March 2007 to April 4, 2011. He is also on the Board of Advisors at Claremont Graduate University's School of Politics and Economics.”

The logo for the Miami Herald, featuring the words "Miami Herald" in a white, gothic-style font on a blue rectangular background.

Global has since been renamed Sotera Defense Systems which says it's a mid-tier national security technology company that delivers innovative systems, solutions and services in support of the critical missions of the Intelligence Community, Department of Defense, Department of Homeland Security and federal law enforcement agencies charged with ensuring the safety and security of our nation.”

He serves as Chairman of GLOBAL Integrated Security US at Global Strategies Group. This sounds almost the same as the previous company, but it's a different one. This one is headquartered in London.

GSG says---

“The definition of National Security is evolving. Many countries are transitioning from physical defence of the homeland provided by Government to a broader framework that includes critical business sectors. Major international commercial organisations involved in Finance, Energy and Power, Air and Sea Port operation and in the Supply Chain are working ever closer with Government to identify complex threats that demand increasingly sophisticated solutions, frequently with information security at their core. Positioned at the nexus of Government and Business, we have long experience and a profound understanding of the current and emerging threats to National Security. We deploy financial and intellectual capital and utilize our considerable operational expertise to develop capabilities in the design, integration and application of specialist technology, software and systems. Through this, we help secure the information domain, support defence and intelligence operations and ensure the resilience of critical infrastructure.”

<http://thearkingroup.com/> provides professional services in the areas of “Business intelligence; investigations and forensics; strategic crisis consulting; political risk analysis; security and preparedness; emergency response systems; disaster recovery; cyber crime; disease outbreaks; local unrest; natural disasters and terrorism.”

“The Arkin Group was founded in May 2000 by New York lawyer Stanley Arkin and Jack Devine, former chief of worldwide operations for the Central Intelligence Agency, The Arkin Group’s mission is to help clients around the globe maximize their performance and achieve their strategic objectives through human intelligence, analysis and problem solving. Unlike other firms limited to investigative research, The Arkin Group treats the collection and analysis of information as the first in a series of steps developed to achieve an objective, such as facilitating a company’s entry into an overseas market, reviewing the bona-fides of potential business partners, or assessing and remedying a company’s vulnerability to terrorism.”

Arkin is a CFR member and my opinion is he rises no higher.

Devine's 2014 book "Good Hunting: An American Spymaster's Story" has the "Look Inside" feature, which shows no findings for "Pilgrims" or "Pilgrim" anything, as expected!

Devine brought Stinger missiles into Afghanistan---

Devine of the Central Intelligence Agency was in Chile when the overthrow of Socialist President Salvador Allende transpired in 1973. We read---

“As president, Allende adopted a policy of nationalization of industries and collectivization; due to these and other factors, increasingly strained relations between him and the legislative and judicial branches of the Chilean government – who did not share his enthusiasm for socialization – culminated in a declaration of a "constitutional breakdown" by the congress. A centre-right majority including the Christian Democrats, whose support had enabled Allende's election, denounced his rule as unconstitutional and called for his overthrow by force. On 11 September 1973 the military moved to oust Allende in a coup d'état sponsored by the United States Central Intelligence Agency. As troops surrounded La Moneda Palace, Allende gave his last speech vowing not to resign. He died later that day in uncertain and controversial circumstances.”

Pilgrims Society allied interests, most likely in copper mining, didn't appreciate the nationalization. Byproduct silver and gold had to continue flowing out of Chile for The Pilgrims Society to keep managing prices. Devine has nothing to say in this or this interview, and evidently nowhere else either. The Carnegie Council, an offshoot of the Pilgrims Society administered Carnegie group of pro-British foundations, also makes no mention of Mister Devine's Pilgrims Society activities.

6) Bernadette Casey Smith I don't locate in my Who's Who library. She is however seen on page 8 at this Guide Star document showing her a trustee of The Pilgrims Foundation. Could a person be a trustee of TPF and not be a member of The Pilgrims? No; it's too unlikely. I doubt however that the percent of women in the group has gone past 5%. Her father William J. Casey was director (1981–1987) of the Central Intelligence Agency. As he wasn't in The Pilgrims roster by 1980, I doubt he made it. Before anyone comes back to say Casey was a member of the (Catholic) Knights of Malta, we can say so here. There is a bit of overlap of The Pilgrims and their circles with Papal allied personalities. I'd say both empires want intelligence on each other. However, though not of as long standing, the British, having achieved world supremacy as of the fall of the Spanish Armada in 1588, and reinforced in 1694 with the creation of the Bank of England, have maintained a clear advantage in power. William Casey was undersecretary of state in 1973–1974, serving under Pilgrims Society member Henry Kissinger---not a Catholic; they remain a distinct minority in both Pilgrims branches. My conclusion is that were their ultimate loyalty not to the Royal family, they wouldn't be Pilgrims members, as membership in this group overrules any ties to all other groups where necessary.

At the site of the Institute of World Politics (founded in 1990) in Washington D.C. at 1521 16th Street, NW we read---

“Through their generous and longtime support, Owen and Bernadette Smith have made a difference in the lives of many of the students at The Institute of World Politics. Owen Smith, currently the Chairman of IWP's Board of Trustees, has a rich background in local government and taxation. After attaining a law degree from St. John's School of Law, and practicing for 29 years, Mr. Smith spent seven years as Deputy County Executive of Nassau County, New York. He has also served as Chairman of the New York State Board of Elections and of the Nassau County Planning Board. Mr. Smith has been a longtime professor of law, economics, and government at the C.W. Post Campus of Long Island University, and is currently

Professor Emeritus. He now owns and runs his family's business, The Milleridge Inn – "One of America's Famous Old Inns" – and the George Washington Manor in Long Island. Bernadette Casey Smith's theatrical talents have enabled her to be involved in soap operas, television commercials, and professional theater. She also serves or has served on the boards of directors of several organizations, including the Irish Educational Development Foundation, The Henry Viscardi School at the National Center for Disability Services, the Veterans of the Office of Strategic Services, The William J. Donovan Foundation, and the National Historical Intelligence Museum. The daughter of the late William J. Casey, former Director of Central Intelligence, Mrs. Smith is also the Chairman of the William and Sophia Casey Foundation.”

Is Owen Smith a Pilgrims member? Perhaps; she seems to have been inducted due to her father’s position in the intelligence community, and to achieve the group’s nominal quota for women members therefore; she should be accounted an outer circle member only. Nassau County New York is at the southwestern terminus of Long Island, an Episcopalian/Pilgrims Society saturated fiefdom. The Senate Committee on Intelligence document on the National Historical Intelligence Museum created a document you can view here. As for Owen Smith's involvement with George Washington Manor on Long Island, British sympathizers have worked their wiles taking over the residences and other buildings and possessions of our patriotic forefathers, including the Thomas Jefferson Foundation.

In 2010, Bernadette Casey Smith sold her father's Florida mansion for $6.8 million; possibly the proceeds went into highly lucrative silver shorts. Whereas the most valuable possession of most people is their home, with elitists this is usually not the case; their homes are a minor sliver of their net worth. Also in 2010 the New York State Senate honored Bernadette Casey Smith on the occasion of her designation for special recognition by Tomorrow's Hope Foundation.

In "Daughter---CIA's Casey Told the Truth" that appeared in the Orlando Florida Sentinel, she covered for poppa's links to the Iran-Contra arms scandal, in which arms were sold by Pilgrims Society corporations to Iran and some of the proceeds disbursed to "Contras" in Nicaragua. A book published in 2005, "China---The Gathering Threat" (page 516) had input from both Owen and Bernadette Casey Smith and the Shelby Cullom Davis Foundation. Shelby Cullom Davis (1909-1994) started with $50,000 and blew it up to $900 million (after taxes). His New York Stock Exchange seat, bought for $33,000, was worth $830,000 at his demise. Davis was Ambassador to Switzerland (1969-1975); he was an officer of the Huguenot Society of America (French Protestants battling the Papacy centuries ago) and lived in Hobe Sound, Florida, where various other Pilgrims Society members maintain residences. Davis donated \$26 million to the Heritage Foundation, a globalist group masquerading as patriotic Americans.

7) Lord Peter Inge (1935---; president, The Pilgrims Society of Great Britain), the Right Honourable Field Marshall Baron Inge, Order of the Garter (2002---founded in 1348 AD); Commander of the British Empire (1987), chaired Aegis Defense Services until 2010. Inge has served as an adviser to Hakluyt, called a “corporate spying firm.” This article from 2010 on Aegis Defense Systems reported Aegis moving its HQ from London to Basel, Switzerland---where the Bank for International Settlements (BIS) is located. The article stated that Aegis had only seven owners---with Lord Inge being among them. We read---

“Founded in 2002, Aegis was awarded one of the biggest U.S. security contracts in Iraq -- valued at more than $430 million. In 2005, some Aegis employees posted videos on the Internet showing company guards firing automatic weapons at civilians from the back of a moving security vehicle. Aegis claimed the shootings were legal and within rules established by the now-defunct Coalition Provisional Authority. U.S. Army auditors, in their own investigation, agreed with Aegis.”

Sure---when Pilgrims Society members are involved, nothing can be defined as a war crime! Look at how dignified Lord Inge is (below)---his costume guarantees it! From 1956 to 1997 he had a career in the British military including commander of the NATO Northern Army Group. On retirement he immediately became associated with BAe Systems of which we read---

“BAE Systems plc is a global arms company, with interests also in civilian avionics and engineering. Its subsidiaries are also involved in providing intelligence, personnel and logistics support to US/UK military. BAE Systems aims to be "the premier global defence and aerospace company delivering a full range of products and services for air, land and naval forces. The company has interests in areas spanning the range of avionics and defence systems, from hardware manufacture to personnel training. Primarily, however, BAE is an arms company, with military equipment currently accounting for around 80% of the company's total sales.”

At the BAe (correct spelling) site we note 84,600 employees and operations in the U.K., U.S.A., Australia, India and Saudi Arabia. Their slogan of themselves is “The systems company innovating for a safer world.” Safer by whose definition? Barclay’s Bank appears to be its primary bank---no surprise. Among many other products and services, they offer---electromagnetic railguns (yes---as seen in Arnold Schwarzenegger’s movie “Eraser”); laser guided rockets; “Broadsword Warfighter” technology; amphibious vehicles; naval and ocean going vessel repair; all purpose armored vehicles; “Silver Bullet” guidance systems; “Hammer” precision targeting systems; propellant manufacturing (ammunition); sensors; thermal cameras; lightweight body armor; electronic warfare; radar countermeasures; computer cryptographics; surveillance imaging; oil and gas security; a “COMMEX” (yes!) communications system; naval guns; and many other high tech modern warfare goodies!

Lord Inge as of late appears to have exited the BAe board. Sir Roger Carr is chairman; he was a director of the Bank of England, Cadbury’s and Chubbs and associated with other British interests---he is almost certainly a Pilgrims Society member.

Here he is on You Tube, advocating warfare.

“Pre-Emptive Nuclear Strike a Key Option, NATO Told” has Inge advocating nuclear strikes!

Inge is a member of the council of the International Institute for Strategic Studies in London (warmongers!)

The Hakluyt symbol suggests medievalism and dungeons--- “Hakluyt & Company is a British strategic intelligence and advisory firm, and since 2011 has been a trading name of the renamed company Holdingham Group Limited. Pelorus Research is another trading activity of Holdingham Group, started in 2011, providing research to investment managers. The company was founded in 1995 by Christopher James and Mike Reynolds. James retired in mid-2006, and was replaced as managing director by Keith Craig. Hakluyt is headquartered in London and has subsidiary offices in Singapore and New York. Hakluyt avoids publicity, but is regarded as having a reputation for discretion and effectiveness among its client base. Hakluyt was founded by former officials of the British Secret Intelligence Service.”

Hakluyt is interlocked with Pilgrims Society interests---The Prince’s Trust; JP Morgan International Advisory Council; BHP Billiton and Unilever among others. Richard Hakluyt (1553–1616) was an English subject who promoted colonization in North America and was involved with the royal chartering of the Virginia Company.

Inge is an advisor to the King and Government of Bahrain. Inge is listed as a member of the advisory board to ICx Technologies which says of itself ---

"Our sensors detect and identify chemical, biological, radiological and explosive materials. Our surveillance products discern people and objects invisible to human senses and conventional cameras. Our software and systems connect, command, and control these security devices."

John H. Dalton, Secretary of the Navy (1993–1998) and Ehud Barak, Prime Minister of Israel (1999–2001) and Rodney Slater, U.S. Secretary of Transportation (1997–2001) were also directors of this company, which in 2006 reported 700 employees and $57 million in revenues. It appears to have merged into another corporation. Inge has served as a commissioner of the Royal Hospital and vice chairman of the Historic Royal Palaces (Ian Barlow we saw above also active in the HRP Trust). He's been a consultant to Investcorp and Vickers (armaments)! Marlborough College has had Inge as a member of its council. He is or was a member of the board of St. George's House at Windsor Castle. His connections are detailed; this will suffice.

8) Michael Cecil Boyce, Lord Boyce, Admiral Boyce, Baron Boyce of Pimlico of The City of Westminster London, born in Cape Town South Africa in 1943; current president of The Pilgrims Society of Great Britain in London; member, British House of Lords; Order of the Bath; Order of the Garter; Order of the British Empire; Knight of Justice of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem; Constable of Dover Castle; Commander, U.S. Legion of Merit (1999); U.S. Bronze Oak Leaf (2003); Freeman of The City of London; member, Anglican Church of England; was with the Royal Navy (1961–2003) and retired as chief of the British Defense Staff and Aid De Camp to the British Sovereign and First Sea Lord of the Admiralty. His naval commands included the HMS Superb and the HMS Brilliant. Both branches of The Pilgrims Society have always had top brass and diplomats on their executive committee and as vice presidents and other officials. Boyce in 2013 received an honorary Doctor of Civil Law degree from the University of Kent, of which his fellow Pilgrims member Robert Worcester is chancellor. This Pilgrims organization is the grand daddy of all good old boy networks as it straddles the globe like nothing else. Yes, the BRIC countries are becoming a challenge to this Anglo-American dominance, which unfortunately signifies that these warmongers among us will again start filling rivers with blood! There are reasons why they have the military and the military industrial complex so thoroughly controlled. Do you know how fast this operator would have sailed to the Colonies to put down the American Revolution if he'd been on hand at the time? The leadership in England is our adversary---not our friends. The Pilgrims organization is their way of sending tentacles with which to seize us and tendrils of influence that function unknown to the public by which our freedoms are being weakened.

At the site of the Honourable Society of the Middle Temple we read---

“Lord Boyce is a cross bench member of the House of Lords. He was appointed a deputy lieutenant of greater London in 2003. In 2004 he was appointed Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, to succeed the late Queen Elizabeth, the Queen mother.”

Look at the British clinging to medievalism, royalty, nobility and titles. At this site we read “Boyce was a board member of VT Group and WS Atkins and is chairman of the D Group advisory board.” VT Group is involved in engineering, logistics, military contracting industries, nuclear power and information technology. VT stands for Vosper Thornycroft, a former large player in the shipbuilding industry. This is a privately held company in the U.S.A., and is somewhere in the billions.

Atkins is a multinational with around 17,500 employees having completed projects in 150 countries in oil and gas, engineering consulting, project management and other areas. Here's one of their projects, the Burj Al Arab Hotel in the UAE, United Arab Emirates, which bills itself as "the most luxurious hotel in the world" and is called "the world's only 7 Star hotel" ---

At the D Group site we read---

"The D Group is a business development network which extends the reach and success of Companies, Institutions and their leadership teams. Together its members employ over 1 million people in the U.K. and over 6 million globally. We are headquartered in London and present in over 25 countries."

Boyce is patron of the Submariners Association, Dover College and Dover War Memorial Project. He is president of the Royal Navy Submarine Museum and a trustee of the Naval and Military Club. The Naval and Military Club, founded in London in 1862, has inner circle Pilgrims Society member Prince Philip as its president. Boyce is an “Elder Brother” at Trinity House, tracing to a Royal charter granted in 1514 by King Henry VIII. Trinity House is formally known as “The Corporation of Trinity House of Deptford Strond” (correct spelling) and “it is the official General Lighthouse Authority for England, Wales, the Channel Islands and Gibraltar, responsible for the provision and maintenance of navigational aids, such as lighthouses, light vessels, buoys, and maritime radio/satellite communication systems. Trinity House is also an official deep sea pilotage authority, providing expert navigators for ships trading in Northern European waters. It is also a maritime charity, dispersing funds for the welfare of retired seamen, the training of young cadets and the promotion of safety at sea.”

THE TRINITY HOUSE

INCORPORATED BY CHARTER GRANTED BY HENRY VIII IN 1514

TRINITY HOUSE IS THE GENERAL LIGHTHOUSE AUTHORITY FOR ENGLAND, WALES AND THE CHANNEL ISLANDS. A DEEP SEA PILOTAGE AUTHORITY AND ALSO ADMINISTERS CHARITABLE FUNDS MOSTLY CONNECTED WITH SEAFARERS.

The first Trinity House was at Deptford and then at Ratcliff and Stepney in the 16th and 17th centuries. In 1660 Trinity House moved to Water Lane, off Eastcheap, the building being destroyed in the Great Fire of London in 1666 and subsequently rebuilt. It was again destroyed by fire in 1715 and the Corporation then moved to the present site in 1795. Trinity House was partially destroyed by enemy action in 1940 and rebuilt in 1955.

At the Submariners Association we also discover about Lord Boyce---

“He is currently an Advisor to Computer Sciences Corporation and TRICOLM Ltd. Admiral Boyce was elevated to the peerage in June 2003; and was appointed Lord Warden and Admiral of the Cinque Ports and Constable of Dover Castle in July 2004. He is also involved in a number of pro-bono/charity activities including being President, Officers Association; President, St John's Ambulance (London District); Council Member, RNLI; Council Member, White Ensign Association; Trustee, National Maritime Museum; Vice President, Forces Pension Society; Patron, Sail4Cancer; Patron, Trafalgar Woods.”

Computer Sciences Corporation recently reported 70,000 employees and $12 billion in annual revenues. This is an important technology multinational which affects our lives and the lives of at least hundreds of millions of people in other countries---and the president of The Pilgrims Society London they feel they need as an “adviser.” CSC is involved in aerospace, defense, banking, communications, government agencies, health care, utilities, retail and much more. A CSC director, Nancy Killefer, may be related to Tom Killefer (Pilgrims 1980 New York roster) who was head of United States Trust Company on Wall Street.

This one traces informally back to AD 1204 in a conflict over the Normandy region on the Atlantic coast of France and we read---

“During the last 300 years, the office has often been bestowed on Prime Ministers and distinguished wartime leaders, including Frederick Lord North (1778), William Pitt the Younger (1792), the Duke of Wellington (1829), Lord Palmerston (1861) and Sir Winston Churchill (1941).”

“Cinque” is French for five---there were five ports in southeastern England facing towards Normandy which were fortified against invasion. A list of titleholders shows dramatic influence in English, European, and later world history, and many were ancestors of members of The Pilgrims Society of Great Britain.

The Cinque Ports

Cradle of the Royal Navy

Dover Castle, tracing back to the 12th century, has often been called the “key to England” due to its strategic location, plus the fact that it’s the largest castle in England---naturally a Pilgrims Society member would be its “constable”---though the actual guard jobs are held by lower class members---

Wiki entry states---

“In 1967, after two years in India, Rimington was asked to assist one of the First Secretaries at the High Commission with his office work. She agreed, and when she began, discovered that he was the representative in India of the British Security Service (MI5). Gaining her security clearance, Rimington worked in the MI5 office for nearly two years, until she and her husband returned to London in 1969, where she decided to apply for a permanent position at MI5.

Between 1969 and 1990, Rimington worked in all three branches of the Security Service: counter espionage, counter subversion, and counter terrorism. In 1984, she and her husband John separated, with Stella retaining custody of their two daughters. In 1990, she was promoted to one of the Service's two Deputy Director-General positions, where she oversaw MI5's move to Thames House. In December 1991, she made a visit to Moscow to make the first friendly contact between the British intelligence services and their old enemies the KGB. On her return from Russia, she was told she had been promoted to Director-General. Rimington's work after leaving MI5 has been as a non-executive director for companies such as Marks & Spencer and BG Group. Rimington published her memoirs, entitled “Open Secret,” in 2001.”

10) Baroness Eliza Manningham Buller (1948---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined), member British House of Lords since 2008 and member Science and Technology Committee; Dame Commander of the Order of the Bath (founded 1725) and Order of the Garter (founded 1348), was director of the British domestic intelligence agency, MI5 (2002–2007) and “has made speeches to invited audiences containing members of the press, as well as making court statements. On 17 June 2003, at a conference at the Royal United Services Institute she gave her complete backing for the War on Terror.” MI5 isn’t M-15, it’s “Military Intelligence, Section 5.” It was founded in 1909 and has around 4,000 employees. MI5 is accused of "hoarding information about people who pose no danger to this country", after it emerged that MI5 holds secret files on 272,000 individuals.”

The Baroness is not in competition with Helen of Troy---

The Wellcome Trust.

“In the field of medical research, it is the world's second–largest private funder after the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.” Third largest in this regard is the Howard Hughes Medical Research Institute, which as we note elsewhere in these Pilgrims Society profiles, is also Pilgrims Society controlled, in the person of lead trustee James Addison Baker III (Treasury Secretary 1985–1988; gold and silver price antagonist) who ran the National War Powers Commission. As of recent info, in dollar terms, the Wellcome Trust---founded with Big Pharma funds---holds assets worth

$25,232,000,000. Wellcome Trust is a world leader in vaccine development including Ebola, and a pusher and panderer of these toxic preparations whose actual purpose is population reduction and seizure of wealth from the gullible public.

I do in all seriousness and candor submit that we already have preventatives and remedies for something as virulent as Ebola--- garlic and garlic oil in large quantities; clove oil in judicious amounts; oil of oregano; tea tree oil (diluted and external only); B group vitamins; Ascorbyl palmitate vitamin -C; beta Glucan; certain medicinal mushrooms which boost immunity; and ultraviolet light treatments. Colloidal silver and hyperbaric oxygen are also prospective. Large doses of garlic internally and external drenching with garlic oil would be a great thing to try---not that The Pilgrims Society's medical cartel will tolerate any discussion of cheap, natural treatments! They want victims to transfer their funds to them and then pass away!

The Baroness Manningham-Buller is vice chair of Pollen Estate Ltd., a high end immense real estate operation in London's Mayfair district which includes 43 properties tracing all the way back to the year 1622---

The Baroness has had numerous speaking engagements, including four (4) with Goldman Sachs during May to November 2014 and one with the J.P. Morgan interests in March 2015. Also this March she addressed the Vodafone Group and the U.K. Defence Academy. Vodafone has around 93,000 employees; Sir Crispin Davis is the likely Pilgrims Society member on its board. The Defence Academy traces to 1772 when our “Pilgrims Partners” the British were very intent on maintaining their tyrannies over us---

The Baroness, among the distinct minority of women members of The Pilgrims, is a trustee of the Foundation of the College of St.

George at Windsor Castle, which was founded in AD 1348 by King Edward III of England where the headquarters of the important Order of the Garter is located.

10) General Lord Dannatt, Francis Richard Dannatt, Baron Dannatt of Keswick (1950---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined), Knight Grand Cross, Order of the Bath, Commander of the British Empire, 159th Constable of The Tower of London, Queen's Commendation for Valuable Service, member English House of Lords as of 2011, was with the British Army (1971–2009) and saw duty in Northern Ireland and Kosovo, Yugoslavia. He became Chief of the General Staff in 2006. He was involved with Prince Harry's tour in Afghanistan. Dannatt was acquainted early in military service with Peter Inge, fifteen years his senior, and may have been set on track by Inge for eventual admission into The Pilgrims. We profiled his senior colleague Lord Inge earlier in this document. Dannatt is listed with Celebrity Speakers Associates in Buckinghamshire, England. Their slogan is "Delivering knowledge worldwide." One of his rehearsed speeches is on "Russia and the Ukraine crisis."

Their remarks on him include---

"His illustrious career has included Assistant Chief of the General Staff MOD, taking command of NATO's Allied Rapid Reaction Corps, Commander in Chief Land Command, and became Chief of the General Staff in 2006. After retiring from the Army in 2009, he was appointed Constable of the Tower of London. He is Founder Patron of Help for Heroes. He advises guides global organisations on the challenges of leadership today."

Could someone receive the Medallion of Service to the Nation from The Pilgrims and not be a member? It's unlikely, because page 153 of "The Pilgrims of the United States," page 153, shows "Winners of the Gold Medal of The Pilgrims of the United States," with only three recipients--- Sir Winston Churchill (1957); General Dwight D. Eisenhower (1963) and Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh (1969), all well confirmed members. As of 2003 apparently there wasn't yet a Medallion of Service to the Nation by The Pilgrims in New York. Only one other person, Tom Kean, ex-New Jersey Governor, Roosevelt family relative who chaired the 911 Commission, is to date known (by me) to have received this Medallion. Did The Pilgrims run out of gold besides for price suppression? Inasmuch as 100% of all known recipients of their Gold Medal were confirmed members otherwise, it's most reasonable to conclude that their Medallion awardees are also members. Page 160 shows that Winston Churchill (son of the famous Prime Minister) spoke to The Pilgrims New York on May 7, 2002; he must be concluded to be a member and not a speaker only.

Army General William Knowlton was the father in law of Petraeus. Knowlton (1920–2008) was a U.S. military representative to NATO and was placed on the board of Chubb Corporation, an insurance services giant. If he was admitted into The Pilgrims, it wasn't as of 1980. David's father, a merchant marine ship captain, had a name that sounded like it came straight out of Greco-Roman history--- Sixtus Petraeus. In 1985 when Petraeus got a degree in international affairs at Princeton University, he confirmed himself as a globalist. His long military career started in 1974 and apparently his first step up the globalist ladder was his marriage. He's authored several books. I've located no references in them about The Pilgrims organization. He however admits to membership in the Council on Foreign Relations, set up as an important outer ring of The Pilgrims eighteen years and several months after their New York branch was founded. He's a Presbyterian, the runner-up denomination as to frequency of membership by members of The Pilgrims. His membership in the Association of the U.S. Army is no surprise; far fewer military men are members of the lesser known Academy of Political Science. Virgil Conway, an APS director, is almost certainly a Pilgrims member. It publishes---

From September 2011 into November 2012 Petraeus was director of the Central Intelligence Agency---

Petraeus time at CIA was shortened by a sex related scandal as reported by CNN (which intentionally omitted his Pilgrims Society connections) ---

“General David Petraeus, once a widely celebrated military leader who oversaw operations in Afghanistan and Iraq and was touted as a potential presidential candidate, was sentenced to serve two years on probation and to pay an $100,000 fine on Thursday for sharing classified information with his biographer and lover, Paula Broadwell. "Today marks the end of a two and a half year ordeal," Petraeus said outside the Charlotte federal courthouse following his sentencing. "I now look forward to moving on with the next phase of my life." Petraeus, who resigned as director of the Central Intelligence Agency in November 2012 after the relationship became public, avoided jail time as part of a plea deal. Prosecutors agreed to not send Petraeus to jail because the classified information was never released to the public or published in the biography of him that Broadwell wrote. Petraeus spent some time maintaining a low profile, but then began to emerge in mid-2013, accepting positions at universities and the private equity giant Kohlberg Kravis Roberts. Most of Petraeus' friends and family -- including his wife, Holly -- have been supportive of the four-star general and stood by him, friends of Petraeus said, though no Petraeus family members joined him in court on Thursday. "The world has deemed it clear that we recognize that we're all human," said O'Hanlon. John Duffield, a friend of Petraeus from his graduate school years at Princeton University, described the past few years as "painful to watch," especially given how much promise the general had even beyond his already impressive resume."

Various members of The Pilgrims over the years have been accused of criminal activity (relatively few of them) but in all cases of which I am aware to date, none have done any jail time and additionally, the matter of their membership in The Society has never surfaced in any accounts of the situations for which they caught some heat. The most notable was Truman H. Newberry (1864-1945) who completely wriggled out of a conviction under the Federal Corrupt Practices Act in 1922. See the profile on Newberry in #5 Silver Squelchers, pages 86-89. During the Nixon-Watergate scandal, two known members, Maurice H. Stans, Commerce Secretary and Richard Kleindienst, Attorney General, both escaped any criminal prosecution. No wonder Petraeus was similarly shielded. The President always being an “honorary” Pilgrims member and the Attorney General often surfacing as a member, and the AG a cabinet member reporting to the President, naturally most any high figure they care to shield, will be shielded. The President appoints all Federal judges---that important base is likewise covered, and Supreme Court justices have sometimes surfaced as Pilgrims members (Charles Evans Hughes, William Rehnquist, Sandra Day O’ Connor). Notice that sexual improprieties are regarded by media and government as serious offenses, whereas being a globalist one worlder sellout is A-OK.

According to the KKR site---

“General (retired) David H. Petraeus (New York) started working with KKR in 2013 and is Chairman of the KKR Global Institute. Gen. Petraeus is involved in the KKR investment process and oversees the Institute's thought leadership platform focused on geopolitical and macro-economic trends, as well as environmental, social, and governance issues. Prior to joining KKR, Gen. Petraeus served over 37 years in the U.S. military, including command of coalition forces in Iraq, command of U.S. Central Command, and command of coalition forces in Afghanistan. Following his service in the military, Gen. Petraeus served as the Director of the CIA. Gen. Petraeus graduated with distinction from the U.S. Military Academy and subsequently earned M.P.A. and Ph.D. degrees in international relations from Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. Gen. Petraeus has received numerous U.S. military, State Department, NATO and United Nations medals and awards, and he has been decorated by 12 foreign countries. He also serves as a Visiting Professor of Public Policy at CUNY's Macaulay Honors College, as a Professor at the University of Southern California, and as a member of the advisory boards of a number of veterans organizations.”

KKR was founded in 1976 by three ex-Bear Stearns figures--- Jerome Kohlberg Jr., Henry Kravis and George R. Roberts. The latter two are cousins. “KKR is a leading global investment firm that manages investments across multiple asset classes including private equity, energy, infrastructure, real estate, capital markets, credit strategies, and hedge funds.” As of March 2015 KKR had $99.1 billion of assets under management. Of the three, Roberts pegs my Pilgrims meters as the most likely to be a member.

“The KKR Global Institute (KGI) is an integral part of the KKR investment process — working in partnership with KKR deal teams, portfolio companies, and limited partners to help enable smarter investing through a better understanding of the world. To accomplish its mission, KGI integrates expertise and analysis about emerging developments and long-term trends in geopolitics, macroeconomics, demographics, energy and natural resource markets, technology, and trade policy, as well as environmental, social, and government (ESG) considerations. Whether working with a KKR deal team as we explore entering a new market, supporting a KKR portfolio company as it expands its international footprint, or assessing which countries stand the best chance of becoming the next “breakout nations,” KGI provides critical inputs as the firm thinks through where to invest and how to help businesses grow. In order to identify and cultivate over-the-horizon opportunities while mitigating against risks, KGI draws from both a deep bench of in-house experience and knowledge, as well as a differentiated network of global contacts.”

11) Field Marshall The Lord Richard Frederick Vincent of Coleshill of Oxfordshire, also holds the title of Baron (1931---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined), Knight Grand Cross, Order of the British Empire, Order of the Bath, Distinguished Service Order, Commander, United States Legion of Merit is another typical case of a career military officer who upon retirement was placed in supervisory roles in defence corporations. This pattern is consistent in both Pilgrims branches for many years. He was Vice chief of Defence Staff 1987–1991 and Chairman of the Defence staff at the ministry of Defence 1991–1992 and finally Chairman, NATO Military Committee (1992–

1996). During 2000 to 2005 he was president of the Defence Manufacturers Association. During 2000 to 2011 he was president of the Cranfield Trust. (However, info he supplied elsewhere shows he was president of Cranfield Trust as of 1999). He was chancellor of Cranfield University during 1998 to 2010. During 1996 to 2004 he was chairman of Imperial College London. The Pilgrims inner circle sure had some posts and assignments for him! Those last seven positions mentioned are listed at his page at the site of the British House of Lords. His Parliamentary interests include NATO, defence, and science and technology (war industries!)

“Field Marshal Richard Frederick Vincent, Baron Vincent of Coleshill (born 23 August 1931) is a retired British Army officer. After serving with British Army of the Rhine he served with the Commonwealth Brigade in Malaysia during the Indonesia–Malaysia confrontation. He commanded 12th Light Air Defence Regiment in Northern Ireland during the Troubles, for which he was awarded the Distinguished Service Order, and later commanded 19th Airborne Brigade. Although he never served as one of the individual service heads, he went on to be Vice–Chief of the Defence Staff in the late 1980s and then Chief of the Defence Staff in the aftermath of the Gulf War. He subsequently became Chair of the Military Committee of NATO in the mid-1990s. Vincent became Chief of the Defence Staff in the aftermath of the Gulf War in March 1991. Promoted to field marshal on 2 April 1992, he became Chairman of the NATO Military Committee in October 1993 before retiring from the British Army in 1996. He was also Colonel Commandant of the Royal Electrical and Mechanical Engineers (REME) from 1981 until 1987, Colonel Commandant of the Royal Artillery from 1983 until 2000, Colonel Commandant of the Royal Horse Artillery from 1996 until the present and Honorary Colonel of 100th (Yeomanry) Regiment Royal Artillery from 1982 until 1991. In retirement Vincent became Chairman of Hunting Defence Limited (4,044 employees recently) as of 1996 and a Non-Executive Director of Vickers Defence Systems Limited during 1996 to 2002. He was ennobled in the 1996 Birthday Honours, being created life peer on 3 September 1996 with the title Baron Vincent of Coleshill, of Shrivenham in the County of Oxfordshire, and he held the ceremonial role of Master Gunner, St. James's Park from 1996 until 2000. Vincent was Chancellor of Cranfield University, with which the Defence College of Management and Technology has had an academic partnership, from 1998 to 2010.”

According to <https://www.buckingham> Lord Vincent held earlier military positions including during 1960 to 1961 when he was with the Radar Research Establishment. Afterwards he was in Malaysia, West Germany and Northern Ireland. In 1974–1975 he was director of the Royal Military College of Science. In the late 1970s he was with the Royal College of Defence Studies. He was commandant of the Royal Mechanical & Electrical Engineers during 1981 to 1987.

He was awarded the Jordanian Order of Merit, First Class. He became a patron of the Inspire Foundation as of 1999. As of 1992 he became a member of the Guild of Free Men of the City of London, showing his sponsorship by the international banking establishment. During 1996 to 1997 he was a member of the Commission on Britain & Europe sponsored by the Royal Institute for International Affairs (RIIA, the London counterpart to the New York CFR, both Pilgrims subsidiaries). He misstated it as the Royal Institute for "Internal" Affairs. He was made president of the Officers Pension Society in 1997. Remember these particular details are from a 2004 reference and some may have ceased being current. During 1983 to 1991 he was on the advisory council to the RMCS (?) In 1997 he was inducted into the Worshipful Company of Wheelwrights, another City of London guild tracing way back (1670). In 1987 he was placed on the governing board of the Aldenham School. In 1992 he became a Ditchley Foundation governor. During 1999 to 2007 he was a member of the Court of Greenwich University.

In November 2007 he remarked on British Broadcasting Corporation of his inclinations towards a 42 day detention without trial period

In 2006 he became chairman of the advisory board of QinetiQ, a defense contractor. In 2010 West became patron of the Docklands Symphony Orchestra. In 2014 he narrated a 15 part BBC Radio series, “Britain At Sea.” In 2014 West became a member of the Political Council of the Henry Jackson Society.

QinetiQ had 9,000 employees as of 2014. The likely member of The Pilgrims London on its board is Admiral Sir James Burnell–Nugent. They sell to NATO countries in military equipment related to sea, land and air---also involved in oil and gas, mining, water and telecom---

Founded in 2005, the Henry Jackson Society is a British based group described as a “think tank” by Wiki. It was founded in 2005 and named after Henry M. Jackson, a Democrat Representative from Washington State (1941–1953) and a Senator (1953–1983). Jackson was among the shill lawmakers invited to Bilderberg. The Centre for Social Cohesion merged with the Henry Jackson Society. Apparently Jackson had done favors for the British, though there’s no evidence he ever became a Pilgrims member. This is a militaristic, pro-intervention group.

Can we get him into a McDonald’s uniform instead?

Here he is on You Tube mentioning his actions against Argentina in the 1982 Falklands War, in which England once again asserted its right to steal islands from Argentina (petroleum reserves in the area, you see). Absolutely no whisper of his activities in The Pilgrims organization!

14) Field Marshall Sir John Chapple (1931---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined), order of the Bath, Commander, Order of the British Empire, Vice Patron of the National Army Museum, received news in August 2011 that his grandson was mauled to death in a polar bear attack in Norway. (However, another source says the victim was his grandson). His military service was from 1954 to 1992. His other son became a spinal surgeon and his daughter who resides in New York, Rachel Lucy Chapple, is described as a “social anthropologist.” Her husband is Lord John Patrick Townshend (correct spelling), who also holds the title “Marquess.” During 1973 to 2003 he was a trustee of the Gurkha Museum. He was president (1992–1994) of the Zoological Society of London. During 1993 to 1995 Chapple was Governor of British Gibraltar. He served a term (undetermined) as president of the British Exploring Society, organizers of the expedition in which the polar bear dispatched his son. In 1999 he presented the Queen’s Award for Export Achievement.

<http://www.thegurkhamuseum.co.uk/> founded in 1974, it memorializes the British Gurkhas who trace to 1815. These were the native sellouts to the British colonial occupiers of Nepal; however it's well known that many Indians became members and fought for the Crown. Perhaps inducements in opium or silver were involved. This I reasonably speculate because after the Gurkha War (1814–1816) with the meddling, interloping British, a treaty was arranged by which the Gurkhas became affiliated with the old British East India Company, opium exporters to China---and vacuum vortexes of silver exportation out of China. The Gurkhas, as mercenaries, assisted the British occupiers of India in defeating the Indian Rebellion of 1857. In fact the Gurkhas assisted the British many times with violent suppression of independence movements in various corners of the British Empire. In the Boxer Rebellion of 1900 in China, in which the Chinese understandably were outraged by continuing British peddling of opium in their nation, the Gurkhas were on hand to assist the British and other colonial troops in putting down the Boxer Rebellion. The Gurkhas fought again for the British Empire in World War One, so carefully planned and executed by England and its USA Pilgrims Partners! The same occurred in the Second World War, and entire Gurkha regiments were named after various Royal family members! The Indian Army still has Gurkha regiments---and India is a member of the British Commonwealth of nations, and has been since “independence” in 1947!

“A generous donation makes the National Army Museum the holder of the world’s greatest collection of Indian Army insignia – covering buttons, cap badges, collar badges, shoulder titles, pouch badges, pouch belt plates, and waist belt clasps. The gift of the Indian Army Collection by Field Marshal Sir John Chapple covers over 9,000 items relating to the Indian Army. Spanning over a century from the 19th century until Partition in 1947, the collection took Sir John 70 years to collect.”

The British Exploring Society, which may have mineral exploration hidden under the guise of other activities, is in the Royal Geographic Society building. Its patrons include the Lord Mayor of London (Pilgrims Society), the Duke of York (Pilgrims Society) and probable Pilgrims Society members David Cameron, Member of Parliament, and aviation tycoon Sir Richard Branson, said to be worth around $5 billion.

15) British Royal Navy Admiral Sir Ian Andrew Forbes (1946---; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined) Order of the Bath, Commander, Order of the British Empire, United States Legion of Merit, rose to the rank of Admiral in the British Royal Navy. He saw action relating to the Falklands War with Argentina in 1982 and the Kosovo conflict and the Gulf War. He received the Queens Commendation for Valuable Service (Bosnian War) 1996. He was placed in charge of some reconstruction projects afterwards. There have been a fair number of members of The Pilgrims on both sides of the Atlantic since 1902–1903 with the name Forbes. The 1949 book “Happy Pilgrimage” (see later) shows that some members have Forbes as a first name from maternal heritage. They may not all be related but most probably are. Wiki says of this one---

“Forbes has become an advisor to Booz & Company, now Strategy&, the management consultancy arm of pwc. He was also Chairman of the Governors of Eastbourne College from 2005 to 2013. Chairman of the Naval Review from 2006 until 2013, he is currently the President of the Forces Pension Society. He is also the President of the HMS Glamorgan Association, established following the ship’s service in the Falklands War. He is married to Sally who is sponsor of the survey vessel HMS Enterprise.”

The Wiki entry on him is murky in places. Let’s try to get it clarified. To begin, Booz & Company, now renamed Strategy&, traces to 1914 and is a global management consulting firm. 2011 figures showed it had over $1.3 billion in revenues. 70 of the world’s 100 largest and around 80% of the top 500 USA corporations do business with Strategy&. It’s a subsidiary of Price Waterhouse Coopers with 195,400 employees and 2014 revenues of $34 billion.

According to <http://diplomaticourier.com/about-dc/team/526-sir-ian-forbes> ---

“Admiral Sir Ian Forbes joined the Royal Navy in 1965. He has spent much of his career at sea, including tours in HM Yacht Britannia and on American Exchange with the USS W.H. Standley. He has commanded 4 warships; Kingfisher, Diomedea, Chatham and Invincible, and been engaged in conflict and crisis operations off Iceland, the Falklands, in the Gulf and in the Adriatic. As an Admiral, he has served as Military Advisor in the Office of the High Representative in Sarajevo, as the Commander of the UK Battle Group, as the Flag Officer Surface Flotilla, and as Deputy Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic. In this last appointment, he also acted as Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic for a period with responsibilities for creating a new Strategic Command, the Allied Command Transformation, the first new NATO Strategic Command to be established in more than fifty years. He was the first European Officer to fill a NATO Supreme Commander post. He has since assumed the Deputy Supreme Allied Commander Transformation role with the re-establishment of a US Supreme Commander. Admiral Forbes is a graduate of the RAF Staff College Bracknell and the Royal College of Defence Studies. He was appointed Commander of the British Empire in 1994, was awarded the Queens Commendation for Valuable Service in 1995, and was made a Knight Commander of the Bath in 2003. For his work as Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic, he was presented with the NATO Meritorious Service Medal in 2003, and was the first recipient of this newly established award. He is a Governor of the Portsmouth High School for Girls and a member of the Windsor Leadership Trust.”

Royal College of Defence Studies,
Seaford House, London

Windsor is the family name of the British Royals. It's quite possible they are history's wealthiest family. I realize this is out of step with the mythos about the Rothschilds or Rockefellers. The plain fact is none of us know for sure because we aren't on the inside.

Trustees of the Windsor Leadership Trust who are probable members of The Pilgrims London are Sir Laurie Magnus (connections to HSBC Bank and J.P. Morgan) and Air Chief Sir Stephen Dalton. They list only four members on their board of Patrons. Sam Younger is a confirmed member of The Pilgrims London and profiled elsewhere in this SS series. They have a “Windsor Programme” described as follows---

“Emerging leaders – for those currently in more operational leadership roles, with the intent and potential to move into more strategic leadership.

Developing leaders – aimed at leaders who have already moved into more strategic leadership positions, focusing on the transition of leaving operational leadership behind and embracing strategic leadership. Experienced leaders – allows senior strategic leaders who have been in post for several years to explore, with others at a similar level, the decisions and responsibilities of strategic leadership.”

It gets down to they want string pullers who’ll execute orders to the letter. Among their corporate sponsors are Lloyd’s Bank Group and Rolls Royce---

Here we read of Admiral Forbes---“He is an Associate Fellow of RUSI, a Visiting Fellow of the Oxford Leverhulme Programme.” At the Royal United Services Institute (RUSI) site we discover he’s been president of the Forces Pension Society since 2013 and serves as chairman of Eastbourne College Charity. He is chairman of The Naval Review, which traces to 1912. We described the RUSI earlier.

The Oxford University Leverhulme “Programme” is named after Lord Leverhulme, Pilgrims Society London, for whom the giant consumer multinational Lever Brothers (since renamed Unilever) is named; as of 2014 it had 172,000 employees. We profiled Leverhulme in #4 Silver Squelchers, pages 10–11.

Founded in 1867, Sir Ian Forbes is chairman of the council of Eastbourne College---

Primary founded was the 7th Duke of Devonshire (1808–1891) a member of the enormously wealthy Cavendish family. The obscure 1949 book “Happy Pilgrimage” (Hutchinson & Company, London) by Sir Harry Brittain, a founder of The Pilgrims in 1902, mentioned the Duke of Devonshire on page 70 (a successor) --- “Pilgrims and Pioneers” by the same author and publisher (1946), pages 228 and 229 also mention the Duke of Devonshire (reference year 1920) who was British Governor General of Canada. Among the numberless family treasures is a Columbian emerald of 1,383.93 carats.

16) Geoffrey M.T. Jones (Year of birth undetermined; obituary not located; Pilgrims Society as of undetermined) was noticed as a trustee of The Pilgrims Foundation in 2001. In “OSS: The Secret History of America's First Central Intelligence Agency” (2005) we note on page 176 mentioned--- “Captain Geoffrey M.T. Jones, 25, a Princeton alumnus from a wealthy Eastern family...” I find relatively little info on Jones and nothing in the Who’s Who. He was mentioned in a 1982 New York Times item on a book called “Public Service and Private Pain.” In some cases it may be I’ve missed a detail, excusable as this series is an enormous agglomeration of facts---photo appears to be from 1944---he’s mentioned at All American Speakers (details uncertain) ---

He appears to have been a member of the Union Club NYC. In a 1991 book the OSS on page 247 was called “strange,” “This Grim and Savage Game: OSS and the Beginning of U.S. Covert Operations in World War II.”

ADDENDA---

A group called "Le Cercle" (The Circle) should be mentioned. Most of the work on this one has been done by Joel Van Der Reijden, with whom I've corresponded and a gifted researcher who I admire. The entry at https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Le\_Cercle is extremely cursory in nature. Le Cercle has characteristics similar to Bilderberg and there is an interlock. Le Cercle has members from around 25 countries. Current chairman of Le Cercle is Baron Lamont of Lerwick, who was Chancellor of the Exchequer (1990–1993) and was a Member of Parliament for 25 years. He was (is) associated with Rothschild Asset Management. He may be related to several members of The Pilgrims New York by the name of Lamont, two of which were profiled earlier in this SS series and is most likely himself a member. Like Bilderberg and Trilateral, Le Cercle is a way for The Pilgrims Society to extend its influence by creating satellite organizations to admit men who aren't all regarded as material for Pilgrims membership. Another group roughly on this level is the 1001 Club; again the most research on it has been done by Van Der Reijden. Le Cercle has had plenty of CIA connections and British and European military intelligence also and lots of NATO connections. It's interspersed with Pilgrims members. The 1001 Club masquerades as a conservation group when it's more about grabbing mineral rich areas and it should tell you something of its character that Nelson Bunker Hunt was a 1001 Club member, yet in silver The Pilgrims Society destroyed him, as detailed in #10 Silver Squelchers. For a review of some Le Cercle members click here. Click here for Van Der Reijden on the 1001 Club.

Le Cercle and the 1001 Club also appear to be ways for the British Royals and the Vatican to “probe” each other as both refuse to release ambitions for world domination. There is an overlap with the Papal Knights of Malta, which is the Pope's answer to The Pilgrims Society. The KM has over 9 members to every 1 Pilgrims member and these two have a very slight overlap. It's also known as the Sovereign Military Order of Malta and has a Protestant counterpart headed by the British Sovereign, the Order of Saint John of Jerusalem; the symbols are similar. Many absurd leaps are made to show that the Pope tells the Royals what to do and that is pure tripe and drivel. They talk about King John (John Lackland, 1199–1216) who the Pope excommunicated in 1209 and they reconciled in 1213, allegedly giving the Pope eternal control over England from that point forward and ignore the Supremacy Acts of the 16th century. The first Act in 1534 came after an attempt was made to reassert Catholic power in Britain. On July 6, 1535, Sir Thomas More was beheaded in London on orders of King Henry VIII because he refused to recognize the King as head of the Church of England and also because More refused to approve a divorce the King wanted and was seconding Pope Clement VII; Pope Paul III was in power when More was executed. Those events are described, rightly or wrongly according to the bias of the film's creators, in "A Man For All Seasons" (1966). After the second Act in 1559, nothing was left but invasion and that failed! Well before the time of King John, on December 29, 1170, Thomas Becket, the Pope's main authority in England, was assassinated by knights loyal to King Henry II and is described in the 1964 movie "Becket." It appears that when the Crown and the Pope are in conflict, the Pope's agents get rubbed out. Some speculate however that Princess Diana's death was retaliatory. English royalty and nobility tolerated Vatican influence until it was clear they needed their own church which they, rather than someone in Rome, would control. My conclusion has not changed. The Crown retains the upper hand by a very wide margin and has since at least 1588 AD when the Spanish Armada's attempt at invading England was defeated. In 1694, when the English invented central banking, they set the foundation for control over the economies of most nations. The President and Secretary of State surfaced as "honorary" members of The Pilgrims, a Royalist organization strongly linked to the Anglican Church of England and its USA group, the Episcopalian Church. The Pilgrims, especially in New York, have many members of French Huguenot ancestry, whose ancestors were in deadly conflict with Catholic loyalists in France, culminating on August 24, 1572, in which up to 70,000 French Protestants were killed in the Saint Bartholomew's Day Massacre--- a conflict won by Papal forces. The Pilgrims United States has a strong interlock with the Huguenot Society of America and its president may always be expected to be a member of The Pilgrims. The Huguenots represent quiet and unusual wealth. Without its protected sea moated status however, The Pilgrims Society may never have existed and the Knights of Malta would be on top of the heap---perhaps. So much of the modern world has been determined by warfare of long ago, but the oceanic isolation of England allowed it to become the dominant European power, especially with so many strategic marriages with mainland European Royalty, nobility and old-line wealth.

TEXAS RESIDENTS---contact your state Senators and Representatives and insist that Texas owned gold be returned to Texas before the Texas Gold Depository is constructed! Don't give HSBC Bank (Pilgrims Society entity) more time to stall!

<http://www.capitol.state.tx.us/> There are ample storage facilities and can be guarded by Texas National Guard, Texas Rangers and Texas State Trooper units! The world gold bank run is underway! It's terrible folly to wait! "He who hesitates is lost" applies!
